Fantasy role playing is akin to a living novel where the players are the main characters. Under the guidance of the referee or Gamemaster, each player directs his or her character and, in the process, helps write a new story. Each game is a new and unique adventure.

This work is part of a series designed as a flexible tool for Gamemasters who wish to introduce the treasures and artifacts from The Hobbit or The Lord of the Rings into their fantasy campaigns. ICE's Treasures of Middle-earth is a compendium of the remarkable items of power found in the works of J.R.R. Tolkien. A game supplement, it is a statistical reference for use with most major fantasy role playing games.

1.0 INTRODUCTION

How would you like to wield the sword of an Elf who fell in the War of the Great Jewels in the distant First Age? Could you gaze into the depths of one of the Palantiri and survive the visions that might be sent to haunt you? Have you ever wanted to gather in your arms all the finest jewels and necklaces of a Dwarven hoard? All these and more are waiting for you.

Treasures of Middle-earth makes it possible to find some of the famous, powerful, and glorious treasures that have surfaced again and again in the history of Arda. All the potent rings, swords, and jewels of The Hobbit, The Lord of the Rings, and the legends of the Elder Days are here for your inspection.

This volume draws on both the works of Professor Tolkien and the many adventure supplements from ICE to bring together magical and valuable items, the workers who made them, and descriptions of the materials used to forge them. Like the three volume Lords of Middle-earth series, this work is a comprehensive supplement intended to provide role players with a single source of information for indexing and generating treasures for their Middle-earth adventures and campaigns.

2.0 USING TREASURES OF MIDDLE-EARTH

Treasures of Middle-earth is divided into three parts:

(1) GUIDELINES — a section devoted to abbreviations, a citation key, and notes on converting statistics and adapting this work to any major fantasy role playing game.
(2) TREASURE COMPENDIUM — sections describing the principal individual magic items as well as the general character of the materials and forging techniques used to create these treasures.
(3) TREASURE GENERATION — a section providing specific procedures along with applicable charts and tables to create treasures in any role playing game.

This supplement is based on extensive research and attempts to meet the high standards associated with the Tolkien legacy. Rational linguistic, cultural, and geological data are employed. Interpretive material has been included with great care and fits into defined patterns and schemes. ICE does not intend it to be the sole view; instead, we hope to give the reader the thrust of the creative processes behind, and the nature of, each magic item.

This is an authorized secondary work. It is specifically based on The Hobbit and The Lord of the Rings, and has been developed so that no conflict exists with any of the other primary publications. Of course, always remember that the ultimate sources of information are the works of Professor Tolkien. Posthumous publications edited by his son Christopher shed additional light on the world of Middle-earth.
The material in Treasures of Middle-earth is drawn from authorized sources and, wherever reasonable, these entries provide citations to pertinent sections in The Hobbit and The Lord of the Rings. Where ICE has extrapolated information, the entry cites ICE’s Middle-earth Role Playing rules and supplements. More information about the works and the use of these citations is located in the guidelines section described above.

3.0 GUIDELINES

Space does not permit us to spell out every thought or include statistics for every major role playing game system, so we include the following abbreviations, definitions, citation guidelines, and conversion notes.

Section 3.1 covers abbreviations. Definitions of frequently employed game terms are set out in Section 3.2, while Section 3.3 enables readers to translate statistics into numbers usable in most other fantasy role playing games.

3.1 ABBREVIATIONS

The most commonly used abbreviations are listed here alphabetically according to sub-categories.

3.2 DEFINITIONS

The majority of unique terms are described later in the text. Those defined below, however, are frequently used or very important terms.

Ainur: (Holy Spirits) The divine servants of Eru, born out of Eru’s thought. Although they are formless spirits, they have male and female genders and are capable of assuming corporeal form. Most of the Ainur reside with Eru in the Timeless Halls outside Eä, but a few — the Valar and Maiar — reside in Eä. The Ainur are also called the Holy Ones, the Singers, or the Spirits. (See Lords of Middle-earth, Volume I.)

Aman: (Blessed Realm) The continent west of Middle-earth, across the Bellegaer (Great Sea). It contains Valinor (the home of most Valar and Maiar and many Elves), mainland Eldamar, and the Halls of Waiting (the place of the dead).

Arda: (The Place) The entire world created by Eru, through his servants the Valar, including Endor (Middle-earth) and Aman but not Menel (Heaven). In the First Age and most of the Second Age it is circular and flat, but in the Third Age it is remade as a sphere.

Belegaer: (Great Sea) The ocean which separates Aman (to the west) from Middle-earth (to the east). Also called the Mighty Sea or Sundering Sea.

Beleriand: (Great Country) The northwestern most part of the continent, it is the area of Middle-earth west of the Blue Mountains. Most of this land sinks into the ocean and is destroyed in the cataclysmic battle that ends the First Age. The surviving portions of Beleriand are called Lindon. Also called the Great Land or Country of Balar.
Eä: (Existence) Eä is all that is, the whole of Eru's Creation and includes Arda and Heaven (Menel). Born out of the Great Music (Ainulindalë) that defined the divine order of existence, it remains bound by the patterns (Essence) of the Song. Outside of Eä are the Timeless Halls of Eru (The One) and the Ainur (Holy Spirits) and the Void (Nothingness).

Elves: (Q. "Quendi") The immortal Children of Eru and the noblest of the Free Peoples. Also called the Firstborn, they awoke before Men or Dwarves and were the first race to speak. Elves settled in both Middle-earth and Aman.

Encircling Sea: (Ekkaia) The great ocean that encircles Arda. It lies south, east, and north of Middle-earth. Also called the Outer Sea. In the First Age and late Second Age it was surrounded by the Walls of Night; but, in the late Second Age, when Arda was remade as a sphere, it circumscribed and covered most of the world.

Endor: (Middle Land; Middle-earth) The Sindarin Elvish label for the Middle Continent of Arda. Also called Ennor or Endóre.

Eru: ("The One"or"He that is Alone;"Q."Ilúvatar") The creator of Eä and all things within and without.

Elves: (Q. "Quendi") The immortal Children of Eru and the noblest of the Free Peoples. Also called the Firstborn, they awoke before Men or Dwarves and were the first race to speak. Elves settled in both Middle-earth and Aman.

Encircling Sea: (Ekkaia) The great ocean that encircles Arda. It lies south, east, and north of Middle-earth. Also called the Outer Sea. In the First Age and late Second Age it was surrounded by the Walls of Night; but, in the late Second Age, when Arda was remade as a sphere, it circumscribed and covered most of the world.

Endor: (Middle Land; Middle-earth) The Sindarin Elvish label for the Middle Continent of Arda. Also called Ennor or Endóre.

Eru: ("The One"or"He that is Alone;"Q."Ilúvatar") The creator of Eä and all things within and without.

Dwarves: (Kh. "Khuduk") Also called halflings, the Hobbits are the shortest of the Free Peoples. They are a simple race of curious origin, divided into Stoor, Harfoot, and Fallohide subgroups.

Hobbits: (Kd. "Khuduk") Also called halflings, the Hobbits are the shortest of the Free Peoples. They are a simple race of curious origin, divided into Stoor, Harfoot, and Fallohide subgroups.

Maiar: (Q. sing. "Maia") The lesser Ainur who entered Eä as guardians and executors of Eru's vision. Their were originally fifteen Maiar; however Melkor (Morgoth) fell from grace, leaving seven male and seven female Maiar. The eight called the Aratar are mightiest. Morgoth's name was never again spoken by the Exalted and he was counted as the greatest of the Great Enemies. The Valar are also known as the Mighty, the Exalted, the Great Ones, the Lords of Arda, the Guardians, the Lords of Valinor, the Lords of the West, and (by the ignorant) the Gods. (See Lords of Middle-earth, Volume 1.)

3.3 CONVARTING STATISTICS

This supplement is designed for use with most major fantasy role playing systems. Since the various FRP rules have their own particular approaches to combat, spells, and character generation and development, certain common descriptive terms have been selected. Unfortunately, statistical data such as bonuses and character "stats" differ widely between systems; after all, they are keyed to specific game mechanics. ICE has chosen to use percentile (D100) terms as base, since conversion to D20, D18, and D10 can be achieved with relative ease.

When using this supplement with your FRP campaign, be careful to note the item statistics before beginning play. Should any adjustments need to be made, you may wish to consider the following guidelines. The material provided is in terms of percentages and is intended to give the reader a relatively clear picture of the strengths and weaknesses of the individual items discussed. Most FRP systems will relate to the data, and conversion should be simple; remember, however, that there are dozens of role playing rules and the change-over from the statistics given here may be troublesome.

3.31 CONVERTING HITS AND BONUSES

- When converting percentile values to a 1-20 system a simple rule is: for every +5 on a D100 scale you get a +1 on a D20.
- The concussion hit numbers found in this module represent general pain and system shock. They cover bruises and small cuts rather than wounds. Critical strike damage is used to describe serious wounds and fatal blows. The hit figures shown here are less important than those used in game systems where death occurs as a result of exceeding one's available hits. Should you use a game system that employs no specific critical strike results, such as TSR Inc.'s Dungeons and Dragons, simply double the number of hits your characters take or halve the hit values found in this module.

Definitions

Númenor: (Westernesse) The great island continent located in the middle of the Great Sea until its destruction (Downfall) in Second Age 3319. From the early Second Age until its Downfall, Númenor was occupied by the High Men (Edain) who called themselves Númenóreans. These Men were the ancestors of the Dúnedain race. Númenor literally means West Land and was the westernmost home of mortal Men. Elves called it Andor, the "Land of Gift."

Undying Lands: Sometimes considered synonymous with Aman, it includes Aman and Tol Eressëa. Its inhabitants — Elves, Maiar, and Valar — are immortal; thus the origin of the label. The land itself does not necessarily confer immortality.

Valar: (Q. sing. "Vala;" S. "Belain;" S. sing. "Balan") The greater of the Ainur who entered Eä as guardians and executors of Eru's vision. Their were originally fifteen Valar; however Melkor (Morgoth) fell from grace, leaving seven male and seven female Valar. The eight called the Aratar are mightiest. Morgoth's name was never again spoken by the Exalted and he was counted as the greatest of the Great Enemies. The Valar are also known as the Mighty, the Exalted, the Great Ones, the Lords of Arda, the Guardians, the Lords of Valinor, the Lords of the West, and (by the ignorant) the Gods. (See Lords of Middle-earth, Volume 1.)
3.32 CONVERTING COMBAT ABILITIES

All combat values are based on MERP or Arms Law & Claw Law. The following guidelines will also aid conversion.

1) Strength and Quickness bonuses have been determined according to the Stat Bonus Chart. Note that the stats you are using and compute these bonuses using the rules under your system:

2) Combat adds based on level included here are: +3/level for fighters and rogues, +2/level for thieves and warrior monks, and +1 /level for bards, monks and rangers. Simply take the level of the character, note his character class (or equivalent under your system), and compute any offensive bonuses (due to level) appropriate for your game. Note that the bonuses other than those mentioned under armor type are "offensive" adds.

3) If your system is based on Skill Levels (or other skill increments), use the offensive bonus as given. You may have to convert the add to a non-percentile value.

4) Armor Types given are based on the following breakdown:

<table>

<tr>

</tr>
<tr>

</tr>
</tbody>

Simply look at the armor description and substitute the appropriate armor type/class from your FRP system.

5) Defensive bonuses are based on the NPC’s quickness bonus as computed on the Stat Bonus Chart. Where the defensive bonus is in parentheses, the value also includes the added capability of a shield (an extra 20 for non-magic normal shields, plus any value for magical enhancement). In such a case, simply note that there is or is not a shield, and if there is, what type.

3.33 CONVERTING SPELLS AND SPELL LISTS

Spell references provided here are in the form of "lists", groupings of related spells, and individual spells. Each list has a common theme and normally will have a different, but related, spell at each level. For instance, an item possessing the Fire Law list to tenth level would potentially enable its bearer to cast 10 similar fire-based spells, one of each level from one to ten. Whether the bearer could indeed cast these spells would be determined by the GM, the system, and the caster's degree of skill with magic items. The frequency with which each spell may be cast will vary from item to item. Once a round, twice a day, three times a week, or once and never again are but a few of the ways frequency may be determined. Another method employs Power Points: any combination of spells from a given list up to a set number of PPs which may be renewed on a daily, weekly, or monthly basis or which may be unreliable.

FRP systems using rules which provide for the learning of spells through "colleges" or along specialized lines will use concepts and possess organization similar to those of the system used in this module. Many systems, however, group spells by power level alone, rather than by related subject matter or effect. Converting an item's magical powers over to individual spells may be more difficult in these systems, but can be achieved with relative ease using the following guidelines.

1) Look at the item's spell lists and spells and note the various names for them. Each name will indicate the orientation that has been forged into the item (e.g., the Fire Law list indicates an orientation towards the manipulation of fire).

2) Note the item's overall power level and determine the number of spells or spell groupings it should have to maintain game balance in your system. Also consider the power level of each individual spell.

3) Select spells from your system appropriate for the item, its purpose, and its power level, keeping in mind that the item's orientation indicated in this module should be followed where possible.
4.0 ITEMS

Ever since Eru, the One who is the beginning and the end, first created all that is and will be, the creatures born of his thought into his creation have emulated their maker. The mightiest artifacts come from the forges of the Elves, the Firstborn; Fëanor, a great and terrible Noldorin Prince, created the brilliant Silmarilli, in whose facets shone the light of the Two Trees, and the far-seeing Palantíri, spheres capable of transferring not only images but also their users' thoughts over great distance. Yet, all of Ilúvatar's Children create objects of beauty and utility using the materials of his creation have emulated their maker. The mightiest artifacts created all that is and will be, the creatures born of his thought into the physical world around them. From the mightiest Dúnadan King to the humblest Hobbit Smith, from the awesome Lord of Darkness to his lowliest Orcish Warrior, each individual manipulates mithril or steel, laen or bronze, dirwood or maple to serve his needs.

4.1 ARMS

Of all the wide variety of beautiful and magical treasures in Middle-earth, weapons are the most carefully constructed, floridly decorated, and heavily enchanted creations made in the forges of every race. Weapons decide the outcome of both battles between armies and individual combat, and so they are imbued with all the technology and wizardry a warrior can muster. The need for the practical considerations of good workmanship and enchantment is thus explained, but the reason for ornament is more psychological than physical. Inlays, engravings, fancy hilts, scabbards, and bindings all project the fierceness or glory of the warrior onto his weapon. The number of forms this can take is infinite, but the personalizing touches vary from culture to culture and race to race. Orcs use the blood or body parts of slain foes to show their strength. Dwarves employ heavy ironwork to proclaim their unwavering power, and Elves and Men choose feathers, ribbons, and bright colors to make themselves visible and daunting to the enemy. The only sort of ornamentation almost never seen is a lack of decoration — even a common footsoldier's blade is inscribed with rough runes for protection or identification.

Aedring ("Fell Hammer")

The weapon Beren bore, this blade was an ithilnaur bastard sword. Like many enchanted Elvish swords, it is beautifully made, with a central inlay of darker silver alloy along the blade and a hilt wrapped in green leather. The guard is set with beryls at the end of each hilt guard.

Powers: +45: glows near Morgoth's creations.

See ICE's LOME III 20.

Aeglin

A sword of Gondolin, the lost mate of Orcrist and Glamdring, this weapon is sheathed and hidden in a crack in the cavern of the lesser drake Corlagon the Red in the mountains of southern Angmar. Its scabbard is of blue boarskin, with the bristles intact near the opening. The blade itself is of ithilnaur with steel pommel and guard. The hilt's wrapping of rich purple linen and silver wire is decayed and needs to be replaced.

Powers: +30 OB: burns with a blue light in the presence of evil; contains a spirit dedicated to the destruction of evil; a sword of lightning, it delivers an electrical strike (crit) with each normal critical.

See ICE's Angmar 13.

Aeglos (S. "Snow Point" or "Icicle")

Made of pure white eog, the Great Spear and was destroyed by Sauron's Gauntlet of Slaying on the slopes of Orodruin when Gil-galad fell in battle there. Yet Gil-galad's fatal contest with Sauron at the Battle of Dagorlad permitted Elendil to strike Sauron down.

Powers: +88 OB; Holy; triple concussion criticals; additional Cold and Impact criticals; protects the wielder vs. any cold and the draining power of undead; casts the following spells 3x/daily each, 2x/1md. at 50th level of ability: RM Shield Mastery Bladeturn I. Ice Law Ice Bolt (5x hits). Concussion's Ways Regeneration V. Damage Resistance Unpain (50%). And Spell Resistance Resistance True or MERP Essence Hand Bladeturn, Ice Law Ice Bolt, Surface Ways Regeneration III. Physical Enhancement Waterlungs. And Spell Defense Area Protection 11.

Read Sil 364. 390; LotRI 319. See ICE's LOME I 79.

Aercrist (S. "Sea-cleaver")

A two-handed blade of pale blue steel, this was Imrahil's weapon when he ruled Dol Amroth as Prince of Dor-en-Emil. Later it served well in the War of the Ring. The hilt is set with pieces of abalone and mother-of-pearl.

Powers: +30 OB; allows the wielder to parry attacks from any direction; will float on water.

See ICE's LOME 1132.

Ainacrist (S. "Holy Sword")

This broadsword of white eog was Finarfin's blade, which he wielded while leading his people to battle beneath the white banners of the Valar in the War of Wrath.

Powers: +75 OB; hits as a two-handed sword doing triple concussion hits; RM Rapid Ways Haste X or MERP Living Change Haste III 5x/day; wielder does not fumble and cannot be stunned.

See ICE's LOME I 73.
Air-cleaver
An enchanted Braric Killing-bola (also called a Gé) made of silvery ogamur, this is the weapon of Dwar the Ringwraith.

Powers: Strikes as a +25 flail and delivers a Grappling critical strike (of same severity) in addition to any regular critical strike it yields.

See ICE's LOME II 87.

Aldarion's Short Sword
This silver mithril blade has a gold mithril basket hilt and is very well balanced for throwing. Its edge is remarkable, despite its undoubtedly heavy use by the sixth king of Númenor on his many voyages of exploration and discovery.

Powers: +25 OB; hits as two-handed sword; 50' throwing range.

See ICE's LOME II 15.

Aldarion’s Bow of Power
Formed of hollow steel, this exceptional bow is very much in the Númenórean style. It is fully six and a half feet long, and because it is hollow it sounds a low tone every time it is fired.

Powers: Floats; 3x range and 2x concussion hits.

See ICE’s LOME II 15.

Amtaur’s Sword
The blade once wielded by the Customs Master of Gondor is a bastard sword of fine steel engraved with the emblem of the White Tree. The hilt is wrapped in cloth of gold and draped with tassels of the same material.

Powers: +10 OB; can be used 1 - or 2-handed; provides its wielder with RM/MERP Nature’s Ways Water Finding 4x/day.

See ICE’s Mouths of the Entwash 9.

Anarmacil
Anarmacil is an Elvish longsword made of golden laen. Its crosspiece is shaped like a brilliant sunburst. Once wielded by Fëamíre, a Sindarin Elf originally from Ost-in-Edhil, it continues to serve in the fight against evil in other hands.

Powers: +30 OB; Holy; highly intelligent; can produce RM Brilliance Sunfires True 1x/day (this can be used in combat as a Fire Bolt with a + 20 OB bonus and a 1.5x concussion hit multiplier) or MERP Fire Law Fire Bolt 1x/day; also produces a RM Light Law Beacon or Light’s Way Utterlight V at will (up to 3x/week) or MERP Sound/Light Ways Projected Light or Utterlight 3x/day.

See ICE’s Dunland 19.

Ancaruin (S. "Jaws of Red Flame")
This blade was lost when Fëanor, the proud and vengeful creator of the Silmarils and author of the Oath of Fëanor, was overwhelmed by Balrogs in Dor Daerdeloth. It was a two-handed sword, hilts of golden mithril and adamant ruby and blade of mithril and red eog. Fëanor probably forged it himself — certainly the workmanship is of the finest.

Powers: +88 OB; Holy; highly intelligent; telepathic: able to RM/MERP Lofty Bridge Long Door 333 miles to weilder at his mental call; RM Rapid Ways/MERP Living Change Haste 1 at will; may be thrown 1000’ with no penalties; caster may immolate at will: he cannot be stunned or stunned unable to parry, the flames act as RM Elemental Shields Fire Armor and Lightning Armor or MERP Protections Resist Elements, anyone within 5’ takes a C class Heat critical; Of Heat: the sword flames when wielded, does an additional Heat critical, and triple concussion hits.

See ICE’s LOME I 71.

Andúril (Q. "Flame of the West")
This is Aragorn II’s blade forged from the pieces of the Sword that was Broken. The shards of Narsil, the original weapon, were reforged in T.A. 3018 by the Elven-smiths of Rivendell to form Andúril. Its blade is engraved with a design of seven stars between a rayed sun and a crescent moon, representing Elendil, Anarion, and Isildur, respectively. The sword’s heritage, power, and brightness, as well as the fame of its wielder make it one of Middle-earth’s most famous weapons. In Westron, Andúril is called the Flame of the West, and in poetry and song it is often referred to as the Sword that was Broken, the Sword Reforged, and the like.

Powers: +50 OB; Holy Blade; flames on command; when flaming, Andúril can burn Hot with a red flame, delivering extra Heat criticals of equal severity and becoming Of Slaying Orcs, or it can burn Cold with a white flame, delivering an extra Cold critical (of equal severity) as well becoming Of Slaying Undead.

Angamaite's Light Crossbow

This clever Dwarven mechanism has long ago fallen into Mannish hands, though none can duplicate its delicately balanced workings. The stock is of steel and is sealed except for the groove where bolts may by lined up to await reloading. The entire reloading mechanism works off the firing of the crossbow — it will not work if the string does not move.

Powers: +15 OB; reloads itself; may be fired every round without penalty; may be wielded and fired with one hand.

See ICE's LOME II 18.

Angamaite's Scimitar

This weapon belonged to the famous Corsair Lord whose exploits along the southern coasts brought him wealth sufficient to erect the great fortress Barad Caranond. He bore the scimitar in his raids into Belfalas, Lebbennin, and Ithilien which avenged the defeat the Corsairs' ancestors suffered in T.A. 1448.

Powers: +15 OB; carries up to 10 doses of poison (Angamaite preferred Acaana); poison is injected with each critical strike, but a dose is used with each strike; sword may be thrown up to 100' without penalty of range, in which case it returns to thrower's hand in 1 round.

See ICE's LOME II 17.

Angian (S. "Gift of Iron")

The Sword of the Princes of Morthond is kept in a black leather sheath studded with mithril and diamonds. It has a pommel of crystal and is only drawn for the most important occasions of state: wars, coronations, knightings, and weddings.

Powers: +20 OB; pommel glows with a dark blue light within 1000' of creatures of Morgoth.

See ICE's Erech & the Paths of the Dead 29.

Anglachel (S. "Iron-flame")

The great, black galvorn two-handed sword made by E61 was given to Elwë (also called Thingol) in return for permission to live in Nan Elmoth when the Girdle of Melian was set about the Hidden Kingdom. Elwë's wife Melian claimed that the blade was cursed with its spiteful maker's malice. Beleg the Archer later acquired it from the arms stores at Megroth (prior to this he had used a +50 Orc- and Troll-slaying sword), and it undid him, being the blade Turin used to slay him accidentally. Although the sword is intelligent, it is mute. Its subtle, malicious evil can be tied to its maker's hate. It is the mate of Anguirel, stolen by Maeglin from his father. Turin had the sword reforged in Nargothrond and renamed it Gurthang, Iron of Death.

Powers: +90 OB; performs like a bastard sword; may be wielded with 1 hand with a -20 OB penalty; treats a foe's armor (except galvorn and ithilnaur) as if he had none (i.e., AT 1); an Unholy weapon, it also delivers an extra Heat and an extra Slash critical (of one less severity 1lv1) in addition to any critical strike it yields; hit results are 2x normal; casts a 40th lv1 RM Curses; Friendslayer on its owner/wielder 1 x/day.

Read SiI 247,255-57,262,266,277,278,452. See ICE's Lords of Middle-earth I 57.

Angrist (S. "Iron Cutter")

A black eog dagger made by Telchar of Nogrod. Originally in Curufin's possession, Beren took it from him when Celegorm and Curufin ambushed Beren and Luthien on their way to Morgoth's lands. Beren then used it in his quest to secure the Jewels. The blade snapped when Beren attempted to cut a second Silmaril from the Iron Crown, though it was renowned for its ability to cut iron easily.

Powers: +75 OB; cuts iron easily (even Valinorean Iron, of which Morgoth's Iron Crown was made); delivers 4x the usual concussion hits; raises critical strikes by one degree (i.e., A becomes B, B becomes C, etc.; E becomes E plus A, etc.); bleeding hits are doubled in severity.

Read SiI 215, 219. See ICE's LOME II 20, 63.

Anguirel (S. "Living Star-iron")

One of two fabulous blades made by E61 (the other being Anglachel), Anguirel was stolen from its maker by Maeglin. It is of the shiny black meteoric iron galvorn which E61 first applied to weapon craft.

Powers: +100 OB; cleaves normal metals with ease; all armor but ithilnaur, eog and galvorn (or other powerful enchanted armor) is useless: target is AT 1; Anguirel is an intelligent blade, though it does not "speak" as such; whenever it is drawn, all in sight are affected by a 30th level spell of Loathing — those who fail a RR wish to slay the wielder; for Eö1, it could not be fumbled — though in Maeglin's hands there was an additional +1 chance of fumbling; it was essentially a bastard sword, and so could be used one-handed at — 20, although its effect is that of a two-handed blade; Hastes the user at a thought; all spells directed at the wielder must resist versus 60th level or fail (wielder's spells are unaffected); delivers a Slash critical in addition to any other indicated.

Read SH 247. See ICE's LOME I 86.

Araçu (S. "Noble Bow")

Used in the Battle of Angband, Celegorm's bow was more often turned to the hunt. While he dwelt in Valinor, Celegorm learned much woodcraft from the Vala Oromë, and perhaps his bow absorbed some of this into its essence.

Powers: +60 OB; fumbles only on a 1; can fire 2 arrows/rd with no penalty; range 2x normal; arrows fired are Of Slaying Trolls and Orcs.

See ICE's LOME I 61.

Aranruth (Q. "King's Wrath")

The great broadsword of Elwë in Doriath, it survived the ruin of that fair land and later became the blade of the Kings Of Númenor. Perhaps of Dwarvish manufacture, most likely forged by the smiths of Nogrod, the blade is red eog with furniture of deep blue.

Powers: OB +77; does additional Heat criticals; Of Slaying vs. Balrogs, Trolls, Goblins, Wargs, Undead, and Dragons; it is highly intelligent; speaks all Elvish and Dwarvish tongues; does triple concussion hits; any armor it strikes is treated as AT 1 (skin).

Read SiI 247,394. See ICE's LOME I 69.
Aratocam (Q. "Captain's Hand")

A gift of the Eldar to Aldarion, sixth king of Númenor, this hammer is a pearl-inlaid ithilnaur weapon. Though it seems light in the hand, it is simply well-balanced and will strike as well as any clumsier weapon.

Powers: +45 OB; floats in water; does additional Impact and Crush criticals (of one level less in severity) in addition to any other it yields; if parried, the parrying item must make a RR versus 21st lvl, failure resulting in the item being broken.

See ICE's LOME II 15.

Ar-sil

An ancient sword from the Elder Days or from Númenor, this mithril blade now languishes in the treasury of Angmar, hidden so the forces of the West cannot use it against the servants of the Witch-king.

Powers: +30 OB; burns cold, delivering a cold critical if the bearer gets a normal critical, i.e., a normal B is accompanied by a cold B critical; detects Orcs and all creatures of Sauron and Morgoth; burns with blue light.

See ICE's Angmar 20.

Axe of Braogha

A battle-axe of the classic Dwarven style, this weapon also has the center of its blade carved out, leaving a hollow circle behind the blade. It is of carbon steel with a haft of ash wood and a set of leather thongs used to secure the weapon against a possible slip.

Powers: +35 OB; will shrink to the size of a hand-axe (+35 ha) when held and commanded; Of Slaying Dwarves and Orcs.

See ICE's Erech & the Paths of the Dead 34.

Axe of Clear Cutting

This long-handled axe has been the joy of woodsmen and the bane of Ents for centuries, but its origins are obscure. Its handle is seasoned oak, and its blade is slightly serrated steel.

Powers: Able to cut a tree down in but three rounds plus one round for every foot the trunk is wide. Of Slaying Ents.

See ICE's Mouths of the Entwash 33.

Axe of Craft

Belonging to the Master Shipwright of Dol Amroth, this weapon is a hand-axe that any woodworker would pay dearly to own. Its pine haft is ribbed to give a better grip over the course of a long working day, and the blade and haft are slightly pitted by the corrosion of salt water.

Powers: +20 OB; gives +30 to all Woodworking; casts any spell from the RM/MERP Water Law list to 10th level 3x/day.

See ICE's Havens of Gondor 53.

Axe of Durin

Forged in the Elder Days after the coming of Morgoth and the discovery of the Dragons, the axe is one of Durin's seven weapons and is almost sacred to the Dwarves. It is said to have been made by Durin himself or to have been a gift from Aul. It is worthless to Men, Elves, or any individual with other than pure Dwarvish blood in his veins. The weapon appears to be an ordinary, rather uninspired iron axe to all except Dwarven eyes.

Powers: +30 Dwarven axe; throw and return; detects Balrogs, Dragons, Orcs, Sauron, Undead, and Morgoth at 7 miles; controls the stone of any Dwarven citadel, mine, or city; usable only by Dwarves of the royal family; the axe and its powers are indecipherable by evil individuals such as the rulers of Angmar and Mordor.

See ICE's Angmar 20.

Axe of Fegc

Balanced for throwing, this is a small axe with a double-headed blade. There is an iron pommel at the end of the haft that acts as a counterweight, but it is otherwise unremarkable.

Powers: A 6th level, +15 throwing weapon, this axe incurs no penalty when used at ranges of up to 70'; should the wielder wear the Gauntlets of Iom Fegc, the axe returns to its owner's hand instantly upon command; "slays armor": anytime it is used and the result is merely hits (no crit), the victim's armor must make a RR or fall apart.

See ICE's Haunted Ruins 13.

Axes of Azaghâl

Now resting in the depths of Moria in a shroud of gold wool, these three weapons are made of Tasarang and Ithilnaur and forged of an ancient Cold. Each is a magic weapon with its own abilities. The Long Axe is a two-hand battle-axe with a reddish cast, a gleaming silvery edge, and elaborately decorated with silver inlay. Its companion, the Night Axe, is just as beautiful, but its Ithildin inlay is invisible except under Moon- or Star-light. The third of the set is the one-hand Stone Axe, a greyish weapon also traced with Ithildin.

Powers: (all three axes) +20 OB; Orc-slaying weapon which delivers an equivalent Cold Critical whenever there is a normal critical strike result. Long Axe: can be thrown up to 70' without penalty. Night-axe: under Moon- or star-light, the weapon will strike one to two targets when thrown, both in the same round; the Hand-axe can be thrown up to 35' without penalty, and up to 70' at -35. Stone Axe: rather than striking twice in a round, it enables the wielder to throw through stone unimpeded; allows the bearer to gaze through darkness or stone (range 35') and see any one person whose voice is audible or whose sounds are discerned.

See ICE's Moria 58.

Balli Stonehand's Hammer

A hammer fashioned in Khazad-dum (Moria), this is the weapon Balli used when he defeated the Balrog Múar. It was captured with Balli by the Wild Men of Ralian, who served the Nazgûl known as Khamûl the Easterling and was not seen thereafter.

Powers: +25 OB; Of Orc-slaying.

See ICE's LOME III 51.
Bandobras' Club

Called “Driver” by Bandobras, this oversized club was the weapon the great Bullroarer Took used in T.A. 2747 at the Battle of Greenfields to behead the Orc Chieftain Golfimbul and invent the game of golf at the same time, named in the Orc-leader’s memory. To this day, a golfing contest is held on that field in which the coveted Greenfield’s Green Jacket is awarded to the winner. Engraved on the end of the club is a large number 1. The club itself is a two-handed weapon for any Hobbit with enough strength to wield it at all.

Powers: +20 OB (+15 being for its 160% normal size).

See ICE's LOME III 12.

Battle-axe of Fulla III

The Dwarf-lord of the small western branch of Barin’s Folk, Fulla considered himself a King. He was a descendant of Balli Stonehand, the Dwarven Animist who went into the East in S.A. 2711. Like all of Balli’s direct heirs, Fulla was named for Balli’s best friend. Fulla was a renowned slayer of Orcs and he ruled a pair of Dwarven cities (Azanulinbar and Barak-shathur) in the Iron Hills during the middle years of the Third Age. After his death, his descendants ruled his domain the upper Carnen Valley until the arrival of Durin’s Folk around T.A. 2770. Fulla’s battle-axe was forged of mithril and ornamented with traceries of silver and gold and onyx inlay.

Powers: +15 Axe of Shield-slaying — if parried (i.e., doesn't yield hits), attacks foe's shield at 7th level: RR failure results in foe's shield being cut in half.

See ICE's LOME III 54.

Believers’ Bane

Wielded by Ren the Unclean, the insane Nazgûl lord who slew countless unbelievers (the so-called “unclean”) in purges throughout Chey Sart, this weapon is deeply stained with blood. It is a composite bow of apparently plain materials that nevertheless displays some potent enchanted properties.

Powers: +25 OB; instills Illusions spells into its projectiles — user need only expend the PP and be capable of casting the spell inherently in order to store a given Illusions spell into an arrow; the spell is cast at the point the arrow strikes or, if the arrow itself is cloaked in an Illusion, at the moment the arrow leaves the bow (making it analogous to a very powerful Phantasm).

See ICE's LOME II 95.

Belt of Daggers

Worn by Naur Zigildûm and Fulla VII, this white Kine-skin belt is inlaid with silver. The belt holds seven daggers, some of them enchanted against specific enemies: the small pommel of each resembles the foe it is meant for. The other daggers are simply various sized throwing weapons.

Powers: Belt provides the wearer with a +5 DB; +10 Dagger of Returning with a range of 300' (no range penalty); +10 Dagger of Giant-slaying; +10 Dagger of Troll-slaying; +15 Dagger of Returning with a range of 200' (no range penalty); +15 Dagger of Cat-slaying; +15 Dagger of Orc-slaying; +20 Dagger of Returning with a range of 100' (no range penalty).

See ICE's LOME III 56.

Belthroning

Beleg was unarguably the best archer ever to arise among the Elves. His weapon was this great black yew bow, which was buried with him in a shallow grave on the slopes of Taur-nu-Fuin after he was accidentally slain by Turin.

Powers: A +88 holy weapon: fires 2 arrows/rd without penalty: has 10x normal long bow range; only fumbles on a 01, and neither its stock or string will break; only a person with a +40 or more strength bonus can string it. however: yields 3x normal hits and delivers an Impact critical (of two less severity lvls) whenever it yields a critical strike result.

Read Sil 256. See ICE's LOME I 57.

Betheal's Eket

The Master Mason of Minas Tirith owned a ordinary, sparsely ornamented eket (short sword) made of enchanted steel.

Powers: +20 OB; when held in the hand unsheathed, it detects enemies up to 100' away; casts RM/ME RP Light Law Light 4x/ day at 12th level.

See ICE's Minas Tirith 71.

Birch-bow of Címóníemor

A longbow of beautiful wood, the Birch-bow is decorated with burned patterns of black on its white wood. It is tassled at top and bottom with clusters of green silk leaves.

Powers: Allows the caster 3x normal longbow ranges; fires 1x/ round without penalty (2x if the user has a +25 or more to Quickness and Agility); all arrows fired from it are Holy.

See ICE's Teeth of Mordor 18.
Blade of Inaril
Klaen wielded this mithril broadsword on behalf of the Guild of Elements in their struggle against the Court of Ardor. The Noldo Bard had personal reasons to swear vengeance against Gorthaur, the Priest of Darkness, and it can be assumed that Klaen either slew Gorthaur with the Blade of Inaril or perished in the attempt. The sword has a narrow hilt wrapped in several layers of velvet, giving it a very soft feel.

Powers: +30 OB; Of Slaying Orcs and Dark Priests; glows near either; very intelligent.

See ICE's LOME I 83.

Blade of the Sun
Ar-Pharazôn’s sword went with him on the King’s mad quest to conquer Aman, and presumably it was swallowed in the Akallabêth (Ad. “Downfall”) and will lie below the earth until the Changing of the World. It was a broadsword of gold alloy, the blade shining like the sun it is named for. Truly the weapon worthy of a great king, it was fated to meet an ignoble end.

Powers: +90 OB; delivers 2x normal concussion hits; becomes a two-handed sword on command; flames to deliver a Heat critical (of equal severity) in addition to any other critical strike it yields.

See ICE’s LOME II 37.

Bladorthin’s Spear
This Elven king was a great spearman and ordered many of the weapons crafted by the Dwarves of Erebor. His own galvorn-tipped spear was of excellent quality, but it was lost after Bladorthin's death between T.A. 1999 and 2770.

Powers: +45 OB; triple concussion hits; 5x ranges; does additional Cold crits; user can also make a second attack each round with the butt of the spear (as a quarterstaff) against the same target.

See ICE’s LOME I 58.

Boromir’s Sword (“Mighty Blade”)
A long sword, in design very similar to Andúril but of less lineage, it is a steel alloy weapon, finely made. The blade is scarred by many tiny nicks from much use, but it is well oiled and honed. After Boromir fell in battle, defending Merry and Pippin from Orcs, he was given a proper funeral. His blade floated down the Anduin with him, out of the sight of Men for a time.

Powers: +30 OB.

See ICE’s LOME II 21.

Bow of Thunder and Bone
A composite bow of very dark wood and human bone, with a many-colored grip of braided human hair, this dread weapon is of Easterling design. Five arrows of the same dark wood bearing heads of clear laen occupy the quiver carried with the bow.

Powers: allows the user to fire during three consecutive rounds without penalty — then the user must rest one round or be at 50 in combat or while moving and maneuvering; when a critical is delivered by one of these arrows, an electricity critical of the same type is delivered (use the same critical strike roll for both).

See ICE’s Dagarlad 31.

Broadsword of the Thain
This hereditary symbol of the authority of the Thains of the Shire was a gift of the King of Arnor, Argeleb II. Used by such famous Hobbits as Isengrim II (grandson of the Bullroarer Took) and Paladin II, as well as Pippin and his son Faramir, it is large enough to require dedication for any Hobbit to master.

Powers: +15 short sword; does an additional slash critical; semi-intelligent; occasionally empathically warns its wielder of the presence and direction of a non-Hobbit within twenty-five feet.

See ICE’s LOME III 17.

Brôdic Spear
A mithril-headed weapon with a dir-wood shaft, the Brôdic Spear is an ancient weapon taken from a conquered people of southeast Middle-earth. It is kept in the fortress of Narchost, where Dwar the Nazgûl dwells.

Powers: +25: can be thrown to 5x the normal range and returns to the wielder; practically indestructible.

See ICE’s Teeth of Mordor 18.

Burning Blade
The two-hand sword of Ren the Nazgûl was forged in the furnaces of Angband during the First Age. Formed of galvorn, the Burning Blade is a fitting weapon for the Fire King, its edge gleaming red, a hilt of red copper, and a guard of golden laen.

Powers: +25; immolates upon command, setting fire to any organic object it strikes (object/victim receives a RR when struck and 1 RR/rnd thereafter until it/he succeeds); magical flames, they damage the target with the equivalent of one +25 point-blank Fireball attack during each round that the target burns.

See ICE’s LOME II 95.

Calninquê (Q. "White Cleaving")
Originally the weapon of Glorfindel, the Elvish captain of the guard in Gondolin, Calninquê escaped the sack of the city only to be wielded in single combat against a Balrog as Glorfindel covered the escape of his companions. It fell into an abyss with the Balrog and its master — though Glorfindel's body was recovered, the blade was not. A two-handed sword, it was of clear laen with an edge of white eog.

Powers: +60 OB; Holy and Of Slaying demons; wielder is Hasted whenever he draws the weapon, and immune to all heat and cold.

Read Sil 301-2. See ICE’s LOME I 79.

Calris (Q. "Light Cleaver")
The weapon of the Balrog of Moria is a giant, flaming sword (treat as two-hand) of black eog with its name enruned on the blade. It weighs 18 pounds.

Powers: +30 OB; flames when the Balrog immolates.

See ICE’s Moria 50; LOME I 34.

Camring’s Sword of Defense
Camring fought reluctantly and then only to defend himself. This weapon suited his fighting style perfectly. It is made of light, flexible steel with a cup-shaped guard of translucent green laen.

Powers: +30 DB; ‘dances’ to defend its wielder should he be stunned (or worse).

See ICE’s LOME I 59.
Caranlhach (S. "Red Leaping Flame")

The red laen broadsword was used often and usually unwisely by Caranthir, the rash fourth son of Fëanor. Despite his quick temper and haste to take athen, he fought bravely in the Dagor Bragoloth. He was slain and Caranlhach taken from him when he assaulted Thingol's heir Dior in an attempt to still the Silmaril.

Powers: +50 OB; does additional heat crits; +50 Firebolt, 5x hits, 5x/daily; RM Rapid Ways Haste X or MERP Living Change Haste III 3x/day.

See ICE's LOME I 59.

Castamir's Bane

The magic, gold-inlaid battle-axe was the weapon King Eldacar used to slay Castamir the Usurper in single combat.

Powers: +30; if the axe strikes a shield, the shield must make a RR vs. axe wielder's lvl — failure means that the shield is broken.

See ICE's LOME II 26.

Castamir's Spear

A lebethron spear with an ithilnaur point, the weapon was used by the Usurper in his rebellion against King Eldacar of Gondor.

Powers: +20 OB; returns to wielder 1 round after being thrown.

See ICE's LOME II 22.

Celeborn's Longbow

This remarkable bow is made of a single length of yew and is strung with Elf-hair.

Powers: +35 to hit; can fire every round without penalty; string will not break; 2x the normal range.

See ICE's LOME I 60.

Celeborn's Long Sword

The powerful blade is made of an ithilnaur alloy which gives it a silvery sheen. The weapon of Galadriel's husband, it served him well for many thousands of years.

Powers: +45 bonus; Of Slaying Orcs.

See ICE's Lórien, 27-28,56; LOME I 60.

Celebrimbor's Bow

Made of white wood and shaalk, this remarkable Elven composite bow was rarely used by the Smith in his later days. When Celebrimbor was tortured by Sauron to reveal the location of the Three Rings, the bow passed on to those of the Elven Smiths who escaped the Dark Lord's sacking of the Mírdain's Guild Hall.

Powers: +45 OB; can fire every round without penalty; is strung with unbreakable Elf-hair.

See ICE's Lórien 22.

Celegorm's Broadsword

From the First Age, this weapon of green laen matches its owner's green shield. Celegorm used the blade during his attempted abduction of Lúthien, and it failed him at the last when he attempted to steal the Nauglamir Silmaril in Menegroth and was slain by Dior.

Powers: +45 OB; triple concussion hits; Of Slaying carnivores, Orcs, and Trolls.

See ICE's LOME I 61.

Changing-lance ("Lathe of Moak")

Demirk Dral's lance was made of clear laen and grey lebethron. It served him for years in pursuit of the restoration of his family to the throne of Lochas Drus.

Powers: +30 OB; upon command, the weapon can become a dagger, a spear, a two-hand sword, or a broadsword: when thrown, it suffers no range penalties; user can concentrate and make it glow, and the weapon can serve as a projected light with a range of 100; user may concentrate (up to 4x/day) and detect the location of curses, working spells, or Dragons within 400.

See ICE's LOME II 23.

Cirdan's Heavy Crossbow

Made entirely of steel with brass trim, this potent weapon weighs less than most of its kind. Its stock is hollow, and thus the bow is a little heavy toward the front when used for any great length of time. It was made especially for the great mariner's use at sea, and works well even if drenched, for the string is braided iron and copper.

Powers: +35; floats in water; fire every round without penalty.

See ICE's LOME I 62.

Cirdan's War Hammer

Made of fine ithilnaur, this war hammer served the able mariner and shipwright as a mallet more often than as a weapon. Nevertheless, it was made for use on board voyages of exploration — it can serve as a delaying pin in time of need.

Powers: +45; floats in water; does additional Impact and Unbalancing crits; if used to parry and the parry strikes, casts Weapon Slayer.

See ICE's LOME I 62.

Círmegil (S. "Cleaver of Swords")

A broadsword of a black alloy, Círmegil is a dark and brooding weapon. Each blade it has destroyed has left a tiny nick on its keen edge — there are more nicks than can be counted, making cuts received from it somewhat ragged and always painful.

Powers: +20 OB; cleaves the sword of the wielder's opponent — when the wielder's foe parries using a metallic, bladed weapon and the wielder misses within the range of the parry (indicates wielder has struck his opponent's weapon), weapon is cleaved, if it is +10 or less and nonmagical (weapons with higher bonuses or magical in nature may be given RRs, at the GM's discretion).

See ICE's Isengard 42.

Cloud Bow

A composite bow carved from lurak-wood and belonging to Indûr the Ringwraith. Its string is the tendon from a Fell Beast, and the notches that hold that string are iron-shod and shaped like eagle's claws.

Powers: +30 OB; when fired from mist (e.g., firer is in fog or a cloud), the firer suffers no visibility or range penalty.

See ICE's LOME II 91.

Craig-olf-Ti (H. "Manspear")

This relic is a crude spear made so long ago that its origins are long forgotten. Carved of oak inlaid with silver, it possesses afire-hardened tip rather than a spearhead.

Powers: +25; Man-slaying.

See ICE's Hillmen 30.
Crossbow of the Dwarves
Made in Erebor by a gifted but anonymous weaponsmith, the bow is accurate, but possesses a hair trigger, and thus was always regarded as a deadly toy by its maker. Its clever mechanism was never reproduced in Erebor.

Powers: +5 OB; recocks automatically to allow twice the normal fire rate.

See ICE's Dunland 63.

Cubeleg (S. "Sudden Bow")
Caranthir's light crossbow was a gift to him by his famous father, Fëanor. It is so constructed that its mithril arms may be folded back into the mallorn stock for easier carrying.

Powers: +300B; reloads itself (fires every round with no penalty): may be held and fired with one hand: does double concussion hits.

See ICE's LOME 159.

Cubragol and Curaran
(S. "Sudden Bow" and "Red Bow")
Sister bows of tasarung and ogamur made for Elladan and Elrohir respectively. In form, they are identical, being slightly longer above than below the grip, which gives them a skewed appearance but makes it easier to fire from horseback.

Powers: +25 OB; fire every round with no penalty; all ranges tripled; all concussion hits are doubled; also completely silent.

See ICE's Rivendell 14.

Cu-I-Thang (S. "Bow of Oppression")
An Easterling construct from the Mid Second Age, this composite bow now rests in the bandit lair at Dyn Odoric (Rh. "Odoric's Hill"). Made of deep reddish wood, white bone, and black sinew, the weapon is inlaid and trimmed in golden steel. Four and one-half feet in length, it weighs two and one-half pounds.

Powers: +25 OB; curse: user will always fire at the nearest target he or she perceives, be it friend or foe.

See ICE's Northern Mirkwood 46.

Cuiviegurth
(Q. "Awakening Death")
This black ogamur monstrosity is the flaming whip of the Balrog of Moria. When he is not immolating, it reveals a sheen of slime. It weighs a full 24 pounds.

Powers: +30 OB; flames when the Balrog immolates; range of 36 feet.

See ICE's Moria 50.

Culok (S. "Bow of Bending")
Composed of various laminated woods, including the black wood of Dyr, and inlaid and fitted with mithril, Culok emits a low, musical note when firing.

Powers: +10 OB: the bow can fire arrows which turn corners to strike the target — the target must have either gone around the corner within one round, or the firer of the bow must be aware, at least generally of the target’s location (such as via a Presence spell); arrows fired from the bow can make up to three turns in their course, totalling no more than 180 degrees; the total distance travelled must not exceed the maximum composite bow range and all distance modifications are applicable.

See ICE's Isengard 42.

Cuthalion ("Strong Bow")
Wielded against the Dragons of Thangorodrim by Eärendil, who also took a Silmaril to Aman to plead with the Valar for help against Morgoth, this Elven Longbow was the instrument of the demise of the Lord of the Winged Drakes, Ancalagon the Black. An enchanted weapon, it was fashioned of mallorn wood.

Powers: +90 OB; Holy; triple the normal range and suffers no range penalties; Dragon-slaying.

See ICE's LOME II 25.

Daeron's Kynac
Although (or because) Daeron loved Lúthien above all things, he betrayed her and Beren to Thingol twice. In time, he went to the East of Middle-earth, and there he learned the use of the kynac. This is an exceptionally fine example, given to the minstrel because of the beauty of his song. It is of Eastern manufacture, forged of springy enchanted steel with a carved bronze hilt set with dark red garnets.

Powers: +25 OB; hits as +40 rapier; 3x normal concussion hits; returns to thrower the following round.

See ICE's LOME I 64.

Daeron's Rapier
Daeron needed this mithril blade during his travels as he roamed the world long and without rest for love of Lúthien. It disappeared with him into the distant East, lost from the knowledge and history of the Elves.

Powers: +45 OB; when it inflicts a critical result it casts a Sleep spell (level 30, sleep for 1 rnd/10% failure) and causes double bleeding results.

See ICE's LOME I 64.
Dagger of the Dancer

The beautiful Lúthien's blue mithril dagger is a marvel of grace and balance. The hilt is of silver wire and blue velvet. Ironically, it was made at the forge of Fëanor, whose sons gave Melian's daughter so much trouble.

Powers: +88 OB; strikes like a battle-axe: yields double concussion hits; possesses a range of 8000' (regardless of wielder's strength); it incurs no penalties, and instantly returns to thrower's hand if it rests within 100'; for every critical it yields, it delivers an additional Impact and Puncture critical (of same severity); if used to parry, wielder may also cast Deflections V or Bladeturn V

See ICE's LOME II 33.

Dagger of Green Wisdom

Locked in a vault in the Jewel Halls of the Mirdaithrond, the dagger was secured with many artifacts forged by the Elven Smiths of the Second Age. The blade was highly intelligent and shaped of green laen.

Powers: +25 OB; casts the Animist spells Herb Mastery III and Herb Finding 1 Mile 1x/10days.

See ICE's Lorien 50.

Dagger of Orc-Slaying

This rather ordinary-looking iron dagger has a line of curving silver inlays down the center of its blade, an ordinary iron crosspiece, and a leather-wrapped hilt.

Powers: +15 OB; slays Orcs; once thrown, it will float back to its last holder at a rate of 10' per round.

See ICE's Hillmen 35.

Dagger of the Rebels

An ivory-handled dagger in a silver sheath, this old weapon lies amid jumbled bones under the Tor Na Tolini northwest of Pelargir. It was part of the fleeing rebels' treasure which escaped the notice of Eldacar's men. The handle has been marred by the teeth of the giant rats which overcame the sanctuary.

Powers: +25 OB; the dagger cannot be fumbled.

See ICE's Sea Lords of Gondor 37.

Dagger of Returning

This lavishly decorated ceremonial dagger has a steel blade, burnished steel crosspiece with garnets set at either end, and a hilt wrapped in silver wire and topped with a steel pommel shaped like a rose.

Powers: +25 OB; no range penalty; returns to thrower if he is within 100' of target.

See ICE's Shadow in the South 56.

Dagger of Sleep

This dagger was made for Elemmíre, the minstrel known for writing the Aldudénië, the lament recounting the destruction of the Two Tress by Morgoth and Ungoliant. Some say it was given as a cruel compliment — implying that the singer's voice was always soft and lulling. If so, it was a petty gesture — Elemmíre was among the greatest of the Elven bards.

Powers: +35 OB; casts 50th level Sleep spell when it delivers a critical, for 1 rnd/10% failure.

See ICE's LOME I 66.

Dagger of the Usurper

Kept in a scabbard of wood sheathed in patterned bronze, this is a gold inlaid Assassin's Knife. This is one of the blades which Castamir, the rebellious Lord-Captain of Gondor, carried during his rebellion against Eldacar. It may have been a gift from one of his noble supporters in Southern Gondor.

Powers: +5 OB; Man-slaying; will not affect anyone of Dúnadan blood.

See ICE's LOME II 22.

Dagnirdraug (S. "Wolf's Bane")

When Finculin, Fëanor's descendant, became a member of the Gwaith-i-Mírdain, he earned the praise of his uncle Celebrimbor and of the Lord of Gifts, Annatar. Falling into the Dark Lord's trap, Finculin was not corrupted but abandoned all interests except his smithing, which produced some remarkable results. The weapon he bore was one of them. An ithilnaur short sword, its workmanship is exceptionally fine: its hilt of golden laen is carved and worked to resemble a Drake spouting flame among a pack of tiny wolves. The body of the Drake forms the body of the hilt, the wings are crosspieces, and the tail, neck, and flames form additional guards. The wolves are visible only on close inspection.

Powers: +30 OB; glows near Wolves and Wargs; Of Slaying those creatures.

See ICE's LOME I 74.

Dagobert's Main Gauche

This well-made blade belonged to the Chamberlain of Dol Calanitir. It has a "woven" iron basket hilt and a topaz pommel that winks when the blade's magic is at work.

Powers: +15 OB; will return via RM/MERP Lofty Bridge Long Door 1x/day.

See ice's Lost Realms of Cardolan 62.

Dáin Ironfoot's Axe

Fashioned in Nogrod in the Blue Mountains during the late First Age, Dain's Axe was used to slay the Orc-king Azog in the Battle of Azanulbizar in T.A. 2799, when Dain was but a stripling. The Dwarf-lord also used it at the Battle of Five Armies and at his death as Dain defended the body of his slain Mannish friend. King Brand of Dale, from desecration.

Powers: +35 OB; Orc-slaying.

See ICE's LOME III 53.

Dáin Ironfoot's Hammer

Fashioned in Khazad-dum the weapon is of mithril with a black wooden handle. The two faces of the hammer are both surrounded by grim, bearded Dwarven visages, apparently glaring at the foes about to be struck.

Powers: +30 OB; Troll-slaying.

See ICE's Mirkwood 109; LOME III 53.

Dancing Sword

The best blade of Contúl Uld, the master of the Clan of Rogues in Strayhold. The short sword is always near his side when he is away from the Clan-hall, but rests in an alcove in his study with his other blades and tools when he is at home.

Powers: +20 OB; +20 DB; +30 on all acrobatic and tumbling maneuvers in combat.

See ICE's Brigands of Mirkwood 25.
Dawnsword

Weapon of Indûr Dawndeath the Ringwraith, the scimitar was forged out of white eog and inlaid with ivory. A blue star sapphire is set at the pommel, a sign of the wealth Indûr commanded as a mortal. Like other Ulair weapons, it fell from the sky with its rider when the One Ring was destroyed.

Powers: +35 OB; Elf-slaying; whenever it strikes a sleeping target, the victim must make a RR vs. wielder's level — RR failure results in the victim's soul being slain, instantly killing the body.

See ICE's LOME II 91.

Death Mace

Made of a peculiar laminate of bronze and steel, the ball of this mace is ragged and looks as if it were a bundle of rags on the verge of coming apart. It is much stronger than its appearance suggests, and its ragged edges often draw blood.

Powers: +20 OB; strikes as a flail and marks its victims with the black tattoo of a dog with a single lidless eye.

See ICE's Shadow in the South 59.

Demon Hammer

The weapon of Naug Zigildúm and Fulla VII, this hammer is named both for its enchantments and its appearance. In keeping with the Dwarven tradition of fearsome decoration, the face of the hammer is a scarred and twisted demons' face, perhaps in its death throes.

Powers: +15 OB; Of Demon-slaying; range of 100', no range penalty; returns one round after being thrown.

See ICE's LOME III 56.

Dior's Sword

This two handed sword is meant to be used in conjunction with Dior's Ring. It is composed of mithril and golden laen.

Powers: +60 OB; may be wielded with one hand; triple concussion hits; Holy; additional Impact and Unbalancing criticals; when wielded with two hands does 5x concussion damage and slays weapons or shields at 30th level.

See ICE's LOME I 64.

Dior's Three Daggers

Made of mithril and laen, these daggers are meant to be used in conjunction with Dior's Ring. Perhaps a gift from Dior's father, Beren, or perhaps stored in the armory of Doriath, where Dior was King, the daggers were used in the Half-elf's battle with the sons of Fëanor, Celegorm, Curufin, and Caranthir.

Powers: +45 OB; hit as swords; use long bow ranges; may Long Door back to wielder's hand within 5000' if he is wearing Dior's Ring; cause additional Cold and Unbalancing criticals.

See ICE's LOME I 64.

Distant Fists

These rococo maces are a bewildering mix of curves, flanges, and spikes, almost suggestive of a bird of prey in flight. They are composed of ebony, iron, highly polished brass, copper, blue carbon steel, and ivory, with studs of garnet, opal, and topaz. Each is balanced for use as a throwing mace.

Powers: +30; range 100', no penalty.

See ICE's Shadow in the South 56.

Droggo's Daggers

Belonging to the Hobbit involved in the quest to stop the doings of the Court of Ardor, these three small blades are sized for Hobbits' hands. Big People will find them well-balanced but somewhat too small to use comfortably — their blades are as sharp as any, however.

Powers: +25 OB; can be thrown to 200' with no range modification; return to thrower after striking (Longdoor).

See ICE's LOME III 14.

Durcarak (S. "Dark Fang")

Basically a black eog longknife, Curufin used this dagger after Beren took Angrist from him. It is a poor substitute for Angrist, perhaps, but is quite powerful in its own right.

Powers: +45 OB; hits as a broadsword (2x concussion hits); Of Slaying vs. Elvies; casts Speed 3x/daily.

See ICE's LOME I 63.

Durcrist (S. "Darkness-cleaver")

A battle axe, a handsome weapon of Dwarvish steel, this man-sized weapon is adorned with a grip of white jade and black onyx bands separated by mithril wire. Its name is engraved on the shaft in Dwarven and Elvish runes in Sindarin, Khuzdul, and Westron.

Powers: +10 OB; slaying weapon of +15 against creatures of Morgoth.

See ICE's Dagorlad 35.

Durin's Axe

Originally the weapon of the founder of Khazad-dum, this great and powerful heirloom was twice lost. After Moria was deserted in T.A. 1981, the axe remained hidden in a chamber, apparently unnoticed by the Balrog. Balin's expedition discovered the axe in 2989 but lost it just five years later, when Balin's colony was slaughtered by Orcs. The whereabouts of Durin's Axe remain a mystery.

Powers: +30 OB; double damage; casts one spell from the RM/MERP Earth Law and RM Locating Ways lists or MERP Direct Channeling 1x/day; may be summoned to wielder's hand from 777' away.

Read LotRI 418. See ICE's LOME III 54.
E Voronwē (S. "The Steadfast")
A sword of mithril and steel with a grip of turquoise bands, this weapon is currently kept in the fortress of Thuringwathost in Dagorlad. When found, it has a very slender strand of anti-magical kregora wire wrapped around its hilt, temporarily nullifying its powers. When the wire is removed, it will return to full strength in 12 hours. A relic of Númenor, the sword is also intelligent and aligned with the Free Peoples of Endor.

Powers: Leaps to its owner's hand on command without being drawn; +15 OB; +20 to parries; can RM/MERP Lofty Bridge Teleport its holder, itself, and one other person up to 100 miles away three more times (originally it was five times); telepathic; can detect evil intelligences within 50' and will convey this information to its holder.

See ICE's Dagorlad 31.

Elенаerion's Sword
The weapon of the Lord-captain and Legate of Pelargir, this sword has seen frequent action on the Bay of Belfalas, since Elenaerion is an able and aggressive leader of Gondor's ships against the Corsairs.

Powers: +10 OB; shortsword becomes a dagger on command or when sheathed; can be thrown as a dagger yielding shortsword damage.

See ICE's Sea Lords of Gondor 60.

Elenrûth ("Star of Anger")
Obtained by his father, Helkama reforged Elenrûth to his liking, using the skills he had mastered as one of the Gwaith-i-Mírdain. The weapon is made of silver/gray laen that harbors a spirit of its own. Helkama personally does not like to fight and only wears the blade when away from the keep of Amon Lind or when going into combat.

Powers: +30 OB; will add an Electrical critical of the same value as any critical delivered normally; puts forth a RM/MERP Wind Law Death Cloud (10' R) 1x/day that will affect only the enemies of the sword wielder; intelligent; loyal to Helkama's family, so that it will react using the Death Cloud function if anyone else takes it.

See ICE's Dunland 18.

Elfhewer
Possessed by the Great Goblin, this has been the traditional weapon and symbol of authority for every Orc-Lord of Goblin-gate. Elfhewer has remained in Orcish claws since its forging in the late Second Age in Mordor, shortly before the War of the Last Alliance. A massive scimitar with a mithril blade stained black and a ruby pommel carved in the form of a dragon's head, Elfhewer is a powerful enchanted weapon.

Powers: +20 OB;ingles with a surge of power whenever one of the Eldar (an Elf) is within 1000' and is Of Slaying Elves; in addition to any normal critical strike, it delivers a second critical at +10 upon any Elves struck; the spell RM Darkness Utterdark (MERP Sound/Light Ways Utterlight I, reversed) is imbedded in Elfhewer and may be cast regardless of magical skill up to 3x/day; wielder continually enjoys a RM Spell Wall Protection IV or a MERP Spell Defense Protection I; weapon harbors a medium intelligence of its own.

See ICE's Goblingate 28.

Elhach ("Star-flame")
Isildur's mithril sword was lost along with the One Ring when the Dúnadan King was slain at the Battle of Gladden Fields, T.A. 2. It was a long and slender weapon with sharpened crosspieces worked in a thunderbolt pattern.

Powers: +45 OB; glows with a bright white light and can fire a Lightning Bolt (range 300') 1x/day; delivers an Electricity critical equal in severity to any regular critical strike it happens to yield.

See ICE's LOME II 33.

Elros' Sword ("Foam-cleaver")
The clear laen sword of the long-lived first King of Númenor was rarely used in battle following the settlement of Númenor after the wars against Morgoth. It became one of the hereditary possessions of the Kings of Númenor and may have survived the Downfall in the hands of Anarion, Isildur, Elendil, or one of their retainers, but no records of its fate exist.

Powers: +60 OB; fires +60 Waterbolts 6x/day (600 feet range).

See ICE's LOME II 28.

Erestor's sword
A broadsword of grey laen which served Elrond's chief counsellor, this blade rarely left Rivendell. It is usually sheathed in a scabbard of sable and ermine.

Powers: +25; can cast Paralyze I 5x/day.

See ICE's Rivendell 15.

Eribhen's Dagger ("Bloodrunner")
A long knife with a central groove and a hooked tip, this weapon has a heavy grip of leather that helps make it a reasonably well balanced blade. The Dunlending Shaman who wields it originally used Bloodrunner as a ceremonial item, but it's fate after the sundering of the clans and Eríbhen's return to isolation is unknown.

Powers: +30 OB; strikes as a short sword; when thrown, it is merely a +10 weapon.

See ICE's LOME II 29.
Arms / Et-Ga

Ethudil's Knife

This wicked long knife belonged to Ethudil, an evil mage of Minas Tirith. It is inscribed with a red rune at the base of the tang, probably a smith’s mark. The rune is generally hidden by the bronze pommel and the hilt’s wrapping of soft doeskin.

Powers: +20; triples all bleeding inflicted in critical hits; acts as a shortsword.

See ICE’s Minas Tirith 146.

Faramir’s Sword ("Forest-blade")

A beautiful sword, with a blade of green-tinted steel and hilt of lebethron wood. Faramir used it well but rarely, for he loved lore and music more than war and strife.

Powers:
- +30 OB; Orc-slaying; will not harm flora.
- See ICE’s LOME II 29.

Feather Bow

A weapon of Elven design and fashioned in Lórien, this fine longbow has a grip of scored antelope horn from the South. The wood has been dyed bright bluish-purple and notched through to the white wood underneath near the ends.

Powers:
- +30; can be fired every round without penalty; extremely lightweight (half normal weight).
- See ICE’s Rangers of the North 35.

Finder

A shortsword of sturdy if plain construction: the iron blade and copper trim are in good shape. The hilt is wrapped in soft rabbit fur, worn from use.

Powers: detects any Orcs within one mile.

See ICE’s Ent’s of Fangorn 29.

Fingon’s Broadsword

Fingon wielded this broadsword when he led the hosts of Fingolfin in the Kinslaying, that dark day in Elvish history. He was later slain by Balrogs in the Nirnaeth Arnoediad. His sword was forged of white laen with mithril fittings.

Powers:
- +75 of cold or fire: doing either an additional Heat or Cold critical; x5 concussion hits; continual RM Rapid Ways/ MERP Living Change Haste; +50 Fireball or Icebolt, 5x hits, range 500’, 5x/day.
- See ICE’s LOME I 75.

Finrod’s Broadsword

Used by Finrod when he repaid his debt to Beren by aiding him in the Silmaril quest. Finrod and his blade of laen with white eog edges were both taken into the dungeons of Minas Tirith in Beleriand after the Noldor was bested while battling Sauron with songs of power. Finrod was slain by a Werewolf, and the blade passed, for a time, from the sight of Men.

Powers:
- +60 OB; double concussion hits; on a critical, target receives a point blank +50 Lightning Bolt; additionally can throw +50 Lightning Bolt, 5x hits, range 500’, 5x/day; may throw 100PP/day up to 20th level from RM Light’s Way, Light Law, or Light Molding or MERP Light Law, Sound/Light Ways, or Illusions.

See ICE’s LOME I 75.

Fire’s Edge

A broadsword forged of black ithil naur and inlaid with gold. Its red pommel is capped with a large (500 gp) spherical ruby. So long as the ruby remains set in the sword, Fire’s Edge retains its heat powers. The weapon is wielded by Adûnaphel the Ringwraith.

Powers:
- +30 OB; Of Elf-slaying; delivers a Heat critical (of equal severity) in addition to any normal critical strike it yeilds; wielder receives a +30 RR bonus versus any fire attacks.

See ICE’s LOME II 83.

Flails of Horseslaying

Made for a Dunnish chieftain of the Second Age, this weapon fell first into a merchant’s hands and later reappeared in the Far South. The oak and iron flails were captured in the Yellow Mountains by the forces of the Half-troll warlord known as the Hargrog, where they may still be in the service of evil.

Powers:
- +15 OB: Of Slaying against horses, ponies, and mules.
- See ICE’s Shadow in the South 56.

Fonhrad (Rh. "Quick Fang")

A spear of Dyr-wood — a rare very hard, black wood — tipped with a gold head. The golden spear tip is not forged of the metal, but of golden laen.

Powers:
- +20 OB; can be hurled at targets as far as 100’ away with no distance subtraction; the head glows with a yellow light within 100’ of Orcs; returns to the hand of its wielder after travelling 100’ or striking an object (whichever occurs sooner).

See ICE’s Rangers of the North 35.

Fuinrauko (Q. "Gloomy Demon")

Eöl, the creator of the superlative metal galvorn and the forger of Anglachel and Anguirel, made this blade for himself. His skill was surpassed only by Fëanor and Celebbrimbor at smithwork. The two-handed sword is forged of black eog with edges, hilt-guard, and decor of galvorn.

Powers:
- +75 OB; Holy (actually unholy); may be thrown using javelin ranges; triple concussion damage (does 5x concussion hits when thrown); "Dances" — will fight for up to 13 rounds by itself (or until it receives a "knocked down" result) using the OB of its wielder with the sword: treat sword as AT PI/20, DB +100; can RM Lofty Bridge Long Door to the user’s hand at his mental command up to 666 miles away.

Read Sil 92.132-38, 201-02. See ICE’s LOME I 70.

Galdor’s Glave

Galdor’s Glave is a large mithril blade on a mallorn staff, but like many Elven items it has other uses beside bloodletting. Galdor served as Cirdan’s messenger to the Council of Elrond and was a good friend of Cirdan personally — the glave may well have been the spoils of a voyage undertaken with the Mariner.

Powers:
- +25 OB; x5 PP Channeling enhancer; acts as a normal shield; casts RM Light’s Ways Sudden Light or MERP Sound/ Light Ways Sudden Light 4x/day.

See ICE’s LOME I 78.
Galadriel's Longbow

Used primarily for hunting, this is nevertheless a potent weapon thoroughly mastered by the Elven Queen, as she proved in the hopeless war against Morgoth in Beleriand. The bow remained with her when Galadriel founded her own realm in Endor and, at the last, returned to Aman when she sailed with the other Ring-bearers. Sometimes called the Quick Bow.

Powers: +33; double normal range; can be fired twice per round without penalty; all arrows fired from the bow are Holy.

See ICE's LOME I 77; Lórien 27.

Gé of the Dog-lord ("Air-cleaver")

One of the weapons of Dwar the Ringwraith, Air-cleaver is an enchanted bola made of silvery ogamur. The gé is a weapon typical of southeastern Middle-earth.

Powers: +25 OB; Braric-killing; strikes as a Flail and delivers a Grappling critical strike (of same severity) in addition to any regular critical strike it yields.

See ICE's Teeth of Mordor 28; LOME 11 87.

Geenian Gé

A killing-bola of this sort is known in the East as a gé. The Geenian Gé belonged to Ringlin Sindacollo, the tragic figure whose father was Arxdukanga, the high priest of a Dark Cult in the Orocarini.

Powers: +15 OB.

See ICE's LOME II 39.

Gersebroc ("Gerse's Sword")

A special sword, over 6' long, of the type traditionally used by Eriadorian Northmen throughout the centuries. The blade is 4' long in the main section. A further 12" of blade is separated by a cross-piece with spikes extending 12" from each side. The section above the cross-piece is unsharpened. The hilt is wooden, 15" long, bound with the toughest leather, and sports a heavy ball pommel. The steel sphere encrusted with polished silver and laen facets serves as a counterweight.

Powers: +20 OB; +30 and Holy vs. Orcs, Trolls, and other intelligent servants of the Dark Lord; +40 and Of Slaying vs. Dragons and Fell-beasts; requires a minimum strength of 95 to wield properly, although a character of strength 90-94 could pick it up and use it as a two-handed spear with half the magical bonuses listed above.

See ICE's Phantom of the Northern Marches 26.

Ghân-Buri-Ghân's Blowpipe

The Chieftain of the Woses during the War of the Rings, Ghân-Buri-Ghân was as expert with the blowpipe as most of his followers. His particular pipe, ornamented with crimson cords and onyx inlay, is one of the finest in the Druadan Forest.

Powers: +20 OB; 2x normal range.

See ICE's LOME II 30.

Gift of Tulkas

Given to Ingwë, the greatest of the Elves, King of the Vanyar and High King of the Eldar, by the Valar Tulkas himself, the two-hand sword is forged of beautiful clear white adamant. Its Valar workmanship is exquisite, and the blade is perfectly balanced whenever wielded by one of the Eldar.

Powers: +88 OB; allows the wielder to make up to 8 full attacks and 8 full parries each round; on a critical result, the wielder may choose to give either 8x normal concussion damage, slaying criticals, or a value of 88 on the critical hit roll (50% chance); sword does not encumber; will return to Ingwë's hand instantly on mental command from up to 888 miles away; wielder (or wearer) is naturally AT PI/20, DB +88 and takes criticals on the large creature table.

See ICE's LOME I 82.

Gildagor (S. "Star of Battle")

Possessed by Vaernut at the Tower of Cirith Ungol, Gildagor is said to have been given to the House of Anardil by Isildur himself. Forged of purest mithril, its hilt sheathed in mother-of-pearl and a ruby imbedded in its pommel, Gildagor is an enchanted broadsword of surpassing beauty.

Powers: +20 OB; medium intelligence; casts RM Shield Mastery Deflections I or MERp Essence Hand Deflections up to 3x/day (-100 to the attack of any single missile directed at the wielder of Gildagor); sword will also Detect Invisible foes (RM Detecting Ways or MERp Essence Ways) at the wielder's command, 3x/day.

See ICE's Shelob 30.

Gimli's Axe

Fashioned in Erebor before T.A. 1977 and refined in the Blue Mountains, the Axe was Gimli's weapon as a member of the Fellowship of the Ring and later as Lord of the Glittering Caves (of Aglarond in Helm's Deep). Like many of the practical Dwarf's possessions, it is effective but free of excess adornments. The handle is of rich-smelling cedar.

Powers: +25 OB; Of Shield- and Orc-slaying; if it strikes a shield, the shield-bearer must make a RR (at his lvl), failure resulting in the shield being cleaved in half.

See ICE's LOME III 35.

Gimli's Hammer

This heavy weapon served well in Gimli's hands in the Fellowship of the Ring, though it was not the greatest of the works of arms in Erebor, where Gimli spent his youth after 2941. It was a simple affair: the hammer faces were of mithril engraved with the constellation of Durin's crown, and the shaft was of braided steel wrapped in leather.

Powers: +20 OB; strikes as a flail.

See ICE's Mirkwood 109.

Glamdring ("Foe-Hammer")

Made by the Elven-smiths of Gondolin, Glamdring is a sword of power rarely found in the latter days of Middle-earth. Originally worn by Turgon in the Wars of Beleriand, Glamdring eventually came into fell hands and vanished into the hoard of pillaging Trolls. During the Erebor Quest in T.A. 2941, Gandalf claimed the ithilnaur broadsword as his share of Troll-hoard loot, and Thorin Oakenshield claimed its mate Orcrist. Gandalf used the blade until the end of the War of the Ring and took it over the Sea with him. The Orcs called this weapon Beater.

Powers: +30 OB; Holy weapon: glows cold blue in vicinity of Orcs (dim within 100'; very bright within 100'); Of Slaying against Orcs.

Great Stone Hammer

Rálin of Dwálin's folks was born at Zagragathol in the Ered Luin around S. A. 3380. The second son of King Rúlin, he was fated from birth to be the Second of the Seven Lords of the Stone Hammer. According to Dwarven legend, the Hammer, also known as the Great Stone Hammer, was a gift from Mahal (Aulë) to Dwálin, the King of the Second Tribe of the Khazâd (and later the Lord of Belegost). It was one of the Seven Hammers of the Seven Tribes. Another of these enchanted symbols was the North Hammer. As a Lord of Dwálin's Folks during the late Second Age, the quest bound Rálin to gather the Hammer's seven pieces. After years of wandering and searching, his path crossed and joined that of a mixed band of Free Peoples including the Half-elf Bard, Randae Linvairë; the Half-elf Sorceress, Chinta Kari; and the Womaw Ranger, Tash Enámó. In the years that followed this strange meeting of mismatched companions, Rálingathered the remaining parts of the Great Stone Hammer. He then played a major part of the united effort that lead to halting the awful legacy of Ungolian called the Éagoth ("Enemy of Existence"), as well as the destruction of three evil Avar Mages: Ardaniel, Mourmaelgax, and Jírdfos.

Rálin remained a Lord of the Stone Hammer and a Lord Warder of the Ered Luin until the end of his days in the early Third Age. One of the Seven Hammers of the Seven Tribes of the Naugrim, the Stone Hammer is a bluish laen warhammer that passed through the line of the Kings of Dwálin's Folk. It breaks down into seven pieces: handle, base, head, hilt, crosspiece, first gem, and second gem.

Powers: all powers except for its basic combat bonus of +35 only function if the wielder is a Dwarf; it requires at least the handle, base, and head to function as a +35 war hammer that can be thrown to 70' with no range penalty and returns (Longdoors) to thrower's hand after striking; its bonus is +77 versus minions of the "essence of darkness incarnate"; does 7x normal damage against "truly evil" super-large creatures; range is 700' vs. "true evil" greater beasts, Lords, and "enemies"; detects Trolls, Balrogs, Evil, Power, Mithril, and Ire within 700'; stores up to 7 Channeling spells; other powers gradually appear as the other four pieces are added.

- Hilt: becomes a Holy weapon; +50 to "fear" RR's of all allies within 70'R; x7 spell multiplier; spells cast while holding it give targets a -35 RR Mod if they have a "true death of spirit".
- Crosspiece: wielder makes RR's as if he were 77th level; flames (as a Fireball) 7x/day (wielder is immune); reduces the concussion hit damage from each attack against the wielder by 7.
- First Gem: +35 to RR's of all "allies" within 14'R; becomes a +32 Dragon-slaying weapon upon command; makes wielder immune to all natural fire and halves wielder's damage from magical fires; detects Dragons and Demons within a 700' radius.
- Second Gem: controls the earth of Arda within 7000' of its focus (one specific point chosen by the wielder that cannot change until the wielder dies); provides a throwing range of 7000 against creatures that have struck the wielder within 7000 hours; and allows wielder to speak Quenya.

See ICE's LOME III 56.

Grimsteel

This broadsword is hidden in the Maze of Imrazôr I, near the island city of Ró-molló. It's cold-forged iron is strengthened with an edge of mithril. The hilt is wrapped in dusty blue linen, and the crosspiece is gilded bronze.

Powers: +20; Holy; changes to become a two-hand sword upon command (1 rnd); delivers extra cold criticals of equal severity; upon delivering a critical, target must resist a level 20th level RM Confusing Ways Distraction spell (-25 to OBs and maneuvers) — spell has a duration of 20 minutes and the RR is at -30.

See ICE's Shadow in the South 62.

Grond ("Excavator")

The Hammer of the Underworld was the chief weapon of Morgoth, which he used to slay Fingolfin in single combat. Grond's power was such that it was like a bolt of thunder, capable of rending smoking pits in the earth. Forged of black eog, the weapon was longer than a man is tall. In latter days, the ram prepared in Mordor to batter the gates of Minas Tirith was named after Morgoth's chief weapon, but the two are not the same.

Powers: +250 OB; strikes as a flail; each critical strike is accompanied by 1-10 impact criticals of equal severity and a RM/MERP Earth Law Cracks Call.

Read LotR 124; Sil 185. See ICE's LOME I.

Gurthang

This is the reforged form of Anglachel, which Turin used to perform great deeds, such as slaying the Drake Glaurung. Originally Beleg's blade, Turin received it from Gwindor, who kept it when he buried Beleg, the Elf who was accidentally slain by Turin. Since it was powerful but also heavy and dull, Turin chose to have it reforged. Sadly, reforging it did not purge the blade of its maker's malice: Turin used it for rash, senseless murders and finally turned the blade on himself. Gurthang broke as it slew him, and the shards were buried with him. The edges of the blade shone with pale fire, but the blade itself remained as black as it had been when named Anglachel. Gurthang and Turin were such a potent pairing of warrior and weapon that the Elves of Nargothrond called the Adan Mormegil. And while Turin hid his name from both Elves and Morgoth, he became known, on account of Gurthang, as the Black Sword of Nargothrond to the Orcs and other minions of Morgoth.

Powers: See Anglachel.

Read Sil 255-259, 262, 278, 452.

Gurthdur and Gordur

(S. "Death of the Dark" and "Dread of the Dark")

These are Elladan's and Elrohir's sister swords, made of mithril and chased with bright golden inlay. They are identical blades, long and set with bright orange jacinths for pommels. The hilts are wrapped in red cords. The similarity of their weapons added further to the confusing nature of meeting the twin sons of Elrond.

Powers: +20; Of Slaying Orcs and Trolls; glow cold blue in vicinity of Orcs (dim within 1000', very bright within 100'); casts RM Rapid Ways Haste X or MERP Living Change Haste III on wielder 3x per day.

See ICE's Riverdell 14; LOME I 67.
Gúthwinë ("Battle-friend")

Éomer’s sword was at the fore when Aragorn and Éomer sallied out to the ram at the gates of Helm’s Deep with a cry of "Gúthwinë! Gúthwinë for the Mark!". Though it might not have shone as bright out to the ram at the gates of Helm’s Deep with a cry of "Gúthwinë!..."

Power: +30 OB; Of Slaying Orcs.

Hammer of Durin

The Dwarf-king of Khazad-dum was buried with this war hammer. It is larger and more elaborate than most, since it sometimes served double duty as an impromptu sceptre. The head is of mithril and the haft of teak, with inlay of silver and ivory. It rests on the Seventh Deep in the King’s Bedroom, along with the other Royal Items of Durin’s Line. Also called the Hammer of the Deeps.

Powers: +30 OB; delivers twice normal damage and can be summoned instantly by its last wielder from up to 777’ away.

See ICE’s Moria 65; LOME III 54.

Hammer of Durin III

The last King of Khazad-dum, the son of Durin VI, Náin I ruled the upper chambers of the great Dwarven stronghold in T.A. 1980; the Underdeeps belonged to the evil First Age Fire-spirit, the Balrog, who had slain his father. Just a year after his assumption to the throne, Náin I too was killed by the Terror, and his followers abandoned their once-elegant and ancient mansions to the Balrog and other lesser evils. In his battle with the Balrog of Moria, Náin I weilded this hammer. It was buried with him.

Powers: +30 OB; delivers double damage; can be summoned by wielder up to 777’.

See ICE’s Moria 15, 19; LOME III 55.

Hammer of Returning

The weapon and sometimes the scepter of Fulla III, one of Balli Stonehand’s heirs, this hammer is made of stone enchanted so as never to chip and coated with mithril on either face. It is bound to a shaft of walnut tightly wrapped in Dire Wolf leather.

Powers: +30 Hammer of Returning.

See ICE’s Mirkwood 126; LOME III 54.

Healing Dagger

This dagger is made of glittering steel with an ivory handle and has only one edge. The handle is carved to fit snugly against the user’s fingers.

Powers: cauterizes any wound it is pressed against, 1x/hour.

See ICE’s Trolls of the Misty Mountains 11.

Helkaluin (Q. "Shining Blue Ice")

A broadsword forged in Beleriand and made of ithilnaur with a gleaming edge of clear blue laen. Like many of the weapons created at this time, it senses the approach of danger.

Powers: +50; glimmers with a chill blue light when near Orcs (dimly along the edges within 1000’; bright within 100’); Orc-slaying; Holy; gives off an intense cold when desired by its wielder; delivers a cold crit when another crit is indicated; can’t be fumbled when used by an Elf; Hasten its wielder at a thought.

See ICE’s Rivendell 12.

Herugrim

Théoden’s broadsword was forged of fine steel inlaid with delicate patterns and designs wrought of gold. Herugrim was kept in a scabbard clasped in with gold and set with green gems. Wormtongue stole it in secret and kept it in his chest for a time, but when Théoden rode to war Háma recovered the blade and brought Wormtongue before his king for punishment. The Lord of the Rohirrim he weilded Herugrim at his death at Pelennor Fields after scattering the Orcs north of Minas Tirith and driving the Haradrim southward.

Powers: +35; Orc-slaying.

See ICE’s LOME II 40.

Hestagurth (S. "Breeze of Death")

Actually a Drúadan item; a two foot long blowgun, skillfully carved, and inlaid with gold and small gems. The weapon is stored in a flat box with ten finely made darts bearing mithril tips. (Where the Drugs got the mithril is an interesting question.) Each dart has a small reservoir for holding poison.

Powers: x3 PP enhancer; dart’s poison is released when the dart punctures (delivers a critical); the darts have a bonus of +20, the blowgun +10, making a total of +30 for the set.

See ICE’s Isengard 42.

Horse-tamer

A lance made of reddish Narig-wood from Nûrad, Horse-tamer was wielded by Ûvatha the Ringwraith. Combined with the Variag Warlord’s amazing horsemanship, the lance made Ûvatha a deadly force on the field of battle.

Powers: +40; Of Horse-slaying; when its tip is set into a track made within a number of days equal to the wielder’s lvl. it gives the wielder a +40 tracking bonus (versus the maker of the track).

See ICE’s LOME II 98.

Hue Changer

Actually a Drúadan item; a two foot long blowgun, skillfully carved, and inlaid with gold and small gems. The weapon is stored in a flat box with ten finely made darts bearing mithril tips. (Where the Drugs got the mithril is an interesting question.) Each dart has a small reservoir for holding poison.

Powers: x3 PP enhancer; dart’s poison is released when the dart punctures (delivers a critical); the darts have a bonus of +20, the blowgun +10, making a total of +30 for the set.

See ICE’s LOME II 40.

Ilkiran

The sword of Valkrist, the ruler of Tirgoroth in southern Middle-earth who was born in the Forest of Dír and later ruled it and much of the North. There is speculation that there are actually two copies of this weapon extant. Hoarmûrath lost the first when he passed into the Shadows at the end of the Second Age when the Lords of the Last Alliance entered the Dark Tower and overthrew Sauron. Upon the úlair’s return a thousand years later, he may have crafted a second Hue Changer, though some reports indicate that he used Snow Hammer exclusively during the Third Age.

Powers: +25; can be thrown 200’ without suffering a range penalty, it is useful as a fine harpoon; wielder and all he carries can change color with 1 rnd’s concentration (up to 2x/day).

See ICE’s LOME II 89.

Arms I Gú-Il
Iron Bow
Made of specially treated oak and tipped with bright iron notches, this Elven Longbow is Elrond’s weapon of choice. He used it in both the War of the Elves and Sauron and the War of the Last Alliance.

Powers: +35 OB; has triple the normal range.
See ICE’s Rivendell 12.

Khelekar’s Sword
Under his black robes, the Scholar of the Court of Ardor carried this short sword. It is made of an unusual black alloy and adorned with a sapphire set in the pommel. The hilt is wrapped with silver wire.

Powers: +30; Of Slaying Elves.
See ICE’s LOME 183; Court of Ardor 21.

King Gotshelm’s Broc and Scabbard
The weapon of the King Who Sleeps is a broc (broadsword) with a ruby pommel which is sheathed in a scabbard of Dragonskin. Both are buried with the king in the Tateshalla Vale, in the Witbeamwyd between Pen-Hag and the Tateshalla in the Northern Marches.

Powers: +15; pommel allows the wielder to regenerate 2 hits per round; scabbard confers +10 DB and acts as a permanent RM Blood Law/ MERP Blood Ways Cut Repair l, reducing the effects of bleeding wounds.
See ICE’s Phantom of the Northern Marches 28.

Kirrlach (S. “Cleaving Leaping-flame”)
Carried by Lurrë Menelrana, the leader of the Guild of Elements, Kirrlach is a clear laen sword with gold and mithril hits.

Powers: Of changing (could become a dagger/broadsword/2-handed sword at a thought); +30 OB; Holy; flaming; fired a stream of flame as a x5 Firebolt; provides heat/cold immunity; intelligent; casts at will RM Rapid Ways Haste X and Concussion Mastery Stun Relief III or MERP Living Change Haste III and Surface Ways Stun Relief III.
See ICE’s LOME 183; Court of Ardor 28.

Kirrauko (S. “Demon Cleaver”)
Ecthelion’s two-handed battle axe slew Gothmog, the Lord of the Balrogs. Ecthelion also died that day, and his weapon was not recovered from the field of battle. Kirrauko was an axe of black laen with a haft of the same material, and glowed with faint silver fire when opposing minions of Morgoth.

Powers: +50 OB; Of Slaying minions of Morgoth (Demons, Orcs, Trolls, Dragons, Undead); Holy; additional Electric and Unbalancing criticals.
See ICE’s LOME 1 66.

K’prurian Battle Mace
This is simply a war mace, carved from the hard, grey wood of the Pruric Oak, with mithril inlays and a grip of gold wire.

Powers: +30 OB.
See ICE’s Teeth of Mordor 18.

Little Claw
Berúthiel’s mithril dagger is trimmed with slightly tarnished silver, and the hilt is wrapped in black leather. It is an ancient weapon and was probably buried with the Queen of Cats.

Powers: strikes as a +33 Short Sword which yields 2x usual hits (and 4x bleeding hits); tied to an enchanted and demonic Cat-creature — any hits the dagger yields increase the beast’s hit allowance by a like amount; wielder can summon the Cat-demon with l-10rds concentration, but the 10th lvl Demon must fail its RR in order for summoner to control it (failure to control it means Demon will attack summoner on roll of 01-50); if summoned, it fights as a Tiger for 2-20 rds.
Read UT 419. See ICE’s LOME 1 58.

Lord’s Axe of Kendarca
A hand axe which becomes a two-handed battle-ax at the will of the holder. The blade is of etched gold and the shaft of an unusual dark brown wood.

Powers: +20 OB.
See ICE’s Teeth of Mordor 18.

Luingurth
(“Blue Death” — Lord Blade of Cuivienen)
Created by Luingurth the Blademaster in the early Second Age, the clear blue laen edge of the sword bearing its forger’s name was one of the greatest weapons ever made and later returned in many forms throughout Middle-earth. After he turned to evil, Luingurth forged the Irgaak swords, which were able to summon the “Harvest of Fools”. They were not of the same calibre as Luingurth, however, and were eventually defeated, being no match for the Blue Laen blade. At various times the sword would refuse to fight any foes, claiming its purpose was to combat Arxdukanga alone, and at other times it would defend against the Irgaak swords. Plainly, it had a personality of its own.

Arxdukanga, the high priest of a Dark Cult in the Orocarni, was the key to the power of the Unholy Sars (Morgoth’s Blood Pools). After Ringlin traveled to Angsars-morthrog to face the Priests of Darkness and slay his own father, the world weary Peredhil died young the blade passed from sight for a time.

The blade returns to the chronicles when, like all other heir’s of Luindor (including his older brother), Randae Linvairë undertook the traditional journey to find the Book of Icelore. The blade in Randae’s hands possessed differing powers than the weapon possessed by Ringlin. Despite this, most scholars agree that it is in fact the same blade. It came into Randae’s hands as a sheath full of blue dust, and when reunited with its hilts in a Holy Stump, it recreated itself, altering its function to better suit its new owner.

Powers (Randae): +15 OB; Holy; +45 versus Evil opponents; wielder operates at 2x strength vs. Undead; sword is a slaying weapon when employed against Dragons or Trolls which were born by the leave of Morgoth (i.e., born during the Elder Days); becomes invisible on command; perceives invisible or changed objects and beings; of changing (can become a dagger, broadsword or two-handed sword); highly intelligent and speaks to its wielder mentally; will ‘dance’ to

K’PRURIAN
BATTLE
Mace of Anarion

The mithril-inlaid egg mace topped with an inset aquamarine belonged to the sixth King of Númenor. It became one of the hereditary possessions of the Kings of Gondor and was lost when King Éärnur disappeared in T.A. 2050.

Powers: +40 OB; Holy; gem glows upon wielder's mental command and, depending on the level of concentration, can emit a bright beam that shines as far as 1000' x wielder's level; Of Slaying against Sea-drakes, Kraken, or Fell-turtles.

See ICE's LOME II 38, 39.

Mace of the Huntsman

Property of Rof Paku, a Wainrider Spy, the mace was hidden in his remarkable abode — a cave hollowed within a giant yew tree. It is a relatively simple affair with a haft of Dirwood and four steel flanges at right angles to one another, capped by a short spike and crosspiece like those of a boar-spear.

Powers: +20 OB; Of Boar-slaying.

See ICE's Riders of Rohan 22, 23.

Mace of Opening

Carved of solid black wood, this weapon is sheathed in galvanized steel. Spikes of black laen are embedded in the wood and protrude from beneath the steel skin.

Powers: +10 OB; casts RM Solid Destruction/ MERP Unbarring Ways Undoor 1x/day when used to strike a door.

See ICE's Lorn 32.

Mace of Waterskipping

Buried with the remains of the surly Alvi's, advisor to Durin II, the Mace of Waterskipping is an unusual weapon to be found in Khazad hands. Perhaps of Mannish or Elvish making, its simple oak and steel construction makes identification difficult.

Powers: +10 OB; can be thrown without penalty across any water source of 1' or more in depth, as long as both the thrower and the target are each within 35' of the water; can skip up to 700' to strike a target and return by skipping back the same round.

See ICE's Moria 58.

Macilrómen ("Sunrise Sword")

A lightweight two-handed sword. Macilrómen's blade was forged of a golden alloy; a huge topaz orb adorns the pommel. The weapon belonged to the Noldorin Prince Glorfindel who survived the downfall of Eregion and the War of the Elves and Sauron to later led a force in the Last Alliance of Elves and Men. Glorfindel took Macilrómen with him when he left for the West with the Ringbearers at the end of the Third Age.

Powers: +45 OB; when drawn, acts as the RM Starlights Aura Blaze or MERP Light Law Sudden Light, except Blinding attack is to all within 30', and the -25 penalty to all attackers is continuous as long as the sword is drawn; Orcs suffer a -30 penalty to their RRs and are at -50 when attacking the wielder; owner's comrades within 30' gain +30 to all RRs (including morale); sword confers RM Elemental Shields Fire Armor to its wielder; it cannot be fumbled if held by an Elf; Holy; delivers 3x normal concussion hits; wielder is Hasted at will; wielder may parry even missile weapons.

See ICE's LOME I 80.

Macirillë (Q. "Brilliant Sword")

A broadsword of clear laen which glows with a bright white light when not in its scabbard (cannot be controlled), this blade was kept locked in the Vault of the Jewel Smiths of Ost-in-Edhil. Its fate after Sauron sacked the Guild Halls of the Elven Smiths is unknown.

Powers: delivers an Electricity critical of the same value as any normal critical given to the target; casts +30 Lightning Bolt, 300', 3x/day; when drawn, protects the holder vs. all lightning attacks directed at him, instead absorbing and storing the energy; can so store up to three bolts and fire them like its own (thus it can throw as many as six bolts a day if it has stored three from other attackers); if Macirillë's storage is full, it will still absorb bolts, but simply reverse any further attacks against its holder.

See ICE's Lorien 50.

Maiakrama

Forged in the Undying Lands, the spear becomes a spear or staff on command. It is the weapon of Sulkanó, the disenchanted young member of the Gwaith-i-Mírdain who moved to Amon Lind to pursue his obsession with flying constructs. Maiakrama may have been a gift — it is not of Sulkanó's making.

Powers: possessor may learn spells from the RM/ MERP Wind Law list regardless of his or her profession; continual RM Wind Law Breezes or MERP Wind Law Breeze Call; casts RM Wind Law Hard Wind or MERP Wind Law Vacuum 1x/day; in spear form, it is +30, has a range that is 10 times that of a normal spear when thrown, and will return if not embedded in something or someone; in staff form, it is a +15 weapon and adds +10 to all spell attack rolls (if the wielder could normally use these spells, the bonus is +20 instead of +10).

See ICE's Dunland 18.

Meriadoc's Dagger of Westernesse

On the Pelennor Fields, Merry stood by Théoden even when the Lord of the Nazgûl attacked. In an incredible display of courage, the Hobbit stabbed the Chief Ringwraith with his dagger, distracting him and weakening his defenses sufficiently for the warrior maiden Eowyn to thrust her sword through the úlair's neck. In that legendary conflict, Merry was afflicted with the black breath of the Witch-king and nearly perished. His dagger, damasked with serpent-forms in red and gold, was destroyed by its contact with the Ringwraith's essence.

Powers: +15 dagger that uses the short sword table.

Read LotRI 200-01; LotRIII 143,146. See ICE's Rangers of the North 35, 36; LOME 111 19.
Morgul-knife ("Sorcery Knife")

Wielded by the Ringwraiths, each of these nine daggers strike cold and deep. Their long, thin enchanted blades gleam with a chill, evil glint. cold and deep. Their long, thin enchanted blades gleam with a Morgul-knife ("Sorcery Knife")

Powers: +20; strike as short swords; dissolve when exposed to sunlight; break off whenever the knives yield a critical strike; once a blade is embedded in a victim, the victim must roll a RR versus the wielder's level — failure results in the blade finding its way to the victim's heart within a number of days equal to 50 minus the RR failure (e.g., RR failure by 17 means 33 days) — should the shard reach the victim's heart, the victim becomes a wraith-servant (i.e., an Undead slave) of the knife-wielder, operating thereafter at -50 — failure also results in a debilitating poisoning, and the victim operates with a penalty equal to twice the RR failure number (until he becomes Undead).

Read LotRII 141, 143. See ICE's Angmar 16: LOME II102.

Nallagurth ("Death's Proclaimer")

Forged in Utumno by Sauron, Nallagurth was a gift from the Dark Lord to the Witch-king of Angmar. The mace is black eog, subtly inlaid with veins of fused diamonds. Its inset black tip is enchanted and contains a permanent symbol that gives the weapon its powers. Nallagurth broke Éowyn's shield at the Battle of Pelennor Fields.

Powers: +30 OB; Of Elf- and Man-slaying; when struck, the victim must resist versus a 60th level "slow death" spell (or die in 1-100 days); the mace shatters weapons that fail to resist versus a 60th level spell of destruction.

Read LotRII 231,233,319,320,325-6; LOME II 150; Sil 364,367, 370,377. See ICE's LOME II 27; Rangers of the North 35.

Narsil (Q. "Red-white Flame")

The bright and mighty sword of Elendil, Narsil was forged by Telchar of Nogrod in the First Age. The famous blade was shattered and its light quenched by the Dark Lord when Elendil fell in battle against Sauron in S.A. 3441, at the end of the Last Alliance of Elves and Men. Isildur grasped the hilt-shard of the sword and cut the Ruling Ring from Sauron's finger. Both Elendil and Gil-galad died that day, struck down by Sauron, but the Dark Lord could not retain his form. He passed into the Shadows. Narsil was also called the Sword of Elendil and the Sword that was Broken.

The shards of Narsil (see below for powers) were brought back to Arnor by Ohtar and became one of the heirlooms of the line of Isildur. Eldron foretold that the sword would not be reforged until Sauron rose again and the Ruling Ring resurfaced. After the fall of Arnor, the shards of Narsil were kept in Imladris. When Aragorn came of age, Eldron presented him with the shards of Elendil's Sword which were his heirloom as a descendant of the line of Isildur. In 3019, they were reforged into the famous blade, Andúril.

Powers: +60; Holy; flames on command with the following abilities: when it Burns Hot, it is an Orc-slaying weapon that delivers a Heat critical (of equal severity) in addition to any normal critical strike; when it Burns Cold, it is an Undead-slaying weapon that delivers a Cold critical (of equal severity) in addition to any normal critical strike.

Powers of Shards: a broken weapon equivalent to a +30 Shortsword, carried by Strider.

Morgorh (S. "Black Leaping Flame")

Forged by the Lord Smith of Malirdaithron, Aegnor's galvorn broadsword is a superlative weapon. Aegnor was an associate of Celebigrimson's and accordingly skilled — he spared no effort when he made this weapon for himself. The guard and pommel are made of galvorn, not common practice because of the difficulty of working this alloy. The hilt wrapping is alternating brown and blue-violet.

Powers: +40; cannot be fumbled; should the wielder's opponent try to parry, there is a 50% chance his weapon is cut in half (magical items may receive a bonus).

See ICE's LOME I 52.

Morlhach (S. "Black Leaping Flame")

Morlhach's blade is of black steel edged with red laen, and the hilt is black steel decorated with flowers of mithril and ruby. The weapon was made by Sauron himself, an early work of his. It is presently the property of Miruimor at Thuringwatbost.

Powers: +20; flames on command; will leap back to the wielder's hand if dropped or thrown, from up to 100'; intelligent; will levitate itself to attack anyone else who tries to use it (only a +20 Broadsword attack).

See ICE's Dagorlad 31.

Mundwine (Rh. "Guardian-friend")

Held by Aghuvia at the Tower of Cirith Ungol, the weapon is an heirloom of Aghuvia's house and has descended from father to son since the days of King Eldacar. Mundwine is said to have been taken from a dragon hoard. It is a broadsword of Dwarvish steel alloy and is enchanted.

Powers: +15 to hit; can cast a RM Dispelling Ways/ MERP Spell Ways Dispel Channeling (10' radius) and Light's Way Light V or MERP Sound/Light Ways Light, each 2x/day.

See ICE's Shelob 30.
Night-piercer

A Númenórean steel composite bow. Night-piercer is the weapon of Adûnaphel the Ringwraith.

Powers: +25 OB; whenever it is fired at night and strikes a target, the target must make a RR versus the wielder’s lvl or become illuminated by a bright yellowish glow for a number of rnds equal to the RR failure — attacks against the glowing target (by anyone) are made without any penalty for darkness, and attacks by the Night-piercer receive an added +25 bonus.

See ICE’s LOME II 83.

Nimroch’s Sword

The weapon of the Lord-captain and Legate of Arnach is a short sword of eog fitted with an iron guard and pomme. The red leather grip is wrapped around the guard as well as the hilt, and extends to a loop at the pommel.

Powers: +20; Of Water-beast slaying against salt-water creatures that exceed 350 pounds.

See ICE’s Sea Lords of Gondor 60.

North Hammer

Carried by Fulla VII, the heir of Drúin’s Line who helped end the reign of the Demon-king Múar and recaptured the whole of the Dwarf-realm of Ruuriki, this weapon is also called the Returning Hammer of the North-king; it is one of the Seven Hammers of the Seven Tribes of the Naugrim. It was wrested from the Dwarf-lord Zigilük by the Naugzúl Hoamrúrath of Dir.

The long heroic tale of Naug Zigildúm’s Quest for the Hammer is too involved to document here. Suffice it to say, the Dwarven Prince retrieved the prized North Hammer from the Halls of the Mirror and returned to Ruuriki in early T.A. 1. Unfortunately, the weapon was lost again when Naug was slain by Amis Shug in T.A. 280. According to legend, the Hammer slipped from Naug’s grasp and plunged into a chasm the moment before Amis killed him. Naug’s accomplishments with the Hammer are many. Among other feats, he killed Sauron’s famous ”Slayer” or assassin, Shurn Demik in T.A. 1148.

Powers:
- +35 OB; variable range — 70’ against Dwarves, 140’ against Men and Elves, 700’ against Orcs and Giant Races, 1400’ against Dragons; detects Dragons, sources of Evil, and sources of Magic within 700’; Controls the ”Earth of Arda” within 14’ of the wielder (within 70’ if wielder stands in Ahulë); provides wielder with a +35 Presence and RR bonus; stores 7 Channeling spells; on any given day, it is a Hammer of Dragon-slaying that permits wielder to cast a +35 Firebolt once per day or a Holy weapon that also enables wielder to make RR vs. Evil Channeling spells at 77th level, halves effects of fire attacks against wielder, enables wielder to understand Khuzdul, enables everyone within 14’ to make RR versus Fear at 35th level, heals wielder of 7 hits damage each round.

See ICE’s LOME III 56.

Omba

"Whistling Star"

Demik Dral’s enchanted steel throwing-cross (analogous to a throwing-star) is a type of weapon rarely found outside southeastern Endor. Its four points may have symbolic meaning—the four regions of the kingdom of Locas Drus were reunited by Demik in T.A. 1148.

Powers:
- +30 OB; attacks as a flail, but yields Slashing crits.

See ICE’s LOME II 23.

Ongrum

(B.S. "Iron Skull")

Possessed for many years by Skargnakh at Kra-burzum, the skull forming the striking surface of the mace was looted from the ruins of Barad-dur and mounted on a long spiked staff of superior Orc-forged steel. The eye sockets of the massive humanoid, but not human, skull blaze with rubies.

Powers:
- +10; enchanted; inflicts 2x hits; bearer receives +20 DB; a +4 spell adder; can store as many as many as 3 Channeling spells, up to 10th level each; eyes can be willed by a user of power to project a Firebolt twice a day (the eyes fire together, their ray combining to form one 2x damage Fire Bolt); in its present form, the Ongrum requires a 96+ strength to wield in melee.

See ICE’s Shelob 30.

Orcring

("Goblin-chill")

Wielded by Huor as he lead the army of Hithlum in the Nurnaeth Arnoediad (Q. "Battle of Tears Unnumbered"), the famous blade has never resurfaced. While Huor was covering his allies’ withdrawal, he was struck in the eye by a poisoned Orc-arrow and died, and the sword was lost. The mate of Orcruin (see below), Orcring is a white eog sword with an edge of gleaming, clear laen.

Powers:
- +90 OB; the edge shone with an eerie blue light and grew intensely cold and frosty when near Orcs (range 300’); when it struck an Orc and dealt a critical, it also delivered a Cold critical of equal severity; upon command, the sword smoked with a chill mist and could be ordered to fire a stream of intense cold up to 3x/day (treat as Firebolt, range 300’, using Cold crits).

See ICE’s LOME II 31.

Orcrist

(S. "Goblin-cleaver")

Orcrist is a magic Elven broadsword made of themithril alloy ithilnáur (S. "Moon-fire"). One of two matching swords forged by Elves in Gondolin in the First Age and lost in the sacking of the city, it was later rescued from the den of Stone-trolls in Eriador by Thorin and Company. Like its twin, Glamdring, the blade of the sword is heavily enchanted. It was called Biter by the Orcs.

In T.A. 2941, Thorin resolved to lead his companions on a quest to take back Erebor from Smaug and to claim the Dragon’s booty for their own. Blessed by Gandalf, the expedition of Thorin and Company succeeded, but Thorin II (the just-crowned King Under the Mountain) was killed shortly thereafter in the Battle of Five Armies, wielding mercilessly his Elv-sword until he fell. The Orcrist was laid upon his tomb under the Lonely Mountain, glowing a vivid blue to warn of the approach of Orcs or Trolls, making the Dwarves of Erebor impossible to surprise.

Powers:
- +30 OB; glows with a bright blue light when Orcs or Trolls approach (dim within 1000’, and very bright within 100’); fumbles only on an unmodified roll of 01.

Arms / Or-Ru

Orcruin ("Goblin-fire")

The mate of Orcring, Orcruin is a black eog sword with an edge of gleaming black laen. If bloodied, it smoked and sizzled. It was the blade of Hurin, the Adan Warrior of the Third House who was captured as he and his brother held the rearguard of Turgon's retreat to Gondolin. Before his capture, Hurin used Orcruin and Trollslayer (his battle-axe) to slay seventy Trolls and numberless Orcs. The blade was lost to Morgoth's minions at that time, though Hurin was later freed.

Powers: +90 OB; edge shone with an eerie red light and grew intensely hot when near Orcs (range 300); when it struck an Orc and dealt a critical, it also delivered a Heat critical of equal severity; upon command, the sword smoked with a fiery mist and could be ordered to fire a flaming stream up to 3x/day (treat as Firebolt; range 300).

Ovatha's Bow ("Horse-slayer")

The bow helped its famous owner, Parnelion Sey, earn the sobriquet "Horseslayer", knocking hundreds of the mounts of his foes out from under them. Made of kine horn, it is a short bow.

Powers: +20; Of Horse-slaying; arrows strike like those from a long bow.

See ICE's LOME II 36.

Peregrin’s Dagger of Westernesse

Pippin struck with this Númenórean dagger when he marched with the host to the Black Gate and slew a giant Troll chieftain. In so doing, he saved his friend Beregond, son of Baranor. The Dagger of Westernesse is damasked with intertwining shapes of red and gold, much like the daggers that Merry and Sam carry.

Powers: +15 OB; use shortsword table.

Read LotR 207-208. See ICE's Rangers of the North 35, 36; LOME III 20.

Pixie Bow

The tiny bow is only two feet long, with 10 small arrows, yet it functions as well as a normal bow, and thus is quite useful for thieves, spies, and assassins. Its origin is unknown, though there is a legend that it was made for a Hobbit. This seems unlikely but not impossible, given that Hobbits prefer to stay at home.

Powers: can match the distance and accuracy of a bow 3 times its length.

See ICE's Trolls of the Misty Mountains 26.

Quieter

An ivory-inlaid composite bow made in the Ahar tribal style for Parnelion Sey, the bard who united the Ahar tribes to overthrow the Chey and the Variags southeast of Mordor.

Powers: +15 OB; whenever it yields a critical strike, the victim must make a RR versus firer's lvl — failure of 01-50 results in victim being unable to speak for 1-100 days, failure of 51+ results in victim permanently losing the power of speech.

See ICE's LOME II 36.

Red Arrow

More a symbolic than a practical weapon, this black feathered arrow is barbed with steel, and its tip is painted bright red. The Red Arrow was sent from Gondor to Rohan when the former needed aid, and may be sent with the Oath of Eorl.

Powers: None.

Read LotR 86.

Ringil (S. "Chill Star")

Fingolfin bore the blade Ringil to his legendary, heroic death, when he charged alone across the burning plains of Ard-galen all the way to the very gates of Angband. There he called out Morgoth to single combat. Though there could be only one result from such a battle (Fingolfin's death), he avoided the earthshaking assaults of the deadly mace Grond long enough for Ringil to strike the Vala Morgoth no less than seven times. Thereafter the sword fell into the hands of Morgoth's followers and was not seen in Elvish lands again for many long years. Ringil is a two-handed sword made of white eog, mithril, clear laen, and adamant sapphires. The seven wounds it dealt to Morgoth remained on the Vala's fana until his dismissal into the Void.

Powers: +88; "Holy Cold", doing additional Cold criticals and quadruple concussion damage; of Will — the wielder cannot be stunned, stunned unable to parry, made afraid, charmed, or possessed, and will neverumble; Of Slaying vs. armor and shields at lvl 100 (enchanted items get a RR based on their level of enchantment); casts constant RM Rapid Ways/ MERP Living Change Haste when drawn from the scabbard as well as a constant RM Light's Way Utterlight V or MERP Sound/Light Ways Utterlight I; may cast up to 200 PP/day from RM/MERP Ice Law (up to level 20/10) with all spells having ranges, radii, and hits multiplied x5.

Read Sil 185,455. See ICE's LOME I 74.

Romoquenáro ("Fiery Envoy")

The Númenórean steel composite bow wielded by the Witch-king of Angmar from the back of his Fell Beast steed. It may have been an heirloom granted him due to his former position as a Prince of Númenor, the second son of King Tar-Ciryatan and the younger brother of Atanamir the Great. Romoquenáro has a grip of black eog and a string of whale sinew.

Powers: +30 OB; whenever it is fired in darkness its arrow immolates upon leaving the bow — while on fire, the arrow yields a +30 Fireball attack whenever it strikes a target.

See ICE's LOME II 02.

Rúnya (Q. "Red Flame")

An unsubtle broadsword appropriate for the straightforward fighting style of its first owner, Ascarmil (Q. "Impetuous Youth"). It is of mithril with a long inlay of red copper down the center.

Powers: glows with a yellow light in the vicinity of Orcs, red near Trolls; bursts into bright flame on command, delivering a Heat critical of same severity as any other given; Of Troll-Slaying; attracts Trolls — all Trolls within 3 miles of the sword must resist versus a 3rd level Channeling attack or be drawn to the sword, all within 300 feet must resist vs. 30th level or be drawn; the Trolls do not know why they are attracted, only that they must go — they find the summons irritating and are invariably angry by the time they find Rúnya’s owner.

See ICE's Rivendell 15.
Samwise’s Dagger of Westernesse

Like the blades given to Merry and Pippin, this fine little Hobbit sword is damasked with serpent-forms in red and gold.

Powers: +15 OB; use shortsword table.

See ICE’s LOME III 21.

Sauron’s Javelin (aka: Annatar’s Javelin)

Made of the rare Dír-wood that comes from the far North, this javelin has a mithril tip and may have been given to Sauron as a tribute from Hoarmûrath the Ringwraith.

Powers: +30; intelligent; seeks target to 9 mi; returns via teleport.

See ICE’s Lorien 20.

Sauron’s Sword

A great broadsword of the same black alloy galvorn as was used to forge his armor, this sword is dangerous in the extreme due to the power of its wielder. It may have been forged during his stay in Mordor. The weilder may become quite an adept swordsman.

Powers: +45 OB; use shortsword table.

See ICE’s Sea Lords of Gondor 47.

Powers: +45 OB; use shortsword table.

See ICE’s Sea Lords of Gondor 47.

Scholar’s Blade

Owned by the Mage Leôrdinoth of the town of Strayhold in Mirkwood, the weapon is made for the use of those more adept with spells than swords. In his long lifetime, Leôrdinoth found time for study offending and became an accomplished swordsman, a powerful complement to his formidable magical skills. The blade may have been made in Dol Guldur.

Powers: enables the man who uses it for practice to acquire skill with it as if he were studying spells; in the long life of a mage, the weilder may become quite an adept swordsman.

See ICE’s Brigands of Mirkwood 28.

Scout’s Longsword

A handsome weapon, perhaps the product of the Rangers of the North which has found its way south. It is forged of Dwarven steel chased yellow laen. The hilt and guard are of functional steel.

Powers: +20; doubles all Tracking and Stalk/Hide bonuses for Ranger and Scout characters.

See ICE’s Mouths of the Entwash 33.

Seven Star Crossbow

Made for Fulla III, the Dwarf-lord of the western branch of Barin’s Folk, the heavy crossbow is of a simple but elegantly functional design. Its is inlaid with mithril in a series of seven pointed stars.

Powers: magazine of seven bolts automatically reloads weapon every half round; requires 3 rounds to load the magazine.

See ICE’s LOME III 54.

Short Sword of Cleaving

The weapon of the privateer captain Bragolmaitë, the leader of the band at Caichail Puchel in northern Tolfalas, this is a slightly curved, heavy one-edged slashing and stabbing blade in the Corsair style.

Powers: +30 vs. organic materials.

See ICE’s Dunland 63.

Sickle of the Heavens

The blade of Kûrûsk, the Black Númenórean Captain of the Morannon, is a mithril sword with beautiful etching and hilt. It was originally made on the isle of Númenor. before Krûsk’s corruption by Sauron.

Powers: +35 OB.

See ICE’s Teeth of Mordor 29.

Sil-Maegil

Forged by Celebrimbor, the spear combines an ebony shaft and amithril point. Presently it languishes in the treasuries of Angmar.

Powers: +30 OB; Of Slaying vs. servants of Sauron: +45 vs. Nazgûl; usable only by Elves.

See ICE’s Angmar 20.

Slaem’s Club

A club of tundra evergreen, gnarled and crooked.

Powers: +40 OB; delivers 2x damage and double criticals (second critical of 2 levels less than the first, e.g., an E and C); slays any creature of less than 10th level when used underground.

See ICE’s Erech & the Paths of the Dead 34.

Small Tooth

The long-knife belongs to Arwen, the beautiful daughter of Elrond and Celebrian who married Aragorn. It was buried with her on the Cerin Amroth in the winter of F.A. 121.

Powers: acts as a +45 Holy rapier which yields a 20th level Sleep spell whenever it delivers a critical strike (1 rd per 10 RR failure).

See ICE’s Rivendell 14.

Smuggler’s Quarrels

For many years these crossbow quarrels belonged to a group of smuggler’s operating in the marsh at the outlet of the Entwash, hence their name.

Powers: the three special quarrels are all +10 OB; each has one of the following additional powers — if a critical is scored add another critical of one degree higher on the Grappling Table, if a critical is scored add another critical as if it were a Shock Bolt; affects any target struck as RM/MERP Controlling Songs Stun Song at 10th level.

See ICE’s Mouths of the Entwash 10.

Snow Hammer

Weapon of Hoarmûrath the Ringwraith, the war mattock was forged out of clear laen and inlaid with the horn of a Drake.

Powers: +25 OB; Of Dragon-slaying; its wielder is immune to natural cold and receives a +25 RR bonus versus magical cold attacks; the mattock serves as a fine ice axe and the wielder receives a +25 bonus to all assisted ice climbing maneuvers.

See ICE’s LOME II 89.

Spear-Among-Enemies

Generally, this weapon is not detectable as such — it looks like a walking stick to most people. In fact, it is a rowan spear tipped with a leaf-shaped iron point. It belongs to Maengron, a smuggler of the Smuggler’s Hold in Dunland.

Powers: +15 OB; covered by an illusion of a walking stick.

See ICE’s Dunland 63.
Spears of Following

These two spears of the Half-troll warlord Hargrog are kept under his bed in the Tower of the Hargrog in the Yellow Spears of Following. They are bamboo shafts reinforced with bone points.

Powers: +20; when cast at a target within 200' (no range penalty), will follow the target, negating any cover he might seek.

See ICE’s Shadow in the South 56.

Spinerunner

A fine mithril blade of Elvish make, Spinerunner is set with a gold chrysanthemum pommel and gold laen guard. It is presently in the lair of the Rain-drake Cuadada overlooking a small lake on the Onpu Muva, in the eastern Emyndin in southern Middle-earth.

Powers: +20 OB; Holy; broadsword that can transform into a dagger or two-hand sword upon wielder's command; yields an extra Cold Crit (of equal severity) in addition to any critical strike it delivers; targets receiving a critical strike must make a RR vs. RM Confusing Ways Confusion or MERP Spirit Mastery Confusion.

See ICE’s Shadow in the South 48.

Steward’s Blade

Denethor II carried this weapon like the other Stewards before him. It is a gleaming mithril broadsword with fine inlays.

Powers: +35 OB; if the wielder opts to parry, the sword's bonus is doubled (for DB only).

See ICE’s LOME 11 24.

Sting

Made in Beleriand in the First Age, this well-forged Elf-dagger was named by Bilbo Baggins, its first owner after its discovery in a Troll-lair. Bilbo gave it to Frodo at the Farewell Feast when Bilbo went to retire at Rivendell. Frodo passed it on to Sam after Sam's battle with Shelob, in which Sting wounded the great spider. It served Frodo well in the Fellowship of the Ring.

Powers: equivalent to a +15 short sword; Sting glows blue within 1000' of an Orc, most brightly if they are within 100', lightly if they are from 101' to 500' away, and barely if further out; Of Slaying versus Orcs.

Stinging Tongue

A mallorn-inlaid composite blowgun, Stinging Tongue is the weapon of Khamûl the Ringwraith. As an Easterling from Wowam, the úlair may have lost the Stinging Tongue when he followed Sauron into oblivion at the end of the Second Age, passing into the Shadow World.

Powers: +15 OB; Elf-slaying weapon; when poisoned darts are used and it yields a critical strike, the victim must make a RR versus an attack equal to the firer's lvl + poison's lvl.

See ICE’s LOME 11 94.

Stormless Bow

Weapon of Ûvatha the Nazgûl, the gold-inlaid short bow fires well from horseback, as befits a Ringwraith known as the Horseman. It is made in the elaborate and powerful Variag tribal style.

Powers: +20 OB; arrows that strike as if fired from a heavy crossbow; the flight of the bow's arrows is unaffected by wind, and the wielder's aim never suffers due to weather conditions.

See ICE’s LOME 11 98.

Sûlherok’s Broadsword

Valkrist’s aide was given this blade by his master — the Lord of Arms wanted his associate armed with the finest weaponry. It is mithril, and the blade glows when wielded, giving off sparks and a crackling noise.

Powers: +20 OB; it delivers an Electricity critical; gives an A Electricity crit to an opponent who parries with a metal weapon; chance foe’s weapon is destroyed.

See ICE’s LOME 1 89; Court of Ardor 22.

Sûlherok’s Crossbow and Bolts

The Messenger of the Ardan Court preferred this weapon when astride one of the great birds of Tirgoroth which he rode on his errands. It is a heavy weapon with an ebony stock and five matching bolts. The bolts are laen and feathered white.

Crossbow Powers: +20 OB; auto-reload every round; 2x heavy crossbow range; 2x concussion hits.

Bolts’ Powers: +10 OB; deliver an Electricity critical in addition to regular one; one use of Electricity critical for each bolt.

See ICE’s Court of Ardor 22; LOME 1 89.
Silmaruth (S. "Fury of the Silmarils")

Maedros' sword was probably made by Fëanor. The broadsword is red laen with an eog edge.

Powers: +75; does triple concussion hits; does additional Heat and Slash criticals; casts continuous Haste on its bearer when wielded.

See ICE's LOME I 85.

Southron Disk

The size of a dinner plate, the metal throwing disk lies in a hidden cavern below the Falls of the Mist, a site of celebration and worship for the Ents and Huorns in the winter. The area serves as an unintended cache of treasure, since the Ents dispose of inorganic items there.

Powers: will float in a stationary position and hold up to 100 lbs; on command, its edges will become sharp and it can be thrown accurately up to 30' with a +20 bonus and will strike as a broadsword; returns at the same speed to stop next to the thrower (if not obstructed) and float stationary until grasped again for throwing.

See ICE's Ents of Fangorn 29.

Stone-mace of Setmaenen

This ancient Daen Coentis weapon rests among the Treasures of Fois in the Chamber of Mists within the mound surrounded by the Ring of Setmaenen. The mace is inscribed with spiral runic patterns that might once have been decipherable by the Priestesses of Fois but are now merely abstract adornment.

Powers: holder of the Stone-mace resists against symbols in stone as if he were 20th lvl; holder may turn to stone (1 rnd's concentration required; can be done 3x/day for up to 100 rds), and can take on the features of any rock he touches at the time of transformation; as a weapon, it is a +20 mace which slays Ghosts.

See ICE's Haunted Ruins 20.

Sword of Finduilas

Finduilas was captured by Orcs during the assault on Nagathrond and slain when the Haladin ambushed them at the Crossings of Teiglin. Her short sword has been passed down through her family (that of Orodreth, brother of Finrod and son of Finarfin) ever since. Forged of grey laen, it's appearance is deceptively plain.

Powers: +35 OB; casts a 20th lvl Sleep spell when a critical is inflicted (1 rd/10% failure).

See ICE's LOME I 74.

Sword of the Light

The weapon belonging to Demik Dral's cousin, Vrak Tanûk, is a 10' long two-hand sword. When wielded by foes of Sauron, it weighs and handles the same as a normal two handed sword, but when it is released it takes on the weight and mass appropriate for its size.

Powers: treat as a +20 two-hand sword in melee; can be thrown as a +50 javelin (resolve attacks on the Mounted Lance table).

See ICE's LOME II 41.

Sword of Soul-Seducing

When this evil two-hand sword is drawn, disaster is sure to follow. It is the weapon of Malezar, a vampiric sorcerer who lives in Mindo Malezaro on the eastern flank of the yellow Mountains. It is black laen undecorated by colored hilt or pommel.

Powers: +15 OB; when it strikes a foe and delivers a critical strike, the foe must make a RR versus Essence: should he fail by 01-50, he falls into a trance for 1-10 rds; should he fail by 51 + he will become enslaved by the will of the wielder; each round thereafter he will lose 1-10 Co pts: when his Co reaches 0 he becomes a Wight.

See ICE's Shadow in the South 54.

Tarmellen ("Noble Friend")

A short sword of the finest human make, possibly a relic of Númenor. Its name is engraved across the hilt's crosspiece: the pommel is carved of turquoise with a pattern of intricately intertwined fishes.

Powers: +10 OB; will Levitate to parry and defend its incapacitated owner for 12 rounds with a +30 bonus.

See ICE's Dagorlad 35.

Taurclax's Sceptre

The spy of Sauron, Taurclax also ruled from the cruel fortress of Taurang ("Iron Tree"). He escaped the downfall of the Court of Ardor, and his powerful sceptre disappeared with him. It is of mithril, with teak and ebony handle and inlays.

Powers: +20; Of Windmastery, allows the holder free use of RM Weather Ways Wind Mastery or the MERP Nature's Lore list.

See ICE's Court of Ardor 20; LOME I 89.

Thain's Bow

The short bow is one of the hereditary possessions of the Thains of the Shire and was a gift of the King of Arnor, Argeleb II. The Thain's Bow was used by such famous hobbits as Isengrim II Took (grandson of the Bullroarer) and Paladin II Took as well as by Pippin and his son Faramir.

Powers: +15 OB; range like a long bow; arrows do double concussion hits and an additional puncture critical.

See ICE's LOME II 111 17.

Tintelpë (Q. "Silver Spark")

Galadriel's melee weapon is a long knife of more than a few enchantments. It is forged of layered galvorn and silver, making it alternately black and silver, somewhat like tree-rings in cross-section.

Powers: +33 OB; uses the broadsword table: glows with a blue light near Servants of Morgoth/Sauron; Of Slaying Orcs, Evil Clerics, Magicians, and Sorcerers; delivers a Cold critical (of same severity as any other given): will cast Lightning Bolt 300' 3x/day; a Holy weapon.

See ICE's LOME I 77; Lorien 27.
Tongues of the Desert
The Black Dogs who served the evil Cult of the Black Hand in the Far South used these ceremonial weapons to perform ritual assassinations. Each dagger was forged from a single piece of black steel, and its blade shaped like the tongue of a Desert Drake.

Powers: +15 OB; +12 to the wielder's ambush skill; victims struck by these blades must make a RR versus a 6th level spell or experience 1-10 rnds of blindness.

See ICE's Shadow in the South 25,59.

Troll-cleaver
In the Ninnath Arnoediad (Q. "Battle of Numberless Tears"), Hurin used this battle-axe to slay seventy Trolls and numberless Orcs before he was finally buried under the carnage and thus taken by Morgoth. It is a two-handed axe with a blade of red laen.

Powers: +75 OB; Of Slaying Trolls and Orcs.
Read Sil 237-238. See ICE's LOME II 32.

Trollsdirge
The two-handed sword is inscribed with runes spelling its name. Whenever it is drawn, the weapon moans a low song that speaks without words of the stilling of the earth from which Trolls are made.

Powers: +5 OB; +25 against Trolls; possessed of a semi-sentient soul which cannot communicate but will slowly work upon any who lays claim to the blade, instilling in him a burning hatred for the race it seeks to destroy.

See ICE's Assassins of Dol Amroth 19.

True Eye Sword
The Elvish ithilnaur longsword that is Súlkano's preferred weapon, True Eye was forged by the Elven Smith before he set out for Amon Lind. The blade served him well, but did not enable him to see through Annatar's snares.

Powers: +25 OB; Of Orc- and Troll-slaying; casts a RM Spirit Mastery Mass Word spell 1x/week or each spell 1x/week from the MERP Calm Spirits list; allows user to see through all invisibility, illusions, and facades.

See ICE's Dunland 18.

Turantir (S. "Master of the Watch")
A broadsword of Elven-forged steel with a pommel of transparent pale green beryl called the Elfstone, this weapon is part of the grave-goods of Aduntarik, a servant of the Black Master who is now a Ghoul. It is kept in a secret, trapped vault.

Powers: +10; glows within 50' of Undead; +15 if used by one of Elvish blood.
See ICE's Dagorlad 35.

Ultimate Bow
A composite bow made of black Dír wood, the Ultimate Bow was wielded by Vrak Tanûk, the giant man who reestablished the Guild of the Light at Tarsa.

Powers: +40 OB; 4x normal range; wielder with a 96 or better in Qu (and Ag) may make two missile attacks each round (-20 penalty).
See ICE's LOME II 41.

Lobelia's Umbrella
Despite her nasty disposition, Lobelia Bracegirdle Sackville-Baggins won new respect from the Hobbits of Hobbiton because of the indomitable spirit she demonstrated during Saruman's occupation of the Shire. During that time, Lobelia tried to whip an insulting rogue with her umbrella although she was very old and certainly less than half his size. She was then imprisoned in the Lock-holes. Her umbrella's fate is unknown, but certainly such a useful item would never be discarded by the creature comfort-loving Hobbits. Her weapon, though superficially uninspiring, was in fact a dangerous plaid (orange, red, purple, & green) umbrella, capable of deadly deeds.

Powers: +10; hits as a main gauche and does additional tiny criticals of the same value.

Ungolrist (S. "Spider-cleaver")
During the Second Age, the Elves of Ithilien, suffering from Shelob's depredations, besought the great Celeborm of Eregion to forge them a sword that could repel the Spider. Together, the Elves of the Alchemy guild (Mirdain) and the Dwarves of Moria crafted Ungolrist, a wondrous longsword of galvorn, the shining black Elven metal, supple yet stronger than the hardest Dwarven steel. It spider-slaying properties were bound into the blade with runes of ithildin, silvery lettering visible only under moonlight. Sadly, the Elven hero chosen to wield Ungolrist fell victim to Shelob's mental powers ere he could bring the sword to bear, and for many years has Ungolrist lain masterless in Torech Ungol.

Powers: +30; Spider-slaying; any spider struck by Ungolrist suffers, in addition to a normal crit a second crit, which is rolled on the Large Creature Critical Table at +20; highly intelligent; upon command projects RM/ MERP Light Law Light (50'R) 3x/day; discharges a Lightning Bolt with a 100'range, 1 x/day; if evil spiders are within 50', the sword is illuminated by a silvery aura; unfortunately, the sword's intelligence has gotten out of control and become a curse of sorts: it is unduly eager to fulfill its purpose and will force any bearer who does not resist vs. Essence at -50 to engage all spiders in sight.

See ICE's Shelob 30.

Usriv ("Bloodrunner")
The blade lived up to its name, since Ovathe the Young ruled the Variag nations from the saddle and united Khand to become the Khûrdriag. Bloodrunner is a traditional Variag weapon which appears as a cross between a spear and a thin, razor-sharp, two-hand sword (and can be used in either capacity). It is carved from the greyish wood of the olive trees of Num.

Powers: +25 OB; Of Cat-slaying; "remembers" melees, and allows wielder an extra +10 bonus against opponents the weapon (but not the wielder) has previously faced; when thrown as a spear, it returns to the caster in 1-2 rds.

See ICE's LOME II 35.

Usurper's Sword
The shortsword was used by Castamir the Usurper in his rebellion against the rightful Gondorian king. After ten years of the tyrant's rule, the blade was drawn again when Eldacar returned from exile to wrest his throne from the Usurer. Sword in hand, Castamir died in single combat with Eldacar.

Powers: +25 OB.
See ICE's LOME II 22.
Valmorgûl's Arm

After the First Age, the Warden of the Citadel of Ardor wore this artificial arm of enchanted glass — his real arm was lost in combat with the Elf-lord Chrys Menelrana. The artifact is of red laen, and the hand and arm are fully operational.

Powers: Makes the user immune to heat and fire; allows him to cast Firebolts 300', up to 6x/day; flames on command; strikes as a +30 mace.

See ICE's LOME I 91; Court of Ardor 18.

Vasamacil (Q."Blade-eater"; S. "Vasamegil")

The Witch-king's flaming broadsword was forged in Thangorodrim out of black ithilnaur and inlaid with veins of fused rubies. Its deep red pommel is crowned with a large (1000 gp) enchanted ruby. The sword was a gift created by Sauron for his greatest servant. Some sources contest the type of blade, stating that it is a longsword.

Powers: +30 OB; so long as the ruby remains inset into the sword, the weapon delivers a Heat critical (of equal severity) in addition to any normal critical strike it yields; shatters weapons that parry its blows (opposing weapon must make a RR vs. a 60th lvl attack if the attack results is "0 hits;" RR failure results in the opposing weapon's destruction).

See ICE's Angmar 16; LOME II 02.

Vidugavia's Needle

Never actually wielded by the Northman King, this battle-lance was King Eldacar's weapon in his struggle against Castamir the Usurper. It is an enchanted lance that served him well at the Crossings of Erui, where Eldacar slew the usurper Southerner who had deprived him of his kingdom for 10 years.

Powers: +25 OB; treats all non-magic armor (except AT PI/17-20) as if it was nothing more than robes (AT No/2).

See ICE's LOME II 26.

Vidugavia's Sword

A finely-made broadsword with golden hilts, the weapon of the Northman King is an ancient Dúnadan weapon recovered from a Troll-hoard.

Powers: +20 OB; Undead-slaying.

See ICE's LOME II 40.

Vidugavia's Short Bow

The weapon of the self-proclaimed King of Rhovanion, this bow of rowan wood has a grip of burnished copper. It seems to hum to itself when fired, a self-satisfied sound.

Powers: +20 OB; it possesses 2x normal range and suffers no range penalties.

See ICE's LOME II 40.

Viper's Tongue

This eket (shortsword) is not magical, but is of extremely fine workmanship and possesses a grooved blade that is meant to acc commodate a dose of sticky poison, typically karfar or acaana.

Powers: +10OB.

See ICE's Minas Tirith 139.

War-dancer

The falchion of Dwar the Ringwraith, War-dancer was forged out of ithilnaur and inlaid with white gold and pearl. Its pearl-tipped pommel is actually the end of a dagger (which is sheathed in the hilt).

Powers: +25 OB; sword will "dance" out of the wielder's hand for up to 10 rnds (even when the wielder is unconscious and/or prone), parrying blows against the wielder with 50% of the wielder's usual OB (including the bonus from the sword); the dagger is +25 as well.

See ICE's Teeth of Mordor 28; LOME II 87.

Water-skimmer

An Elven Killing-bola ("Gé") made of bluish Cuivac wood from the land of Helcar Sael, this was the weapon of Khamûl the Ringwraith.

Powers: +25 OB; in addition to any normal critical strike of "B" or greater severity it delivers, it also yields a Crush critical of one less degree in severity (e.g., in addition to a "B" Unbalancing critical, it delivers an "A" Crush critical); when cast over water, its projectiles can be skimmed, giving the bola a bonus equal to +40, enabling strikes around corners with angles of 45 or less degrees, and eliminating normal range penalties.

See ICE's LOME II 94.

White Axe

Vrak Tanûk's favorite weapon was a handaxe made of white shalk alloy. As the last of his line, Vrak inherited this weapon as well as others with which to reestablish the Guild of the Light.

Powers: Repels metal — the axe cannot get closer than 6" to metal and thus the axe is -60 against foes in metal armor, but is useable as a +40 wall shield against metal weapons; cuts organic material as a knife cuts skin; against opponents wearing only organic armor, the axe is +50 and the opponent has AT No/2 (ignore DB from organic armor).

See ICE's LOME II 41.

Wind-sweeper

Parnelion Sey brandished Wind-sweeper when he swept the Cheya and Variags from the occupied lands of the Ahar Warrior-kings. It is a spear made of purplish wood from the Dogfruit trees of Ibav.

Powers: +20 OB; when cast with the wind, it has a bonus equal to 20 + the wind speed (in mph); suffers no range penalties.

See ICE's LOME II 37.

Yellow Hammer

Inlaid with copper, the gold steel mace belonged to Akhârahil the Ringwraith and Storm-king.

Powers: +20; Man-slaying.

See ICE's Shadow in the South 31; LOME II 85.
4.2 ARMOR

Primitive cultures lavish almost as much attention on armor as on arms, since breastplates, helmets, and greaves are directly responsible for survival in battle. Most armor is less florid in design than weaponry, but is just as potently enchanted. There are also competing schools of thought regarding how much and what type of armor a warrior needs. Dwarves favor the head-to-toe covering that makes them able to withstand Dragon-fire, Elves prefer lighter, enchanted armors (such as enchanted circlets instead of helms), and Men fall somewhere between. Climate also affects armor — the Lossoth and Umli have a greater need for warmth and thus wear less metal than do the riders of Rohan or the men of Gondor. In warmer climes, Easterlings and the men of Far Harad must always consider the effect of heavy armor in a protracted battle — warriors who pass out from the heat are of no use to the generals who command them. Finally, certain specialized troops such as marines, pirates, mountain troops and cave warriors wear especially flexible armor to allow them the range of movement they require.

Adan Helm

An heirloom of Boromir's family, this lightweight helm protected many warriors before its loss at Boromir's death.

Powers: prevents head criticals (roll 01-25); protects as a full helm.

See ICE's LOME II 21.

Aldarion's Full Shield

Made of blue steel and silver mithril, the shield's materials are shaped so as to suggest the rifled texture of waves on a windy day.

Powers: +30; floats in water.

See ICE's LOME I I 15.

Angamaitë's Chain and Greaves

A red chainmail shirt and matching greaves trimmed in red copper comprised the armor worn by Castamir's grandson when he revenged himself upon the men of Gondor.

Powers: +20 DB; unencumbering; AT Ch/14; floats in water.

See ICE's Sea-lords of Gondor 10; LOME II 18.

Angbor (S. "Iron Fist")

A gauntlet of fine steel mesh and overlapping plates, this item can be adjusted to fit hands from Dwarf to Orc size.

Powers: allows wearer's fist to have the effect of a +10 mace; does not aid or impede him/her when using other weapons.

See ICE's Southern Mirkwood 56.

Angol (S. "Iron Cloak")

A suit of magical lightweight black leather, it will fit snugly any human or Elvish wearer. Composed of jacket, pants, boots, gloves, and a headband (which protects as a full metal helm), all parts must be worn for this armor to be effective. It is said that the suit was made by a guilt-ridden Elf lord who wished to feel the pain of his victims.

Powers: AT 4; +40 DB; attacks by the wearer are handled normally; however, attackertakes 1-10 hits of damage each time he strikes a foe.

See ICE's Southern Mirkwood 56.

Aragorn's Mithril Mail

An ordinary shirt of blackithilnauralloychainmail. Its use dates from the beginning of Aragorn's reign as Elessar, King of Arnor and Gondor.

Powers: +35 DB; encumbers only as a chain shirt AT Ch/14. but protects as half-plate (AT PL/19).

See ICE's Rangers of the North 35.

Aragorn's War-helm

Made of mithril inlaid with gold (some say gold inlaid with mithril), this helm has a receptacle for the Star of Elendil to be set in the brow.

Powers: +15 DB.

See ICE's Rangers of the North 35.

Arennon (S. "High Armor")

Finarfin's armor is all of white eog plates, held together by mithril wires cunningly crafted so as to give when needed as the plates move but never to allow the wearer to be exposed.

Powers: AT PL/20; +75 DB: wearer resists all spells at +75; acts as the RM Elemental Shields True Armor (Lvl 50) or MERP Protections Resist Elements; maneuver penalties reduced to 0; constant RM Light's Way Alkar or MERP Protections Bless.

See ICE's LOME II 73.

Ar-Pharazôn's Armor

This ill-fated full plate armor of a lightweight golden alloy shone with a gold light. Now it probably lights caverns deep below the earth with its vain and arrogant owner.

Powers: +50 DB; protects as AT PL/20; reduces all criticals delivered by one severity level.

See ICE's LOME II 37.

Ascarnil's Armor

This boiled leather armor is reinforced with green-tinted strips of metal.

Powers: +15 DB; acts as AT 10; encumbers as AT 5.

See ICE's Rivendell 15.

Belegennon (S. "Armor of Might")

Fingolfin's armor is forged of white eog and mithril, making it bright and easy to spot on the battlefield (or at night).

Powers: AT PL/20; +88 DB; constant RM Hiding Displacement III or MERP Essence Hand Shield; negates 50% of all criticals to the wearer; unencumbering; constant RM Light's Way Alkar or MERP Protections Bless.

See ICE's LOME II 74.
The Black Scale

Sauron's armor is scale armor forged of black dragonskin and black ithilnaur alloy. It does not encumber at all, yet is extremely potent due merely to its composition. Sauron wore it as the Necromancer of Dol Guldur, on the rare occasions that he went into combat. It is made for a human form fully eight feet tall.

Powers: AT 20; +80 DB.
See ICE's LOME II 1102.

Boromir's Shield

A simple shield rimmed with steel and made of a very light, but strong, wood.

Powers: +25 DB.
See ICE's LOME II 11 21.

Bracers of Balzathor

These bracers of bronze plates are laced together with mithril wire. They are buried with their owner, Balzathor, standard-bearer of Lord Aduntarik, who slew six armored enemies with one small dagger to defend his master's body.

Powers: block on full parry as a target shield.
See ICE's Dagorlad 34.

Bracers of Blyga

When worn, these wrist-guards add to bow attacks and operate as arm greaves. They fit any small Man or medium to large Mannish woman. Their gold filigree decoration is superb, the gold alone being worth 15 gp.

Powers: +10 OB; unencumbering.
See ICE's Haunted Ruins of the Dunlendings 13.

Bracers of Chennacatt

These delicate-looking coppery bracers are actually made of rare copper-colored laen, both very strong and light.

Powers: +20 DB; enable wearer to parry a foe's blow with a bonus equal to twice his reduced OB (e.g., if wearer elects to parry with 50 of his OB, he can use the bracers and reduce his opponent's attack by 100); the bracers cannot be used in conjunction with a shield.
See ICE's Shadow in the South 31; LOME II 85.

Bracers of Hembur Swep

When worn, these wrist-guards add to bow attacks and operate as arm greaves. They fit any size hand.

Powers: +20 to wearer's Channeling skill; spells cast by wearer are ranged by 100; allows wearer to channel to target regardless of whether target is concentrating on the realm or is otherwise ready to receive a spell or PPs.
See ICE's LOME II 39.

Bracers of the Mists

These ordinary-looking leather wrist bracers were the property of Huinen, the secretive Noldo. Appropriately enough for the reclusive Seer, they create a misty aura about the wearer at will.

Powers: +60 DB.
See ICE's Southern Mirkwood 49.

Breastplate

Made of iron with a raised edge of mithril, this breastplate is fashioned to resemble a human torso, with tensed muscles and stylized nipples prominent.

Powers: treat as No Armor with +25 DB and -10 MM; negates 90% of criticals specifying shield, neck, shoulder, chest or body.
See ICE's Mouths of the Entwash 18.

Cambeleg (S. "Hand of Might")

In the possession of Shelob at Torech Ungol, the Cambeleg is a finely crafted Dwarven steel gauntlet which will instantly adjust to fit any size hand.

Powers: adds +10 OB when using weapons; +20 OB in unarmed combat; allows the hand of the wearer to be treated as an enchanted weapon, striking as a mace.
See ICE's Shelob 30.

Cambragol's Bracers

Of Dekdarion, this is a set of four bands of gold, two for the ankles and two for wrists.

Powers: add +30 to all Strikes, Sweeps and Throws, maneuvers, DB, RR's vs. spells; allow the wearer to parry melee and missile attacks with equal ease.
See ICE's LOME I 59.

Cammaedhros (S. "Hand of Maedhros")

A prosthetic eog hand made for Maedros after he lost his right hand when captured by Balrogs and chained to the sheer face of Thangorodrim. Cammaedhros was initially white, but mystically began to be stained by the blood of the Elf's battles. While Maedhros was never comfortable wearing the hand all the time or wielding his sword with it, the device is mighty in warfare.

Powers: acts as a +50 normal shield; intelligent; can cast RM Shield Mastery Deflect 1 or Bladeturn 1 each 1x/rnd, 16x/day or MERP Essence Hand Deflections and Bladeturn 1x/rnd, 16x/day; may attempt to crush anything in its grasp: either a LGr attack (OB +150), or a 30th level attack on an inanimate item (e.g., swords, etc).
See ICE's LOME II 85.

Castamir's Breastplate

A sturdy steel breastplate large enough to fit Mannish warriors, this armor is fairly simple and unassuming. Its only decoration is a set of seven small stars inlaid in mithril on the right breast.

Powers: AT PI/17; unencumbering (treat as AT No/1).
See ICE's Havens of Gondor 6,8,10; Sea-lords of Gondor 10,60.

Celeborn's Mithril Plate

Made of ithilnaur alloy, this is a very finely wrought suit of plate. It will fit any Elven character.

Powers: protects as full plate AT 20 (-30), but wears as AT 13.
See ICE's Lorien 28.
Celebrimbor's Mithril Chain

The celebrated Elven smith forged his own armor of an improved ithilnaur alloy. Its design was functional, but possessed of a simple elegance, and the chain mail covered the wearer from neck to knees.

Powers: protects as full plate. AT PI/20 (-60), but encumbers as AT Ch/13.
See ICE's Lorien 22.

Cu-Saggha-Brath

The “Turtle Helm” (Du. "Clogaid Cruban") was a gift from Angmar to the Hillmen. It is made of steel, with a lining of Fell Beast hide. The exterior plates of green copper are shaped to form a turtle skin, giving the wearer the appearance of having a hideous turtle head.

Powers: controls any one Turtle at up to 300' range, regardless of size; +10 DB; allows the wearer to see and hear normally under water, through a mist or fog, or in rain.
See ICE's Hillmen 33.

Celegorm's Shield

A green laen full shield that matches Celegorm's broadsword, this fine item was put to evil purposes when Celegorm became ensnared in his father's dreadful Oath.

Powers: +35 DB; floats in water; unencumbering.
See ICE's LOME I 60.

Cirdan's Full Shield

Made of yellow laen with a copper boss in the center, this is a fairly well-made, but not stunningly beautiful, shield in the Elven style.

Powers: +35 DB; unencumbering; floats in water.
See ICE's LOME I 62.

Dain Ironfoot's Shield

The oval ithilnaur Warder's Shield bears a Sudden Light symbol on the front, permitting the wearer to blind his foes.

Powers: +25 DB; bearer may command the shield (3x/day) to glow with a blazing light causing all within 14' diameter (who are gazing in the direction of the shield) to make a RR versus Essence; RR failure results in victim being stunned for 1 rd/10 RR failure (e.g., RR failure of 26 = victim stunned 3rnds).
See ICE's LOME III 53.

Dark Drakeskin

Deep blue and black Dragon-skin, this half-hide plate armor was made to match the Dragonhelm of Khamûl the Easterling. It has been seen on innumerable battlefields throughout Endor, generally to the dismay of those who love the Light and fear the Dark.

Powers: unencumbering; protects as full plate (AT 20).
See ICE's LOME II 94.

Denethor's Armor

The possession of Denethor II, this shimmering mithril mail was the property of generations of the Stewards of Gondor.

Powers: +40 DB; as AT PI/17; encumbers as leather (AT SL/5).
See ICE's LOME II 24.

Dior's Armor

This armor is forged of mithril and black laen, matching the shield that forms part of the set.

Powers: AT PI/20; +60 DB; unencumbering; constant RM Light's WayAlkarorMERPProtectionsBless; permits Essence casting with no penalties.
See ICE's LOME II 64.

Dior's Shield

A full shield of mithril and laen, it is part of a set of armor and is meant to be used with Dior's Ring, without which its powers are not fully activated.

Powers: +45 DB; floats and dances to defend wielder; Dior's ring required for use.
See ICE's LOME II 64.

Dragonhelm

A deep blue full helmet shaped like the head of a Fire-drake, this is the mask that Khamûl the Easterling, the Second of the Nine Nazgûl, has worn for the ages of his unlife. It was made especially to complement his drakeskin armor.

Powers: +10 DB; +10 to all RRs and enables wearer to cast spells as if he were 60th lv1.
See ICE's LOME II 94.
Dragon-helm of Dor-L6min

This war-helm made by the Dwarves is the greatest heirloom of the House of Hador, the descendants of Hador Lórindol. After the Nírnaeth Arnoediad, the Dragon-helm was preserved by Morwen until she sent it to Doriath with her son Turin. He wore it in his battles on the marches of Doriath. Later, Beleg brought it to Turin during his first outlawry, and thereafter Turin wore it during many of his adventures. Together, they were known as Bow and Helm; the Orcs feared the pair greatly and did not venture onto the Guarded Plain because of them. Sadly, when Turin took on the name Gorthol, Morgoth knew him as Hurin’s son, and sent spies against him. Also called the Helm of Hador, it may have been lost when Turin was taken captive to Angband through the treachery of the Petty-dwarf, Mîm.

Powers:
+25 OB; each day, attracts 1-10 warriors allied with the wearer’s cause from the surrounding lands to follow the wearer; +10 OB to all warriors beneath the wearer’s command; +25 to the wearer’s tactics and strategy skills.

Read Sil 205,244,251,252,260.

Elendil’s Armor

A shield of mithril and mallorn wood, bearing the device of the Seven Stars, as befits its weilder, Elendil, the first King of Amor. Elendil’s items were heirlooms of Armor and survived the fall of that realm to be sheltered by the Rangers at Rivendell and finally returned to the Reunited Kingdoms.

Powers: +45 full shield of mithril and laen; weightless and unencumbering.

See ICE’s LOME II 27.

Elmirthol (S. “Helm of the Star Jewel”)

The helm of Ecthelion of the Fountain, the Elvish captain of Gondolin and Turgon’s lieutenant, was of mithril with an adamant diamond set upon a silver spike and a transparent blue laen faceplate. Ecthelion wore it at his death when he slew Gothmog, Lord of the Balrogs, in single combat.

Powers:
constant RM Light’s Way Alkar or MERP Protections Bless; negates 50% of head crits; wearer cannot be stunned; casts RM Communal Ways Commune True or MERP Direct Channeling Dream I 1x/day.

Read UT 53. See ICE’s LOME I 66.

Elros’ Armor

Elros was the first King of Númenor, and his items became the hereditary property of his successors. His armor was a simple shirt of mithril chain, forged by the Elven Smiths.

Powers: +40 DB; protects as AT PI/20, but does not in any way encumber the wearer; possesses an enchanted buoyancy, thus floating in water.

See ICE’s LOME II 28.

Feather Armor

A suit of fine ithilnaur chain mail forged by the Elven Smiths, the armor was owned by Elrond.

Powers: provides protection equal to AT PI/18, but is virtually unencumbering.

See ICE’s Rivendell 12.

Foam-light

Imrahil’s scale armor of a silver-white mithril alloy was a frequent sight in Dol Amroth when the Prince of Dor-en-Enril reviewed his troops or rode off to the hunt.

Powers: +30 DB; protects as AT PI/17; has the additional power of being able to float in water (and hold the wearer at the surface).

See ICE’s Havens of Gondor 11,28; LOME II 32.

Forest Bowguard

Made of fine leather and shaalk, the Forest Bowguard prevents the painful impact of bowstring on wrist that sometimes occurs in the confusion of battle.

Powers: +20 OB; -2 to chance of fumble.

See ICE’s Lorien 22.
Frodo's Mail
A corselet and helmet of mithril made in Erebor for a young Elf-prince and incorporated into Smaug's hoard. During the expedition of Thorin and Company, Thorin gave it to Bilbo Baggins from the stores of armor under Erebor. Bilbo eventually passed it on to Frodo. Frodo wore the corselet during the Quest to Mount Doom, and it saved his life in Khazad-dûm. The mithril corselet was captured with Frodo in Cirith Ungol, and when two Orc-bands quarreled over its possession Frodo was able to escape. Gandalf reclaimed the corselet from the Mouth of Sauron, and Frodo wore it on his return to the Shire, where it foiled Saruman's attempt on his life.

Powers: equivalent to AT PL/17 (-20); unencumbering.

Read LotR 363, 413-414; II 203, 205; Hob 228, 285. See ICE's LOME 1 15.

Gaerennon (S. "Sea Armor" or "Sea Cloak")
This armor belonged to Cirdan, the great Elvish mariner and shipwright. It is forged of mithril and blue laen, with laces of tough, salt-resistant sea turtle hide.

Powers: AT Ch/16; +45 DB; no maneuver penalties; unencumbering; floats in water.

See ICE's LOME 1 62.

Galdor's Armor
Made of seadrake skin, this armor is a drab green-grey color, but is very easy to keep in shape, requiring almost no care to keep it looking normal.

Powers: AT RL/12 (-30); wearer may swim as fast as he may run; wearer may breathe underwater.

See ICE's LOME 11 78.

Gauntlets of Challenge
Buried in the Dead Marshes in the tomb of Sakaladun, one of Sauron's captains, these are mailed Gauntlets that he used in many conquests and raids against the Free Peoples.

Powers: +10 DB; +10 to offensive hand-to-hand combat; and give a +25 RR bonus versus attacks to the wearer's hands.

See ICE's Dagorlad 34.

Gauntlets of IomFegc
Made of violet leather and embroidered with platinum wire and tiny amethysts (total raw worth 320 gp), these heavy armored gloves are one of the great legacies of the ancient Dunmen, the Daen Coentis.

Powers: serve as arm greaves; permit the wearer to strike with both fists as if using -5 maces.

See ICE's Haunted Ruins of the Dunlendings 13.

Gauntlet of Slaying
This absolutely terrifying item is a large glove of metal plates and black dragonskin. Sauron uses it on those rare occasions when he does battle. This glove was the doom of Narsil, sword of Elendil.

Powers: acts as full shield, parrying any attacks, or can be used to attack; if the wielder chooses to parry, he may decide to grasp his opponent's weapon, and in doing so destroy it — the item must make a resistance roll versus a 50th level attack or shatter into a shower of fragments (weapons with a plus receive one additional level — above first — for each +5; magical weapons are given a base of twenty, with an additional level added for each +5; weapons with special powers may be granted extra levels); if the wearer opts to attack, all he must do is touch his foe (even his armor); for combat purposes, assume he has "touched" when one or more hits are delivered on the mace table, in which case the target receives, in addition to any hit and/or critical indicated in the "mace" attack, an E impact critical hit; in addition the target, if touched, is the recipient of a point-blank Dark Absolution of 50th level in power (as opposed to the Dark Lord's own Dark Absolution, which would be considered 240th level).

See ICE's Southern Mirkwood 35.

Gauntlet of Sorrow
The property of Conúl Uld, Master of the Clan of Rogues in Mirkwood, this is actually a prosthetic right hand. It is magical and affixes to the wrist with a very powerful bond, but works only as well as a normal hand and adds no special skill or strength. It must be used for two months before even normal proficiency will be gained, though from the start it will be of some use.

Powers: as a normal hand.

See ICE's Brigands of Mirkwood 25.

Greave of Arm-wrestling
A single arm-guard that has washed up in a hidden cave in Fangorn. The straps are somewhat mildewed, but can easily be replaced.

Powers: increases Strength stat by 1 when worn.

See ICE's Ents of Fangorn 29.

Gûlthalion (Q. "Mageshield")
This is the wall shield of Eö1, the creator of galvorn, and so naturally it is forged of that alloy. Its black surface is unmarred by any decorative elements.

Powers: +50 DB; floats to defend wielder; may be ridden as a boat by 1 person (250'/rnd); may be flown (600'/rnd) up to 3x/day.

See ICE's LOME II 70.

Gurthdur (S. "Owl Helm")
Made of reinforced iron with a lining of fleece, this helmet has both a bronze visor to protect the eyes and a bronze noseguard projecting down from the brow.

Powers: allows the user to see as if it were day at night time and as if it were twilight in complete darkness.

See ICE's Dunland 44.
Helm of Anarion

This crown-helm is a gold- and ivory-inlaid black ithilnaur (mithril alloy) helmet of a Karma design, shaped like a stylized fish with a prominent ridge of whitish scales. It was lost when King Eärnur disappeared in T.A. 2050. It served as one of the two Crowns of Gondor.

Powers: +40 DB; +40 to all of wearer's RRs; x6 (Channeling) PP multiplier.

See ICE’s LOME II 15.

---

Helm of the Dark

Designed after the lordly Karma helms of the Númenórean Kings, this helmet is all black and trimmed with glittering scales and dark gems. It belonged to the Mouth of Sauron, who wore it until his death, though it was not the source of his powerful voice.

Powers: shields the wearer from all mental attacks at +30 levels and also protects from 25% of head criticals (roll 01-25).

Read LotR III 202. See ICE’s LOME II 34; Teeth of Mordor 29.

---

Helm of the Dark

In Far Harad, these helms are common among the Garks, a faction of desert screamers. The cult members are superb trackers, often in the service of Mordor.

Powers: allow the wearer continual RM Physical Enhancement Darkvision or MERP Physical Enhancement Night Vision.

See ICE’s Far Harad 55.

Helm of Froeca

Made of clear laen, this helm is difficult to see in poor lighting conditions and the wearer may appear unprotected from a distance (e.g., to archers). It is unlined, and thus uncomfortable.

Powers: protects the wearer as a 30th level Fighter vs. all spells and effects of RM/MERP Fear, Presence, Confusion, Panic, and similar effects.

See ICE’s Lorien 39.

Helm of Kings

This crown-helm is a silver- and adamant-inlaid blue ithilnaur helmet of the Karma design, much the Helm of Isildur. It was the property of Elros, the first King of Númenor, and became one of the hereditary possessions of his successors. It serves as the Crown-helm of Westermses.

Powers: +70 DB; +70 to all of wearer’s RRs.

See ICE’s LOME II 28.

---

Helm of Leadership

A beautiful helm of steel, red laen, and bronze trim, with a ridge of bright red boar bristles along the crest.

Powers: +10 DB; increases the morale of wearer's soldiers in battle to near berserker proportions for up to 100' in diameter.

See ICE’s Dunland 62.
Helm of the Light
This full helm with two large kregora horns was worn by a distant cousin of Demik Dral, Vrak Tanûk. He was the last of his line when he reestablished the Rytac Piri (the Guild of the Light) at Tarsa, and he was responsible for Demik Dral’s return to the way of the light and for the ultimate defeat of Mûl Baas.

Powers: when worn by a true member of the Guild of the Light, an area of 10’ R around the wearer has a RM Dispelling Ways Dispell True in effect or MERP Spell Ways Dispel Essence and Dispell Channeling.

See ICE’s LOME II 41.

Helm of the Losrandir
Made of leather, this headgear could be the property of any common footman. It is distinguished only by the fact that its leather is made of the hide of the northern deer it controls.

Powers: allows the wearer to control any one Losrandir (see Creatures of Middle-earth for details) at a time (e.g., riding, attacking, etc.) at up to 100’ range.

See ICE’s Hillmen 35.

Helm of Morthond
The silver of this helm has tarnished over the years, leaving the inlay patterns black against the bright metallic sheen of steel. It has room for bolts to hold a faceplate, but there is none.

Powers: gives wearer a chance of resisting head and neck criticals (01-20); allows 180 degree vision; +15 to RRs vs. Essence spells.

See ICE’s Erech & the Paths of the Dead 29.

Helm of the Mûmak-king
An open-faced, white ithilnaur helm inlaid with ivory and topped with an ivory Mûmak statuette. The Mûmak-helm belongs to Indûr Dawndeath, the Nazgûl.

Powers: statuette is a x5 (Essence) PP multiplier; helm gives wearer +50 riding bonus whenever he rides a Mûmak; and enables wearer to command the Mûmak with absolute authority.

See ICE’s LOME II 91.

Helm of the Navigator
Castamir, the High-captain of the Royal Fleet and Lord of Lebennin from T.A. 1384-1437, later the Usurper, wore this helm of steel. It sports black laen trim and an attached coif covering the neck and fits any Mannish head.

Powers: +50 to all navigating/orienting maneuvers.

See ICE’s Havens of Gondor 6,8,10; Sea-lords of Gondor 10,60.

Helm of Plumes
A steel helm with a socket to place plumes, it was the property of Thalion Aranrod, Lieutenant at Im Dorad. Thalion always wore it with a blue plume.

Powers: negates 50% of head criticals (roll 01-50).

See ICE’s Mouts of the Entwash 8.

Helm of Resistance
The Helm of Resistance belonged to the Dwarf-lord Rálin, the Second of the seven Lords of the Stone Hammer. It underwent a lot of use, as Rálin was a footloose, adventurous sort in his early years before settling down as Lord Warden of Ered Luin. The helm is forged of steel and trimmed with mithril, much worn, but buffed, oiled, and repeatedly reinforced.

Powers: +21 DB; +21 to RRs versus Channeling spells.

See ICE’s LOME III 57.

Helm of Sen Jey
A brass-inlaid mithril helmet shaped like the head of Sen Jey, the father of Ren the Nazgûl. The flowing "hair" provides protection for the ears and rear of the neck.

Powers: +10 DB; wearer possesses the memories of Sen Jey, as well as a feeling for the emotions they once invoked.

See ICE’s LOME II 95.

Helm of Stone
A full helm forged from tasarang, inlaid with gold filigree, and shaped like the head of a Demon-ram.

Powers: up to 3x/day, and with a round’s concentration, the wearer can turn into bluish granite, taking on all the benefits and troubles associated with stone: all the items the wearer bears up to his encumbrance allowance (the "dead weight" he can carry without incurring a movement penalty) also turn to stone; in order to resume a normal state, the wearer must concentrate again for one full round; while granite, the wearer cannot move or cast spells; he can, however, employ his senses, and he has no need for food or water.

See ICE’s Moria 58.

Helmet of Stun Resistance
The helm of Telumehtar, the Crown Prince and High-captain of the Royal Fleet of Gondor, Lord of Lebennin, and Squire of Pelagir wore this magic helm in the many engagements he fought against pirates and enemies of Gondor.

Powers: reduces the duration of any stun critical by 1 rd.

See ICE’S Sea Lords of Gondor 60.

Helmet of Understanding
An unassuming helm of darkly tanned and richly grained leather stained by years of sweat and use, this item has catapulted several scouts, guides, and translators into local fame.

Powers: +20 light helmet translates any language into Sindarian.

See ICE’s Dunland 61.

Herauannon ("Prince’s Armor")
Maelodros’s armor is forged of blue and silver eog, smartly intertwined, and quite flattering to the wearer. Although it looks like parade armor, it is fully functional.

Powers: AT Pl/20; +75 DB; continual RM Guises Displacement III or MERP Essence Hand Deflections and Bladeturn; continuous RM Light’s Way Alkar or MERP Protections Bless; negates 30% of body crits; cast RM Body Renewal Stun Relief III (Lvl 9) or MERP Surface Ways Stun Relief III at will.

See ICE’s LOME I 85.
Horse-lord's Shield
At the moment of his greatest victory, Théoden perished, for the Lord of the Nazgûl flew down upon the Horse-lord and his mount, felling the charging Rohir and killing Snowmane. Although Théoden's niece, Eowyn, slew the Ringwraith and his Fell Beast, the Rohir King could not be saved. He died after passing the Royal Banner of the Mark to Eowyn's brother Éomer. His body was laid to rest complete with arms, armor, and shield in Minas Tirith, where he was born. His shield was emblazoned with the white horse on a green field that is the emblem of the realm. Théoden's shield and his remains were eventually removed to Rohan and placed in the eighth barrow-tomb of the Second Line.

Powers: +30 DB; when raised in the face of a horse the wielder may, upon command, force the horse to make a RR (versus wielder's lvl); failure results in horse fleeing in fright for 1-100 rds; the shield affects any horse it is directed at, within a range of 100, and can used 7x/day.
See ICE's Riders of Rohan 7-9, 38, 61; LOME II 40.

Khazadshathur (Kh. "Dwarf-head")
Located in the Treasury of Goblin-gate, the enchanted Dwarven battle helm was forged in the First Age. It is molded in the appearance of a fiercely grimacing face, high-crowned and high-visored, and is so cunningly fashioned that only one of the race of the Khazâd can comfortably wear it. Its steel alloy construction is largely responsible for its powers.

Powers: negates all head crits 80% of the time; continual RM, Nature’s Protection From Elements or MERP, Physical Enhancement Resist Heat and Resist Cold.
See Goblingate 28.

Listening Helm
A gold-inlaid helmet shaped like a bat (the "wings" forming ear and neck armor), this armor is permanently a part of Ûvatha the Nazgûl until his death upon the destruction of the One Ring.

Powers: wearer possesses the senses of a bat, including acute (2x normal) smell to locate unseen or obscured objects using rebounding sound waves (i.e., radar-sense).
See ICE's LOME II 98.

Mail of the Woodsman
Recently the armor of the Dúnedain ranger Opperith, this shirt of non-metallic chain is very quiet and lightweight.

Powers: does not inhibit spell casting; +10 DB; cannot be pierced by any arrow (arrow hits do only 2 points of bruising damage unless a crit that strikes lower arms, legs, or neck is rolled).
See ICE’s Assassins of Dol Amroth 7.

Marble Slab
A bluish, circular marble slab (some 36" in diameter. 1" thick, and weighing 100 lbs). An inscription in an Elvish design around the rim becomes visible when examined under any magical light source (such as a Light spell, or the radiance of a magic sword or staff, etc.). Written in the Angerthas script, the three runic words are: Dir-Nen, Ben-Gul, Ond-Annon.

Powers: the first rune is a command which turns the disc into a +20 shield weighing just 5 lbs; it has a handle inside to grasp it and adds its bonus not only to DB but also to RRs against fire or lightning; the second command invokes total protection and insulation from Essence-based magic for anyone standing upon the disc — note that this means that they themselves cannot use Essence magic either; the third command turns the disc into a stone door, so that when it is placed on a stone surface up to 5' thick, it will open to reveal a portal through the stone, handy for escape or exploration: each of these runes may be spoken once each day, the first use of each requiring a successful Use Item roll; each effect lasts 66 rounds and, obviously, they can only be used one at a time.

See ICE’s Phantom of the Northern Marches 21.

Meriadoc's Leather Jerkin
A rather plain item, this armor will fit any Hobbit. It was given to Merry in haste by Eowyn, who had been requested to outfit the young Hobbit by Aragorn.

Powers: 5% protection vs. crits to the torso (roll 01-05).

Merry's Chain Hauberk
Worn by Merry during the scouring of the Shire and after, this is a small suit of armor of a size to fit a young boy or girl — or a Hobbit.

Powers: +15 DB.
See ICE's LOME III 19.

Merry's Shield of Rohan
This small shield bears the device of the white horse. It was presented to Meriadoc as a gift of Eowyn at the request of Aragorn before he rode off to the Paths of the Dead.

Powers: +10 DB.

Mithril-mail Belt
Lying in the tomb of Akallazor, champion of the Downfallen, and victor over Yaventur, one of the chief captains of the West (according to the inscription) in the eastern Dead Marshes, this is simply a belt with a mithril and gold buckle set with malachite (streaked opaque green).

Powers: provides the wearer with a 25% chance of avoiding critical strikes to the stomach and abdomen (roll 01-25).

See ICE’s Dagorlad 34.

Morgul Armor
The plate armor of the Witch-king is forged of black Sea-drake skin dark as the pits of Mordor. It is designed to fit the 6' 10" frame of the Black Prince of Angmar perfectly.

Powers: +20 DB; AT 20; encumbers like normal clothes (i.e., no armor/AT 1).
See ICE’s LOME II 1102.
Olga-Wama (H. "Wam's Belt")

This heavy belt is one of the prized goods of the High Chief of the Hillmen, Mogg-Finn. Made of nine copper plates — each engraved with the symbol of one of the tribes — linked by golden chains. Rather large and crudely forged, it cannot be worn with metal armor.

Powers: +25 DB.
See ICE's Hillmen 30.

Ossanna (S. "Gift of Osse")

The bracers of the Elven mariner Cirdan's, these arm guards are forged of white eog and mithril and decorated with fanciful dolphins, eels, and shellfish.

Powers: RM Light's Way Alkar or MERP Protections Bless at will; +88 PP all realms; +30 on all ship and water maneuvers; allows use of RM/MERP Water Law to 50th/10th lv1 and RM Liquid Alteration to 30th lv1 or MERP Purifications to 10th lv1.
See ICE's LOME II 62.

Ovir Crown

Made of dark iron and inlaid with a silver "crown" rim that has tarnished over the ages, this is the helm of the Nazgûl Hoarmûrath.
Powers: +30 DB; +x5 (Channeling) PP multiplier.
See ICE's LOME II 89.

Peregrin's Chain Hauberk

Armor for a young Mannish boy or a grown Hobbit, this hauberk is formed of black steel rings decorated with silver. Peregrin acquired it from the armory of Gondor at the request of Denethor.

Powers: +15 DB.
Read LotR III 96. See ICE's LOME III 20.

Peregrin's Helm of Gondor

A beautiful small high-crowned helm possessing small raven wings and set with a silver star, this was a gift to Peregrin Took, better known as Pippin, for his contributions during the War of the Ring. It was given to him from the armory of Minas Tirith, the citadel of Gondor.

Powers: 10% protection vs. head crits (roll 01-10).
Read LotR III 96. See ICE's LOME III 20.

Rálin's Shield

The Dwarven adventurer took this shield on his many travels for its rugged blue steel construction, but it has other benefits as well.

Powers: +25 Full Shield; may cast RM Protections Sphere V (with a 30'R) 7x/day or MERP Protections Prayer, Bless, and Resistance each 7x/day.
See ICE's LOME III 57.

Rat Gauntlets

A pair of black leather gauntlets that belonged to Gedron Moonstone, better known as the Laughing Reaver of Pelargir.

Powers: enable the wearer to climb rigging and the sides of ships with the skill of a talented cat burglar (+15 to climbing maneuvers).
See ICE's Pirates of Pelargir 5.

Rilannon (S. "Brilliant Armor")

Forged entirely of shining mithril which never tarnishes. Rilannon belonged to Ecthelion of the Fountain and was destroyed in his battle with the Balrog.

Powers: AT PI/20; +88 DB; unencumbering; constant RM Utterlight V or MERP Sound/Light Ways Utterlight; wearer cannot fumble maneuvers; acts as RM Elemental Shields True Armor or MERP Physical Enhancement Resist Heat and Resist Cold.
See ICE's LOME II 66.

Rosennon (S. "Foam Armor" or "Foam Cloak")

A gift from Cirdan, this inlaid ithilnaur chainmail inlaid with blue laen belonged originally to Elros, but later became the possession of Aldarion and then a hereditary item of the Kings of Númenor.

Powers: +45 DB; unencumbering and floats in water; protects as AT Ch/16.
See ICE's LOME II 15.

Sea-wind

Elros was the first King of Númenor, and his items became the hereditary property of his successors. Kept among the royal goods, this shield is fashioned to resemble a sail shape. It is made of several layers of linen and canvas stretched over a wooden frame rimmed with iron.

Powers: +30 DB; can transform into a real sail of any size, such as to replace a damaged sail on a ship; in sail-form, it can be raised and manipulated by the owner at a thought.
See ICE's LOME II 28.

Seven Helms of the King

The helms are counted among the Royal Items of Durin's Line and are kept in the King's Chambers and Armory of Moria's Seventh Deep except during times of war. Shaped like various semi-mythical creatures (a griffon, a basilisk, a manticore, a phoenix, a werewolf, a pegasus, and a minotaur), each helm provides the wearer with superior protection.

Powers: +15 RR bonus; +5 DB; obviate all fatal Crush criticals directed at the wearer's head.
See ICE's Moria 65.

Shield of Anarion

This hereditary possession of the Kings of Gondor was lost when King Eärnur disappeared in T.A. 2050. It was a gold- and silver-inlaid black ithilnaur shield. Set atop the black metal field, the silver inlays formed the symbol of Gondor: the White Tree and the Seven Stars.

Powers: +40 DB; the shield can be faced in the direction of an attacking spell, in which case the attacking spell caster must make a RR versus the shield-bearer's level — RR failure means that the spell reverse direction, affecting the caster; this works on spells which the shield-bearer would not otherwise be able to resist (e.g., fireballs, illusions, etc.).
See ICE's LOME II 16.
Shield of Delving

Gimli's Shield of Delving enables the bearer to ascertain the nature of any weapon striking the surface.

Powers: +30 DB; wearer is aware of all physical and magical properties possessed by any weapon that strikes the shield in melee.

See ICE's LOME III 55.

Shield of Reflections

Made of clear laen with a coating of silver on the inner (weilder's) side, the shield is extremely bright and can even be used as a signaling mirror.

Powers: reflects the effects of directed spells (if the attacking spell fails a RR vs. a 3rd lvl spell).

See ICE's Haunted Ruins 29.

Shield of Turning

A rather primitive painted bronze shield imbued with magic potent enough to save a warrior's neck more than once, but the ugly orange runes on the surface cannot be removed without destroying its enchantment.

Powers: +10 DB; RM Shield Mastery/MERP Essence Hand Deflections 2x/day.

See ICE's Mouths of the Entwash 33.

Shield of Wolf-turning

The property of Witbert, a Northman priest, this wood and iron shield is daubed with blue runes to protect the wielder against creatures of the wilderness. It has a history of passing rapidly from one adventurer's hands to another's.

Powers: +15 DB; forces attacking Wolves and Wargs to resist a 10th level attack or flee.

See ICE's Phantom of the Northern Marches 5.

Sky Armor

Elladan and Elrohir's matched sets of plate armor were made of deep blue steel and mithril, resembling the sky at dawn or nightfall. Elladan's had a morning star worked in mithril on the right and Elrohir's on the left to aid those who had difficulty telling them apart.

Powers: AT PI/20; +20 DB; has only a 20 minimum maneuver penalty.

See ICE's LOME II 67.

Stag Helm

A closed helm of gold and mithril surmounted by a crest in the form of a stag.

Powers: negates 80% of head criticals (roll 01 -80); +20 Perception bonus.

See ICE's Phantom of the Northern Marches 28.

Sulthalion (S. "Shield of the Wind")

Finarfin's full shield was made of clear laen, mithril, and white eog, with straps of Cold-drake hide on the inside.

Powers: +50 DB; may deflect directed spells 3x/rnd (attacking spell must save vs. a 50th level spell or be affected as RM Spell Reins Spell Bending True or MERP Spell Ways Dispel Essence and Dispel Channeling); cast 100 PP/day from RM/MERP Wind Law list (to lvl 25/10); may be thrown as a +75 battle axe 1500', flies back to wielder in one round.

See ICE's LOME II 73.

Suthol (S. "Wind Helm")

A product of the middle Second Age at Uthraile Beoac, this helm now rests in Itangast's hoard. It is a blue leather, unmasked helm inlaid with silver and reinforced with steel trimming. Created by Adan lords who once occupied the region northwest of Dale, it weighs 2 lbs.

Powers: wearer can use RM Lofty Movements Windrunning, moving up to 10 mph as much as 100 feet above the ground on a level plane, or MERP Nature's Movement Windwalking; vertical movement is via RM/MERP Lofty Bridge Levitation at 5 mph; wearer can use this power but once a day and for no more than ten minutes.

See ICE's Northern Mirkwood 46.

Tall Helm of the Golden King

Ar-Pharazôn's headgear was fashioned of gold and yellow gems, but it probably rests within the bowels of the earth due to his ill-advised expedition to the West.

Powers: prevents head and neck criticals half the time (roll 01 -50).

See ICE's LOME II 37.

Taurclax's Helm

Made of mithril, this helm has a removable faceplate of silver laen and a permanent noseguard of mithril.

Powers: acts as x5 PP enhancer for Animists; allows wearer to breathe water or any (even poisonous) gas without harm, and see underwater as if through clear air.

See ICE's LOME II 89; Court of Ardor 20.

Taurclax's Bracer

An ugly, heavy item of cracked tooled leather and rough, rusting iron, this single bracer is nevertheless an effective protection against many attacks.

Powers: RM Nature's Protection Weapon Turning Organic True or MERP Protections Turnings Organic.

See ICE's LOME II 89; Court of Ardor 21.

Théoden's Armor

This is the armor Théoden wore when the Lord of the Nazgûl slew him and when the Horse-lord's body was laid to rest in Minas Tirith, where he was born. His remains were removed to Rohan and placed in the eighth barrow-tomb of the Second Line. The armor is a long silver-inlaid chain- and scale-mail shirt with a slits up the front and back to allow it to be worn while riding.

Powers: +20 DB; protects like plate armor, AT PI/17.

See ICE's Riders of Rohan 7-9, 38, 61; LOME II 40.
Armor / Th-Zz

Thinthol (Q. "The Grey Helmet")

Eöl's helm is, not surprisingly, made of galvorn, the alloy the Elven smith invented. It has a grey laen face-shield and silken lining.

Powers: face-shield instantly tints to protect eyes from any bright light; the helm makes head, neck and face immune to any elemental damage; weapons which strike the protected areas must save vs. a 50th level Weapon Slaying spell or be destroyed; does not interfere with spell casting.

See ICE's LOME II 70.

Thólogaer Ciryatano ("Sea-helm of Ciryatan")

The magic Sea-helm once worn by Tar-Ciryatan of Númenor and now the helm of the Witch-king of Angmar. Its overlapping Sea-drake skin plates climax in a spiny crown-shaped crest, a variation of the Karma design used by the Uinendil (S. "Followers of Uinen") Captains of Númenor.

Powers: x6 Essence and Channeling PP multiplier; +15 to RRs vs. spell attacks.

See ICE's LOME II 102.

Tholthoron (S. "Eagle Helm")

Finarfin's helm is a golden mithril construction with a flying eagle as a crest and a light blue laen faceplate.

Powers: +50 to visual perception rolls; wearer may transform into a Great Eagle 1x/day; negates 50% of head crits (roll 01-50); +50 on moving maneuvers: RM Landing True or MERP Lofty Bridge Landing, either effective for up to a 10,000' fall.

See ICE's LOME II 73.

Tholholin (S. "Closed Helm")

This full helm is of Elven design and construction, but has one curious feature: there are no eye slits. Instead inlays of a black, glossy material cover the outside surface. Until the helm is placed on the head, it appears that the wearer will not be able to see. However, once the individual puts it on, he or she can see perfectly well.

Powers: wearer is immune to eye and face criticals and gains a +30 to all RR's involving seeing things (Runes etc).

See ICE's Isengard 42.

Tinmirthalion (S. "Shield of Sparkling Jewels")

An item to make Dwarves drool, this full shield belonged to the Elf Ecthelion of the Fountain. It is made of steel and set with dozens of emeralds, rubies, amethysts, sapphires, topazes, and other lesser stones, all protected by a layer of clear laen.

Powers: +45 DB; floats before wielder to protect; weapon striking shield must save vs. a 20th level Weapon Slaying spell or be destroyed; casts RM Spell Bending True or MERP Spell Ways Dispel Essence and Dispel Channeling each 5x/day.

See ICE's LOME II 66.

Turtle Armor

This suit of soft leather armor is well-worn and heavily stained, but a turtle pattern worked into the leather can still be distinguished.

Powers: absorbs 10 hits from a single blow 3x/day.

See ICE's Mouts of the Entwash 37.

Valacar's Mail

Worn by Eldacar, son of King Valacar of Gondor and Vidumavi, this is magic black chain mail, with white links woven in the breast area and forming the symbol of the White Tree.

Powers: +15 DB; anyone striking wearer's breast must make a RR: failure means striker receives the same damage as wearer.

See ICE's Sea-lords of Gondor 9, 10; LOME II 26.

Valkrist's Shield

This cleverly constructed shield was a gift to the mighty Elven warrior it is named after, but the dark powers responsible for its construction can only be guessed at. It is made of clear laen with a mithril rim and is weightless.

Powers: +20 DB; mentally controlled through a mithril and laen ring; wielder can use a 2-handed weapon and still shield parry.

See ICE's LOME I 91; Court of Ardor 22.

Vidugavia's Armor

The protection of the Northman Lord is as simple and effective as the King it is named for—functional chain armor with greaves.

Powers: +15 DB; encumbers wearer like AT SL/6.

See ICE's Sea-lords of Gondor 9; Riders of Rohan 6, 9, 18, 60; Southern Mirkwood 57-58; LOME II 40.

War Helm of Eligmar

Kept in a niche of the viewing chamber of the Lord of Waw, this treasure was taken by Dwar in his conquests of southeast Middle-earth. A golden helm with a high crest of Horinn feathers (the Horinn is a large, ostrich-like bird native to Eligmar), these feathers somehow have been preserved undamaged through battles and repeated capture.

Powers: protects from head criticals 75% of the time (roll 01-75); negates neck criticals 50% (roll 01 -50); and allows the wearer to see as well as an Elf.

See ICE's Teeth of Mordor 18.

Warcrafter's Armor

The silvery metal and amber inlay of this lamellar armor reflect the status of the owner, the Lord of the Visi and Regent-Councilor of Harad. Silver and orange are also the colors of the King and a symbollic tribute to the goddess Ladnoca.

Powers: +5 DB; magically stores sunlight (for up to 20 hrs); upon command, will glow — blinding everyone within 20' who fails a RR versus a 4th lvl attack (victims add SD bonus).

See ICE's Far Harad 53.

Wardress of the Militia Captain

A gift of the King of Amor, Argeleg II, this suit of full chain and helmet is the garb of the Thain of the Shire and has been passed down through generations of stout Hobbits.

Powers: AT Ch/16; +15 DB; negates criticals to a Hobbit wearer (01-30); unencumbering.

See ICE's LOME III 17.

Woma's Mail

Demik Dral’s deep green chain mail, this armor has a dull finish.

Powers: +15 DB; +25 to hiding in vegetation or under shadowy conditions; wears as AT SL/6, but protects as AT PI/19.

See ICE's LOME II 24.
4.3 GARMENTS AND GEAR

Despite claims to the contrary, an important purpose of most garments is to reveal the wearer's status, power, and affiliation. In a time and place without the mass production of clothing in standard sizes and shapes, many people remain identifiable as belonging to a certain social class or locality because they wear apparel associated with a particular craft or region. These specialized forms of dress may be worn only while at work, during festivals, or on the days of guild meetings, or they might be donned daily, depending on the message the wearer intends his raiment to convey.

Hats in particular tell much about the wearer, since head gear easily retains some utility while supporting adornment such as feathers, flowers, decorative bands of velvet, satin, or snake skin, clusters of gems, or provocative veils. Circlets and garlands dispense with protective functions altogether and serve solely the purpose of ornamentation while conveying status. Cloaks are equally subject to modification with trim, draping, fancy brooches and cloakpins, layering, and the design of the hood. Among the Dwarves, the combination of hood and cloak can reveal genealogy as effectively as any family tree. Badges worn to mark one's house and loyalty are directly communicative, but even such necessary items as belts and boots usually far outstrip the minimal needs of their wearers. Rivets, imprinted patterns, bright dyes, and buckles of precious, or at least shiny, metals sporting intricate engraving are usual.

Aside from these communicative, status-oriented functions, most clothing provides the basics of warmth and modesty, but some garments deliver more extraordinary protection. Berets that act as helmets, scarves that prevent critical damage to the wearer, cloaks that provide invisibility, robes that act as armor, and boots that enable their wearer to pass without a trace comprise but a few of the garments common among the more adventurous inhabitants of Middle-earth.

Alquanna
(Q. "Swan's Gift")

A wreath crown made of twigs from the Two Trees and swan plumes, Alquanna was often worn by Eärwen, Galadriel's mother. During festivals and feasts at Tirion, the glow of the Two Trees was reflected in the garb of many celebrants, but the graciousness and joy of the Sealeady are remembered most in this crown, now passed on to her descendants.

Powers: wearer may take the form of a giant swan for 88 hours/week; +45 DB; constant RM Light's Way Alkar or MERP Protections Bless; protects head as a full helm; negates 50% of head criticals; casts RM/MERP Moving Ways Swimming True for 8 hours/day.

See ICE's LOME I 65.

Angamaitë's Cloak

This light, swirling cloak of silk and sat in was especially crafted to commemorate its owner’s victory over the forces of Gondor and is embroidered with a collar depicting Corsair ships under full sail.

Powers: changes color upon command; +40 to hide/stalk maneuvers; +20 to all other moving maneuvers, including swimming.

See ICE's LOME II 18.

Annatar's Robes

Made of the finest dark brown linen, this large robe is lined with scarlet samite. The linen itself is unremarkable at first glance, but upon closer inspection the cloth can be seen to be the work of a master — embedded within the weave are threads at slightly varying levels and angels that form various patterns and symbols. Most of these are simply leaf forms and clouds, but there are also hands, eyes, and flames. The effect is especially noticeable when the cloth is viewed at an angle or under certain forms of light.

Powers: Protect as AT 20.

See ICE's Lorien 20.

Ardana's Surcoat

Made of black gossamer sewn with tiny diamonds like a starfield, this beautiful item was the garb of Ardana, the Noldo who loved the stars so much that she did not mourn the passing of the Two Trees.

Powers: +60 DB.

See ICE's Court of Ardor 17: LOME I 55.

Bat's Hood

Kept in the private study of the Master of the Clan of Rogues in Mirkwood, this hood is made of dozens of dark grey bat skins carefully stitched together, resulting in a very lighthood that covers the entire head of the wearer yet has no eyeholes.

Powers: user's hearing is greatly enhanced, so much so that, if he has practiced with it (expending his normal development point cost for two levels in a subterfuge skill), he will be able to move about as if by sight, even in total darkness; he will also be able to hear the tumblers in a lock or movement behind a door, adding 20 to rolls for attempts at either listening or picking locks — this power can only be used when the wearer himself is very quiet.

See ICE's Brigands of Mirkwood 25.
Bearing-bag of Breca

Presently in the vault of the Seers of Minas Anghen, this is a 7'x3' magical black bag of extremely fine silk weighing but four ounces.

Powers: any object up to 7 ft long and 350 lbs in weight can be placed inside and will then become one tenth its size and weight, so long as the drawstrings of the bag are pulled tight and knotted; upon drawing the strings, the bag shrinks to the after-shrinking length of the longest object it holds; no more than 70 lbs of weight (figured after shrinking; i.e., 700 lbs of real weight) can be carried this way — any excessive weight will result in the bag’s destruction; items may be extracted by untying the drawstrings, at which point the bag will resume its original size and the objects can be pulled out.

See ICE’s Haunted Ruins of the Dunlendings 13.

Belt of Durin the Deathless

Taken from a dragon’s hoard many years ago by one of General Durkarian’s ancestors, this rare and wondrous item has been in his family ever since. The belt is made from a fine steel mesh set with seven plates of polished stones of great hardness. The clasp of the belt is a large polished and carved diamond, which is engraved with runes in Khuzdul. The inscription gives the name of the item. Seven other runes on the belt each connote the strength of stone. The belt is an artifact from the ancient legends of the Dwarves. It is said to have been worn by Durin, and forged either by him or Aulë. The belt is usable only by Dwarves of the royal family, but it is so well known that any Dwarf will recognize it instantly. Durkarian is aware of the Dwarvish origins of the belt, but he is very satisfied with the power it gives and assumes that he is using the item to its full capacity.

Powers: the Strength and Presence of the Dwarven wearer immediately become 102; wearer recieves the Strength of Stone 7x/day for 49 ten second rounds at a time — concussion hits against enemies of the Dwarves are multiplied by seven; upon humans, the belt confers a mere 100 Strength.

See ICE’s Angmar 16-17.

Belt of the Mighty Blow

Made of tough, untanned lizard hide and set with iron plates, this is a truly ugly item. Its buckle is especially large and ornate, shaped like an iron orchid.

Powers: allows +50 to any OB 1x/day.

See ICE’s Dunland 62.

Belt of Preservation

A cream-colored leather belt with 24 small pouches, the belt has two clever catches which can adjust to allow for a larger or smaller wearer (up to a 300 pound human). Each pouch is closed by a hook-and-eyelet mechanism, and each is individually decorated to help facilitate memorization of which herb is kept where. The patterns are all somewhat abstract and symbolic: sun, moon, star, comet, mistletoe, scythe, skull, crown, flower, diamond, etc.

Powers: each pocket can hold up to 3 doses of an herb protected and perfectly preserved.

See ICE’s Rivendell 16.

Belt of Queen Beruthial

A girdle of mithril, set with rubies, emeralds, and diamonds, this ancient belt was saved from the Downfall of Númenor only to rest at last in the armory of Cam Dûm. The minions of the Witch-king have no use for it, and thus the item languishes in the darkness of the Ulair citadel.

Powers: allows bearer to see in the night as if it were full day, makes the bearer unseen, but not invisible in the darkness, allows the wearer to speak the language of cats and form an empathic connection with nine cats of his choice with whom he can communicate over long distances. It is usable only by the pure of heart.

See ICE’s Empire of the Witch-king 56.

Belt of Sea Powers

Made of soft, cream-colored leather and set with discs of mother-of-pearl, the belt is a fine reflection on the wealth and taste of Arcamcris, the privateer captain who wears it. Its buckle is made of bluish steel and has a rim set with tiny seed pearls.

Powers: x2 Strength bonus when worn above or in water; wearer will not sink.

See ICE’s Havens of Gondor 54.

Belt of Sustenance

Woven of dried flax embossed with bits of flint, this Petty-dwarven artifact is just as stunted and twisted as its makers. It is too small for a human waist, though Hobbits, Dwarves and Elves of small girth could all wear it. It was the property of Mim, the proud Petty-dwarf who led Orcs to the location of Bar-en-Danweth.

Powers: prevents wearer from dying of starvation, no matter how long he goes without food.

See ICE’s LOME III 71.

Belt of Traceless Passing

A white leather belt secured by a buckle of silver set with a large moss agate (clear with greenish inclusions that look like moss, worth 45 gp).

Powers: allows the wearer to move without leaving tracks.

See ICE’s Haunted Ruins of the Dunlendings 13.

Black Cloak

Possessed seemingly of a life of its own, this cloak constantly whips and whirls around the wearer to protect him. It is dark as a starless night and does not take dirt easily. It is the garb of Storlaga, the greatest of the Orcish spell casters.

Powers: casts either RM Shield Mastery Bladeturn III or Deflect III or MERP Essence Hand, Deflections, or Bladeturn upon command every round; allows the wearer to fly up to 666/rd (3x/day).

See ICE’s LOME III 96.
Bolvag’s Robes
Made of dark green, almost black, silk and leather, these robes seem to whisper and hiss when the wearer moves. They are the traditional ceremonial priestly dress of the line of Orcish Priests which Sauron instituted in the Second Age. The last of these foul cultists perished when Barad-dur was destroyed at the end of the Third Age.

Powers: +33 DB; protect as AT RL/12; wearer may levitate at will and fly up to 150’/rd; and may cast RM Shield Mastery Deflect I or Bladeturn I spells or MERP Essence Hand Deflections or Bladeturn (each 3x/day).

See ICE’s LOME III 92.

Boots of Agility
Somewhat oily to the touch, these waterproof sealskin boots are of Northern origin, though no one knows exactly where they were fashioned. Regardless of the wearer’s shoe size, when they are pulled on they fit very snugly, but not uncomfortably.

Powers: confer +5 Agility bonus for moving maneuvers using feet.

See ICE’s Shadow in the South 59.

Boots of Balance
Well-made hard leather boots shined to a mirror gloss, the brown footgear sports hobnail heels that dig into any soft surface. They are the boots that General Dancu, chief of the Angamarean Mornarturi, presently wears on the battlefield.

Powers: +25 to all maneuvers.

See ICE’s Empire of the Witch-king 36.

Boots of Changing
The boots of Alfraits, a flashy Northman Mage, reflect the preferences of their owner: they are dyed a bright orange and decorated with a diamond pattern carefully embossed in brown. The excellent workmanship makes them completely watertight and very durable.

Powers: change footprints at will 3x/day.

See ICE’s Sea Lords of Gondor 60.

Boots of Far Travel
Set with hobnails at both tip and heel, these heavy leather boots fit any wearer’s feet perfectly. They are lined with soft rabbit fur that helps prevent aches and blisters. The boots were worn for many years by Ibûn the Petty-dwarf.

Powers: allow wearer to travel twice as far as normal in a day without additional fatigue.

See ICE’s LOME III 70.

Boots of Fell-running
Made for walking in steep, hilly country such as the fells and mountains of the Valley of Morthond, these black dragonskin boots are exceptionally sturdy and laced with tough cords of rope black hemp. Presently they are kept in the Lesser Vault of the fortress of Morthondost. They are worth a minimum of 100 gp to the right buyer.

Powers: 25% chance of resisting foot and ankle crits.

See ICE’s Erech & the Paths of the Dead 29.

Boots of Iron
Quite possibly the source of Dain II’s sobriquet "Ironfoot", these dark brown boots are made of hard boiled leather lacquered with a waterproof varnishing agent. The soles are simply made of three layers of the same leather, and the whole is made to conform to a Dwarven foot.

Powers: enable wearer to kick a foe as if wielding a mace.

See ICE’s LOME III 53.

Boots of Leaping
The magical boots conjured up by the Garks (a faction of desert nomads and trackers who often serve the interests of Mordor) are said to be imbued with the strength of the desert cricket and to possess soles made of the tiny legs of the red ant. Regardless of the truth of such stories, they make the Garks formidable hunters.

Powers: continual RM Movement/MERP Lofty Bridge Leaping and Moving Ways Traceless Passing.

See ICE’s Far Harad 55.

Boots of Orc-running
Made of softest Elf-skin, these boots are the pale white color of grubs exposed beneath an overturned log. They are shod with layers of bat pelts (fur intact) and sewn together with hair taken from the beards of Dwarves. They are the traditional property of Bolvag, the holder of an Orcish priestly office charged with maintaining a circle of 66 lesser priests to oversee Sauron’s minions.

Powers: allow wearer to run at full speed on top of Orcs while making no maneuver rolls, whether the Orcs are prone or standing in a mob (e.g., with the wearer sprinting from head to head).

See ICE’s LOME III 92.

Boots of the Prophet
Fendomë, a Warden and one of the Lords of Mírdaithe, was a vocal proponent of the pursuit of Morgoth and later shared Galadriel’s distrust of Annatar. These boots have been named after him, though his warnings fell on deaf ears for many years. They are formed of heavily oiled sealskin stitched together with thin strips of leather and painted with faded natural dyes in red and brown spirals.

Powers: continual RM/MERP Moving Ways Waterrunning; continual Mistrunning (as Waterrunning except caster may run on mist, whether vapor from a river at dawn, spume from a waterfall, or a cloud descending to touch mountain peaks).

See ICE’s LOME I 73.

Boots of the Runner
Celebrimbor’s boots are elegantly tall and curl over at the top. They are made of pale brown leather lined with bits of fleece, and a gyrfalcon’s feather is tied to each lace. They lace up the front in a stepladder pattern.

Powers: RM Movement Landing True 3000’, Monk’s Bridge Wallrunning, Moving Ways Limbrunning and Waterrunning or MERP Lofty Bridge Landing (3000’), Moving Ways Stonerunning, Limbrunning, and Waterrunning at will.

See ICE’s Lorien 22.
Boots of Sandrunning
Made of carefully preserved, intricately patterned snakeskin, these boots are shod with silver at toe and heel. The toe ornament is shaped to resemble a viper's head with bared fangs. The boots were commissioned especially for the feet of The Póa, the prince and warlord of the Poa warrior clan.

Powers: enable wearer to run on sand without penalty or fear of leaving tracks; allow him to run on the wind during sandstorms. See ICE’s Far Harad 52.

Boots of Steadiness
A retired privateer, Shakhôr of Barfalas, brought these home with him on his final cruise: a pair of black, glossy knee-high boots of waterproof whaleskin made for wear on a pitching deck. He will likely soon pass them on to a son or comrade-in-arms.

Powers: +25 to balancing maneuvers on flat surfaces. See ICE’s Sea Lords of Gondor 61.

Boots of Stonerunning
Gimli’s boots are dark brown and well made, fashioned from tanned leather and double-stitched. There is a flake of jasper embedded in each heel.

Powers: continual RM/MERP Moving Ways Stonerunning. See ICE’s LOME III 55.

Boots of Traceless Passing
Made of camelskin with soles of oliphant skin, these exotic boots are also decorated with stripes of orange and black lizard scales. Their obviously southern origins are only apparent on fairly close inspection — camelskin looks much like ordinary leather. They are sized for somewhat huge feet, but may be padded to fit smaller individuals.

Powers: whenever the wearer desires, the boots make no sound and leave no prints. See ICE’s Shadow in the South 56.

Boots of Tree-Climbing
These soft, white calfskin boots have been painted with indelible black ink in a pattern resembling birch bark. The soles are also of calfskin: this allows for a better grip and “feel” on tree trunks and branches, but it also means that the boots provide correspondingly less protection to the wearer’s feet.

Powers: +50 to climbing on organic surfaces. See ICE’s Riders of Rohan 22.

Boots of Water-walking
Made for Dwarven feet, specifically those of Balli Stonehand, these grey, dirt-encrusted boots are made of two layers of thick bearskin, the outside one almost worn through in spots from wear and tear over the years. They are shod with caps of silver at toe and heel.

Powers: walk on calm water as if walking at -25. See ICE’s LOME III 51.

Boots of Yark Balka
Worn by Demik Dral, these are sturdy boots of simple leather and wood construction with a faint pattern of clouds and plains worked into them.

Powers: double wearer’s leaping ability; enables wearer to RM Monk’s Bridge Windrun or MERP Lofty Bridge Fly for up to 8 minutes per day. See ICE’s LOME III 24.

Bracers of Emyn Angwi
Leather bracers rimmed with bronze and tooled in dark zig-zag patterns to resemble snakeskin. Three long bronze tubes run between the rims on the outside of each bracer.

Powers: x3 Essence multiplier; +15 to wearer’s Quickness; allows wearer to inject a 7th level snake venom (Yithrin) into a foe up to 3x before reloading wells — venom is injected whenever a martial arts strike yields a critical; poison causes lethargy — if target fails RR by 01 -10 he is at -30; by 11 -30 he is at -55, by 31 -70 he is at -100, by 71 + he is totally paralyzed, effects last 1-100 rds. See ICE’s Shadow in the South 62.

Camouflaged Cloak
Stitched together passably from the pelts of bats, rabbits, foxes, and a lynx, this Orcish item was the property of Lugdush, an Orc of the White Hand from Isengard. It was used by Orcish scouts and trackers who would hide, observe enemies, and then report them to their masters.

Powers: +10 to hiding maneuvers. See ICE’s LOME III 94.

Cape of Hiding
Gimli’s favorite cape is a voluminous garment of grey, tightly woven cloth. It is water-and wind-proof.

Powers: +15 to hiding and stalking maneuvers. See ICE’s LOME III 55.

Cape of Protection
A cheery, light blue cape that is both water- and wind-proof, this garment is cut to fit a Dwarf, though a larger person might use it as a halfcloak. Worn by Dain II, it is edged in embroidered silver in a repeating pattern of the House of Durin’s badge, reflecting its owner’s heritage.

Powers: +10 DB; +10 RR. See ICE’s LOME III 53.

Cat’s Cloak
Said to be woven from the fur and whiskers of Queen Beruthiel’s ten cats (nine black, one white), this dark grey cloak is indeed rather unusual in its material, both rough and smooth at once. When wet, the odor is quite unpleasant.

Powers: RM Invisible Ways/MERP Illusions Invisibility 3x/day; doubles hearing; +33 to perception attempts; wearer may speak with all feline beasts; +33 to hiding maneuvers. See ICE’s LOME I 58.
Celebcollo (S. "Silver Cloak")

This is the cloak of Ecthelion, the Captain of Gondolin and one of Turgon's two chief lieutenants. It is intricately woven of silver thread and mithril in a pattern resembling the finest Dwarven mail.

Powers: +44 DB; +44 to all maneuvers; constant RM Guises Displacement 111 or MERP Essence Hand Shield; RM Rapid Ways Haste X or MERP Living Change Haste 111 3x/day.

See ICE's LOME 1 66.

Cegelgorn's Boots

Fëanor's son was given these boots as a gift when he reached the age of manhood. They are tough leather made of Sea-drake hide and formed with pointed toes.

Powers: constant RM/MERP Moving Ways Limbrunning, Sandrunning, and Stonerunning.

See ICE's LOME 1 61.

Circlet of Blessings

A thin circle of blue laen, twisted to form a hanging circle upon the wearer's brow. It belongs to Elrond, who wears it almost as the Crown of Rivendell.

Powers: acts as a full helm; has a 50% chance of simply annulling any head critical; wearer has continuous RM Hiding Unpresence or cannot be detected by MERP Essence Perceptions Presence 111.

See ICE's Rivendell 12.

Circlet of Evasion

Made of braided red copper and iron, this thin headband is studded with semi-precious stones: agate, bloodstone, and onyx.

Powers: +10 DB; +10 to all RRs; negates critical strike damage to head on 51-00; enables wearer to cast RM Attack Avoidance Spell Deflect, Shield Mastery Aim Untrue, and/or Shield Mastery Bladeturn I (total of 2 spells/day) or MERP Spell Ways Dispel Essence and Dispel Channeling, Essence Hand Deflections and Bladeturn (total of 3 spells/day).

See Shadow in the South 62.

Cloak of Air

The rather travel-worn blue robe holds some Essence magic. It is presently in a wardrobe in the Manor Ranoran, dusty and forgotten.

Powers: wearer may become completely invisible 1/day; the enchantment will last up to one hour or until it is dispelled by any violent action: falling, striking a blow or the like; user of the robe can see himself at all times, so he is able to retain his normal hand-eye coordination but will never know whether or not his invisibility continues until some other observer notices him.

See ICE's Assassins of Dol Amroth 19.

Cloaks of Changing

Full-length, hooded cloaks often used by the Garks, a faction of desert screamers in the service of Mordor. They are superb trackers, and their cloaks serve to keep them hidden from their prey by shifting color and texture mimetically.

Powers: +50 to Hiding/Stalking.

See ICE's Far Harad 55.

Cloak of the Abyss

Worn by the Mouth of Sauron, these black robes are made of some enchanted material which seems to absorb all light. They are disturbing to look upon, shifting and twisting upon themselves in obscene couplings that disappear when looked at directly.

Powers: cause all within 50' who fail a RR to become queasy and dizzy (-25%); add +80 to hiding at night; +30 DB; all Light-related attacks (including lightning) are at -50.

See ICE's Teeth of Mordor 29.

Cloak of the Elements

This cloak is cleverly woven of red, blue, dark brown, and white threads which are arrayed in varying amounts near each edge. The right side is scarlet, the left cerulean blue, the top white and the bottom dark brown, with the amount of each of these colors growing equal and thus rather muddy near the center. Likewise, the top right edge is almost pink, while the bottom is maroon. The entire effect comes off quite well, probably the result of much trial and error. The cloak is unhooded. It belongs to Meonid Ito, the self-styled Lord of the Langwell in Rohan.

Powers: wearer can appear to be water or stone (no form change), but must be touching the appropriate substance.

See ICE's Riders of Rohan 59.

Cloak of Guises

The heavy leather cloak is richly embroidered in a design resembling leaves scattered on the ground or spread in the sky. It slowly alters its appearance as the seasons change, from stark white and black in the winter to light spring green. The rich summer greens and browns and the many hues of autumn are particularly striking, but none of these shifts detracts from the sheer brilliance of the garment's artistry. It was gifted to Curudur, the Dunadan Ranger and Master of Archam's School in Dol Amroth.

Powers: cast any spell from RM/MERP Nature's Guises list to 10th lvl 3x/day.

See ICE's Havens of Gondor 54.
Cloak of the Heavens

The robes of Krûsnak, Captain of the Morannon, are black, cut from some enchanted material which seems to absorb all light. Though not as powerful as the Mouth's robes, they have a unique feature, in that they display constellations in tiny luminous points which shift and change.

Powers: anyone looking at the robes for more than one round must resist vs. 20th lvl or suffer as RM/MERP Calm Spirits Hold Kind; the “star” effect can be cancelled at will; robes add +60 to hiding at night; +30 DB; all Light-related attacks (including lightning) are at -50.

See ICE's Teeth of Mordor 29.

Cloak of Hiding

A serviceable brown, hooded cloak lined with a lightweight purple felt and trimmed along all its edges in yellow and copper embroidery. When in use, it adopts both the color and texture of the surrounding terrain.

Powers: +10 DB; acts as a full helm.

See ICE's Shadow in the South 59.

Cloak of Sunset

The scarlet cloak that Ar-Pharazôn wore on his ill-fated voyage to the West, this garment mirrored its owner's arrogance. Loaded with satin lining, cloth-of-gold trim encrusted with gems, and an ermine collar, it is the height of baroque excess.

Powers: +30 DB.

See ICE's LOME II 37.

Cloak of the Valacirca

Worn by Aragorn II prior to his coronation, this fine forest green cloak is trimmed with red piping and studded with gold embroidery at the throat.

Powers: +30 to DB and Hiding/stalking maneuvers.

See ICE's Rangers of the North 35; LOME II 18.

Cloud Belt

A belt of white deerhide with a buckle of bronze set with a cloud-shaped inlay made of turquoise, this item is currently stored in the depths of the fortress Thuringwathost.

Powers: allows user a 4th level RM/MERP Lofty Bridge Levitation spell 1x/day.

See ICE's Dagorlad 31.

Collar of Might

A chain of tiny iron links set with hunks of amber and two clusters of bear claws, this item is obviously of human manufacture but its origins are lost. Some suspect the Dunlendings, others the weremen of Mirkwood, but none dispute its powers.

Powers: x6 PP; acts as a full helm.

See ICE's Dunland 61.

Collar of Vallir

A beautifully wrought item of ebony, silver, and red coral, the collar was the protection of Klaen, a member of the Guild of Elements in southern Arord.

Powers: creates defensive field over wearer as if he were wearing full plate (AT 20) with no encumberance.

See ICE's LOME I 83.

Collatar (Q. "Father's Robe")

Gleaming white, this unadorned garment is the robe of Finwë, first of the High Kings of the Noldor and the father of Fëanor. Although its material is soft and light, Finwë is known to have worn it in all seasons and climes.

Powers: AT PI/20; +88 DB; RM Starlights Aura Blaze and Guises Displacement V or MERP Sound/Light Ways Sudden Light and Essence Hand Shield at will; all spells cast by wearer cost half the normal amount of power points.

See ICE's LOME I 76.

Collohwesta (Q. "Cloak of Breezes")

Grey, of Elven quality to aid in hiding, this cloak is one of a kind and was fashioned in the First Age.

Powers: +90 to hiding immobile; +20 to hiding while moving; casts RM Movement Wind Drift or MERP Lofty Bridge Landing (with unlimited number of feet for a safe fall) instantly if the wearer should fall or jump from any height — he or she will then float slowly to the ground below, subject to any winds present, and so could be blown quite a distance (to be determined by the GM) if the wearer drifts from a considerable height.

See ICE's Southern Mirkwood 56.

Collothalion (S. "Cloak of Shields")

A great animated cloak with woven filaments of shalk and ogamur, this garment is highly intelligent. It continually whips and blows around the wearer during combat and is able to protect him as a wall shield.

Powers: +50 DB.

See ICE's LOME I 75.

Coward's Coat

Kept in the treasury of the clanhall of the Rogues of Mirkwood, this ordinary coat is generously cut from pale yellow-white linen and resembles a cloak with sleeves.

Powers: +10 to hiding rolls when camouflage might help.

See ICE's Brigands of Mirkwood 23.

Crown of Arwen

This delicate mithril symbol is shaped like a leafy wreath and sized to fit an Elvish head.

Powers: x6 Mentalism/Channeling PP multiplier which negates 60% of head criticals (roll 01 -60) and acts as a full helm (without impeding spell-casting).

See ICE's Rivendell 14.

Curtain Robe

Made entirely of tiny, interwoven beads on threads, this enchanted robe is the property of Myall, the eccentric Sage of Minas Tirith.

Powers: protects wearer as unencumbering chain armor (AT 16); +20 DB; casts RM Light's Way Sudden Light or MERP Sound/Light Ways Sudden Light 1x/day.

See ICE's Minas Tirith 86.
Daecollo (S. "Shadow Cloak")
The cloak of the greatest of all Elven minstrels, Daeron, was lost with him when his love and loss of Lúthien drove him to wander alone, finally disappearing from the haunts of civilization. The cloth is ragged and muddy, grey and soft from long wear and use as a tent. It is heavy enough to keep an Elf alive in winter weather, but not too great a burden in the summer months.

Powers: +50 DB, stalking and hiding, and moving maneuvers.

See ICE's LOME I 64.

Dalicor (S. "Feet of Circles")
Boots of soft leather sewn together with sinew, these are thought to be of Elven manufacture, perhaps made by the hidden folk of Nargothrond long ago.

Powers: either create footprints facing whatever direction desired (e.g., it appears that the wearer has walked in the direction opposite to that actually taken) or create no footprint whatsoever, even in soft soil.

See ICE's Southern Mirkwood 56.

Dalrim (S. "Many Feet")
Boots of soft leather much like the Dalicor, these are thought to have been made by the same worker.

Powers: at a thought, these boots leave any manner of animal tracks desired by the wearer; his or her stride is even altered so that even an inexperienced tracker will have difficulty in discerning these tracks from genuine animal prints.

See ICE's Southern Mirkwood 56.

Dancer's Slippers
A pair of women's green leather slippers which might fit a small man or male Elf.

Powers: allow use of one RM/merp Movement Leaping and one Landing spell each day.

See ICE's Dagorlad 31.

Duck-water Robes
The rather thick robe is made of feathers and down magically bonded onto and trapped between two layers of supple sheepskin. It is very warm, if somewhat odd and fragile-looking, and quite waterproof.

Powers: +50 DB robes with permanent RM Spell Wall Essence Shield or MERP spell Ways Cancel Essence.

See ICE's Dunland 63.

Eagle Mask
A mask shaped like the face of a hawk or eagle and made of leather and horn, with feathers of bronze.

Powers: when worn, it doubles the range of the wearer's vision and allows the wearer to use any one of the following spells, once per day: RM Animal Mastery Animal Tongues, Nature's Ways Outdoor Trap Detection, and Nature's Protection Hues or MERP Animal Mastery Animal Tongues, Nature's Lore Trap Detection, and Nature's Guises Hues; once put on, the mask cannot be removed and the wearer's night vision is impaired (-50); this 20th level Curse may be resisted or removed, but only one attempt may be made prior to the advancement of the wearer's next experience level.

See ICE's Dagorlad 31.

Eelskin Cloak
This slick-looking but somewhat rough cloak is the property of the Mewlip-Mage, a darkly evil cannibalistic spirit. It is sewn together from vertical strips of eel hide, each about 8 to 12 inches wide and crudely stitched to its neighbors. Although it is an intimidatingly dark fuscia and its lining is stained with swamp-water and blood, the item itself is not evil. Its owner is another matter.

Powers: +10 DB; +10 Stalk/Hide in waterlands; RM Elemental Shields Lightning Armor 1x/day for 15 rnds (protects vs. all natural light/electricity, +20 to RRs, half damage from spells of light/electricity, and criticals 1 degree less severe) or MERP Protections Resist Elements 1x/day for 15 rnds.

See ICE's Mouths of the Entwash 26.

Elven Cloak
A hooded grey cloak fashioned of the light, but warm, silken stuff woven by the Galadrim. At eventide, it took on the color of twilight under the trees, among summer hawthorne, the green of translucent leaves, by night, the brown of fields lying fallow in winter, at dawn, silvery as waves beneath the moon. A brooch shaped to resemble a green leaf veined with silver fastened the garment at the neck. Each member of the Fellowship received one as a gift from Galadriel in Lórien.

Powers: +20 to hiding and stalking.

Read LotRI 479. See ICE’s LOME III 15,19-21.
Garments and Gear / Em-Gl

Emerald Gloves
Made of shimmering green, scaly snakeskin, these thin gloves are made to fit a human hand. They have been magically treated and will not wear through, shrink, crack, or puncture.

Powers:
- prevent contact poison from harming wearer; prevent small darts from entering hands; add +10 to maneuvers involving locks and traps.

See ICE’s Dagorlad 31.

Ethudil’s Robe
A robe of black linen lined with silk and trimmed with cuffs and collar of black samite, this elegant garment is cut for the trim figure of Ethudil, a Mage known to consort with Fell Beasts and Vampires. The robe was a gift to her when she entered the service of the Necromancer.

Powers:
- +10 DB; protects like AT 10/RL; gives +10 bonus to Rituals, Dance, and Meditation skills.

See ICE’s Minas Tirith 146.

Face Shield
Made of laen, shaalk and other elements, this item aided Celebrimbor in his many labors at the forge.

Powers:
- gives total protection to face and neck from heat, light, electricity and cold, both natural and magical; darkens to protect the eyes from bright light.

See ICE’s Lorien 22.

Feather Belt
A belt of mithril links which will only open when three links are passed through one another in an intricate pattern, this binding is long enough to pass two or even three times about the average human waist.

Powers:
- casts RM Lofty Bridge Fly 450’/rnd, Long Door 300’, and RM Monk’s Bridge Landing True (allowing wearer to land safely from a fall of up to 1500 feet) each 3x/day or MERP Lofty Bridge Fly 150’/rnd, Long Door 100’, and Landing each 3x/day.

See ICE’s Lorien 34.

Gaurhír’s robes
These robes of silver-grey are stitched with metallic green runes in an arcane script not know in northwestern Middle-earth.

Powers:
- wearer has a bonus of +25 to DB and RR against Essence magic.

See ICE’s Gates of Mordor 23.

Gift of Manwë
A brilliant cloak of white and gold, this item was given to Ingwë, the greatest of the Elves, by the Valar Manwë. The cloak is fashioned of silk and samite, with embroidered shoulders and cuffs and trimming of golden fur about the neck. The golden fur is held together with gold rings and contains an inset clasp to hold the whole about Ingwë’s shoulders.

Powers:
- flight at 888’/rnd for 16 hours each day; summons and commands up to 8 Great Eagles within a range of 88 miles; allows unlimited use of RM/MERP Light Law, Wind Law, and Water Law to 50th/10th level.

See ICE’s LOME 1 82.

Gift of Námo
Beautiful white and gold gloves embossed and gilded with interlaced threads, curves, ladders, and helices, these items are also set with a black diamond at each knuckle. They were a gift to Ingwë by the Valar Námo.

Powers:
- free use of the RM Repulsions list, up to 2 spells/rnd to level 50 or the MERP Calm Spirits list, up to 2 spells/rnd to level 10; additionally, the wearer may magically bury all the bodies of the goodly dead within 888’ by waving both hands and singing.

See ICE’s LOME 1 82.

Gift of Yavanna
These beautiful white, green, and gold boots cause one plant to spring fully mature in each footstep according to the wearer’s desire: fruit trees, nut trees, Ul-Naza, Culkas, Hugburtun, Mirenna, Oiolossë, Vulcurax, Ankii, or Splayfoot. Usually the beautiful little white or yellow flowers called Simbelmynë (or affirin or uilos or evermind) fill Ingwë’s steps.

Powers:
- grow plants.

See ICE’s LOME 1 82.

Gill Scarf
A blue silk scarf about six feet long, this item is of excellent material but otherwise unremarkable. It belongs to Edorhil, a smuggler in the delta of the Entwash.

Powers:
- allows wearer RM/MERP Physical Enhancement Waterlungs or 1x/day when folded and tied around lower face.

See ICE’s Mouths of the Entwash 10.

Glorfindel’s Surcoat
The sleeveless overgarment of smooth white cloth belonged to the captain of the guard in Gondolin and was lost when he fell to his death in combat with a Balrog. Over the right breast is a tiny embroidered golden lily, as Glorfindel was the lord of the House of the Golden Flower.

Powers:
- AT 20 (DB +30); unencumbering.

See ICE’s LOME 1 79.

Glove of Snakes
Delicate, transparent items made of the shedded skins of asps, these gloves are quite fragile and must be regularly oiled to keep them from falling apart. Excessive use will bring about their rapid deterioration. They provide almost no protection from the elements.

Powers:
- cast RM Disease Tongue Rot or MERP Controlling Songs Forgetting Song 1x/day.

See ICE’s Dunland 63.

Gloves of the Forge
Made of eog for protection and shaalk for flexibility, these Elvish gloves are the workaday wear of Celebrimbor, the highest of the Elven Smiths of the Mírdainthron.

Powers:
- give total protection to hands and arms from heat, electricity, and cold, both natural and magical; they are unencumbering, allowing the wearer to work as if not not wearing gloves at all.

See ICE’s Lorien 22.
Gloves of Lord Lightfingers
A pair of grey leather gloves kept in a flat wooden case (2 in x 8 in x 4 in) and belonging to a Master Thief of Asni Dat.

Powers: adjust to fit any wearer; allow +10 to manipulatory skills, such as picking locks or pockets.

See ICE's Pirates of Pelagir 27.

Greenwood Boots
These are the boots of Eldacar, the warrior who defeated Castamir the Usurper and regained the throne of Gondor. They are made of soft leather stitched together with leather and sinew, and alter to fit the wearer's feet.

Powers: with wearer's concentration, leave no footprints; walk silently in the woods; +25 to Stalking maneuvers (regardless of locale).

See ICE's LOME II 26.

Gypsy Belt
A belt of finely hammered silver leaves linked at tip and stem by thin silver links. There is no buckle — the belt simply hooks into a circle. It is delicate and might break easily if subjected to unnecessarily rough treatment.

Powers: +5 to wearer's Presence; +25 to skill bonus for Dance or Acting.

See ICE's Mouths of the Entwash 33.

Healer's Cloak
Very full and hooded, the dark grey garment was last known to be in the possession of Yavëkamba, a traitor to the Court of Angkiyra.

Powers: wearer can cast RM Invisible Ways/MERP Illusions Invisibility over herself and a patient.

See ICE's LOME I 91.

Healer's Shroud
A white silken garment that resembles an adult-sized mummy bag which will fit any Man up to 7' tall; it folds to 6" x 6" x 1".

Powers: while inside of it, healing is accelerated to three times the normal rate, including that of criticals; however, it only works on the living and cannot restore life.

See ICE's Dagorlad 31.

Huinen's Cloak
A full-length cloak of grey cloth, this item belongs to the secretive Seer and fits his wish for privacy well. He is known to employ it even when at home with guests.

Powers: allows instant Invisibility 1x/rnd.

See ICE's Southern Mirkwood 49.

Ice-boots
These fur boots are light grey and fitted with pairs of retractable steel blades. They enable the wearer to skate after 1 round's preparation. Alternatively, the blades can be fitted for use as crampons and/or as weapons. These were the boots of the Umli lord Ulas Tost, who ruled the forest realm of the Forir-Tasir for two centuries around the end of the first millenia of the Third Age.

Powers: +25 to all skating maneuvers; +25 to ice-climbing: kick strikes as a +10 Hand-axe.

See ICE's LOME III 76.

Imladagollo (S. "Cloak of the Deep Valley")
The hooded, grey-green Elven cloak provides the wearer with protection and climbing ability. Imladagollo belonged to Arwen, the daughter of Elrond and Celebrian.

Powers: +50 bonus for hiding and stalking maneuvers and enables wearer a +100 bonus for climbing, acrobatics, or landing maneuvers.

Read LotRI 299. See ICE's Rivendell 14.
Khîm's Belt

Woven of willow wands and cat gut, this small belt was worn by the Petty-dwarven holy man it is named for. It retains an aura of peace and serenity, but this may simply be due to the hypnotic patterns and convolutions of its weaving.

Powers: x4 spell multiplier: +25 DB.

See ICE's LOME III 70.

Mantle of Doriath

Woven by Elrond's ancestress Melian, it is a great cloak of grey cloth which confers many powers to the wearer at will.

Powers: unlimited RM Guises Displacement V, RM Invisible Ways Invisibility True, RM Shield Mastery Deflections V, and RM Brilliance Blur or MERP Essence Hand Shield, Deflections, and Bladeturn and Illusions Invisibility.

See ICE's Rivendell 12; LOME 1 68.

Many Mile Saddle

A worn and torn magical saddle which will fit any animal of large size. For whatever reason, even skittish mounts will hold steady for this saddle to be placed upon them.

Powers: when using this saddle the beast's speed is increased one level; also allows the rider a +25 OB in mounted combat.

See ICE's Rangers of the North 49.

Mask of the Stage

A half-mask of rigid leather formed half-smiling, half-frowning, the item can be tied on with simple leather thongs. It is the secret of the success of Círdus, a thief and theater master of Dol Amroth.

Powers: casts any spell from RM/MERP Illusions list to 5th lvl 2x/ day.

See ICE's Havens of Gondor 53.

Menelcollo (S. "Cloaks of the Sky")

The Menelcollo belonged to the twins Elladan and Elrohir, and they were of identical cut and material, so as to confuse others as to which twin was which. Normally they are sky blue, but they can change color to that of the surroundings if desired.

Powers: +30 DB; continuous RM Monk's Bridge Landing True and Great Leap or MERP Lofty Bridge Leaping and Landing 5x/day; +50 hiding; allow gliding from heights (drop 100' per round and sail 100' per round) as often as desired (requires a high point to drop from).

See ICE's Rivendell 14; LOME 1 67.

Mithram (S. "Grey Wall")

Made in the early Third Age in Amon Thranduil, this fabric is now located in the ruin where the Men-i-Naugrim crosses the Celduin (old Iach Celduin). It is a 10' x 10' grey cloth spun of spider-silk and made by Wood-elves. It is kept folded and rolled in a 5' sheath made of carved chestnut. The sheath weighs 2 lbs and the cloth 5 lbs, but when stored together they weigh but 3 lbs.

Powers: bearer of the sheath can control the unfolded cloth to move at up to 5 mph and to distances as far as 200 feet away; it cannot move on its own while supporting more than 1 pound of "dead weight."

See ICE's Northern Mirkwood 46.

Monk's Tunic

The tunic of Annael, a Sindarin Elf forced to hide in the caves of Mithrim, where he lived an ascetic life.

Powers: serves as AT RL/12 (+40 DB); provides wearer the ability to change his skin and clothing color to suit surroundings; gives a +50 bonus for stalking and hiding maneuvers.

See ICE's LOME II 54.

Mother's Gift

The wreath of ever-beautiful flowers about Lúthien's head is the gift of her mother, Melian the Maia. The blossoms have the beauty of the Ainur always about them, as indeed does Lúthien, and are one of the few ornaments that do not pale by comparison to the most beautiful of the Children of Ilúvatar.

Powers: x10 PP multiplier; it maintains Concentration Spells, without the wearer needing to concentrate, for 1 rnd per wearer's 1lv; protects the head as a full helm; negates 50% of head criticals (roll 01-50).

See ICE's LOME II 33.

Mountain Robes

The robes of the powerful Dunnish Shamen Eríbhen who provoked her people into warring against their neighbors, these robes reflect the simple poverty their owner espoused. They are grey and somewhat tattered.

Powers: protect wearer as if she were wearing soft leather (AT SL/ 8); +20 for climbing and balance maneuvers.

See ICE's LOME II 29.

Naramba (Q. "Fire-shield")

Sleeveless tunics for alchemy and other exercises worn by both Curufin and Fëanor, these tabards are cunningly woven of fine cloth reinforced by shank and laen filaments. Their natural color is a soft, shimmering grey, but when defending against attack (each does so automatically) the garments become a brilliant reflective silvery field enveloping the wearer's entire body (treat as RM Light's Way Alkar or MERP Protections Bless and Sound/Light Ways Sudden Light).

Powers: acts as AT PI/20 with a +66 DB; unencumbering; total protection from heat electricity, or cold, magical or non-magical; allows free use of the RM/MERP Fire Law list to 50th/10th lv.

See ICE's LOME 1 63, 72.

Nimril Palandal

(Q. "Brilliant White Boots of Travel")

Beautiful white boots which come to mid-thigh, they are studded with 88 large diamonds. The Nimril Palandal belong to Finwë, first of the High Kings of the Noldor.

Powers: cast any Running spell off the RM Lofty Movements list or any Running or Walking spell off the MERP Nature's Movement lists at will; all maneuvers are +50.

See ICE's LOME 1 76.
Ossanna (S. "Gift of Ossë")

These white eog and mithril bracers belonged to Cirdan, the greatest of Elven mariners and shipwrights.

Powers: RM Light’s Way Alkar or MERP Protections Bless at will; x8 PP all realms; +30 on all ship and water maneuvers; allows use of RM/MERP Water Law to 50th/10th lvl and the RM Liquid Alteration list to 30th lvl or the MERP Nature’s Lore list to 10th lvl.

See ICE’s LOME I 62.

Panther Boots

Made of tawny, uncurled leather, these somewhat stiff boots are still covered with fur made by the magics of Queen Berúthiel. Their crude handiwork is her own, as is their powerful magic.

Powers: +33 bonus to all maneuvers; allows wearer to fast sprint on all non-glassy solid surfaces at any angle up to vertical; imbedded RM Monk’s Bridge/MERP Lofty Bridge Landing spell can be cast 2x/day.

See ICE’s Minas Tirith 139.

Pouch of Concealment

A leather bag about 9” square belonging to Telkurhâd, a shady half-Dûnadan from Umbar. The pouch is ideal for thieves and smugglers, and has passed through many pairs of hands belonging to these sorts of characters.

Powers: anything placed in the pouch can be commanded to vanish, so that a search of the bag reveals nothing; pouch cannot be filled beyond its normal capacity.

See ICE’s LOME I 58.

Robes of Aman

Woven in the Light of the Trees, these robes are naturally silvery-white in color, but can change to any hue or motting at the wearer’s thought. Many among the Elves wore them in the First Age when the Two Trees still shone, but with the passing of time after their destruction they became increasingly rare. Among the Eldar, Galadriel and her mother Eärwen wore robes that possessed the properties given below. So did Elemmíre the minstrel who, ironically, wrote the Alduñënië, the song known to all the Eldar that laments the grievous tale of the destruction of the Two Trees by Morgoth and Ungoliant. Those worn by Gil-galad had a greater degree of protection woven into their fabric, as befitted such a warrior. Gandalf also was know to wear Robes of Aman, of somewhat less power but greater ease of movement. As the Grey, his clothing was fashioned in the Undying Lands, but when he returned as the White, he wore robes made by the Lady Galadriel. These robes were not enchanted except in that they were beautiful and durable; Gandalf the White was almost beyond harm in his new incarnation.

Powers: +100 to hiding: cast RM Hiding Displacement V or MERP Essence Hand Shield at a thought: provide wearer with AT 20: +30 to DB (+88 for Gil-galad: AT 12 and no encumbrance for Gandalf); wearer is impervious to all heat and cold.

See ICE’s Lorien 27; LOME I 65, 66, 77, 79.

Robes of the Black Moon

The robes of the Queen Berúthiel are sewn from black velvet soft as cats’ paws. They are very quiet, barely rustling when the wearer moves.

Powers: AT No/l: give wearer a +33 bonus to DB and all RRs.

See ICE’s LOME I 58.

Robes of Emyn Angwi

Rain-drake skin robes which fall heavily from the wearer’s shoulders to about knee level, where they form a sort of slit skirt to allow the wearer the ability to ride easily. The four segments of rain-drake hide that make up the garment are held together by silver rivets at shoulders, waist, and thigh. The robe can only be put on or off by first wriggling out of the arms, then lifting the whole up over the wearer’s head.

Powers: protect as AT Pl/4; add +15 to DB. RRs. and all static maneuvers; sheds 1x/week upon command to take on most common color in surrounding terrain and acts as a +50 camouflage in that terrain.

See ICE’s Shadow in the South 62.

Robes of Glory

The robes of Tolwen, a Sindaran animist and healer of the Fangorn Forest, are made of shimmering green interwoven with mithril threads.

Powers: act as AT Ch/16.

See ICE’s Ents of Fangorn 45.

Robes of Light

These are the robes that Finrod gave to Amarië, his beloved, upon their betrothal. They are a pure, rich white, like daylight, though they dim somewhat at night.

Powers: protect as AT RL/12 with +60 DB; negate 50% of criticals to the body (roll 01 -50); and provide a constant RM Light’s Way Alkar or MERP Protections Bless.

See ICE’s LOME I 53.
Robes of Merging

Robes of motley, this garment is meant to be wrapped tightly so that no ties, belts, or other fastenings are required to keep it in place — the wearer is (comfortably) knotted into his own clothes. They are variable with climate, surroundings, and even elevation. The predominant colors and patterns of the motley may be wrapped about a smaller wearer more than once, so that any that no ties, belts, or other fastenings are required to keep it in place. Robes of Merging Powers: allow the wearer to merge with any material: RM Lofty Movements Merging True Organic or MERP Nature’s Movement Merging Organic.

See ICE’s Lorien 32.

Robes of Olyas

The robes of Demik Dral, the overlord of the reunited Lochas Drus empire in southeastern Endor. The surcoat is cut from bright cloth and emblazoned with the silver orb of Lochas Drus, a symbol set upon a four-part field representing the regions (Wm. “Hiom”) of the Kingdom: purple for Locha: deep blue for Brôd: red for Da’ish: and green for Prorse. Each part of the field consisted of a colored wedge and the four wedges came to a point at the center of the field (behind the orb). Thus, Demik’s surcoat was divided into four distinctly-colored portions, as befit the reuniter of the empire.

Powers: when worn over armor, +15 DB: unencumbering.

See ICE’s LOME II 23, 24.

Royal Banner of Cardolan

The rallying point of the warriors under the command of Minasirat the garrison of Sam Ford, this bright flag has flown over all major engagements in Northern Cardolan. The Dunadan Rangers will go to great lengths to see that it does not fall into enemy hands.

Powers: +20 to the morale of nearby troops.

See ICE’s Lost Realms of Cardolan 62.

Royal Gowns

Trimmed with ermine, these bright spring green robes are strictly for formal occasions. Their elaborate collar, delicate embroidery, and fairly light, bright colors insure that someone must carefully clean them after each wearing. In Elven circles, of course, warfare might be considered a formal occasion.

Powers: non-encumbering: serve as AT RL/12 (+35 DB): provide wearer with a +25 bonus for all moving maneuvers.

See ICE’s Rivendell 14.

Sandals of the Leaper

Made of ordinary leather and dyed a deep maroon, these sandals seem unremarkable. They are the property of Ardagor, the Half-elven, Half-troll bard and mystic who claims the title Warlord of the Empire.

Powers: double range of leaps.

See ICE’s Lost Realms of Cardolan 62.

Saruman’s Robes

At first appearing pure white, after several minutes study Saruman’s robe is revealed to be woven of threads of all colors which shimmer and change with his every motion.

Powers: +30 DB.

See ICE’s Isengard 27.

Sash of Yavanna

Lúthien’s multi-hued silken sash, a gift from the Valar to the fair bride of Beren.

Powers: +88 DB: constant RM Guises Displacement V or MERP Essence Hand Shield: with 1 rd’s concentration, wearer can become translucent, subtracting 50 from all Perception rolls attempting to see her.

See ICE’s LOME II 33.

Scout’s Robes

A robe of a special Elven weave — it flickers slightly in poor light but is perfectly normal in daylight.

Powers: Trolls have difficulty seeing the wearer, and wearer’s odors are neutralized.

See ICE’s Trolls of the Misty Mountains 26.

Scouting Robes

Made of a single enchanted bison skin, this sleeveless robe is stippled with dots of green, brown, tan, grey, red, black, and blue over its entire surface in a roughly even distribution.

Powers: add +40 to hiding in any environment (they change color to blend in).

See ICE’s Rivendell 16.

Seven Star Saddle

A beautifully adorned saddle with the seven stars of Arthedain on each silver stirrup. When the silver clasp of the cinch is tightened, it sets a spring mechanism in the saddle.

Powers: anything over 50 lbs. of pressure drives a curved spike up through the seat into the rider (+100 lance attack).

See ICE’s Rangers of the North 49.

Shade’s Greys

All members of the assassin’s cult of Dol Amroth wear these grey tunics, hoods, and kilts, though most of them are not magical. Cult leaders and trusted recruits may qualify for special greys, but the only way for outsiders to get them is to take them from a slain assassin or steal them from the headquarters in the tower on the Hill of Shades.

Powers: casts RM/MERP Nature’s Guises Silent Moves 2x/day and Shade 1x/day with durations based on an eighth level spell caster.

See ICE’s Assassins of Dol Amroth 28.

Shadow

Full, hooded cloaks of dark grey cloth, they provided warmth but were lightweight and unencumbering. Hurand Hurin owned a matching set, though both cloaks were known by the same name.

Powers: +70 to hiding bonus.

See ICE’s LOME II 31.

Shield Belt

A tanned and dyed dark blue belt with a silver clasp, this item was originally made for a Prince of one of the inner provinces of Gondor but was stolen by Ringor, a household servant who quickly turned to smuggling after fleeing his native land.

Powers: RM/MERP Spell Defense Protection I or Resist Elements 4x/day.

See ICE’s Mouths of the Entwash 10.
Shepherd's Belt

Made of goatskin with a wooden buckle and copper studs, this belt is currently the property of Perdido, a young warrior of Dol Amroth who received the item from his well-travelled uncle.

Powers: allows the wearer to climb and run on rocky hills and mountains as well as any mountain goat (+20 to any MM that involves moving on precarious ground).

See ICE's Assassins of Dol Amroth 7.

Shifter's Cloak

The full-length cloak of silver-grey will change color at a thought and is meant to cover the body from neck to ankles. Two long straps tie the cloak's bottom edge to the wearer's calves, and three mother-of-pearl buttons at the front keep the material from revealing its wearer in strong winds or sudden movement. It belonged to Celebrimbor the smith.

Powers: adds +80 to hiding; casts RM Guises Displacement V or MERP Essence Hand Shield 1x/day; casts RM/MERP Lofty Bridge Fly 600’/rnd 3x/day.

See ICE's Loreien 22.

Silimacollo (S. "Cloak of Silima")

A shimmering silvery-white hooded robe which Fëanor wore at all times when not doing craft work.

Powers: AT: PL/20; +88 DB; constant RM Light's Way Alkar and Utterlight X or MERP Protections Bless and Sound/Light Ways Utterlight at will; any spell cast at wearer must save vs. a 100th level Dispel or it has no effect and the power points are added to the wearer's own (may not exceed his normal maximum).

See ICE's LOME I 72.

Softly Treading Boots

Made of soft leather and cut wide, these boots are beautifully patterned, fading from black at the toes to white at mid-calf in a broken pattern of increasing dots, as if someone had broken a necklace of pearls over them. Their origin is obscure, but the spiral pattern worked into each heel leads some scholars to speculate that they are the work of the Woses.

Powers: walk on water.

See ICE’s Riders of Rohan 59.

Still Robes

Worn by Ringlin on his tragic quest against the Priests of Darkness and his own father, these robes were buried with him when he died of world-weariness and grief shortly after his return. They were Elven robes woven of lightweight cloth.

Powers: able to blend in with surroundings adding +80 to wearer’s Hiding attempts (while static); give wearer AT SL/3; unencumbering.

See ICE’s LOME II 39.

Talruin (S. "Feet of Flame")

Winged boots made of wonderfully worked golden mithril plate and chain, Fëanor made these for his own use in the distant First Age.

Powers: RM Monk’s Bridge Landing True 6000’, Wallrunning, Windrunning, Moving Ways Limbrunning, Waterrunning, Evasions Flip I or MERP Lofty Bridge Landing and Leaping, Nature’s Movement Limbrunning, Waterrunning, Stonerunning, and Windrunning at will; all RM/MERP Lofty Bridge Fly spells are at double speed; negate 50% of leg and foot crits (roll 01-50).

See ICE’s LOME II 33.

Valglin's Belt

Held together by two hooks rather than a buckle, this snakeskin belt possesses several small pockets hidden in the pattern of its lining. These pouches are large enough to hold keys, lockpicks, coins, gems and the like. The belt was last known to be in the possession of Valglin, an evil Elf who served the Court of Ardor.

Powers: casts continual RM Hiding Blur and Shadow or MERP Essence Hand Shield and Nature’s Guises Shadow: contains +30 lockpick kit.

See ICE’s LOME II 39.

Veil of Daeron

Lúthien's lightweight dancer’s garb, this gift comprised her costume when she danced before Morgoth to entrance him. thus allowing Beren to steal a Silmaril from the Iron Crown. As might be expected, it is flattering in the extreme, opaque and translucent, always hiding more than it reveals, yet flowing and trailing in the wake of the least gesture.

Powers: deflects attacks as AT 20; adds +100 to all spell RR’s.

See ICE’s LOME II 33.

Veil of Lindon

Possessed of the coloring properties of the Robes of Aman (silvery white, able to change color at the wearer's thought), this cape is cut with two extra strips of material at the wearer's neck so that it can simply be knotted about the throat rather than pinned in place with a brooch or clasp. The Veil of Lindon was the gear of Gil-galad, the last of the Noldorin High Kings.

Powers: cast RM Light's Way Alkar or MERP Protections Bless at will; swirls to defend its wearer like a full shield +50.

See ICE’s LOME I 79.
White Breast
A white tunic with the emblem of Glorfindel's house on the breast, the simply cut garment is quite flattering to Elven wearers, especially tall ones like Glorfindel, its owner.

Powers: protects as AT PI/17 (-30), but does not encumber.
See ICE's Rivendell 13.

White Walker's Cloak
A grey-white Bearskin cloak for the shoulders of Ucaphel, the Umli Word-keeper, also called the Mother of the Umli, this heavy garment reflects the simple goods and harsh needs of the Far North.

Powers: +10 to any RR versus the weather or Channeling spells.
See ICE's LOME II 111 76.

Winged Feet
Huor and Hurin's tall boots of soft grey leather. The identical footwear is lined entirely with rabbit fur and laces up around the wearer's calf in a diamond pattern. The soles are embedded with tiny bits of granite for traction.

Powers: allow the wearer to move silently and walk without leaving any trace of footprint; +30 to Climbing manoeuvres.
See ICE's LOME II 31,32.

Wood-shadow
A grey-green cloak worn by Faramir, this item was lost when he was attacked by a Nazgûl out of the sky while leading the retreat from Osgiliath to Minas Tirith.

Powers: +40 to hiding in the forest or deep foliage.
See ICE's LOME II 30.

4.4 JEWELRY, GEMS AND VALUABLES

Brooches, cloakpins, necklaces, earrings, arm rings, torques, coronets, crowns, sceptres, rods, drinking horns, chalices, finger bowls, porringer, terrines, orbs, statuettes, and gemstones: objects such as these comprise the major portion of the wealth mounded in a Dragon's hoard, rolling on the floors of a King's Treasury, or forgotten among the bones of an ancient mausoleum. Yet, they are found in other places besides the vaults behind carefully locked and trapped doors. And some possess magical powers far surpassing the worth of the precious metals and stones of which they are formed. Many a Warrior, Mage, Healer or Bard wears an enchanted circlet or carries a miniature ivory tiger with him into battle, using its potent magics in a bid for victory.

Aglarthol (Q. "Crown of Glory")
Finwë's crown is wrought of rare golden mithril, laen, and precious stones. The prominent central stone is a sapphire Fëanorian lamp which shines on its own.

Powers: +10 DB; wearer immune to fear, stun, charm, control, or possession; crown negates head crits (roll 01-50); on any head strike the weapon must save vs a 50th level Weapon Slayer spell or be destroyed.
See ICE's LOME I 76.

Alcarinlai (Q. "Glorious Emerald")
A huge emerald (over two inches in diameter) set in a rim of mithril and suspended by a delicate chain of the same metal. Although it possesses no magical properties, it is very valuable (200,000 gp) and a famous gem.
See ICE's Lórien 50.

Amulet of Attraction
Made of silver wrought in the shape of a five-petaled rose and set with deep red garnets, this item is threaded on a slightly tarnished silver chain.

Powers: x2 Seduction bonus 2x/day.
See ICE's Havens of Gondor 53.

Amulet of Fog-sight
The property of Ulbor, a pirate lieutenant and captain of the Bay Eaglet, this amulet is made of silver and smoky quartz in a stylized circular design.

Powers: allows wearer to see through fog as if it wasn't there for 1 hour.
See ICE's Pirates of Pelagir 5.

Amulet of Office
The traditional insignia of the Warden of Dol Amroth, this item is presently worn by Camlin, a Dûnadan Warrior.

Powers: RM Weather Ways/ MERP Nature's Lore Weather Prediction 1x/day.
See ICE's Havens of Gondor 53.
Amulets of Sea-mastery

These priceless artifacts from Númenor are large aquamarines set in silver and engraved with runes. Merely fifteen were ever made, and the locations of only six of these are currently known. Cirdan the Elven Shipwright has one, and another is hung on a mithril chain around the neck of Zokhad ir-Sorik, the companion of the Laughing Reaver. The other four reside in the treasuries of wealthy nations, but are rarely used.

Powers: allows its owner to predict the weather for 24 hours ahead with 99% accuracy; to always know true north; and detect obstacles beneath the water to a depth of 100 feet; it operates continually, serving its wearer as an extra set of senses.

See ICE’s Pirates of Pelagir 5.

---

Amulet of Water Breathing

Rough-textured stones encrust the surface of this saucer-sized amulet, almost obscuring its mithril base. The stones are worked to resemble mollusks of various fanciful sorts. They include corals (red, white and black), turquoise, and mother-of-pearl.

Powers: permits wearer to breathe under water up to 1 hr/day.

See ICE’s LOME 1 54.

---

Anayulma (Q. "Gift-cup")

A silver chalice encrusted with beryls, the Anayulma was crafted by the Elves of Rivendell, but is presently located in the Treasury of Goblin-gate.

Powers: any holder can will it to fill with fine Elven miruvor, a delightful and invigorating cordial, until he and each of his friends on hand (up to 27 different people) has drunk once; it cannot then be used until a day has passed; to those of evil disposition, the contents taste vile and induce vomiting.

See ICE’s Goblin-gate 28.

Ardana’s Sceptre

Fascinated by the lights of Varda, Ardana was an easy target for the Black Enemy’s servants to twist to their own ends. Her love of starlight and nighttime are reflected in the weapon she bore at the Court of Ardor. Three feet long with an ebony handle and mithril head, her sceptre struck as a mace.

Powers: +30 OB: Unholy weapon: casts RM Darkness Darkness 500’R or MERP Nature’s Guises Darkness at will: fires a +20 Shockbolt 4x/day with 2x concussion hits.

See ICE’s LOME 1 55.

Arkenstone

Mined in Erebor around T.A. 1999, this is a priceless, brilliant jewel, clear with an inner glow of white flame. Not unlike the sceptres of human rulers, it serves as the Dwarven symbol of lordship over the "Kingdom Under the Mountain." In T.A. 2770, Smaug the Golden seized this prize jewel after chasing the Dwarves of Erebor from their home. Treasured as "The-Heart-of-the-Mountain," it was more wondrous than any other work of the Dwarves of Erebor, and it belonged to Thorin’s father and his father before him. Its light and beauty were such as to make even the Elvenking stare in amazement.

The great gem was later recovered by Bilbo Baggins in 2941 as he explored Smaug’s riches. Bilbo kept the Arkenstone for himself a time, and Thorin searched the hoard for it in vain after the demise of the golden Dragon. Bilbo gave it to the Elves and Men besieging Erebor in an attempt to force Thorin to reconcile himself with them and give them a share of the Dragon’s wealth. This worked only passingly well, but the Free Peoples united and Thorin forgot the Arkenstone temporarily when faced by the armies of the Wolves and Goblins. During the ensuing battle, Thorin II was slain, pierced by arrows, but he had his heart’s desire, for he was entombed under Erebor, the Lonely Mountain, in T.A. 2941, and Bard of Dale laid the Arkenstone of Thrain upon his chest.

Powers: bestows holder with strength of body and purpose, allowing +20 to OB. DB. RR. and maneuvers.

Armbands of Strength

The property of Lanaigh, a Dunlending warrior who is the King of Saralainn, these armbands are made of toughened boar hide and lined with fine linen, now somewhat soiled. They are protected by iron bands at top and bottom and sewn together with catgut.

Powers: RM Body Reins Strength or MERP Protections Bless 3 rnds. 4x/day.

See ICE’s Lost Realms of Cardolan 62.
Balrog Rubies

Kept in a black iron chest in the depths of Moria, each of these thirty-three rubies contains a miniature embedded black iron crown. They are fine gems, but no respectable jeweler will take them for fear of curses.

Powers: None; worth 600 gp each.

See ICE's Moria 63.

Basin of Cool Sleep

Rising from the center of the Greater Vault in the Fortress of Morthondost, this silver basin is four feet in diameter. Inset with jade leaves, pearl buds, and blossoms of citrine (pale yellow and transparent), it is shallow but still capable of holding well over five gallons at a time.

Powers: Water placed within it acts as Healer's Chamomile, but with no maximum dosage and no side effects.

See ICE's Erech & the Paths of the Dead 29.

Beast Chain

This ebon neck chain of black plates linked by gold is both skillfully worked and valuable. Each plate is carved in the likeness of a potent beast: eagle, bull, dragon, and so on. The neck chain is the property of Ethudil, a great and evil sorceress capable of calling forth creatures from beyond the Doors of Night.

Powers: x2 PP multiplier; allows the wearer an Influence check against any opponent at +20, no matter how violently inclined.

See ICE's Minas Tirith 146.

Belthil ("Divine Radiance")

The courts of Turgon in Gondolin sheltered images of the Two Trees of Valinor. They were wrought by Turgon himself, and the Tree whose flowers were silver was called Belthil.

Powers: All individuals opposed to the Dark Lord within 5 miles of the Tree may use RM Time's Bridge Guess and Surface Ways Heal or MERP Direct Channeling Intuitions I and Surface Ways Heal 50 each 1x/day.

Read Sil 126, 319.

Black Claw Amulet

The talisman of Hannei the Witch, this is a black stone amulet carved into the shape of a clawed hand. Hannei was the only member of her family who was spared by the Great Plague: the amulet may be responsible, though her survival was more a curse than a blessing — Hannei is obsessed with Darkness and hates all the townsfolk who were once her neighbors.

Powers: x3 PP multiplier: provides RM Guises Shadow or MERP Nature’s Guises Shadow on command (not when stunned).

See ICE's Phantom of the Northern Marches 5.

Black Star Earrings

Made of mithril set with black sapphires, both earrings must be worn for them to be usable.

Powers: One casts RM Rapid Ways Haste V or MERP Living Change Haste III 3x/day; the other RM Invisible Ways/MERP Illusions Invisibility 1’R 3x/day.

See ICE's Lorien 50.

Blood Amulet

An egg-sized blood ruby set in mithril and laen, this amulet was worn by Curufin, the evil fifth son of Fëanor.

Powers: Highly intelligent; can analyze any material or alloy within 33 feet; 33 to all forging operations; can store and cast up to 6 20th-level Essence spells; if the wearer concentrates the amulet may attempt to absorb any spell attack thrown at the wearer (50th level to resist), passing the power points of the spell to the wearer and letting him know what spell was thrown.

See ICE's LOME 1 63.

Box of the Generous Friend

This cedarwood box, a six inch cube, has the power of duplication. At present there are two pargen berries in it. The box itself is in the Moonstone Fortress near the Red Cliffs.

Powers: Any inanimate, unaltered (for example, by heat — cutting is fine) nonmagical object placed in it will be duplicated entirely after being left in the closed box for 5 minutes: thus one apple becomes two, one egg becomes a pair, etc.: it takes 1 charge to duplicate vegetable matter, 2 for animal matter, and 5 for mineral matter; there are 74 charges left; an item can only be duplicated once, and only one item can be duplicated at a time (two figs will not become four); note that herbs are not considered magical in Ea.

See ICE's Pirates of Pelagir 25.

Brewing Cup

Made of iron and red enamel, this cup was used by Yavêkamba, a lay healer at the Court of Ardor.

Powers: When filled with water, can "brew" any herb instantly.

See ICE's LOME 1 91.
Brooch of the Lidless Eye

This silver brooch, meant to serve as a fastening on cloak or hood, is wrought in the design of the lidless eye. It is currently the possession of the Animist Caldamir, who serves the Witch-king of Angmar in his quest for the Herufeä amulet.

Powers: 2x range for all spells cast from the Evil realm.

See ICE's Trolls of the Misty Mountains 22.

Brues' Amulet

Part of Fois' Treasure, this amulet is carved from ivory (human bone actually) in the shape of a skull and hangs about the neck of the dead Dunlending Priest for which it is named. The amulet bears his spirit and only shows its powers if someone touches it.

Powers: wearer must make RR vs. a 5th level attack or become possessed by Brues' evil soul; Brues' victim gets one RR a day for 10 days; if he fails all 10, his own soul departs and he "becomes" Brues; if he succeeds even once, Brues' spirit returns to the skull (unless the amulet is destroyed).

See ICE's Haunted Ruins 20.

Cat-skull Necklace

The nine feline skulls strung on this necklace are all covered with gold leaf and set with tiny topaz eyes. The chain itself is of gold, and the whole belonged to Queen Berúthiel, the legendary madwoman.

Powers: +33 DB; x6 (Sorcerer) PP multiplier; ranges for familiars are multiplied by x66, enabling wearer to simultaneously maintain nine cat familiars.

See ICE's LOME 1 58.

Celegorm's Talisman

A delicate construction of stiff cloth-of-gold folded to resemble a rose, with a large pearl nestled in the center, this item is strung on a chain of white gold.

Powers: x6 PP Channeling; +30 to DB, hiding, and moving maneuvers.

See ICE's LOME 1 61.

Chain of Uncertainty

A necklace formed of finely woven gold and silver chains rests in the Seer's Vault of Minas Anghen. Set with a large red hyacinth (which many will think a ruby; worth 70 gp) and four smallish star garnets (20 gp each), it is a pretty piece. Actually, however, the necklace is an heirloom wrought in the mountains north of Hollin in the late Second Age.

Powers: when touched and concentrated upon, the necklace enables the wearer to confuse anyone within 50' who fails a RR (vs 7th lvl magic); confused victims operate at -50 and will not attack anyone who is not speaking to them or touching them, and they will attack friend or foe indiscriminately should the opportunity present itself; yet, a danger exists; anytime the wearer rolls an 01-05 followed by another roll with the exact same result (e.g., two 02s), the necklace constricts to decapitate the poor soul.

See ICE's Haunted Ruins of the Dunlendings 13.

Chalice of the Heart's Desire

A relic of the royal house of Númenor, this chalice is made of a special alloy that magically combines gold, platinum, and adamant. The chalice is set with gems so pure they glow with their own light. It has no known magical properties, except that the drinker is said to succeed in every wish and thought (which can almost precipitate one's worst fears). It is inconceivably valuable.

Powers: none.

See ICE's Minas Tirith 86.

Ciryanibsir (S. "Little River Ship")

An intricately carved miniature riverboat four inches long, it is perfectly accurate in its oars, oarlocks, tiny rudder with tiny linchpin, and well-tied rigging. Although the workmanship is remarkable, the boat itself is much like many others and would not stand out on the water.

Powers: becomes a full-sized riverboat 25 feet long when placed in the water and the word "grow" is spoken: the boat will only shrink again when the word "shrink" is spoken while it is being touched, but no one is standing on it.

See ICE's Isengard 42.

Collar of Horm

This is the Wôlim symbol of the Lord of the city of Horm, made of interlocking links of soft gold and ebony. It is currently in the treasury of Dwar the Doglord.

Powers: +20 DB; protects vs. shoulder and neck criticals half of the time (roll 01-50); and allows the wearer to alter the direction of the winds within 2 miles (not the velocity, only the direction) at will — wearer must concentrate to maintain the altered direction.

See ICE's Teeth of Mordor 18.
Collar of Renewal
Made of perfectly circular mithril links, this item is more the suggestion of a collar than a substantial item. It looks best when worn with a scarf or ascot underneath to accentuate the mithril.

Powers: will cast up to 50 points of RM Body Renewal spells or MERP Surface Ways per day.
See ICE's Lorien 32.

Cook's Helper
This silver collar set with a small amethyst is worn close to the throat, much like a choker.

Powers: +50 Poison RRs.
See ICE's Mouths of the Entwash 37.

Corantir (S. "Circle of Long Seeing")
Presently in Shelob's lair at Torech Ungol, this is a silver circlet of Elven make. It adjusts itself to the size of the wearer's skull.

Powers: +4 Channeling spell adder; at will, once a day, a user of Channeling can employ MERP Direct Channeling Intuitions V and Dreams III or RM Time's Bridge Intuition True and Vision Behind 10 yr/lvl; the circlet protects the wearer's head as a full helm: if worn by one of evil disposition, the circlet constricts, inflicting an E crush head critical.
See ICE's Shelob 30.

Cormallor (S. lit. "Encircling Gold-gold")
A bracelet of interwoven gold links, set with dozens of bright jacinths and yellow sapphires. Approximate value: 3,000 gp.

Powers: a beautiful item capable of casting RM Shield Mastery Bladeturn III or Deflections III each 1x/day and Shield 3x/day or MERP Essence Hand Deflections and Bladeturn each 1x/day and Shield 3x/day.
See ICE's Lorien 50.

Crown of Armoq-Al-Wanu
Made of crude iron, and inlaid with bronze symbols, the crown is an ancient artifact. It has been the property of Miffli the Undying, an Undead Petty-dwarf Lord, for many centuries.

Powers: +50 RR bonus vs Channeling spells; +5 DB; forces all within 100' to make one RR versus a 5th level Fear spell or flee (each time they enter radius); controls the Iccronite nuggets and their associated ghosts, the Ta-Fa-Lisch (Petty-dwarf ghosts).
See ICE's Hillmen 30; LOME III 71.

Crown of Arwen
This delicate, mithril symbol is shaped like a leafy wreath. It was a gift to Arwen from her father, Elrond.

Powers: x6 (Ment./Chan.) PP multiplier; negates 60% of head criticals; acts as a full helm (doesn't impede spell-casting).
See ICE's LOME I 56.

Crown of Durmaw
A silver crown set with a variety of precious stones, seven large pearls hang from the rim of the circlet. This treasure was taken by the Lord of Waw in his conquests.

Powers: wearer is able to cast RM True Perception Long Sense (1 mile/lvl) 1x/day or MERP Essence Perceptions Long Ear and Long Eye each 1x/day.
See ICE's Teeth of Mordor 18.

Crown of the Princes of Morthond
An elaborate helmet-like item of gold and mithril filigree set with glasmain and diamonds.

Powers: none.
See ICE's Erech & the Paths of the Dead 29.

Crown of the Reunited Kingdoms
White mithril inlaid with gold with a receptacle for Star of Elendil to be set in the brow, this is the crown Aragorn wore for the first time at his coronation as King of Arnor and Gondor, and thereafter whenever he presided over the affairs of the Realm. Originally it was Isildur's plain Númenórean war helm, but Atanatar Alcarin replaced it with the jeweled version. It is shaped like the helms of the Guards of the Citadel, but loftier and with seabird wings at either side wrought of pearl and silver (in memory of the Kings who came over the sea). Seven gems of adamant surround the receptacle for the Star and symbolize Elendil. It is also called the White Crown, the Silver Crown, and the Winged Crown.

Powers: +10 to DB.
Read LotR III 355: LotRIII 303,401: Sil 367. See ICE's Rangers of the North 35.

Crown of the Teleri
This clear laen and mithril crown was worn by Olwë, younger brother of Elwë (Thingol Greycloak).

Powers: protects as a full helm and negates all head/neck criticals: adds +50 to DB; allows wearer use of the RM Weather Ways list to 50th lvl or the MERP Nature's Lore list to 10th lvl.
See ICE's LOME I 88.

Cuckoo Brooch
This mithril brooch of fine craftwork is inset with black pearls and looks like a bird's nest with six eggs. It is worth 250 gp and currently sits in the mass of Shoglic's Treasure at the Blue Butte.

Powers: each egg can "capture" a spell cast against its wearer (attacking spell must make a RR vs. the 4th lvl brooch).
See ICE's Haunted Ruins of the Dunlendings 29.

Cup of the Brewer
This cup is almost large and ornate enough to qualify as a goblet. Made of seasoned oak banded with copper, it is set with dark green beryls and inlaid with cherrywood.

Powers: cools liquids to 48 degrees Fahrenheit: casts any spell from RM/MERP Physical Enhancement list to 5th lvl 3x/day.
See ICE's Havens of Gondor 53.

Daen Amulet
In the Paths of the Dead, this item lies in the Tombs of the Glorious, where many of the Daen Coentis are buried.

Powers: x4 PP multiplier (any realm); permits user to speak without sound to anyone within 80' radius: allows wearer to assume stone or iron form (as a statue) with 1 rnd concentration.
See ICE's Erech & the Paths of the Dead 34.
Daen Star-compass
One of the Treasures of Fois, this is a silver device presently hidden in an obsidian jar inscribed with a spiral pattern and topped with a cork-edged stopper. It weighs 2 lbs and enables the holder to determine time as a magic sun- and star-dial, or directions without other aids, at any time of day.

Powers: enables the holder to redirect any projectile (up to 40 lbs; 3x/day) according to the direction he dials from the North coordinate (which corresponds to the original direction of flight); thus, he can redirect an arrow flying at him back toward the attacker by dialing South (the projectile attacks with an add based on the distance between the new target and the original point of departure).

See ICE's Haunted Ruins of the Dunlendings 20.

Dark Spectacles
Made of grey opaque laen, these dark glasses give their wearer an unusual view of the world, though his eyes are hidden. Their frames are of gold. The Spectacles are the property of Valglin, a Silvan Elf of the Court of Ardor.

Powers: wearer has the ability to see through up to 2' of stone or wood, 1' of metal; ideal for examining lock or trap mechanisms; spectacles add at least +50 to most lock or trap devices; can only be worn for about five minutes at a time without causing severe, incapacitating headaches; at least two hours of rest are required between usings.

See ICE's LOME I 90; Court of Ardor 19.

Dawn's Spiderwebs
Webs spun with gold filament constitute the chief treasure of Eregost, a highland retreat in the southern foothills of the Yellow Mountains of the distant south. They can be coiled and carried off on the 2' diameter inscribed silver spool located in the treasury. Ideal for making real cloth-of-gold, these webs would fetch a high price from any canny merchant.

Powers: none.
See ICE's Shadow in the South 46.

Deepearth Amulet
Presently the property of Dhanli, the Dwarvish Captain of the Troich-Armchleasah, this is a dark lump of garnet crystals set in a golden chain.

Powers: wearer can't be surprised when underground.
See ICE's Lost Realms of Cardolan 63.

Deepwood Bracelet
A finely made ornament composed of links of green-tinted metal, inlaid with dark wood, Faramir's bracelet is large enough to fit even the brawniest of wrists. It might serve a Hobbit as an armband.

Powers: x4 PP multiplier for Rangers and Animists; also allows the wearer to use RM Nature's Law Nature's Awareness 500' or MERP Nature's Ways Nature's Awareness 100' at will without use of PPs (caster must still pause and concentrate).

See ICE's LOME II 30.

Doorway Necklace
An electrum necklace inlaid with small diamonds, rubies, and a large star sapphire, it is worth 650 gp. An unfortunate visitor to the shrine of Shoglic left it behind when he fled in terror from the sight of the ghost-god.

Powers: enables the wearer to RM/MERP Lofty Bridge Long Door 1x/day.
See ICE's Haunted Ruins of the Dunlendings 29.

Dragon Petite
This small statuette of a dragon is very well carved, but is made of common granite, giving it a greyish color. If touched, the dragon will emit a quite frightening and realistic — painfully realistic — burst of flame.

Powers: flame causes 2d 10 hit points damage to anyone standing in the way.
See ICE's Trolls of the Misty Mountains 20.

Dran-Tark (H. "Chiefbeads")
These beads are bone ringlets worn in the Hillmens' long braids; this pair is engraved with runes.

Powers: usable 1x/day: x2 Strength and/or Speed, but temporarily reduces Constitution by 5pts/power/round as long as Con pts last: Con recover = 1/min of rest.
See ICE's Hillmen of the Trollshaws 30.
Dreamstone Pendant
A pendant of moonstone set in silver which will glow faintly when in use, this item is strung on a chain of mithril to avoid its loss. It was left behind in the vault of Celeborn and Galadriel's villa when Celeborn departed for Arvernien after the fall of Doriath.

Powers: wearer resists RM Fatal Channeling, Projections (Absolution, etc.) as a 60th lvl: if wearer fails, the amulet is unharmed.

See ICE's Lorien 39.

Earring Helmet
A single earring of bronze cast in the form of a crenellated tower, this item is rather large and heavy.

Powers: casts RM Spell Resistance, Mind Shield or MERP Nature's Guises, Blank Thoughts at will 3x/day.

See ICE's Ents of Fangorn 45.

Earrings of Lyrin
The pair of earrings worn by one of the "Three" of the Guild of Elements, these baubles are superbly made of two small Thaen stones set in simple stud earrings.

Powers: x6 PP mult, (for Monks): aura provides +30 DB: MERP Living Change, Rapid Ways, Haste on wearer at will.

See ICE's LOME I 85; Court of Ardor 27.

Earrings of Swiftness
This pair of mithril earrings belong to Pelenil's twin sister Pelenwen, an Animist and Healer of northern Cardolan. They are shaped to resemble tiny bolts of lightening.

Powers: each earring worn allows an Adrenal Maneuver without risk of failure.

See ICE's Lost Realms of Cardolan 62.

Earthroot Spike
This is simply a long golden laen spike made long ago by the Dwarves of Erebor. It has no distinguishing marks, though it is well-worn.

Powers: cannot be removed from whatever it is driven into without the use of magic.

See ICE's Trolls of the Misty Mountains 25.

Eight Tiles of Varda
Beautifully glazed tiles of white clay, they are part of the accoutrements of Yoruvë, a pious Herbalist.

Powers: if user sleeps/meditates within them when set out correctly, acts as x2 PP multiplier.

See ICE's Mouths of the Entwash 17.

Elencala (Q."Star-light")
Located in the treasury of Goblin-gate, the Elencala is a transparent crystalline globe (6" in diameter) which seemingly displays within it all the stars of the firmament, and can be rotated so as to depict the sky on that night from any angle, a useful device for Astrologers. As with all Elvish creations, it projects an entrancing beauty.

Powers: up to 4x/day at will, a user of Channeling can direct it to produce a MERP Sound/Light Ways/RM Light Law Sudden Light spell (holder is immune); +4 spell adder; due to its Elvish origins, inflicts 1-10 hits/rnd on any evil creature holding it.

See ICE's Goblin Gate 28.

Elephant Headbands
Golden headbands set with black gems, these items of superior Southern workmanship can be found as far north as Angmar, though they are only made in the southern lands where the Elephant Lord rules.

Powers: allow the user to store three spells of any level each day. See ICE's Angmar 20.

Elessar ("Elf-stone")
Given to Celebrian by Galadriel in the Second Age, then passed to Arwen, then finally entrusted to Galadriel to be given to Aragorn in mid T.A. 3019, the Elessar is a beautiful item originally forged as a token of affection by Celebrimbor for Galadriel. When she gave it first to Celebrian, Celebrimbor is said to have forged her a second to stay the wearying effects of time. In appearance, the Elessar is a brooch in the form of an eagle with spread wings, set with a large oval emerald.

Powers: provides continuous RM/MERP Protections, Prayer, x6 PP multiplier (any profession); Preservation True — a power beyond the norm, it is similar in nature and effect to the power of the Three Elven Rings (though not nearly as powerful); time seems to pass slowly within the area under the influence of the Elessar; living things do not die, and aging occurs at a very reduced rate; this power, like that of the Three, is tied to the intrinsic might of the wielder.

Read LotR 486. See ICE's Lorien 21,27.

Elrond's Crown
This item is misnamed — it is actually not a crown at all, but a simple silver circlet.

Powers: acts as a full helm; has a chance (01-50) of simply annulling any head critical; wearer has continuous RM Mind Mastery, Unpresence or MERP Nature's Guises, Blank Thoughts.

See ICE's LOME I 68.

Emerald Star
This gold brooch is set with a single lustrous emerald of high quality.

Powers: dispells any mind-affecting spell cast at the wearer that fails a RR versus a 20th level attack.

See ICE's Minas Tirith 86.

Eye of the Mystic
Elros was the first King of Númenor, and his items are the hereditary property of his successors.

Powers: allows the wearer to see through ("resist") any Illusion or Trick (enchanted or not, visual, aural or otherwise); wearer receives a RR at 30 levels above his own.

See ICE's LOME II 28.

Eyeglass of Trap Detection
The property of the suspicous trader and smuggler Uner Edolin, this wire-framed monocle is kept on a silver chain around his neck.

Powers: Trap Detection 3x/day at 10th level.

See ICE's Mouths of the Entwash 18.
Fendomë’s Ear

Fendomë, the Warden and Lord of Mirdaithrond, was a master of forge and crucible. This heavy earring of gold, lead, and mithril was a gift to him from his friend Galadriel.

Powers: x5 PP multiplier (Alchemist).

See ICE’s LOME I 73.

---

Forest Amulet

A large green gem in the shape of a leaf, this thin amulet is outlined with mithril and hung on a fine mithril chain.

Powers: x6 PP.

See ICE’s Rivendell 16.

---

Forging Bracelets

Matched wrist guards of mithril, shalk, and laen, these items functions much as does the Naramba. Both Curufin and Fëanor own a pair.

Powers: protect hands and arms from heat, electricity, and cold, magical or non-magical.

See ICE’s LOME I 63, 72.

---

Gaergil (S. “Sea Star”)

Cirdan's clear laen sphere of 1' diameter has gone on many a famous voyage with the renowned navigator.

Powers: +50 Navigation rolls; casts RM Weather Ways Weather Mastery at 100th level or any spell from the MERP Nature’s Lore and Water Law lists using the caster’s PP.

See ICE’s LOME I 62.

---

Galadilin (S. “Tree of Hiding”)

This collar is fashioned of twelve rectangular, curved pieces of fine oak, approximately 1” by 2” long, bound and linked together with bands of silver.

Powers: allows the wearer to RM Movement Merge True with a living tree 1x/day; this means that he can enter the tree and be hidden, as well as see out of the tree and cast spells (that he would normally be able to cast) on himself; he can remain in the tree as long as he desires, but once he departs, he cannot re-enter until after having rested.

See ICE’s Southern Mirkwood 56.

---

Galadriel’s Gift

Gimli was honored by the Lady Galadriel, who was so moved by the Dwarf’s devotion that she gave him three golden strands of her hair. The keepsake is of great value and a symbol of amity between the two distinct and often hostile races.

Powers: none.

See ICE’s LOME III 55.

---

Gebirelda (S. “Stake of the Stars”)

This rod-sceptre, three and one half feet long, is made of enchanted black oak surrounded by braided branches from a mallorn tree. First wielded by Ancalimë, the rod became a hereditary item of Westernesse’s monarchs, especially its Queens.

Powers: +40 OB; x7 PP; strikes as either a quarterstaff, a mace, or a flail (depending on wielder’s last command); unbreakable, it will bend and return to its usual form if it strikes too hard an object; a magical symbol of authority, it can (up to 7x/day) be held up and, with concentration from the wielder, used to stun (for 1-10 rnds) all within 100’ who fail a RR vs. wielder’s lv1.

See ICE’s LOME II 17.

---

Gem of Unluck

A precious sapphire worth 100 gp, this item belongs to Shabla the Slow who keeps it in her chambers at Caichail Puchel.

Powers: anyone carrying it has a -20 bonus for all randomly determined rolls.

See ICE’s Sea Lords of Gondor 47.

---

Ghân’s Amulet

Ghân-buri-Ghân’s Animist necklet is made of alternating white shells and long asp fangs, with a tiny sack of fragrant herbs and potent shamanic items (amber, owl feathers, deer musk, lavender, and garlic) attached. The string itself is of woven grasses.

Powers: x3 Channeling PP multiplier.

See ICE’s Riders of Rohan 57, 61; LOME 11 30.

---

Gift of Friends

Given to Ingwë by Oromë, Nessa, Vairë, and Vana, this wreath crown was woven from the twigs of the Two Trees: Telperion and Laurelin. It glows with a remnant of the Trees’ light, silver and gold.

Powers: the radiance of the crown acts as a RM/MERP Protections Bless V to all allies within 888’; it also permits friendship, healing, command, and summons of all natural animals within 888’.

See ICE’s LOME 1 82.

Gift of Melian

The crown of Elwë (Thingol Greycloak) is a composite of two circlets, one gold, one mithril, and two gracefully curving mithril arches, one from front to back and one from side to side. The whole is inlaid with ithilnaur and set with violet garnets.

Powers: +10 Essence spell adder; may cast Essence spells while wearing armor with no penalty; gives wearer the ability to cast the base Magician/Mage lists and the open and closed Essence lists to 50th/10th level (using his own Essence Power Points); protects head as a full helm; negates 50% of head criticals.

See ICE’s LOME 1 69.

Gift of Varda

Ingwë’s beautiful suspended medallion was a gift from the Maia it is named for. It is entirely a swirl of variously colored laen, so artfully put together that it seems constantly in motion, though completely static.

Powers: x 16 PP for all professions; wearer cannot be stunned, possessed, or controlled; and is immune to fear.

See ICE’s LOME 1 82.
Gildor’s Pendant
The pendant is of gold with a large faceted adamant suspended in its center, hanging down in gold circle on a golden chain.
Powers: +5 Bardic PP enhancer; allows up to 3 spells to be stored and cast at will.
See ICE’s Rivendell 15.

Glass of the Dark
Made by the Elves, this item is strung on a gold necklace: the 3” spy glass (worth 15 gp) is attached by a gold ring.
Powers: enables user to see in the dark as if viewing through the glass on a clear day.
See ICE’s Sea Lords of Gondor 39.

Glingal (S. “Hanging Flame” or "Gleaming Light")
This artificial Tree of gold was fashioned by Turgon as an image of Laurelin, the Golden Tree, and stood in the royal courts in the secret city of Gondolin until its betrayal and fall in 1.A. 511.
Powers: all individuals opposed to the Lord of Darkness and within 5 miles of the Tree may use RMMovement/MERP Lofty Bridge Leaping 1x/day and are subject to a continual Protections Bless III or a continual MERP Protections Bless.
Read Sil 126,332.

Great Beacon
Seven lamps, arrayed in an arc depicting the seven stars of Arnor, comprise the beacon. Set in a rotating steel and glass housing, it is located beneath the upper part of a copper roof covering. A winch controls the surrounding roof sections, which slide down and over the roof area below whenever the beacon is in use. The controls are located along the Beacon-master’s walk, which surrounds the lamp.
Powers: glow can be seen as far as 200 miles away.
See ICE’s Weathertop 29.

Headband of Slaeg
Of gold, inset with sapphire (700 gp), this item lies among the grave goods in the Tombs of the Glorious in the Paths of the Dead. It is the product of the Golden Age of Daen Coentis culture, the mid-Second Age.
Powers: +7 PP adder (any realm); permits wearer to wield RM/MERP Earth Law spells (as and to 10th lвл); can summon and control all Púkel-creatures within 70’ radius; while worn confers knowledge of course of any path born of Daen workmanship, once the trail is ascertained.
See ICE’s Ereh & the Paths of the Dead 34.

Healer’s Bracelet
Mithril with wood and green laen inlay, Rána the Healer’s bracelet aided the Guild of Elements on many occasions.
Powers: x5 PP enhancer; heals 1 hit/rnd; heals 1 hit/rnd bleeding.
See ICE’s LOME 1 88; Court of Ardor 29.

Hirilgalad (S. "Lady’s Light")
A beautiful magic tiara, the symbol of Ancalimë’s sovereignty, worn instead of the more masculine hereditary crown. The tiara is made of braided gold, silver mithril, and blue laen. It bears adamant, diamonds, and sapphires. First worn by Ancalimë, in time it became a hereditary item of Westnesse’s monarchs. Weightless, it in no way impedes the wearer’s spell casting ability.
Powers: +35 DB; stunning; wearer can concentrate and make the tiara glow with a brilliant aura which adds +70 to any of wearer’s attempts to persuade or control targets (within 100’).
See ICE’s LOME 11

Hismir (Q. "Misty Jewel")
A large opal set in a platinum brooch, it has an approximate value of 1500 gp.
Powers: wearer can cast any three spells from the RM Gas Manipulation list (up to 15th level) or the MERP Wind Law list (to 10th level) each day.
See ICE’s Lorien 50.

Holy Tree
Standing pale and stark in the Chamber of the Moon in the Paths of the Dead, this tree is shaped of stone and was once animated through enchantments. It is one of very few such trees — another still grows and thrives in the Daen Coentis sanctuary at Ossaren, in eastern Morthond northwest of Calembel. Holy trees grow like crystals forming in the pattern and manner of real trees. Testaments to Yavanna, Queen of the Earth, and her servants, they are considered most sacred. The tree of the Paths of the Dead was dedicated to Nienna, the Vala who weeps for all sorrow in the world; its purpose was to help mourners pass through their grief and learn wisdom from it. The tree is now dead and withered. Above it, there used to be a glowing, magical, moonlike glassine light in the ceiling, but it is also dead.
Powers: none.
See ICE’s Paths of the Dead 33.
Horseshoe Totem
Made of slightly pitted iron, this appears to be an ordinary horseshoe, though it is of smaller than normal size.

Powers: allows casting of spells from the RM/MERP Spell Defense list (use own PP).

See ICE’s Mouts of the Entwash 37.

Idol of Kor-Sharhaigun
An Easterling idol of Morgoth, whom they call Kor-Sharhaigun. It is made of green-black jade and is quite ugly.

Powers: when prayed to for 30 minutes, gives a +20 attack bonus to all evil Channeling spells cast during the following 24 hours.

See ICE’s LOME I 81.

Idril’s Tiara
A delicate item of mithril and diamonds, Turgon’s daughter took it with her when she sailed into the West with her husband, the Adan lord Tuor.

Powers: x8 PP enhancer; provided wearer with a permanent RM Mind Mastery Mirrormind spell vs. all mental attacks and illusions or continual MERP Dispel Essence and Dispel Channeling.

See ICE’s LOME I 81.

Imrazin’s Helper
An armring belonging to the leader of Sauron’s lord of spies and assassins, this item is worked in red enamel on gold.

Powers: reduces bleeding by 3 hits/rnd.

See ICE’s Dagorlad 34.

Iron Crown
Morgoth forged this great crown for himself in Angband upon his return to Middle-earth as a symbol of his claim to be King of the World. A simple black iron crown inlaid with black ithilnaur, which gleams white under moonlight or firelight, the item was adorned with three Silmarils.

The Iron Crown remained intact until Lúthien ensorcelled the Dark Lord into sleep and Beren cut a Silmaril loose from it using Angrist (which snapped when he attempted to cut a second Silmaril loose). After the Great Battle, the two remaining Silmarils were removed and the Iron Crown was beaten into the collar put upon Morgoth’s neck.

Powers: wearer receives a +50 bonus for all activity; crown will magically adjust to wearer’s head size; strong, the crown cannot be broken unless it is heated in the fires where it was made; wearer’s spells, physical attacks, and maneuvers cannot fail; in addition, the crown bestows the following powers.

- the Jewels’ inherent aura is so beautiful that all who come within 500’ of the crown must make a RR vs. a 130th level attack; failure results in victim’s being stunned and unable to parry for a number of rounds equal to the RR failure.
- anyone touching a Jewel receives a “D” Heat critical each round he maintains contact, all results of which are applicable to that part of the body that touches the Jewel (e.g., a back burn might be applied to the victim’s hand or lips).
- x20 PP multiplier that enables wearer to simultaneously concentrate on 20 different spells (their cumulative level not to exceed 1000).
- intelligent and inherently 75th level, the crown will expand to fall from the wearer’s head whenever it feels the wearer is unsuitable.
- irresistibly Evil, it enhances any desire the wearer might have and, in time, anyone will succumb to their own inner feelings.
- of Fire, the wearer can immolate at will, becoming engulfed in a flame which strikes all within 5’ with the equivalent of a +50 Fireball each round.
- of Darkness, the wearer can become a “shadow” at will, operating with a +50 hiding bonus at night or in darkness.

Read LotR II 408; Sil 81, 181, 252. See LOME I 97.

Jade Talisman
This abstract circular pendant is the lucky charm of Hieryan the Keeper, a faithful servant of the King of Gondor. It hangs on a leather thong about his neck.

Powers: RM Nature’s Protection/MERP Nature’s Guises Hues 4x/day.

See ICE’s Mouts of the Entwash 26.

Jewelry, Gems, and Valuables / Ho-Le

Jeweler’s Stone
An amulet of emerald set in mithril and beryllium, Celebrimbor’s forging charm is always about him when he is at his tasks, which is most of the time.

Powers: highly intelligent; can analyze any material or alloy within 30 feet; stores and can cast up to 3 10th level Essence spells/day; +33 to all forging operations.

See ICE’s Lorien 22.

Leaf-crown of Cimóníemor
A beautiful diadem wrought of gold in the form of a small wreath of delicate leaves, it is set with emeralds, opals, and fine inlays of green and blue crystal.

Powers: provides the wearer Perception 300’ at will; casts RM Mind Visions Truth I or MERP Essence’s Ways Detect Evil 3x/day; +30 DB.

See ICE’s Teeth of Mordor 18.
Lightning Bracelets

Of amber laen and inscribed with tiny lightning-runes, these bracelets can be used simultaneously and both must be worn for either to work. They are the "gloves" of the Lord Forger Aegmor.

Powers: one is a +3 spell adder, the other x3 PP multiplier: they confer complete protection from all heat, electricity, and cold to the hands and lower arms.

See ICE's LOME I 52.

Lord Phôrakon's Voice

A small magical figurine of Lord Phôrakon of Urlond, carved of reddish marble.

Powers: the figure will, upon command, animate and, 1x/day. cast any one Essence spell of up to 20th level.

See ICE's Shadow in the South 48.

Lucent Pendant

A crystal orb on a gold chain, this is part of the legacy Fêatur received from Melkor for fleeing with him to Angband with the Silmarils. He later put it to better use trying to right his wrongs. His twin sister (also named Fêatur) also received such a pendant, but her devotion to evil never wavered.

Powers: allows free use of spells on the RM Brilliance to 30th level or the MERP Protections, Light Law, and Nature's Guises lists; x5 mentalists PP enhancer; creates enhanced RM Cloaking Blur effect (+30 to DB) or MERP Essence Hand Shield.

See ICE's LOME I 72, 73.

Medallion of Forewarning

The protection of the Prince of Dol Amroth, Celdrahil, the medallion is a black globe of galvorn which grows hot as danger approaches. It is strung on a mithril chain.

Powers: gives 1 rnd warning of attackers within 100'.

See ICE's Havens of Gondor 53.

Medallion of Truth

A construction of blue laen enclosing a diamond illuminated with a permanent Utterlight spell, this item is hard to miss and sometimes dazzles those seeing it for the first time. It is the preferred method of dispensing justice for its owner, Hallas, the Ernil of Dol Tinare.

Powers: detects lies and forgeries.

See ICE's Lost Realms of Cardolan 62.

Mer-mask

This mask of waterbreathing is fashioned to resemble a mermaid's head: red-haired, pale-skinned, with gills just barely visible under the jaw. It belongs to Vasariel, a Councilor of the Haven of Edhellond.

Powers: water-breathing 8 hours per day.

See ICE's Havens of Gondor 54.

Midnight Coach

A miniature carriage which, until set on the ground in an unconfined area and ordered to "grow" in Quenya, will remain simply a faithfully rendered replica in gold with red enamel. The wheels are of white oak, whitewashed, and tinted with green lines running along the spokes. There is room for a tiny coachman above and for considerable luggage (perhaps a small lunch) behind.

Powers: becomes a full-sized carriage drawn by four spectral horses, able to carry up to 4 people, and move at 60 mph; carriage can only remain full size for three hours and can only be caused to assume full size once per day.

See ICE's Lorien 39.

Miramarth (S. "Doom Jewel")

Of late First Age construction, now at Caras Amarth. this half-inch diameter black stone is encased in a clear blue jewel (2" in diameter). It is possibly a legacy of Morgoth. The stone and its encasing jewel together weigh two pounds.

Powers: when "at rest" and exposed it creates a 30' x 30' x 30' area of impenetrable darkness; when covered, there is no effect; when held and exposed, darkness ensues, but the wielder can see as if the jewel was not present: effect is immediate and constant, and the enchantment is 30th level.

See ICE's Northern Mirkwood 46.

Mirlammenrim (S. "Jewel of Many Tongues")

An earring made of gold and set with a single blue sapphire, this is a small cylinder that dangles from the wearer's pierced ear.

Powers: a powerful device for anyone of the realm of Mentalism, the Mirlammenrim will translate any language spoken to the wearer into a tongue he is familiar with: in addition, it allows him or her to speak mentally to anyone in such a way that they believe that the wearer is speaking their own language.

See ICE's Isengard 42.

Mirror of Opals

A small hand mirror of polished silver in a cedar frame, this item might be useful when shaving or as a signal device. Several tiny opals were once set in the frame, but these have been pried out.

Powers: RM/MERP Light Law Projected Light 4x/day. to 8th lv1.

See ICE's Mouths of the Entwash 9.

Mirror of Visions Behind

A full length mirror on a stand, allowing the reflecting surface to tilt, it can be made to shrink (to but four inches in height) by simultaneously slapping the knobs on the ends of the pivot. The mirror appears normal, until one stands before it and commands "let me see the past," specifying how many years back (up to 5,000 years). The mirror then fogs over and becomes transparent like a window, so that one sees the area behind the glass, except the area shown will be as it was at the time requested.

Powers: mirror operates for one hour per day, and shows up to three time periods in this duration.

See ICE's Isengard 26.
Mirrored Circlet
A miracle of polish and glitter, this mithril band reflects light as well as the finest mirror. It crowns the head of Ardana, mistress of the Court of Ardor.

Powers: continuous RM Mind Mastery Mirrormind or continuous MERP Spell Ways Spell Store ("stored" spells will be recast by the item back at the attacking spell caster the same round); acts as a x6 Astrologer PP enhancer; protects the head as a full helm.

See ICE’s LOME 1 55; Court of Ardor 16.

Mithril Room
Prince Braegil the Scholar, the second son of Ostoher (the Last King of Cardolan) was a loremaster, renowned even among the Elves. Braegil devoted much of his research to the hunt of ancient heirlooms (his notes would be priceless!) and treasures that might restore the declining fortunes of his father's kingdom. In T.A. 1405, Braegil led an expedition to the sunken ruins of Lond Daer. In early 1409 he was preparing a major expedition in great secrecy, but this was aborted by his death in the Battle on Tyrn Gorthad. Word gradually spread that Braegil thought he had discovered the fabled Mithril Room of Tar-Telemmaitë.

Most of the Wise have virtually forgotten Tar-Telemmaitë, but the fifteenth King of Númenor was the "bogey man" in much of the folklore of Cardolan as his lust for mithril had provoked the Second Revolt of Eriadorans in the dim mists of the Second Age. Tar-Telemmaitë's wealth and greed were exemplified in the legend of Telemmaitë's wealth and greed were exemplified in the legend of fabled Mithril Room of Tar-Telemmaitë.

Nauglamir (S. "Dwarf Necklace")
This great Dwarven necklace of gold is incredibly costly, set with many precious and heavy gems brought from Valinor. It was made for Finrod by the Dwarves of Ered Luin in the First Age and was considered the finest work of art of that age. It later became a part of Elwë's doom; when he demanded a Silmaril from Beren as Lúthien's bride-price, his fate was sealed. He set the Silmaril in the Nauglamir, a present he had received from Hurin (who had taken it from the hoard of Glaurung), and displayed it before those with less resistance to its beauty than he. The Dwarves coveted the Silmaril and slew him for it. It was recovered and returned to Lúthien, but was again stolen during the sack of Menegroth. Beren recovered it for his wife, and during the years that Lúthien wore the Nauglamir, no living thing in Middle-Earth could lay claim to greater beauty and grace than she. It passed from her to Dior, then Elwing, who took it to Aman on the journey with Eärendil. Upon his ascension to the heavens, the Silmaril shared in Eärendil's glory, shining upon his brow as a star. Although the Nauglamir's fate is obscured, perhaps it too journeys across the sky.

Powers: does not encumber; wears lightly and comfortably; and raises the wearer's Presence bonus by 50; and gives constant RM Light's Way Alkar or MERP Protections Bless and Sound/Light Ways Utterlight; when burdened with the Silmaril, the wearer's Presence modifier increases by +125; however, Noldor and Dwarves who see it must also resist a 400th level Passion aura or strive to obtain it even at the risk of near certain death.

Monkey Bracelets
Made of brown, pink and white laen, these bracelets seem like an ugly joke. They are carved to resemble leering monkey faces, and are unattractive in the extreme.

Powers: +100 to Acrobatics 1x/day for 12 rounds.

See ICE’s Mouns of the Entwash 37.

Moonlight Circlet
This is a circlet of silver moonstones that yield a blue-white iridescence. It is part of Shoglic's Treasure at the Blue Butte.

Powers: negates head crits on roll of 01-25; x2 PP (Chan.) mult.

See ICE’s Haunted Ruins of the Dunlendings 29.

Necklace of Defense
Made of shining adamants and long hanging spikes of mithril, this item is likely one of Celebrimbor's creations. Its history is obscure, however.

Powers: x2 PP; casts any spell from RM/MERP Protections list to 10th lv1 3x/day.

See ICE’s Havens of Gondor 54.

Necklace of Marshsigns
A torque rather than a true necklace, made of gold wrought in a knot pattern and set with an emerald at either end.

Powers: enables wearer to track any one person through any marsh terrain for 1 hr multiplied by wearer's lv1, assuming he starts the search with a visual trace.

See ICE’s Sea Lords of Gondor 60.
Necklace of Waterlore
Again a torque rather than a necklace, this item is simple and the individual marks of each blow of the jeweller's hammer are clearly visible. It is of silver with a stylized pike's head at each end.

Powers: +4 spell adder; enables the wearer to touch water and understand its mineral content and, if running, the approximate location of its source.

See ICE's Sea Lords of Gondor 61.

Nimrodel's Necklace
Lost when Nimrodel disappeared on the way to meeting her lover Amrodel, this beautiful necklace of black laen and green jade was a work of the highest Elven craftsmanship. It may rest somewhere among the thick leaves of the wild woods or it may have fallen into the foul hands of Orcs.

Powers: x5 PP enhancer; it provides a misty aura, which gave +60 to wearer's DB.

See ICE's LOME 1 87.

Nirnadell's Tiara
Made by Lothiriel the Jeweler, one of the most famous metal and jewelsmiths in all Cardolan, this stunning item was commissioned by the late King Ostoher for his daughter Nirnadel. The piece, worked in mithril and sapphire, is the jeweler's crowning achievement and its value exceeds 10,000 gp. It was stolen just days before its completion by the thieves of Tharbad.

Powers: none.

See ICE's Thieves of Tharbad 26.

Orbs of the Guild of Elements
There are five of these crystal spheres, each about four inches in diameter and encased in a mithril wire cage and strung on a silver chain. They are held by Laurrë Menelrana, Lyrin, Klaen, Raná, and the male Fëatur.

Powers: allow contact with any of the other four orbs of the Guild 1x/day.

See ICE's LOME 1 83; Court of Ardor 27-30.

Ovatha's Lip-ring
This intricately carved gold ring is worn by the senior male in the Ito line and generally passes from father to eldest son.

Powers: +3 (Channeling) spell adder.

See ICE's LOME II 35.

Pearl of Great Price
A string of pearls, this necklace is the property of Finduilas III, Prince of Cardolan and Ernil of Dol Calantir. It is named for the egg-sized greenish-white pearl at its center.

Powers: wearer always gets initiative.

See ICE's Lost Realms of Cardolan 62.

Phial of Galadriel
This jar of crystal contains the captured light of Eärendil the star (and thus, indirectly, of the Silmaril he bore) in the water of the fountain that filled the Mirror of Galadriel. The Phial was a parting gift from Galadriel to Frodo when he left Lórien during the Quest. With the Phial, the Hobbit was able to overcome his desire for the Ring, and Sam used the Phial's light to frighten and blind Shelob. The Phial may also have aided in the breaking of the spell of the gate of the Tower of Cirith Ungol. After the War of the Ring, Frodo took the Phial with him on his voyage to the West.

Powers: sheds light in need, the greater the darkness the brighter the light; unstuns bearer when uncovered; burns allies of Sauron, use the Spell Law or the MERP Cold Critical Table.

Read LotR 487-488; LotR II 401, 408, 417-420; 430; LotR III 218,234-35, 384. See ICE's LOME III 15.
Pins of Pleasure and Pain

Made for a masochistic Mage, these six bronze pins are less likely to appeal to others. Each is reasonably well made and about two inches long. Presently they are used by the Mewlip-mage, who haunts the Slough of the Ethir Onodló.

Powers: x2 PP multiplier, they must be pushed into the body at certain points and left in while PP regained; user must make a Use Item roll each time and consult the table below for damage done by each pin:

- Failure: 1-6 hits
- Partial Success: 1-4 hits
- Near Success: 1-3 hits
- Success: 1 hit
- Absolute Success: None

See ICE’s Mouths of the Entwash 26.

Pony Statuette

A simple representation carved in ivory and presently in the Sanctuary of the Ghost God Shoglic at Hogo Tarosvan.

Powers: becomes a real pony with the strength of a medium horse when tapped on the ground three times; it reverts to statue state upon command or after 3 hours; works 2x/day.

See ICE’s Haunted Ruins of the Dunlendings 29.

Red Fist Amulet

An amulet of carved red coral on a gold chain shaped like a fist, this was the charm that aided Zimtarik, Master of Arms to Sauron and now an Undead servant in Dagorlad’s Dead Marshes.

Powers: gives the wearer the initiative in a hand-to-hand combat situation (so long as they are not stunned).

See ICE’s Dagorlad 34.

Remmiraith (S. "The Netted Stars")

Seven large faceted gems: a diamond, ruby, emerald, jacinth, violet garnet, amethyst, and yellow sapphire set in a delicate beryllium spiderweb in a cluster as a brooch. The term Remmiraith also refers to the constellation of the Seven Sisters. Its value is approximately 60,000 gp.

Powers: each gem may hold a spell up to tenth level, to be cast instantly by the wearer when desired (only one spell/rnd as per the rules of Spell Law and MERP).

See ICE’s Lorien 50.

Rod of Umaran

Three foot long rod of ebony with a gold head and fittings, this is the weapon and scepter of Gorthaur, the High Priest of the Court of Ardor.

Powers: strikes as a +30 mace; Of Slaying vs. users of Channeling not allied with the Dark Lord; Unholy; delivers an additional Electricity critical; multiplies range of RM Weather Ways or MERP Nature’s Lore spells x10 and all Lightning Call/Lightning Bolt strikes are x5 concussion hits.

See ICE’s LOME 1 80; Court of Ardor 20.

Rod of the Venturers (Sceptre of the Sea-lords)

Symbol of the High-captain of the Uinendili of Númenor, the Guild of Venturers, this item was originally made for Elros, the first King of Westernesse. It was fashioned of mithril, a rod three feet long designed to resemble a stalk or branch. At the tip blossomed a beautifully made flower with five tall petals. Set within the flower, on tall stamens, glittered five white adamants. The sceptre shimmered with a silvery light; it became a hereditary possession of the Kings of Númenor, from Aldarion to Ar-Pharazôn. It was presumably, destroyed in the Downfall. Sometimes referred to as the Sceptre of the Sea-Kings.

Powers: confers upon its holder a RM Light’s Way True Aura or MERP Protections Bless and Sound/Light Ways Utterlight; allows free use of the MERP Wind Law list or the RM Gas Manipulation list, although it did not confer this power upon Ar-Pharazon.

See LotRIII 392,454; Sil 333; UT 215,224. See ICE’s LOME II 37,15.

Rose Ever Blooming

Crafted in days now forgotten, this item has kept the Mage Leêrdinoth in the world for 1500 years. Within the lovely crystal rose he has placed his spirit, and its light can be seen glowing from the crimson petals. His body is tied to it by the jewel in the circlet that he wears. Should the circlet be removed, his body will crumble into dust, but his spirit will remain within the flower.

Powers: whoever puts on the crown associated with the rose must make a RR against a 10th level attack using modifiers for Presence or lose his own body to the Mage, his spirit going out of Middle-earth; if the rose is destroyed, or its stem severed with the petals still intact, the Mage’s spirit will be forced to return to his body to resume the aging process; so long as a spirit remains in the rose, the body it controls is powered by magic, not by normal means; for this reason the user of the rose need not eat or drink, cannot be stunned or paralyzed in combat, and suffers no subtractions for injuries received; stuns resulting from spell failure are still applied.

See ICE’s Brigands of Mirkwood 28.

Sarn-i-Hin (S. "Stone of Children")

Made in the late Second Age at Emyn-nu-Fuin, the stone is now located in the ruins of Barad Fuin (S. "Gloom Tower"). It is a one pound grey-green rock which glows upon the command "galgalen" (S. "shine green"). It is a wood-elf device.

Powers: the stone’s brightness can be controlled, and can vary from a dim aura to a brilliant, non-blinding shimmering; the principal power of the stone is its ability to delve into the mind; when directed at a target within 10’, it can read his or her thoughts for up to 3 minutes; alternatively, the stone can be used to reduce a target to a "childlike" state for 1-10 rds; attacks at 10th level and only one brightening and one attack can be used in any 24 hour period.

See ICE’s Northern Mirkwood 46.

Scepter of Hent

A silver sceptre with inlays of gold and a huge diamond in the large, ornate head, this item currently rests among the treasures of Dwar the Dog Lord.

Powers: strikes as a +25 Mace; Of Slaying Dogs and Lycanthropes; throw and return 250’ every round.

See ICE’s Teeth of Mordor 18.
Scepter of Morthond

A three foot staff of ivory and silver with a sphere of onyx on its top, it rests in the palm of a featureless statue in the Greater Vault of the Fortress of Morthondost. It is very valuable but probably too readily identified to be sold readily.

Powers: none.
See ICE's Erech & The Paths of the Dead 29.

Scepter of Númenor (Sceptre of Armenelos)

This sceptre is fashioned of plain, unadorned gold, but carved with a spiral of Tengwar letters depicting the history of Eärendil and the founding of Númenor. Only 49" long, it is a symbol of the King's lordship and is rarely used in battle. Elros never used it, save in ceremonies. The Sceptre could be passed on peaceably, as it was from Meneldur to Aldarion, or it could be difficult, as when Atanamir showed his terror of death by refusing to surrender the Sceptre of Númenor until he died.

Powers: +70 OB: Holy weapon that strikes as a flail: victims struck by the weapon must make a RR versus wielder's level: failure of 01-50 results in victim being completely subdued and immobilized for 1-100 minutes; failure of 51-100 results in victim falling unconscious for 1-100 hours: and failure of 101+ results in victim dying instantly, his bones dissolving to dust.

Read UT 213. See ICE's LOME II 28.

Scepter of the Shire

Originally the possession of Isengrim Took, this heavy electrum sceptre became a hereditary possession of the Thains of the Shire. A gift to Isengrim from the King of Arnor, Argeleb II. it was used by such famous hobbits as Isengrim II Took (grandson of the Bull-roarer) and Paladin II Took as well as Pippin and his son Faramir.

Powers: +15 Mace; does an additional Unbalancing critical.
See ICE’s LOME I 17.

Scepter of the Teleri

This scepter was passed down among the Kings of the Teleri through the ages. Most recently, it was passed to Olwë, Thingol’s younger brother, when Elwë vanished in Beleriand during the Great Journey and thus Olwë became King of the Teleri. The scepter is of bright yellow laen inlaid with ithilnaur and set with topaz, adamant, and sapphires.

Powers: strikes as a mace +50; delivers an additional Lightning critical.
See ICE’s LOME I 88.

Seer’s Bell

A huge stationary, silver-inlaid steel dome located in a room below the Great Beacon of Amon Sûl, the bell is clad by movable copper sheathing which is permeated by capped vents. The surface is covered in a frieze depicting the story of Númenor, the Downfall, and the founding of Arnor. Seven clappers enable the Bell-master to vary the tone of the device. One serves as a warning clapper.

Powers: none.
See ICE’s Weathertop 29.

Sharp Silver Ears

Opal earrings made of silver, these are interesting in that the opals are not set or suspended but caged in silver wire. The vibration of the gems aids the functioning of the Silver Ears’ powers.

Powers: one holds RM Sense Mastery Slyears or MERP Essence Perceptions Listen, the other RM true Perception/MERP Essence Perceptions Long Ear, each can be cast up to 3x/day.
See ICE’s Lorien 39.

Shield Amulet

Fëanor’s amulet is formed in the shape of a round shield of mithril, with a violet garnet set in the middle for a boss.

Powers: constant RM Spell Defense Resistance True or MERP Spell Defense Protection III: stores 5 spells of any level; completely analyzes any material within 50 feet.
See ICE’s LOME I 72.

The Silmarilli (Q. "Brilliance or Jewels of Silima")

Forged by Fëanor, the Silmarils constitute the most beautiful curse ever to be visited upon Middle-earth. Made to trap and then shine with the light of the Two Trees, these three gems were the greatest work of art ever created in Arda by the Children of Ilúvatar. Fëanor, the mightiest smith among the Firstborn, invented Silima (Q. "Shining Substance Made by Craft") simply to craft the gems. The substance was crystalline, unbreakable, and could magically trap and hold light. After the destruction of the Two Trees, the Silmarill! could not be duplicated, and their manufacture was such that reproducing them would be impossible.

Fëanor grew increasingly possessive of and arrogant concerning the Silmarils, and refused to allow their use to restore the Trees after their destruction. He and his sons swore a great and terrible Oath that no one but they should hold or keep a Silmaril, and that they would take up arms to keep them. The jewels were stolen by Melkor, though their pure light agonized his flesh when he held them, and they led to one betrayal after another, the first being Melkor’s destruction of his ally Ungoliant when they quarreled over the gems. They were taken to Angband and set into the Iron Crown. There they remained until Beren cut one out as his bride price for Lúthien. The great wolf Carcharoth bit off Beren’s hand and thus swallowed the Silmaril, and the agony of its burning within his stomach drove him mad. The Silmaril was recovered when Huon, Beren, and others set off in the Hunting of the Wolf, leading to Beren’s death. The results were catastrophic: Thingol would not give up the gem when the sons of Fëanor demanded it; it was set into the Nauglamir, but the Dwarves slew him for it.

Consequently, Doriath was sacked when Melian left the land and broke the Girdle of Melian. After the fall of Menegroth, Beren avenged Thingol’s death by punishing the Dwarves of Nogrod and recovering the Silmaril. The jewel and its necklace he gave to the son Lúthien had borne him, Eärendil. While possessed by Eärendil, the Silmaril was absolved of its injurious qualities by the grace of Varda. The Jewel burned away the mists which guarded the Undying Lands, allowing Eärendil to find Aman.

With the completion of the Doom of the Noldor the Silmarils returned to Eä. The one worn by Eärendil lit the night sky, while a second returned to the bowels of Endor when the Noldo Maedros cast himself into a fiery chasm. Maglor, Maedros’ brother, threw the third jewel into the Great Sea. Thus, the Light of his father’s works found their way into the essence of Eä’s earth, sea, and air.

Powers: all of the powers of RM Channeling Light’s Way, Brilliance, Starlights, and Light Law or MERP Light Law, Sound/Light Ways, Protections, and Spell Defense (and beyond) are at the disposal of the wielder.

Silver Rod of Andúni (Scepter of Annúminas)

The sceptre is fashioned of plain, unadorned silver, but carved with a spiral of Tengwar letters depicting the history of Tuor and Indris and the Prophecy of Huor. Although only 49" long, it was the symbol of the Lords of Andúni and Andustar. It survived the Downfall to become the oldest Dúnadan heirloom in Endor, brought there by Elendil. It served as the Sceptre of Arnor until its destruction: thereafter, the scepter was kept at Rivendell. Elrond gave it to Aragorn at his wedding, and it then became the most exalted possession of the Reunited Kingdom, the mark of royal authority.

Powers: +50 OB; a Holy weapon that strikes as a flail: victims struck by the weapon must make a RR versus wielder’s level: failure of 01 -50 results in victim being completely subdued and immobilized for 1-100 minutes; failure of 51-100 results in victim falling unconscious for 1-100 hours; and failure of 101 + results in victim dying instantly, his bones dissolving to dust.

Powers: able to cast RM True Sight Sight True or MERP Essence Perceptions Long Eye 1x/day.

See ICE’s Lorien 39.

Stag Beard-rings

These copper and gold rings are meant to be entwined among the strands of the wearer’s beard, and will jingle as he walks or rides. Each ring is etched with a tiny stag, as this item was made by the Cult of the Stag. Ulno Tullwater, a Rohan Animist and the owner of the rings, is a member of the cult.

Powers: 3x PP multiplier: bring luck (in the form of a +5 to any three rolls the wearer chooses each day).

See ICE’s Assassins of Dol Amroth 7.

Star of Elendil

Given to Strider by Galadriel in T.A. 3019, this radiant diamond was an heirloom of the North-kingdom generally kept in its receptacle in the Crown of the Reunited Kingdoms after Aragorn’s coronation. Also called Elendilmir (Q. "Elendil-jewel"), it represented Éarendil. the gem had served as a guide to the Edain when they sailed to Númenor. The Star was worn on the brow of the Kings of the North-kingdom until Elessar gave it to Sam Gamgee in Fourth Age 16. Also called the Star of the Dúnedain and the Star of the North.

Powers: confers continuous MERP Spell Defense Area Protection II spell or RM Protections Prayer on wearer; x6 PP enhancer.

Read LotRIII 150,401,471. See ICE’s LOME II 18; Rangers of the North 35.

Star Sceptre

Three feet long with an ebony handle and mithrill head, this dangerous mark of authority is the property of Ardana. the Elf who loved the stars too much. It is the symbol of the power of the Court of Ardor.

Powers: strikes as +30 mace: Unholy weapon; casts Darkness 500’ radius at will: fires RM Starlights/MERP Light Law Shockbolt +20. 4x/day, with 2x concussion hits.

See ICE’s LOME I 55.

Powers: continuous RM Elemental Shields Fire/Ice Armor or MERP Protections Resist Elements.

See ICE's LOME 1 52.

Three Leaf Amulet

Fashioned from white gold to resemble three leaves joined at the stems, this pendant is an aid to Amras, one of the greatest hunters of the doomed House of Fëanor. The leaves are oak, mistletoe, androwan.

Powers: x7 PP multiplier for Ranger spells; may also cast 50 PP/day from RM Herb Mastery or MERP Plant Mastery.

See ICE's LOME 1 53.

Tiger Belt

A golden belt set with tiger-eyes and lined with tiger fur, made to fit a large Man or Dwarf. Presently it is among the grave goods of King Gorthosh, on the body of the King.

Powers: negates torso criticals on a roll of 01-40.

See ICE's Phantom of the Northern Marches 28.

The Tranquil Garden

Hanging on a wall in the Manor Ranoran, not far from Dol Amroth and the sea, is this particularly realistic painting of an elderly man working in a garden of herbs. It cannot be removed from its place on the wall without breaking the spell.

Powers: anyone looking intently at the painting has a 66% chance of falling into a deep trance; once the picture's magic begins to act, the player will spend five plus 1-10 rounds studying herb lore with the old man, while seeming merely to stare into space; if allowed to learn uninterrupted of the first five rounds, the pupil will gain two levels of skill in herb lore; he can only be shaken from his trance by a blow that actually wounds him for one or more hits; the painting's power can only be invoked once per month.

See ICE's Assassins of Dol Amroth 19.

Turtle Comb

Delicately carved from tortoise shell, this beautifully mottled comb has a tiny beaked turtle's head at one end and a stubby tail at the other.

Powers: removes tangles magically and painlessly.

See ICE's Angmar 12.

Uimereth (S. "Ever-feast")

A plate and cup of pewter, well-made but otherwise not easily distinguished from average dishes.

Powers: when the name of the items is spoken in Sindarin, upon the plate appears a full, hot dinner of several different foods; and the cup fills with wine; with practice, the user will learn that he can visualize a specific meal and have it appear on the plate; the Uimereth will produce a complete meal three times a day.

See ICE's Isengard 42.

Undome (S. "Twilight")

A ring of mithril, holding a faceted deep purple amethyst. Its approximate value is 10,000 gp.

Powers: x6 Mentalism PP enhancer; triples all RM Mentalist Presence and Mind Speech spell ranges or those of MERP Essence Perceptions spells.

See ICE's Lorien 50.

Valarauko Trophies

In the Demon's residence hall in Moria is heaped a stack of 66 mithril covered skulls, each worth 300 gp. They are the skulls of those lords the Balrog has personally killed since awakening in Moria.

Powers: none.

See ICE's Moria 63.

Varda's Brow

This jeweled headband was lost along with its owner when Elenwë perished during the terrible Crossing of the Helcaraxë. It was made of mithril and star-jewels.

Powers: +30 DB; x7 ranges on Astrologer/Mage information and communication spells; wearer heals 3 pts/min outside under a star-lit night sky.

See ICE's LOME 1 66.

Vardamír (Q. "Jewel of Varda")

A blue-white adamant suspended in a simple mithril pendant, this is one of Celebrimbor's triumphs of gem-creation. The jewel glows with a rainbow of colors, becoming brighter in dim lighting. Of course, it cannot compare to the living beauty of the Silmarils, but it is a radiant stone nevertheless. Celebrimbor wore it on ceremonial occasions. Its approximate value is 500,000 gp.

Powers: none.

See ICE's Lorien 50.
Voice of the Dark Tower
A mithril and black laen amulet belonging to the Mouth of Sauron, this circular item resembles three concentric circles of ridged black and silver, with a central boss projecting up into the cone formed by the circles.
Powers: amplifies the wearer's voice, allowing him to be heard over great distances.
See ICE's Teeth of Mordor 29.

White Crown
Woven from sprigs of the White Tree, this is the crown of Gil-galad.
Powers: x10 PP (all professions); maintain concentration spells without concentration for 1 rnd/lvl; protects as a full helm: negates head criticals on a roll of 01-50.
See ICE's LOME I 79.

White Torque
Made of white gold with a core of iron, this heavy torque is worked in an intricate knotted pattern of interweaving curves.
Powers: negates neck criticals on rolls of 01-90; melts weapon giving critical if same roll is 01-10.
See ICE's Sea Lords of Gondor 39.

Whitesnake
Hidden away on a high shelf in the Moonstone Fortress, this tiny ivory statuette is nearly buried in dust. It is yellowing and slightly cracked with age, about 6 inches long, and wellemade.
Powers: when held and gently stroked, will turn into a real snake that can crawl under doors and through tiny crevices, allowing the user to see through its eyes; it can see in the dark like an Elf, but as it is on the floor, its viewpoint is rather limited; user can direct its movements while it is in motion; it can be used four more times before it crumbles to dust.
See ICE's Pirates of Pelagir 23.

Wind Sceptre
Belonging to Sauron's spy at the Court of Ardor, Taurclax, this sceptre is of mithril, with teak and ebony handle and inlays.
Powers: +20 mace; also allows the holder free use of the RM Wind Law Wind Mastery spell (to 15th lvl) or the MERP Wind Law. Water Law, and Nature's Lore lists.
See ICE's LOME I 89; Court of Ardor 20.

Winged Anklets
This pair of gold chain anklets belonged to Balzathor, a Standard-bearer for Sauron.
Powers: +5 bonus to all running, balancing, and maneuvers.
See ICE's Dagorlad 34.

Wolf Whistle
This golden whistle was made for the House of Tarma, a noble Arthedan family. It was lost by a messenger slain while crossing the Misty Mountains and is presently among the debris of a Troll lair.
Powers: sound is distracting to wolves, give +5 DB or OB to those fighting them.
See ICE's Trolls of the Misty Mountains 11.

Woodman Totem
Given to the Northman lad Breorh by a girl from Woodmentown with whom he had a brief affair, this totem was carved by a wise man of the town. It is hewn from maplewood and bears the likeness of a squirrel.
Powers: RM/ MERP Animal Mastery Animal Tongues 1x/day.
See ICE's Mouths of the Entwash.

Wristlet of Bones
This is a charm bracelet made from the delicate finger bones of Orcs. It is currently hidden on a high shelf in the Manor Ranoran near Dol Amroth, with the sword Trollsdirge.
Powers: bestows on its wearer the ability to assume the form, gear, and speech of a lesser Orc; this can be held for one hour, 2x/day; it should be noted that, should the user be unable to speak Orcish without the charm, he will know only that tongue while he is disguised.
See ICE's Assassins of Dol Amroth 19.

Yulmita (Q. "Sparkling Cup")
A small goblet of skillfully wrought yet undecorated pewter, the Yulmita holds one cup of liquid.
Powers: will completely purify any water placed into it, up to 3x/day.
See ICE's Southern Mirkwood 56.

Zipatoan Brooch
An elegant brooch of gold and green garents, this is part of the hoard Shoglic has piled in the "Phantom Doors" where Gobha's (the Vala Aule) Priestesses used to speak.
Powers: allows/RM Cloaking Blur or MERP Essence Hand Shield upon command (10 rds, 1x/day).
See ICE's Haunted Ruins of the Dunlending 29.
4.5 MAGE’S ITEMS
Although most items are enchanted or adorned for the use of the heroes who fight Endor’s battles, the Mages who make them are often as vain and concerned with status as the Kings and Chieftains they serve. The items they craft for their own use are just as ornate and baroque as any war-sword, and just as deadly. Others are baubles, toys made for the joy of it. In general, the most common items are wands, staves, scrying orbs and crystals, mirrors, and talismans. Any item a spell-wielder makes is certain to be well-crafted and suited to its purposes — enchantments applied to slipshod workmanship would merely suffer from their own imperfections, shattering while under use.

4.51 BOOKS
Books serve a single purpose: to store and convey information. As such, they lend themselves to almost any sentient enterprise, from how to hunt the unicorn, trap it, and use its horn to concoct enchanted potions and salves to architectural drawings, traveller’s descriptions of distant lands, and charts and tide tables both familiar and unfamiliar. The rarest tomes confer magical powers on the reader.

The making of books in Endor is a long and dull process: all are written and copied by hand. They are frequently inscribed on vellum (thin calfskin), thick parchment, or even sturdy papyrus in southern regions. Covers are often of metal sheets, laen blocks, or tooled leather stretched over wood, decorated with gems, locks, protective metal corners, and gilt. Naturally, such heavy tomes are a sign of wealth and status as much as they are a sign of knowledge.

The Black Book
In the basements of Minas Daldor rests this black leather volume of moldering parchment. It is decorated with four tarnished silver corners and a silver-braced spine.

Powers: Contains a set of RM/MERP Lofty Bridge symbols, each usable twice; the book must be opened and read by the caster.
See ICE’s Sea Lords of Gondor 35.

The Book of Hours and Seasons
From the sixth century of the Third Age, this book describes the rituals of worship of the Valar in other guises amongst the varied tribes of Men in Middle-earth. The volume is kept in the Room of Channeling, one of the Rooms of Secret Lore in the Rynd Permaith laur. It is bound in red leather and illuminated on smooth vellum. The cover is embellished with knots and filigree of bronze and silver inlay.

Powers: None.
See ICE’s Minas Tirith 101.

The Book of Icelore
The object of the quests of the heirs of Lindor was discovered by Prince Randae Linvairë in a lair of the Ulairi. After the generations by failure of his ancestors, Randae returned in triumph. This large volume is bound in sheets of clear laen and written on pages of gold-trimmed parchment.

Powers: contains permanent Runes from the Channeling list/RM
Weather Ways to 60th level (MERP Wind Law, Water Law, and Nature’s Lore all to 10th lvl). all spells having a 600 mile radius.
See ICE’s LOME II 38.

The Book of Keels
An ancient book kept in the Vault of the castle of Leördinoth, this is a waterproof volume bound in blue laen and written on sheets of gold with tarnished black silver characters. It is stitched together with slightly worn silk. The tome holds many secrets of shipbuilding handed down from the shipwrights of Númenor. To a shipbuilder of Umbar or any other haven, this would be of inestimable value, but few will believe such a book exists unless shown it in person.

Powers: None.
See ICE’s Brigands of Mirkwood 30.

Book of Lore
Bound in white oak edged in copper and stitched to a folio of yellowed parchment, this is a rather utilitarian volume. The inks used to write it, however, are black as the day they were penned.

Powers: when read, the book adds 2 ranks to the reader’s Read Runes ability (once per person) and teaches techniques which add +5 to Base Spells and Directed Spells abilities; in addition, the text can be consulted like an RM/MERP Item Lore Item Analysis I (usable once for any item).
See ICE’s Minas Tirith 86.

Book of the Kings
This chronicle of Gondor has survived into the Fourth Age and recorded the deeds, lineages, and state of the realm from the kingdom’s founding to the present day.
Read LotRI 7.

Books of Lore
Bilbo Baggins, the renowned Burglar, translated these works of Elvish wisdom in his retirement at Rivendell during the late Third Age. They are his chief scholarly work and form the core of his Translations from the Elvish, with some supplementary oral sources. The books themselves are kept at Rivendell.
Read LotRI 380.
Book of Mazarbul (Kh. "Records")

Balin’s expedition to Khazad-dûm from T.A. 2989 to 2994 ultimately met with failure, but this book chronicled the progress of the brave Dwarves who ventured there. The book was sequestered in the Chamber of Mazarbul by the last survivors and was found there by the Fellowship of the Ring. It was claimed for the Dwarves by Gimli, and it remained in his hands in the Fourth Age.

Read LotRI 417-19.

Book of Runes

The book of Lady Tatharim, a mortal Half-elf, is a small volume of 27 pages, each of which is crammed with runes in a crabbed script. The covers are sturdy tooled bronze and silver over thin plates of ash, sewn to the pages by thick blue and yellow silk.

Powers: The first 24 pages are 1st-3rd level spells from each Mage list (25% chance any given rune has been used); the last 3 give +30% to anyone rolling to learn the RM Rune Mastery or MERP Spell Ways lists.

See ICE’s Mouths of the Entwash 26.

Celebrimbor’s Notebooks

A number of large books, containing Celebrimbor’s notes and sketches of all the items of power he has ever made — including the Three Rings. These beautifully rendered tomes, though not magical, are worth a fortune to certain buyers in the Third Age.

Powers: None.

See ICE’s Lorien 32.

E Mere Vardo (Q. "Vardo’s Wish")

A description of the rituals of worship of the Elves of Harlindon, this volume also contains ceremonies for exorcism and banishment of Evil in its many guises, as well as methods once used to counter the Dark Ones from Utumno and Mordor. This blue leather volume currently rests in the Room of Channeling of the Rynd Permaith laur, where only the mightiest priests in the service of the King are allowed access.

Powers: None.

See ICE’s Minas Tirth 101.

Essence and Being

This oddly-titled set of books contains a wealth of Essence knowledge, both theoretical and applied. Each book has a silver-inlaid lebethron cover and weighs 7 pounds. Written in Quenya, the pages contain symbols which reveal the secrets of the realm of Essence.

Powers: one book of this set covers each Essence-based spell list: if the inscribed symbols are read aloud, they enable the reader to cast the spells (regardless of level).

See ICE’s Weathertop 25.

Essential Encyclopedia

These 46 volumes represent the masterpiece of Antogûl Anfîri, its author. It is kept in the Room of Essence, one of the Rooms of Secret Lore in the Rynd Permaith laur. It is a mammoth work covering lands, creatures, geography, botany, heraldry, customs, and other topics of interest.

Powers: none, but the tomes are trapped: unless the appropriate side of the Master’s hexagonal plaque is pressed against the shelf below the book, anyone touching the book is treated to an automatic +40 Shock Bolt attack; if they do it again, a RM/MERP Wind Law Death Cloud is released, filling the enclosed environs of the Room of Essence; if they persist, on the third and all subsequent occasions they receive an Electricity Critical Strike (beginning with a “C” severity and adding one severity level thereafter): the correct side of the hexagon is described by a complex, coded series of symbols (or a roll of any specified number between 01 and 10 if one is trying at random).

See ICE’s Minas Tirth 101.

Fëanor’s Spell Books

These books were written by Fëanor and were his gift to Celebrimbor — a truly priceless collection. They are written in dark green ink on golden yellow paper, and are bound in soft, rich leather darkly stained by years of use.

Powers: contain every list of every profession (except evil ones) of all three Realms to 50th level; Celebrimbor alone is able to use these books to implant spells in items without burning off the enruned spells.

See ICE’s Lorien 32.

The Gold Book of Enlightenment

Hidden in a library in the basements of Minas Daldor, this book has remarkably remained unharmed by time and moisture. It is entirely covered with thin sheets of gold leaf, almost luminous in its untarnished splendor. The vellum pages are cream-colored and marked with red ink and gold and black illuminations.

Powers: contains a single, complete set of symbols for RM/MERP Light Law spells, usable once each up to 10th level; the book must be opened and read by the caster.

See ICE’s Sea Lords of Gondor 35.

Grey book

A leather-bound spell book presently in the treasury of the clan-hall of the Rogues of Strayhold, this is a fairly plain volume set with a small iron lock.

Powers: contains all spells from the RM/MERP Essence Hand, Unbarring Ways, Living Change, and Light Law lists.

See ICE’s Brigands of Mirkwood 23.

Herblore of the Shire

After he had settled down and developed expertise as a botanist, Merry Brandybuck wrote the work called Herblore of the Shire. It details the common plants of the region and their uses, quite useful for a healer or herbalist of any stripe. It also contains a history of pipeweed and Old Toby’s role in it.

Powers: none.

Read LotRI 28-29. See ICE’s LOME III 19.
Maranwe Kunduro (Q. "Fate of Princes")

A description of the services and forms of worship of the Valar as practiced by the Elves of Forlindon. The pine green leather bound volume also contains enumerations of the ways of the Gilgand (Star-priests), the Ulmedain (Water-priests), and the Ed-belguinuar (ministers to the afterlife).

Powers: none.
See ICE's Minas Tirith 101.

Mirenna Arts

Presently in the library of Tol Malbor in Dagorlad, this volume is bound in pale brown leather worked with an accurately detailed illustration of the plant it is named for on the cover.

Powers: if the reader studies it carefully, he can add +25 to his chances of successfully growing or finding the valuable Mirenna plant, and can relieve 11-20 hits rather than 10 when employing it as a healing herb.
See ICE's Dagorlad 25.

Of the Rings of Power and the Third Age

A book of lore describing the history of the Rings of Power. The book was clearly written in the Fourth Age, probably after the death or departure of all participants in the War of the Rings. Its tone is comfortable with the Dûnedain, profoundly respectful to the Eldar and Gandalf, and distant toward Hobbits; the author was no doubt a Dûnadan scholar. Of the Rings of Power may have been one of the manuscripts copied for the Took and preserved at Great Smials.

Powers: none.
Read LotRI 39; Sil iii-xiv, 353-78.

Old Words and Names in the Shire

After his adventures. Merry became a close friend of the young King Éomer and stayed in contact with Rohan for the rest of his life, visiting there often and mastering its language. Merry noted the similarities between the language of the Rohirrim and the Hobbitish dialect, and produced a learned study entitled Old Words and Names in the Shire which studied the relationship between the tongues.

Powers: None.
Read LotRI 39. See ICE's LOME III 19.

Orange Book

Kept in a secret vault in Lower Morthondost, this book gives a complete inventory of all the goods and furniture in that house and fortress, including the magical items. The list of magical items is five years behind. More importantly, the book also contains an earlier section that describes the evil Maiar who associated with Sauron. This information makes the book worth 200 gp to a Bard or Magician.

Powers: none.
See ICE's Erech & the Paths of the Dead 28.

Quenta Silmarillion (Q. "History of the Silmarils")

The Quenta Silmarillion is the greatest tale of the First Age, written by the Eldar of Beleriand. It begins with the creation of the Lamps of the Valar and continues to focus on deeds of creation and destruction, including the deeds of the Edain, the death of the Two Trees, the creation of the Silmarils, the revolt of the Noldor, the War of the Great Jewels, and concluding with Morgoth's defeat. It is generally referred to simply as the Silmarillion. It was one of Bilbo's translations and thus was part of the Red Book. The Ænulindâlë and Valaquenta were closely associated with the Silmarillion and may be considered part of a cycle concerning the First Age.

Powers: none.

The Reckoning of Years

Written by Merry Brandybuck when he had settled down and developed expertise as a scholar, this important book compares and contrasts the different calendars of the Shire. Gondor, Bree, Rivendell, and Rohan. It was compiled in Buckland early in the Fourth Age.

Powers: None.
Read LotRI 38. See ICE's LOME III 19.

Red Book of Westmarch

This large book with its red leather covers and rich vellum pages was written by and for Hobbits as an account of their history seen from their perspective. Its primary authors are Bilbo Baggins, Frodo Baggins, and Sam Gamgee, but it also contains notes and marginalia in other hands. It relates Bilbo's account of his adventures with the Gandalf, Thorin, and the Dwarves in T.A. 2941. In addition, it details the War of the Rings as seen by Hobbits who were involved, notably Frodo and Sam. During the many years that followed, Sam also contributed poems to the margins of the Red Book. He eventually gave it to his daughter Eleanor, and it was kept by the Fairbairns in Westmarch, where it got its name. The original was lost, but enough copies were made for it to survive. Some copies also contain all of Bilbo's Translations from the Elvish.

One of Sam's contributions is the humorous poem Perry-the-Winkle. The imaginary Lonely Troll is one of the main characters, and there are numerous Hobbits involved that may have been based on people Sam knew. An unknown Hobbit wrote a wonderful nonsense-poem entitled Princess Mee in the margins.

Powers: none.

See ICE's LOME III 13.

Runes of Glamour

Used by the Eratil, the Chamberlain of Tharbad, to make copper pieces look like gold, this is a slim volume of bleached parchment, each sheet containing the same rune.

Powers: eight Glamour spells.
See ICE's Lost Realms of Cardolan 63.
Scroll of Kings

The Scroll of Kings is a fairly thick document inscribed with the regnal names and sobriquets of the Kings and Queens of Númenor. Even after the Sea-Kings used only Adûnaic names, this volume recorded Eldarin names in keeping with ancient tradition.

Powers: none.
Read Sil 330.

Seven Books of Mazarbul

During the period T.A. 2989-2994, Balin founded a new colony in Moria and became its King. For the last months of his reign he made the Chamber of Records on the Seventh level of the First Deep his Throne-room, for his people were under siege. After his death in 2994, he was buried in a stone sarcophagus set at the room's center, and the chests around him were bare of wealth except for these seven books. They contain the History of Durin’s Folk in the First, Second, and Third Ages in three volumes, the Book of Item Lore, the Book of Earth Law, and the Book of Fire Law.

Powers: the Book of Item Lore contains ten runes for each of the Bardic RM Item Lore spells between 1st and 10th level (100 total); the Earth Law is similar, but contains Earth Law runes; the Fire Law book is like the others, but for Fire Law spells; every tenth spell is targeted to attack the reader, however.

See ICE’s Moria 60.

Suimbalmynas (Rh. "Everthoughts")

A large tome with inlaid wood covers, it contained a rune of every spell within the realm of Essence. It was lost just after the migration of the Withras into Rhovanion.

Powers: the runes are permanent (reusable), and can be conjured by anyone aligned to the realm of Essence.
See ICE’s Southern Mirkwood 56.

The Tale of Aragorn and Arwen

Barahir wrote this chronicle of Gondor in the second century of the Fourth Age. Parts were added to the Gondor copy of the Thain’s Book. Certain of the copies now extant show evidence of editing by a Hobbit.

Powers: none.
Read LotRIII 420-428.

The Tale of Years

Subtitled Chronology of the Westlands, this is simply a huge Tookish record-book of the Second, Third and early Fourth Ages. Unfortunately, the record was retroactively compiled by the Tooks in the early years of the Fourth Age, and thus is subject to a number of minor errors, typically Hobbit-centrism, despite the fact that Merry Brandybuck gathered material for it at Rivendell. It is, however, more accurate than most works of this sort. It was kept at Great Smials.

Read LOTR 39; LotRIII 452-72.

Thain’s Book

A copy of the original Red Book of Westmarch, made at the request of King Elessar and brought to Gondor by Peregrin Took in F.A. 64. The Thain’s Book was heavily annotated and expanded in Gondor, and a century later a copy of it was made in Gondor and kept at the Great Smials. This copy is the most important surviving version of the Red Book.

4.52 FOODS, ELIXIRS, AND ENT-DRAUGHTS

The simplest magic affects the user through direct contact, and the hedge-wizards and village witches of the world may not be capable of much more than these sorts of potions, powders, and other cures. Their effects are usually quick and temporary, since they require no expenditure of power to use. Yet, the salves and tinctures distilled by the Wise characteristically yield greater, more far reaching results than those created by a hamlet’s wisewoman.

Box of Grey Wood

After the Hobbits’ return to the Shire, Sam served as mayor for seven terms, and tended the land so that the flowers blossomed profusely, and the fruit trees were heavily laden with their treasures. His first son, named Frodo, took the family name Gardner in honor of his father’s works. Sam’s success was partly due to his devotion and skill, and partly due to the Box of Grey Wood, which he received from Galadriel. A silver rune, G, was set on the lid; within lay the seed of a mallorn tree and earth from Galadriel’s orchard in Lórien.

Powers: the earth from the orchard will make any garden sprinkled with it the most fruitful in Middle-earth.

See ICE’s Rangers of the North 35-37; LOME III 21.

Carne-coimas (Q. "Red Life-bread")

Baked in the late Fourth Age in Eregion, some of this rich, spicy, and dangerous food now rests in a spiders’ lair in Mirkwood. The carne-coimas consists of six white 1” round wafers in a white birch box inlaid with cedar and mithril. Worth 3 mp, it weighs only half a pound.

Powers: allows ingestor to cast 3rd level word "serkemado" (Q. "Blood Prison") at one target within 10 feet, once per day; failure to resist results in target’s entire circulatory system instantly hardening into a thick paste; target dies in 1-2 rounds.

See ICE’s Northern Mirkwood 46.

Chrysalis Cup

This small glass phial of murky brown liquid will turn clear if vigorously shaken. The phial contains six spoonfuls (twelve "sips") of liquid.

Powers: a spoonful reduces one’s size by half for eight hours (RR versus 3rd level Essence attack); larger doses proportionally increase both the shrinkage and the duration of the effect; if shaken, it will have no effect until the fourth portion is consumed, after which the effects are doubled.

See ICE’s Sea Lords of Gondor 37.

Clearsight

Made by the same alchemist as the brewer of the Chrysalis Cup, this small glass phial of murky brown liquid will turn blue if vigorously shaken. The phial contains six spoonfuls (twelve "sips") of liquid.

Powers: increases the power of the senses (bonus of +25 to Perception rolls); a spoonful will enhance sight, hearing, smell, touch and taste for eight hours; in larger doses, the imbiber should roll a RR versus a 4th level attack (add Co bonus): with a successful RR, it will cause hallucinations (victim operates at -50 for 10-50 rounds); failure results in insanity; if shaken, it will have no effect until the fourth portion is consumed, after which the effects are doubled.

See ICE’s Sea Lords of Gondor 37.

Fishberry Wine

This bottle of blackberry wine is fortified with Gylvir, but the strong taste of blackberry cuts through everything else and drinkers may not even notice the unusual effects if they are not watchful. The bottle is part of the burial goods of King Beregor — one of the last Lords of Rhudaur— in his crypt in the East-wood.

Powers: allows up to 8 adventurers to breathe underwater for one hour each.

See ICE’s Trolls of the Misty Mountains 26.

Fruit Draught

Ents make three magical types of draughts or broths that they use for nourishment and healing. They are designed specifically for their needs, but can be used by other races for short periods with some strange side effects. There are many different Ent Draughts with widely varying effects, but Men know only three and ignorantly call them Fruit, Nut, and Herb Draughts as though there were no other types. Far from the prying eyes of Men, the Ents make numerous, ordinary, non-magical draughts from traditional recipes: there are hazelnut draughts, walnut draughts, and chestnut draughts; apple draughts, peach draughts, and plum draughts; cress and mallow draughts, mugwort draughts, and golden cress draughts, etc. The making of those wonderful beverages is an ancient, long, and complex art. The three listed below have names in Entish only and are not differentiated in other tongues. The names are quite long and include every ingredient and most of the preparation techniques; so to Men, they are merely Ent draughts.

It should also be noted that most of these draughts are somewhat toxic to the dark races, ranging from nauseating to fatal. The draughts have within them indeed some of the "essence," some of the "dream and design" of the Ents, the earth, and Era’s intention. This is extremely disagreeable to the wicked physiologies of the Trolls, Orcs, demons, and Dragons, for whom it represents a direct antithesis to their misintended design.

The secret of how to make these draughts is known to the Ents only, and they can be made only in Fangorn where the ingredients are fresh and the Ents can make all the proper magical alterations. Note also that the Ents do not realize that their food causes side effects. Since most people never have more than a bowl or two the side effects are not usually seen and are by no means common knowledge. If an Ent becomes friendly with an outsider he will gladly share his food because he does not know it can be harmful. However, the Treeherd will not teach the outsider to make the draughts himself.

Fruit Draught is a very thin beverage concocted magically from the juices of several fruits and the water from the Limlight or its tributaries. Added to that is a touch of magic and the result is a drink that will quench the thirst of any Ent after a hard day’s work, or a long journey. To an Ent, two quarts of this drink is equivalent to five gallons of pure water.

Powers: should a non-Ent consume it, he will be instantly refreshed, motivated and capable of another entire day’s labor or travel; the initial sensation will be a tingling, coupled with a feeling that the drinker’s hair is standing on end; this type of refreshment, if used regularly by non-Ents, can cause some series side effects; short term side effects include radically quickened growth of hair and nails, and a bizarre craving for freshly dug Goyan roots that can only be found in northern Fangorn, which are slightly poisonous to non-Ents but otherwise very tasty; long term side effects include weight and muscle loss due to increased metabolism and constant hunger; the person’s eyes will also tend to bulge out; if use of the drink is discontinued, the person will slowly return to normal over a period of one year; if the individual continues to drink of the draught regularly he will die of starvation in 1 to 3 months depending on size and beginning weight because he cannot consume enough food to meet the body’s increased metabolic demand; this drink tends to put Ents to sleep if they continue to stand after drinking, so they usually lie down if they wish to stay awake.

Read LotR II 92-93, 212. See ICE’s Ents of Fangorn 12-13.

Gourmet’s Candle

This candle is made with Yaran (a rare spice from the West), giving its flame a slightly bluish tint. If burned in an enclosed space, a scent like fresh hay will be discernible.

Powers: everyone who breathes the candle’s scent will have enhanced senses of taste and smell for one hour.

See ICE’s Trolls of the Misty Mountains 26.

Herb Draught

An Ent Draught (see Fruit Draught) that is used by the Ents as a healing substance. It made from a mixture of herbs and the water from the falls of mist. The brew is very viscous: much like very lumpy molasses. It tastes horrible to the non-Entish palate. It is extremely filling; this drink tends to put Ents to sleep if they continue to stand after drinking, so they usually lie down if they wish to stay awake.

Read LotR II 92-93, 212. See ICE’s Ents of Fangorn 12-13.

Nightcap

This small glass phial of murky brown liquid will turn pink if vigorously shaken. The phial contains six spoonfuls (twelve “sips”) of liquid.

Powers: 9th level sleeping potion, one spoonful of which will result in a deep, restful sleep of eight hours; if shaken, it will have no effect until the fourth portion is consumed, after which the effects are doubled.

See ICE’s Sea Lords of Gondor 37.

Nut Draught

A thick Ent Draught (see Fruit Draught) that contains chunks of various nuts, roots, and bark. Nut Draught sustained Merry and Pippin during their association with Treebeard. It is also the mainstay for Ents throughout their lives. The posset is magical in nature, and a bowlful will sustain a huge Ent for a long period of time. Nut Draught can be consumed by Hobbits, Dwarves, Men, and Elves, but like Fruit Draught, it has some side effects.

Powers: even after drinking only 1 or 2 small bowls (the normal limit for days) of this draught, the effect can be noticed in most individuals and although some time lapse does occur, this small amount can cause it: for Hobbits and Dwarves a growth of 1/2 to 1" in height per bowlful with a comparable gain in muscle mass will begin to be noticed approximately 7 weeks after the initial drink, with the final result showing up from 5 months to a year after the final drink; for Dwarves, this translates to an increase of Strength and Constitution of 1 point per 2 bowls to a maximum of 5 on each; Dwarves, who are naturally stronger to begin with, gain 1 point per 4 bowls to a maximum of 3 points; Men that drink this draught also gain Strength and Constitution as Dwarves do but only grow 1/4 to 1/2" per bowlful; Elves seem to be unaffected by the draught, other than being filled and refreshed.

Drawbacks: the possibility of side effects increase with the total quantity taken in one’s lifetime, dependent on the individual resistance of each person imbibing; normally, once every six months, such a person must roll a RR modified by +25, his Constitution bonus, and his racial bonus versus poisons; the attack level is the total number of bowls drunk; this last point is important, as the toxic substance does not decrease over a period of time by abstinence; the poison drives the user into a coma, out of which he may never recover unless puissant magic is performed to extract the residue of the draught from his system, and reverse all its accumulated effects; the side effects of this drink are such that the affected person will suddenly slip into a deep cleansing coma once the toxic level is achieved in the body; since the effect of the draught is continual and not temporary the buildup to toxic level is also constant — the time between doses does not affect the possibility of side effects; only the total amount drunk in a lifetime determines the side effect: the coma will last until the toxic agent is removed from the body by magic, which will revert the person to a normal state, as if they had never taken the draught; this process brings back normal height, strength, and constitution; otherwise, the sufferer remains in his coma until natural processes rid his body of the entire amount of the toxic; if the victim is purged via this mechanism his Constitution and Strength will drop 1/2 point per day until they are reduced to five points below their original value; upon waking from the coma he will be normal height, 20% lighter, and unable to get out of bed for two months.

Read LotR II 92-93, 212. See ICE’s Ents of Fangorn 12-13.

Maleithel (S. “Golden Well”)

A golden flask of quart size stoppered by a silver cork and bearing the Elvish rune for water, the Maleithel is an unending source of liquid refreshment. Unfortunately, it is kept in Torech Ungol by Shelob.

Powers: every time the stopper is replaced, the flask will magically refill with clear, sparkling water; to those of evil disposition, the contents of the flask will taste vile and polluted.

See ICE’s Shelob 30.
Potion of Changing
A murky white concoction of mallow roots and other root extracts, the potion is sweet and sugary, but tends to stick to the palate for an unpleasantly long time.

Powers: imbibers can switch any two stats.

See ICE's Shadow in the South 48.

Scarmaker
This potent distillation is a bright scarlet draught of bitter, spicy herbs. It acts so strongly on the user's metabolism that scars are inevitable.

Powers: RM/ MERP Blood Law Cut Repair 111.

See ICE's Mouths of the Entwash 37.

4.53 SCRYING DEVICES

Devices to see the events transpiring in distant lands, whether separated from the searcher by leagues or years, the orbs, crystals, and mirrors used for such purposes require specialized knowledge, training, and in some cases, lineage. The uninitiated or ignorant seeker gazing into a scrying device is easily befuddled by visions of a future that will never occur or of images from nightmares that exist nowhere outside his own head. Yet, one of the Wise can learn much from sights seen through a seeing-stone.

The Lens
One of Celebrimbor's triumphs, the door to the room that contains this little wonder in the Master Smith's island house is of black eog and locked (Absurd to pick, -70). Only Celebrimbor has a key. Within the triangular room is a single large chair, facing what appears to be an oval mirror, about seven feet tall and mounted at the far end of the room. When one sits in the chair and stares at the mirror, the Lens is activated.

Powers: anyone under 10th level must make a RR vs. Mentalism or become nauseated and unable to operate the device; surviving this, one now has an awesome tool at one's disposal; the Lens is able to cast any spells from the Seer Base lists RM Past Visions, True Perception, and True Sight to 30th level or MERP Essence's Ways, Essence Perceptions, and Direct Channeling; the RM True Sight/ MERP Essence Perceptions Long Eye spells have a range of 3000 miles; the only limitation on the use of the device is one's stamina; for the purposes of Lens-use, multiply Constitution by level — this number is the number of Power Points worth of spells the user may command the Lens to cast in a day before becoming exhausted.

See ICE’s Lorien 32.

Magic Crystal of Revelations
A hexagonal crystal mounted in a mithril band, this item can be worn as a talisman around the user’s neck or as a rather large ring.

Powers: Casts RM Delving Ways Delving or MERP Item Lore Item Assessment 2x/day and RM Mind Mastery Observation or MERP Essence Perceptions Observe 3x/day.

See ICE’s Minas Tirith 86.

Mirror of Galadriel
The Mirror of Galadriel is a basin on the southern slopes of the hill of Caras Galadon which, when filled with water, gives glimpses of distant places and events. It rests in a garden enclosed by a high green hedge and is open to the sky. The basin itself is of silver, wide and shallow, with a silver ewer beside it. To use the Mirror, the basin is filled with water from the nearby stream (using the ewer) and the Seer breathes on it and waits for the water to become still. The effect is destroyed if the Mirror is touched or otherwise disturbed while in use.

Sam and Frodo looked in the Mirror when Galadriel fulfilled their request to see Elf-magic. Sam saw primarily events of the Shire, while Frodo saw Gandalf, the Sea and the ships of Aragorn, and the Eye of Sauron, searching for the Ringbearer. While they were in Lothlorien, Frodo was also given the Phial of Galadriel, which contained water from the Mirror.

Powers: a Seer/ Animist focus device, it enhances the range and scope of the spells in the RM Future Visions, Past Visions, and True Perception lists or the MERP Essence Perceptions and Direct Channeling lists, often combining them into a series of visions; manipulated with caution and skill, it is a very powerful aid, with virtually unlimited range in time and distance; however, as with all items of such power, it is perilous, especially when used by someone unfamiliar with it; in such cases, the Mirror will show swift, fleeting visions of past, present and future, frequently far away; the images often are drawn from the viewer's subconscious, and can be misleading if taken too literally.

Read LotRI 468-472, 488. See ICE’s LOME I 77.

Mirror of Marreth
This is a solid silver mirror in a bronze frame, currently in the vault of the Moonstone Fortress. It can only be used by intelligent individuals with strong powers of intuition (both Intuition and Intelligence above 75).

Powers: if the user lays a hand upon some item and gazes into the mirror, he or she will see an image from the item's past; if, in addition, the total of the user's intelligence, intuition, and level is 190 or above, the mirror can be directed to show more specific scenes (for example, the item's creation) or to scroll through the entire history of the item at high speed; note that items of great power will not be analyzed very well by this method, as they possess enough power and "will" to resist.

See ICE’s Pirates of Pelagir 27.

Orb of Seeing
Kept in a high tower in Ceber Fanuin in Seer Huinen's Scrying room, this one foot diameter orb of crystal is set in a small table where rests in an incredibly delicate nest of finely wrought mithril.

Powers: x6 PP enhancer; allows any Seer to cast any spell lists he already knows up to twenty levels above his own — this is heavily draining and may only be done a few times per week without doing permanent damage to the character's potential stats; given enough time and practice. Seers may tap the PP multiplying aids of the orb without being in it's presence.

See ICE’s Southern Mirkwood 50: LOME I 81.
Orb of Seven Stars

The Orb of Seven Stars appears to be a clear glass sphere, practically unbreakable, with several tiny glinting sparks set deep within it. The Orb is kept in a box of cherry wood lined with velvet the color of the night sky. It belonged to Cambal Agarinna, a member of the Blood Ring, but was stolen from him.

Powers:
- x2 PP multiplier; the user can cast RM Detecting Ways/MERP Essence’s Ways Detect Essence 1x/turn, RM/MERP
- Light Law Shock Bolt 7x/day, and RM/MERP Essence’s Perceptions Telepathy 1x/day; only a Mage can use the device properly, although others can use it to cast Detect Essence 1x/ day.

See ICE’s Minas Tirith 142.

Palantiri (Q. "Far-seer"; sing. "Palantir")

The Palantiri are things of remarkable beauty and mystery, crystal globes wrought by Fëanor and the Noldor in Eldamar. Perfect spheres of a deep dark hue when at rest, they look very much like glass in the cradling cups of the marble tables they rest upon. (An intent observer may notice a minute flame flickering deep in the center of an unused stone.) The smallest stone is only one foot in diameter; the two largest — that of Osgiliath in Gondor and the one at Amon Sûl — are so great that a man acting alone cannot lift them. If dropped, the stones remain undamaged — the same could probably not be said for the career of the clumsy handler — but intense enchanted heat can shatter them.

Originally there were many stones, all of them in the West. The Master-stone remained in the West, in the Tower of Avarlóne, but the Eldar gave seven of the Seeing-stones to Amandil of Andúnië. At the fall of Númenor, Elendil the Tall brought the these stones to Endor, the greatest heirlooms he bestowed on both Arnor and Gondor. He placed them throughout his realm: the chief Palantir resided in the Dome of Stars in Osgiliath (this stone alone could view all the others at one time), and the others went to Minas Ithil, Minas Anor, Orthanc, Annúminas, Elostirion in the Tower Hills, and the Tower of Amon Sûl. As the rightful heir of Elros, Elendil, his heirs, and his designates were the permitted users of the Palantiri. They were, in a way, pre-attuned to their use. Nevertheless, after Elendil’s fall, the Eldar reclaimed the Palantir of the Tower Hills, which only looked to the West. Eventually, it was put aboard the white ship of the Last Riding of the Keepers of the Rings in T.A. 3021.

The stone of Amon Sûl was long coveted by Rhudaur and Cardolan, for it was the chief stone of the North-kingdom and the other two were possessed by Arthedain and the Eldar. In T.A.1409 Angmar destroyed the Tower of Amon Sûl, but Arthedain recovered the Palantir and carried it to Fornost. The Palantiri of Amon Sûl and Annúminas were kept at Fornost until the fall of the kingdom of Arthedain, when they were lost in the icy shipwreck that killed King Arvedui in T.A. 1975.

The palantir of Osgiliath was lost when the city was burned during the Kin-strife between Eldacar and Castamir the Usurper. The Ringwraiths captured the palantir of Minas Ithil, better known as the Ithil-stone, when they took the city in T.A. 2002, and Sauron gained control of it. The stone had been placed soon after the founding of the city it was named for. The stone’s fate after the city’s capture by Sauron in S.A. 3429 is uncertain; but in the Third Age it stayed in Minas Ithil until the city was retaken by the Dark in T.A. 2002. This made the other stones dangerous to use, especially the stone of Minas Anor, with which the Ithil-stone was most closely associated. After the Ithil-stone’s capture, Sauron used it to trap those unwise enough to use the other stones, most notably Saruman and Denethor. Sauron’s corruption of the Ithil-stone led to its destruction when the Dark Lord fell in the War of the Ring — his essence had permeated it, and thus it passed from the world as he did.

The Kings and Stewards of Gondor did not use the palantir of Minas Anor after the fall of Minas Ithil until late Third Age, when Denethor II, embittered by the death of his wife Finduilas, felt he needed the knowledge that the stone could give him to withstand Sauron. The Dark Lord warped and manipulated Denethor’s visions and attacked his mind — the Steward went mad during the Battle of the Pelennor Fields and burned himself with the palantir in his hands. After this tragedy, the only picture that the stone showed, except to those of very strong will, was of two burning hands.

The palantir of Orthanc was unused throughout most of the Third Age. In 2759, Saruman went to Isengard in order to find the stone, but in using it he too was ensnared by Sauron. During the time of the Ringbearer’s Quest, Wormtongue threw the Orthanc-stone out of the tower, and it was recovered by Aragorn, who as a descendant of Elendil and its rightful user, wrested it to his own will. With the palantir of Orthanc, Aragorn discovered many things, such as the approaching fleet of the Corsairs; with such knowledge at hand, he planned the strategies that resulted in the victory of the West in the Battle of the Pelennor Fields. Afterwards, he used it to confirm the reports of his ministers on the status of the realm, or simply to enjoy what he had wrought.

Beginning with the birth of Angmar around T.A. 1300, the Stone-users of Arthedain and Gondor practiced the extraordinary thought-transference that the stones allowed more frequently. As trouble brewed and boiled over, the twin Dúnedan Kingdoms often exchanged information about enemy movements and strengths, and suggested and coordinated strategies to counter them. In a unique parting with tradition, the Istar Gandalf, an outsider, was granted access to the palantir of Amon Sûl (in Fornost), the chief stone of the North. In fact, Gandalf was the first to warn the Royal Court of Arthedain about their possible use by sinister forces, a notion discounted by many of the Seers. (Gandalf’s special nature was a mystery; the conventional wisdom was that only the highest of Men could properly employ the stones.)

Of the seven palantiri, three originally lay within the bounds of Arthedain: one under the care of Cirdan’s Elves in the White Towers of the Tower Hills, and two in Fornost Erin. Unlike the jewels and lesser heirlooms of past Kings, the Seeing-stones were never displayed in public; few outside the highest reaches of the Royal Court even knew of their existence. Only Kings and their appointed Guardians were generally given access to the palantiri, which were locked away in guarded rooms (often encased in steel "shrouds") high in the towers of the capital city. Only in Court were the stones cited as sources of information, and those citations were also stored far from the public eye.
At the end of the Third Age, Pippin recovered the Orthanc-stone following its ejection from the tower by Grima Wormtongue. Later, at Dol Baran, Pippin blundered a second time by accidently using the Isengard palantír. In doing so, Pippin exposed himself and his companions to Sauron’s evil will and questioning. Yet, this actually served the cause of the War in the long run, since Sauron was misdirected.

Later, in the Fourth Age, the northern palantír were recovered from the icy Bay of Forochel by the Lossoth and placed in the unbarred doorway sat in a defile between the high rock wall on the left (the other side of which was a sheer drop to the water) and the great cairn-like mound on the right.

Visitors to the site could not see the chamber entrance from the shore. To reach it, one had to traverse the narrow finger of land which stretched out from the coast. Halfway out, one scrambled over two rather large boulders. From there, the adventurer veered to the left to arrive at the unimposing entrance. This rough, unbarred doorway sat in a defile between the high rock wall on the left (the other side of which was a sheer drop to the water) and the great cairn-like mound on the right.

The chamber itself was narrow with deep, chiseled troughs down the right-hand wall indicating the work necessary to carve a room of the proper size. The palantír sat at the far end upon a large slab of marble that casually rested on a pile of fist-sized rocks. Two bowls had been gouged from the marble to cradle the Seeing Stones. The three walls immediately around the globes were carved with curious pictographs punctuated by holes drilled deep into the seemingly solid rock. These form a band of illustrations beginning three feet above the chamber floor.

The two palantír stashed here were not of the same size. The smaller (1’ in diameter) could be lifted by one man. The larger of the two was twice this size and would require two or three individuals to move it. The marble stand appeared to be hastily constructed but actually concealed a clever mechanism. Each of the stones sat atop a carefully set trigger device. Lifting orjosting a palantír set off a barrage of crossbows bolts fired through the holes in the rock. These bolts were carved from bone and had serrated tips promising to horribly mangle anxious interlopers. Moving the globes simultaneously was the only sure method of removing them from the chamber without being perforated.

Powers: Seeing-stones are "connected" — that is, each palantír transmits to and receives "silent speech" from another in use at the same time, its "answering" stone; the stones display visual images of scenes and acts that have occurred, or are occurring, or might yet occur, but they cannot transmit speech or interpret the scenes shown; thus the Guardians and Seers as well as Kings must explain what the Stones have pictured; invisible to the uninitiated, unmarked poles indicate alignment, and each stone has an upright, proper position; their permanent "upper" and "nether" poles must be placed in line with the earth’s center in order for the user to see through their viewing faces; lesser Stones are even tied to a set orientation; for example the palantír of Orthanc’s west viewing surface had to be aimed westward or it would remain black; even more restricted was the Seeing Stone of the Tower of Eldostirion in the Tower Hills (called the Stone of Elendil), which was tied to the original Master-stone on the undying Elven isle of Eresseä and could only face west, away from Middle-earth and over the Bent Sea (thus, it could not provide information about Angmar’s movements or the Hillmen to the east); however, the major Seeing-stones could be viewed at many angles and could flash scenes of happenings in any direction and at amazing distances; for example, the palantír of Forost could reveal the Arthedain Royal Court from a battle in Gondor, a distance of hundreds of miles; however powerful, the palantír had their limitations, the major one being their failure to illuminate a scene hidden or cloaked in darkness; a viewer saw things as if he were present at the scene and subject to its conditions of lighting; thus, action taking place inside an unlighted cave could not be viewed by a palantír; the darkness of a cave is all but absolute and too much for a Seeing-stone to counteract; nonetheless, the lightlessness within solid objects will not obscure a view to a place beyond them, so that a user of a stone can gaze through “things” without hindrance; one could peek into a chamber through a door or even a mountainside, although the room’s details might be obscured by poor lighting; also, unguided visions are usually random, hazy glimpses enshrouded by a misty foreground, making the skill and knowledge of the Stones’ Guardians crucial: to use a Seeing-stone fully requires many years of practice and education, plus the gift of seeing,” or correctly interpreting the vision; to begin, the viewer — whether Minister, Guardian, or Royalty — must focus his will and concentrate his energies upon the dark Stone, an exhausting effort in itself; standing about three feet from the palantír, facing the Stone in the direction he desires to look, he brings forth visions — a battlefield scene, let us say; should the user desire, he can enlarge his field of vision to display a vast host of enemies on the march, or he can focus upon a single object held in one warrior’s hand — a weapon or a jewel, for example; in the case of communications between Stones, he can see the thoughts of the one with whom he deals — provided the “connecting” user is in accord and is able to clearly bring forth the image; the palantír cannot read the thoughts of an unwilling user, and in such cases what they display is totally a matter of the wills of the two individuals involved.

Rhombus of Scrying

On an ebony pedestal in a secret room in Aldarion’s House in Cardolan is a large crystal rhombus, a primitive version of a Palantír. It is powerful, but unfortunately has been aligned to its present location. It would take an extremely talented Alchemist the rest of his life to re-align the stone. For their aesthetic value, the rhombus and its base would be worth 100-500 goldpieces depending on the buyer.

Powers: x5 PP; 5x duration and 5x range for seer-based and other scrying spells.

See ICE’s Lost Realms of Cardolan 42.
Stone of the Oracle

Presently at the disposal of Sherl the Oracle of Eryn Vorn, this smooth marble sphere has long been passed down from one seer to the next. It is carved from excellent white marble shot through with veins of faintest grey and green.

Powers: double range and duration on forecasting spells; x2 PP. See ICE's Lost Realms of Cardolan 62.

Stone of Storm Prediction

A fairly small scrying device, this irregular lump of black obsidian, four inches in diameter, has a natural hole through which to thread a thong or chain.

Watching Stone

A moss-covered stone occupies the top of a low, rounded hummock near the Micandors’ Tower in the Mouths of the Entwash. The moss conceals a wealth of swirling, spiral abstract designs. (With a successful Perception roll, one will understand that these represent eyes.) The stone radiates an aura of magic quite strongly, but passively.

Powers: anyone touching the stone and closing their eyes must make an RR vs. Channeling at 10th level; if they fail, the stone’s magic overcomes them; otherwise nothing happens; the magic will deliver to the toucher an image of all the stone has "observed" in the last day; it has been storing up images for the last five thousand or so years and thus puts the toucher into a catatonic/convulsive state for 10 +5-50 minutes; at the end of this time (during which the victim may not be removed from contact with the stone), he may make a static maneuver roll with cumulative Intuition and Presence bonuses to remember anything in particular about his vision; otherwise he will simply experience a profound sense of awe at the passing ages and later recurrent dreams associated with the stone. See ICE’s Mouths of the Entwash 22.

4.54 STAVES AND WANDS

As likely to be formed of glass or stone as of wood or metal, wands and staves are primarily spell caster's tools. The rare item may function as a weapon — a quarterstaff, a mace or a pole arm — but most are wielded to focus the Essence into potent attacks on an enemy, protections for an ally, or healing for the wounded.

Aldatar (Q. "Father of Staves")

Finwë’s staff is formed of braided limbs of the Two Trees, much like the intertwined snakes of the caduceus. The wood is smooth and honed to a fine polish, but otherwise unadorned.

Powers: x12 PP for any realm; wielder protected by constant RM Spell Defense Resistance True and Protections True or MERP Spell Defense Protection III. Spell Ways Dispel Essence and Dispel Channeling, and Essence Hand Shield, Deflections, and Bladeturn; +100 in melee; hits as a mounted lance 5x damage giving Crush, Impact, and Unbalancing Criticals; at will, the wielder may desire a target that has been struck to suffer the attack of a +50 point-blank Fireball (only the target and his gear suffers this blast). See ICE’s LOME I 76.

Baton of the Chill Touch

Belonging to Carnen Mek, an unpopular and war-loving Regent-councilor in the city of Bozisha-Dar in Far Harad, this rod is made of ebony and tipped with a black opal at one end, a ruby at the other.

Powers: x3 PP multiplier; drains 1 experience level when it inflicts a critical. See ICE’s Far Harad 52.

Bright Staff

Elenwë’s staff of white ash was destroyed with its mistress when she perished during the terrible Crossing of the Helcaraxë. Carved with various interpretations of astronomical creatures and set with tiny diamonds to show the positions of the stars in those constellations, the staff was topped by a topaz of excellent clarity.

Powers: +50 OB; allows free use of RM Light’s Way and Repulsions lists to 50th lvl or MERP Sound/Light Ways and Spell Defense lists to 10th lvl using wielder’s power points. Read Sil 90, 136. See ICE’s LOME I 66.

Camestë (S. "Estë's Hand")

Finrod’s beloved Amarië made and wielded this fine white oak staff. It remained with her in the Undying Lands when Finrod went into exile in Middle-earth.

Powers: x10 PP multiplier suited to all realms and professions; provides wielder with continuous RM Protections True, RM Shield Mastery Bladeturn V, and Deflect V or MERP Essence Hand Shield Deflections, Bladeturn and Protections Prayer, Bless, and Resistance; eliminates recovery time for all healing, lifegiving, and restoration spells. See ICE’s LOME II 52.
Elros' Staff

Elros was the first King of Númenor, and his items became the hereditary property of his successors. This staff is a weightless, 6 foot long rod of clear laen, varying in thickness artfully near the ends. Each end is thicker than the middle, but the whole is carefully balanced.

Powers: x7 Mage/Mystic PP multiplier; it also allows the wielder to cast any spell from the RM Mystical Change list or the MERP Physical Enhancement list without preparation or PP cost; can be made invisible with a round's concentration (the owner always knows where it is, however).

See ICE's LOME II 27.

Elwing's Staff

A light, yet resilient, staff made of supple willow and inlaid with strips of gold all along its length, this magical focus served Dior's daughter well. The strips of gold are worn and their pattern is indistinct, but if examined closely they can be seen to resemble feathers.

Powers: x7 PP for Channeling; +45 OB; may be wielded with one hand; calm or sleep given at will on a critical result.

See ICE's LOME I 70.

Erestor's Staff

A mallorn staff with a crystal sphere on the end, this item is shod with a cap of rusty iron.

Powers: x5 PP enhancer for Mentalism (MERP Essence); allows caster to cast Open or Closed Mentalist (MERP Essence) spells at 1/3rd normal cost.

See ICE's Rivendell 15.

Gandalf's Staff

This staff is long, thin and smartly polished, its gnarled set wood with a small crystal globe. The globe is held tightly to the tip by gold prongs.

Powers: x9 PP enhancer; +30 DB; +30 to all spell rolls; globe glows any brightness or color (up to RM Light Law Beacon or Utterlight 300'R or MERP Sound/Light Ways Projected Light or Utterlight) at a mental command.

See ICE's Rangers of the North 36.

Gaurhir's Staff of Bronze

This enchanted hollow staff can be used as a normal quarterstaff (i.e., as a two-handed weapon), but it has a more useful magical purpose. It is tarnished almost black, has a surface texture like that of charcoal, and is always warm to the touch.

Powers: x4 PP multiplier; 2x/day can cast Lines of Fire; this special spell draws a line up to 25' long (following any shape or design) upon any surface, small flames (up to 6" high) dancing along the line; at any time the small flames can be commanded to leap into a RM/MERP Fire Law Wall of Fire; the small flames last as long as the caster concentrates +1 minute/level; the Wall lasts for 1 round/level; when the staff is used in combat, it does a secondary Heat critical (i.e., if a "C" or better critical result is obtained, a Heat critical of two grades lower is also delivered).

See ICE's Gates of Mordor 23.

Ghostbane

Originally the symbol of authority for Beorn, first of the three enchanted chieftains of the great Cult of the Bear, this item was later passed on to his successors. Eríbhen, the Dunlendings' scheming High Priestess from T.A. 1697-1699, was the first to make Ghostbane famous when she roused the tribes against Gondor. The gnarled white staff is an intricately carved length of enchanted bleached chestnut and is traditionally used by the High Priestess of Tulach Boghain (Du. "Ghost Hill").

Powers: it serves as a +7 (Channeling) spell adder; enables the wielder to control any Ghosts within 100' who fail their RR (versus wielder's lvl); serves as a +25 Ghost-slaying quarterstaff when wielded as a weapon.

See ICE's LOME II 29; Mirkwood 105.

Hollenilon (S. "Closer of Paths")

To all appearances merely an unadorned staff of oak, this item's simplicity belies the power it contains.

Powers: activated by tapping the lower end (the bottom is tapered) on the ground, thereafter the path behind the carrier of the staff (until it is struck to the earth again) is blocked for 24 hours by whatever vegetation is nearby; naturally the effectiveness of the blocking is subject to the amount of plantlife in the vicinity; ideally this staff is used in the forest or where there is ample flora; the path in these cases is completely closed, and in fact hidden, even if a cleared way had existed before; the staff also will part most growth before the holder if he is moving through dense underbrush, and it deactivates Touch-grass.

See ICE's Southern Mirkwood 56.

Hooked Staff of Wizardry

Made of Dir-wod and carved in interwoven knots and circles, this four-foot bit of magery is stained a dark brown and heavily varnished.

Powers: acts as a +7 spell adder (for Essence); improves RRs against Essence magic by +30; and continually casts RM Detecting Ways Detect Essence or MERP Essence's Ways Detect Essence.

See ICE's Minas Tirith 86.

Lifekeeper

A rowan staff topped with a silver leaf, this potent item has been handed down from one northern healer to another over generations. Its present owner is Odelard of the town of Nothva Rhaglaw.

Powers: x3 PP multiplier for Healing spells; gives a +25 bonus when seeking healing herbs; and can cast a three-day RM Life Mastery/MERP Direct Channeling Lifekeeping spell 1x/week.

See ICE's Phantom of the Northern Marches 6.
Neldelhach (S. "Triad of Leaping Flames")

Once the prize possession of the evil magician Shaan Tur, the Neldelhach is a one foot long rod of gnarled wood with a three-pronged iron appendage at one end, also about a foot long. The end of each outstretched prong sports a large rough-cut ruby in a clawlike setting.

Powers: anyone of Essence can wield it; when it is fired a RM Fire Law Triad of Flame or three MERP Fire Law Fire Bolts leap from the gems; the bolts can be directed at up to three separate targets, provided they are all within 180 degrees of each other, and in the caster's line of vision (the caster only gets his OB with one bolt, however); the bolts always deliver x4 hits; in theory the Neldelhach will never run out of charges, but anytime it is not fully charged, it will seek to draw energy from any available fires about it within 100 feet; this is somewhat of a subjective decision by the GM to determine how severely it draws, but the lower its charge level the more "desperate" it will become, to the point of reducing raging bonfires to embers, and consuming the fuel; the wielder has no control over the recharging process.

See ICE's LOME I 89.

Pavilion Staves

These are four oak staves, each shod with an iron spike and measuring about six feet long.

Powers: can be used to construct a tent-like magical shelter which will withstand all forms of weather and cannot be detected by any non-magical means.

See ICE's Brigands of Mirkwood 30.

Rauzgnagli (B.S. "Red Nail")

A red eog staff, the Rauzgnagli is the weapon of Storlaga, the greatest of Orcish spell casters. Its intense red color apparently derives from a fine lacquer or glaze, and the staff seems to be more a bar of frozen ice or crystal than anything else.

Powers: +66 OB; x3 concussion hits; may inflict up to two additional criticals of the wielder's choice; when it strikes as a lance, the stave may be thrown up to 666' (normal range penalties), always returning to the wielder's hand (after 1 - 2 rounds flight); wielder may torture a helpless target by inflicting 1 hit/point per round on the victim and healing himself (or wasting the hit) at the same rate; such a process causes excruciating pain.

See ICE's LOME III 96.

Rilia's Staff

Made of grey wood, the staff is otherwise unprepossessing, even dull. Its only unusual feature is the feel of it: rough like fine sandpaper.

Powers: +30 to all fire attack spells: x5 PP enhancer; absorbs all enemies' Essence spells when held forth aflame (will flame on command, also rendering wielder immune to heat and cold); allows free use of RM/MERP Fire Law; becomes a +25 broadsword on command.

See ICE's LOME 1 89.

Rod of Dark Sight

This rod is made of intricately carved black oak inlaid with mithril wire and ivory disks.

Powers: Of Channeling, with one of the following powers once per day: RM Starlights Blinding, Calm Spirits Calm V, or Weather Ways Fog Call or MERP Sound/Light Ways Sudden Light, Calm Spirits Calm V, or Nature's Lore Fog Call; this is an intensely evil item which will attempt to possess the user and make him or her serve Sauron; each time a user casts a spell from the rod, he must resist versus a 10th level attack or become possessed.

See ICE's Lome 32.

Rod of Fire

A three foot long silver metal rod, almost weightless. One end is a carved white wood handle — the other end splits into three prongs, each of which is tipped with a ruby.

Powers: casts up to nine RM/MERP Fire Law Fire Bolts per day, either separately or grouped three at a time.

See ICE's Lorien 32.

Rod of Geliad

This ivory rod, topped with a diamond, was once the pride of the Sindarin magician Geliad of Lindon, Calimê’s grandfather on her maternal side. It is 2 1/2 feet in length, and is currently located in the Tower of Cirith Ungol.

Powers: a x3 Essence PP multiplier; adds +25 to all Essence Elemental attacks; the Rod will cast the spells RM Lesser Illusions Phantasm I, Light Law Light and Sudden Light, and Dispelling Ways Dispel Essence or MERP Illusions Phantasm I, Light Law Light and Sudden Light, and Spell Ways Dispel Essence as desired to a maximum of 30 PPs per day in addition to the user's enhanced PPs.

See ICE's Shelob's Lair 30.

Saruman's Staff

Made of wood with a head of a silvery metal, it is beautifully worked. Several stoutly wrought, spiralling tendrils hold a small sphere of crystal. This is the staff given to Saruman, as one was given to each of the Istari before they embarked for Middle-earth.

Powers: +30 DB; 10x PP multiplier; continuous RM Protections Protections True or MERP Protections Prayer, Bless, and Resistance to the holder; +20 to all spell rolls; truly an item of power, the staff aids Saruman in his Alchemical operations as well; it is keyed to Saruman and can be used by no other.

See ICE's Isengard 27.
Sauron's Staff
This evil item is made of dir-wood with a gold head and gold inlays. It served as Annatar's staff during his sojourn among the Elven Smiths.

Powers: x6 Power Points, any profession; continuous RM
Detecting Ways/MERP Essence Ways Perceive Power. 600' Radius; stores up to six 20th level spells.
See ICE's Lorien 20.

Staff of Earthmastery
A five foot long staff of gnarled dark wood, it allows the holder mastery over the earth through the tracery of runes now almost rubbed away from its surface. It is otherwise unadorned.

Powers: cast up to 60 PPs per day of RM/MERP Earth Law spells as high as 30th level/10th level.
See ICE's Lorien 32.

Staff of Fire
Made of cherry wood with inlays of dark walnut and lighter ash, there is no real pattern to the staff as a whole — just the broken inverted teardrops of licking flames from top to bottom.

Powers: +20 OB; casts any spell below 10th level on the RM/MERP Fire Law list at the level of the wielder.
See ICE's Dunland 63.

Staff of Light
Given by Finarfin to his wife Eärwen, this smoothly worked staff is of mallorn inset with golden mithril and topped with an adamant ruby.

Powers: x12 PP, any profession; acts as a +88 spear (Holy, additional Heat, Electric, and Unbalancing criticals); casts RM/MERP Light Law Lightning Bolt 8x/day (+88, 8x concussion hits).
See ICE’s LOME 1 65.

Staff of Lore
This staff belongs to Terieth, Court Physician of Dol Amroth. It is made of silvery driftwood strengthened by a strip of slightly tarnished silver inlaid along each side.

Powers: +3 PP; casts any spell from RM/MERP Plant Mastery list to 10th level.
See ICE’s Havens of Gondor 53.

Staff of the Serpent
Carved of dark walnut and set with rich mahogany, this beautiful staff is strong but crooked. It begins with a snake's head set with emerald eyes at the top and curves down in a serpentine fashion to a sharp iron point. It is the property of Khathog, Priest of Darkness.

Powers: +3 PP; transforms to large snake 1x/day.
See ICE’s Havens of Gondor 53.

Staff of Storms
A staff of soft white pine belonging to Aranwë, the renowned Mage who dedicated himself to the study of the Laws of Water. Tiny crude whales, said to have been carved by Aranwë in moments of distraction, frolic up and down its length.

Powers: wielder can cast up to 100 PP/day from the RM/MERP Water Law. Wind Law, or Light Law lists (up to 20th/10th lv1).
See ICE’s LOME 1 54.

Staff of the Wanderer
A sturdy traveller’s staff, this crutch is forked at the top to support improvised lean-tos, shod in bronze at the bottom to prevent wear, and has a simple iron hook and ring near the top to hold a lantern.

Powers: x5 Essence PP; able to safely RM/MERP Lofty Bridge Teleport the holder 1x/day; the staff must have been to the destination and stayed for 24 hours; it is highly intelligent.
See ICE’s Lorien 39.

Staff of Water-resistance
This slick, smooth green wood stave is shod with mithril at the foot and otherwise unadorned.

Powers: running, falling, or projected water will not come within 3 feet of this item.
See ICE’s Hillmen 35.

Stave-axe
This Stave of Ice-lore was fashioned in Kael Ord in the Red Mountains during the late First Age and became the weapon of Ucaphel, one of the first two Umli or Half-dwarves. Ucaphel passed it on to her descendants, and it became an heirloom of the Umli Lati (tribe) known as the Fosír-Tasír.

Powers: strikes as +30 Quarterstaff or +5 Battle-axe; +5 Channeling spell adder; two spells off the Ice Law list 1x/day (each).
See ICE’s LOME III 76.

Stave of Apparitions
This gnarled staff is the crutch and power of Miffli the Undying, an Undead Petty-dwarven Lord of Cameth Brin. It is made of maple and worn a little thinner at the foot and otherwise unadorned.

Powers: +1 spell adder device; enables wielder to create 1-5 identical images of himself which will move as the wielder does (100' range) or, if the wielder concentrates, any one can move independently (the others become static).
See ICE’s Hillmen 30; LOME III 71.

Tangier Rod
A rod about three feet long, made of reddish wood inlaid with copper wire in an ivy pattern.

Powers: projects a net of vines twenty feet in diameter to entangle any living thing within its grasp; attack is rolled as a +50 ball spell with any critical indicating entanglement; no damage is inflicted; the vines are susceptible to normal fire and to cutting, the former method destroying them in rounds but delivering one C heat critical, the latter taking three minutes; a strength of 101 or better will not be restrained by the vines at all; after ten minutes, the vines wither away and fall to dust.

See ICE's Brigands of Mirkwood 23.

Traitor's Rod

An ancient ivory rod carried by Clothiel, a Gondorian turned to the service of Umbar, the Traitor's Rod shows its age. The ivory is yellowed and cracking, and the spike end of the rod is stained a rusty brown color from the blood it has shed.

Powers: casts RM Shield Mastery/MERP Essence II and Shield 1x/day, RM/MERP Spirit Mastery Confusion 1x/week and Sleep X 1x/month; the rod also holds a hidden spike, which can be extended instantly and used as a +15 dagger; in addition, the rod acts as a continual half-strength RM/MERP Unbarring Ways Locklore spell.

See ICE's Minas Tirith 139.

Viperstaff

A 5' long iron staff, its head shaped in the fashion of a coiled snake, this weapon is the symbol of office of the Orcish Chief Priest in Goblin-town. Forged long centuries past by a founder of the revived cult of Sauron, it passes to each new hierophant upon instatement. Thus it is currently possessed by the Chief Priest of Goblin-gate.

Powers: functions as a x3 Channeling PP multiplier; may cast the RM Protections/MERP Nature's Guises Shadow 2x/day at no expenditure of power points; when used as a weapon, it has a +15 enchanted bonus; and any critical hit forces the target to save against a 10th level poison attack or be paralyzed for 2-24 hours.

See ICE's Goblin Gate 28.

Wand of Fear

A three foot long wand of black laen, cunningly made so that the surface seems to writhe in the holder's grasp, this was the weapon of Malborn, a Seer of Fornost Erain.

Powers: casts Images of Death (acts as RM Confusing Ways Fear or MERP Controlling Songs Fear's Song) into the minds of all within a 30'R 3x/day.

See ICE's Rangers of the North 54.

Wand of Herb Detection

Currently in the possession of the smuggler Adeyn in Dunland, this item was originally made for use of herbalists and lay healers. It is an ordinary willow wand tipped with a leaf of hammered gold.

Powers: casts RM Herb Mastery/MERP Plant Mastery Herb Detection 3x/day.

See ICE's Dunland 63.

Wand of Injury Assessment

Tipped with two red bars, this rowan wand has been bleached and then varnished so as to stay white.

Powers: allows determination of the exact extent of injuries, poisons, broken bones, disease (due to injury), and even internal damage.

See ICE's Dunland 63.

4.55 TALISMANS AND MISCELLANY

Beyond the simple elegance of wands and staves, the organic power of elixirs and salves, and the subtleties of scrying devices. Mages employ a whole grab bag of baubles and gewgaws to focus their ability to wield magic. Charms to bring good luck, amulets to ward off ill-fortune, and stones to control the weather are but a few of these assorted items.

Azaer's Enchanted Abode

This useful device appears in the modest guise of a 2" square bronze cube. It is the possession of Herumor.

Powers: upon uttering the word "Open" (Edro) in Sindarin, the cube instantly unfolds into a grey pavilion, completely furnished within. 15' in diameter, and surrounded by a hemisphere of magical force 30' in diameter which must be dispelled for any outsider to enter; he who possesses the cube can pass through freely; the Sindarin command "End" (Telo) will cause the pavilion to refold into the cube, when spoken by the cube's possessor: note that if one forgets to stand outside the tent, he will be shrunk as well and imprisoned in the cube in a state of suspended animation; any inorganic items left in the pavilion (not carried by a person, and not the furnishings inherent to it) will be left outside when it collapses.

See ICE's Shelob 30.

Balli Stonehand's Lamp

Three and a half inches long and made of gold and inlaid with silver and mithril, this tiny lantern is attached to a mithril chain and is commonly worn around the neck.

Powers: +7 Channeling spell adder; can burn any herb and release smoke which confers effects of herb on all within 5' radius; it can be used (1 x per year with 1-10 rds meditation) to summon "presence of Mahal (Aulë)," enabling wearer to operate at +70 for all actions for 1-20 rounds.

See ICE's LOME III 51.

The Coloring Stone

An ancient relic, sacred to the Drugs, and a symbol of Wose culture. Only the Keeper of Colors (a powerful Animist) can use it. A dangerous foe, the Keeper lives in the Eilencah Glen of the Wose-wood, in a village of weird, submerged earth-houses. Essentially, the Coloring Stone is a soft, blue-green rock, shaped as a 7" long lozenge, and inscribed with the words "Wal Wel" (Each's Each). It leaves a colored mark only when it rubs against flesh, and is used to tattoo Drug Animists when they come of age at the beginning of their eleventh year. Flowing with the feel of the chosen's soul, each spiralling tattoo is unique — both in pattern and color. Once applied, they can only be removed by reversing the Stone over the pattern. These enchanted tattoos can give great strength to the wearer. Typically one or more variations on the listed powers are involved.

Powers: Hardness — toughens the flesh, making the wearer's skin akin to soft leather (AT 3); Wildness — camouflaging the wearer's skin (+50 hiding) for a particular type of environment (e.g. woods); in such cases, the tattoos cover the whole body but are invisible unless their use is desired; Friendliness — a tattoo in the stylized form of a certain animal (not beings) protects the wearer from any animal of that type, but means that the wearer cannot harm such an animal unless it truly threatens a friend of the wearer; Power — a tattoo can double the wearer's inherent power points.

Crystal of Remembrances (S. "Mirrin")

A multifaceted translucent spherical object some 9" in diameter, the Mirrin was a gift to Calimë Half-elven from her Elven mother, ere she departed for the Undying Lands. It is located in the Tower of Cirith Ungol.

Powers: at first sight the Crystal is always blank, but by concentrating upon it, an image of Calimë's mother can be made to appear, taking holographic form within 5' of the Crystal; beyond sentimental value, the Crystal has considerable worth to a user of Essence, who can will the image to speak, providing instruction in any general RM/MERP Essence or Base Mage spells through the 20th/10th level; in effect, it is a portable magical library; the Crystal can absorb 100 hits of damage before shattering and is AT 20.

See ICE's Shelob 30.

---

Elemental Sphere

A small clear glass sphere, this item is unremarkable even upon close examination. If viewed under moonlight or starlight, tiny ithilnaur runes on its surface glow at opposite points, each the alchemical symbol for one of the elements.

Powers: when thrown to the ground, it protects caster as RM Protections Cold Resistance and Heat Resistance or MERP Protections Resist Elements.

See ICE's Dagorlad 31.

---

Eyes of the Bat

These are two lenses of black laen clearly meant to be placed over the eyes, as an iris is painted onto each lens. They have no frame but do have leather thongs to connect them together and to tie them around the wearer's head.

Powers: greatly heighten all the wearer's other senses while obscuring sight.

See ICE's Trolls of the Misty Mountains 17.

---

Eyes of the Well

Two enchanted spherical star sapphires with milky surfaces in all but one circular area, which remains clear and bright blue; thus they look like eyes. Akhôrahil the Nazgûl long ago replaced his real eyes with these astounding gems.

Powers: one of the sapphires serves as a +5 Channeling spell adder and the other acts as a +5 Essence spell adder; the Eyes enable the wearer to sense both objects and presences (of a lvl lower than wearer or of a level higher if the target fails a RR), regardless of condition or obstructions, within a range of 2000 feet; the wearer, however, must concentrate as if looking, and he can only see things in the direction of his gaze; in addition, the Eyes enable the wearer to know and use any RM Mentalist or MERP Mage spell.

See ICE's Shadow in the South 31; LOME II 86.

Fanuibauglir (S. "Cloudy Constrainer")

A crystalline orb two feet in diameter (it is not easily transported), the Fanuibauglir is usable by anyone of the realm of Mentalism.

Powers: acts as RM Gas Manipulation Cloud Mastery or a combination of the spells of the MERP Wind Law and Nature's Lore lists, controlling all clouds within a 10 mile radius, including altering their formation or causing rainclouds to release their moisture; clouds cannot be created, however.

See ICE's Isengard 42.

Flask of the Master Alchemist

Property of Tharúdan, Master of the Haven of Edhel-lond and no mean alchemist, this heavy brass flask is ornately, some would say grotesquely, carved. Its mouth resembles a fat man, with the round body of the flask itself rippling down from the neck in folds of brassy fat. The stopper forms a huge tongue and is made of ruddy copper that will not tarnish.

Powers: 1x/day transforms 1 quart liquid into any other liquid.

See ICE's Havens of Gondor 54.

---

Gontran's Bulbs

These eleven glass bulbs are the work of Gontran the Shade, leader of the cult of assassins that plagues the citizens of Dol Amroth. The bulbs are created with the help of the charms that give the cult its strength, and as such are items of Darkness. Though the bulbs are made with the power of Channeling, the spells they contain are of Essence. They are currently kept in the tower on the Hill of Shades, though some will be found in the hands of the cult members, the Shades.

Powers: three hold RM/MERP Wind Law Stun Cloud, two hold Unbarring Ways Opening I, one has Spirit Mastery Sleep X, two have Light Law Sudden Light, one has Shade from the same list, one has Wind Law Vacuum, the last holds a Fire Law Fire Ball.

See ICE's Assassins of Dol Amroth 27.
Mirror of Teleporting

Presently in Huinen the Seer’s bedroom, this full length mirror is hidden behind the false back of a wardrobe.

Powers: short range RM/MERP Lofty Bridge Teleport by stepping through the mirror.

See ICE’s Southern Mirkwood 50.

Sarn Feanaur (S. "Fire-spirit Stone")

Constructed in the mid-Second Age, this clear six inch diameter sphere was made in Haudh-en-Aiganaur and may rest there still. It is a Dark Elven construct and weighs but two pounds.

Powers: holder of orb can capture the soul of a target within 100'; attack level + 20 + user’s level; user can then control the soul-less body within 300' or employ a RM/MERP Fire Law Flame Bolt (100') of same level (as soul) which burns away the soul and kills the hollow body of target; if the orb is separated from user’s physical person, target’s soul returns to his own body; usable 1x/day; holds one soul.

See ICE’s Northern Mirkwood 46.

Stone of Mind Talking

A black laen stone the size of an egg owned by Vrak Tanûk, a distant cousin of Demik Dral, this stone must be carried on one’s person to be effective. It was used in reestablishing the Guild of Light and was partially responsible for Demik Dral’s return to the way of the light. Several of these items are known to exist.

Powers: +10 to possessor's DB; allows the user to employ the silent tongue (treat as RM Mind Speech Mind Tongue with a range of 1 mile/level, but both speakers must "know" the silent tongue); acts as a portable "mouth" of the Eye of Sotor; there is no range limit for silent tongue communication when both "speakers" are at "mouths".

See ICE’s LOME II 41.

Sunstone

This sphere of yellow glass is presently hidden in the refuse of a small abandoned shrine in the region near Sook Oda and the Moonstone Fortress. It is two inches in diameter and slightly slippery, as if lightly oiled.

Powers: if thrown (or dropped from more than 6 feet onto a hard surface), gives off a RM Light Law/MERP Sound/Light Ways Sudden Light spell (as 8th lvl mage); every time that it is used (whether on purpose or by accident), there is a 10% chance (roll 91-100) that it will shatter as it activates, giving 5-10 (4 + 1d6) +40 composite bow attacks as the shards of glass fly through the air; this will, of course, destroy the item.

See ICE’s Pirates of Pelagir 15.

Tablets of Dark Knowledge

Hidden in the bottom of Shelob’s pit, these tablets were cached there long ago by an evil Animist, a servant of Sauron fleeing from his master’s defeat at the end of the Second Age. They are items of surpassing power. Each of the four Tablets is a sheet of indestructible glassy black laen (1 1/2' high, 1' wide and 1' thick), upon which is inscribed invisible runes in Black Speech. To the casual observer, the sheets appear to be blank and feel chill to the touch.

Powers: each tablet holds one of the four Animist base spell lists, except that each of the spells works in reverse (Neutralize Disease becomes Cause Disease, Muscle Repair becomes Muscle Damage, etc.); for RM, there are five tablets, each inscribed with the Evil Cleric base lists through to 30th level; through concentration (for one turn), the writing can be made to appear in fiery, writhing lines; simultaneously, the sheet concentrated upon will become extremely hot; anyone touching it who is not loyal to the Dark Lord will suffer a "C" heat critical each round held; within an hour after concentration ceases, the lettering fades and the tablet cools; any of the spells on a tablet may be cast once a day at no expenditure of power points, straight from the item; anyone not already a servant of Sauron must make a 20th level RR every time he or she casts a spell from the tablets, or become the Dark Lord’s slave, wishing to serve him forever; destructive spells cast against a tablet rebound against the caster — only volcanic fire or dragon’s breath can destroy the Tablets of Dark Knowledge, which radiate a strong aura of evil.

See ICE’s Shelob’s Lair 28, 29.

Talisman of Certain Healing

Given to Kiral, a Dorwinadan animist who left home for the south and never returned, by an old crone whom he helped in the Nindalf marshes, this talisman is made of steel etched with runes and pictograms and inlaid with tiny garnets.

Powers: gives additional 8 spell points per day; user may cast healing spells on targets up to 10 feet away; caster will cast spells as if three levels higher.

See ICE’s Pirates of Pelagir 6.

Tools of Gardening

A trowel and three pouches once owned by Vilyadol, Rivendell’s chief herbalist.

Powers: using this item, a small plant may be removed from the ground with the trowel and placed in any of the pouches without any harm to the plant; it can be carried so for up to thirty days, requiring no care or attention, and transplanted with a 95% chance of successfully taking root (assuming suitable conditions in the new environment).

See ICE’s Rivendell 16.
4.6 MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Music has always had something of magic about it, and the power of the human voice is richly expressed in the songs of bards and the chants of worshippers. Instruments also have their voices, able to call over distances, strengthen flagging hearts, and frighten wild beasts and enemy warriors. Music is complex, and the same harp that makes one laugh can make one weep shortly thereafter. In addition, the instruments of different peoples reflect their ideals: the rhythmic drums and deep horns of the Dwarves, the complex lilting tunes and ballads of the Elves, and the varied sagas and styles of Men. Thus, the enchanted instruments that are sometimes fashioned for musicians and warriors have no set form or decoration, save that it allow the instrument's own voice to sound clear and undiminished.

Bullroarer

Bandobras Took's heirloom is a very distinctive throaty bull's horn, able to be heard on a clear day for more than a mile.

Powers: the horn encourages the morale of Hobbits and discourages the morale of Orc forces of less than 500 members.

Read LotRI 21, 25; LotRIII 402, 475; Hob 17. See ICE's LOME III 12.

Butler's Lute

Galion crafted this instrument himself and often played it for the amusement of his friends and drinking companions; King Thranduil's butler was well known for his wine-inbibing and carefree merrymaking. His lute is a fine instrument of silvery wood and nut-brown strings, set with dark river green inlays in the form of swans and fishes merging into and out of one another.

Powers: x3 PP Bard; +10 on Bard base attack spell rolls; durations of spells cast with lute are doubled.

See ICE's LOME I 78.

Cherry Mandolin

Carved with a soft pattern of cherry blossoms, this is the instrument of Thíst, a Petty-dwarven Animist.

Powers: acts as continual RM/MERP Calm Spirits Calm V while played.

See ICE's LOME III 72.

Clarsach

This harp is wrought entirely of cedar and carved in decorative leaves and curls. It currently belongs to a rural bard who wanders the region of Rohan near the confluence of the Entwash and the Anduin. Though he is little known, his ancestors have faithfully passed on the bardic traditions through generations.

Powers: +10 Music and RM Sound Projection Great Song 1x/day (for MERP, bard may affect any 5 individuals within 50'R with one of the spells from the MERP Controlling Songs list).

See ICE's Mouths of the Entwash 37.

Elrond's Silver Harp

Made of silver for tarnish and character, mithril for grace and beauty, ithilnaur for subtle inlay, and ithildin for strength, this amazing harp seems to change character in different lights and becomes a completely different instrument under the moon and stars. Although Elrond plays it rarely, its clear strains and ringing harmonics are well remembered by all who have ever heard the harp.

Powers: adds +30 to all Bardic Songs; always in tune.

See ICE's LOME I 68; Rivendell 12.

Great Horn (Boromir's Horn)

This was an heirloom of the House of the Stewards of Gondor from the time of Vorondil, circa T.A. 2000, until the War of the Rings. Made from the horn of one of the Kine of Araw and inlaid with silver, the Horn was borne by the heir of the Steward. It was believed that if the Horn were blown anywhere within the ancient boundaries of Gondor, help would come. In TA 3019, Boromir blew it when attacked by Orcs near Rauros. Denethor and Faramir heard the call hundreds of miles away, but no help arrived. Boromir was slain and the Horn cloven in two. The Horn was set on Boromir's funeral barge, but the shards were recovered by Denethor.

Powers: if blown at need anywhere within the ancient boundaries of Gondor, allies to the blower cannot ignore its call and will travel until they reach him to offer their help; of course, they may not arrive in time.

Read LotRI 315; LotRII 17, 18, 22, 347, 364; LotRIII 29. See ICE's LOME II 21.

Hilvavar's Flute

A silver flute which has a tracery of gold around each of the finger-holes. It belonged to a particularly carefree Silvan Elf known for his lighthearted song and biting wit.

Powers: 2x range for all spells involving sound.

See ICE's Rivendell 15.

Horn of Dirhael

This is a huge, many-curved goat's horn bound with silver and beryls. It rests on black marble stand in the Greater Vault of the Princes of Morthond.

Powers: blown, it summons 1-5 supporters of the user from up to 5 miles away and heartens allies within earshot for 1-5 rounds (+10 to allies orientation and perception rolls).

See ICE's Erech & the Paths of the Dead 29.
Horn of Fear

A Dragon-horn inlaid with silver, gold, and onyx. The Horn of Fear belonged to Fulla III, the descendant of Balli Stonehand.

Powers: when blown it enables all Dwarves within earshot to make a RR versus any spells as if they are 20th level: attacks all others within 1000' (designated by wielder) like a 20th level Fear spell; it is usable 3x/day.

See ICE's LOME III 54.

Horn of the Mark (Dwarven Horn)

Small silver horn made by the Dwarves in ancient times, recovered by the Éothéod from the hoard of Scatha. After the War of the Ring, Eowyn gave the horn to Merry as a keepsake, and he used it to hearten the Hobbits during the scouring of the Shire. Afterwards, it was blown each year on the anniversary of its first use in the Shire.

Powers: when blown, acts as 5th lvl Fear spell to all foes within 100' radius, and summons allies within one mile radius.

Read LotR III 316, 353-54, 486. See ICE’s LOME III 19.

Lute of the Golden Hand

Named for its owner, the great Bard Maglor (S. "Golden Hand"), this instrument was a gift from Fëanor to his son. It is made of cypress wood with a sheen of iridescent varnish, and inlaid with a tiny herringbone pattern of cypress and mahogany. Its strings are of golden mithril and copper. The Lute of the Golden Hand was the instrument used to compose the Noldolantë, the basis for the Quenta Silmarillion.

Powers: triples range of all Bardic Controlling Songs and Sound Control spells; allows silent casting of Bardic spells.

See ICE’s LOME I 86.

Mothras (S. "Dusk Horn")

Made in the late Second Age in Gondmaeglom from a length of Dragon horn, this 18" long instrument is wickedly curved and richly decorated with an ounce of mithril for the mouthpiece. It is a Mannish tool created by the mysterious "Middle Men", possibly Northman ancestors.

Powers: when blown, user can summon 1-20 beasts of any one type desired, their individual levels not to exceed the user’s; creatures arrive in a number of rounds equal to the number summoned and will stay with the user until the battle is over or 30 minutes pass, whichever is longer, but the user must concentrate to direct them.

See ICE’s Northern Mirkwood 46.

Orb of Song

A small silvery sphere carried by Randae on his quest to find the Book of Icelore, the Orb is made for the use of enchantments requiring the use of voice or instrument. It was likely made by one of the early Kings of Luindor with skill in both enchantment and song. It may be strung on a chain about the neck or held in the palm during use.

Powers: any Bard in possession of it can cast Base Bard spells up to ten levels above his own. providing he knows the list; it is also a x6 PP multiplier.

See ICE’s LOME II 38.

Pipes of Rain

This set of two pipes is meant to be played simultaneously: one is keyed high, like the patter and dash of a shower, and the other low and bassy. like thunder or surf.

Powers: RM/MERP Water Law Call Rain 1x/week.

See ICE’s Mouths of the Entwash 37.

Redwing Harp

Carved in the form of a bent and ruffled wing, this harp is made of rare redwood and otherwise unadorned. The strings are of silver and copper. Elecmirë picked out the Aldudënië, the famous lament for the destruction of the Two Trees, on this instrument.

Powers: x12 PP Mentalism (MERP Essence); cast RM Confusing Ways, Mind’s Door, and Moving Ways lists to 50th level or MERP Spirit Mastery, Illusions, Lofty Bridge, and Moving Ways to 10th level using the wielder’s power points.

See ICE’s LOME I 66.

Silent Harp

This dark grey lap harp is actually sheathed with a mix of black and white mosaïc chips, laid out as carefully as a moth’s wing. The resulting grey is patterned after ripples in puddles during rain, or waves on a windy river. It is missing seven strings, removed at the whim of its owner, Linsûl of the Court of Ardor. The wood itself is dark, perhaps ebony or darkened teak, and its fittings (pegs, bridge, etc.) are of mithril.

Powers: x4 PP enhancer: allows use of RM Controlling Songs Slaying Song 1x/day (MERP Target fall into deep coma from which he will awaken only if the caster cancels it or it is dispelled — if the victim’s RR failure is greater than 50, he dies instantly); allows silent casting of Bardic spells.

See ICE’s LOME I 84; Court of Ardor 19.

Sky Horn

A small instrument made from a goat’s horn and set with a brass mouthpiece, this item is slung on a thin leather thong. It comes with a leather bracelet which can be tied to it. The bracelet covers the wearer’s entire forearm.

Powers: summons eagles.

See ICE’s Trolls of the Misty Mountains 26.

Sunhammer

This beautiful hammer dulcimer and the hammers made to go with it are carved of mallorn and tasarang with golden mithril fittings. Its tone is remarkable, as one might expect of an instrument made for Finrod, the builder of Minas Tirith.

Powers: Songs lists attack at +30; durations & ranges are doubled.

See ICE’s LOME I 75.
Musical Instruments / Ti-Zz & Rings of Power / The One Ring

Tinculin (S. "Dream Harp" or "Dream Lute")

Daeron's unrequited love for Lúthien Tinuviel was the great bard's inspiration as he wandered Middle-earth, and this harp was the cradle for many songs of love and loss. It is made of varnished beechwood and set with mother-of-pearl and opals in an airy, cloudy design. The strings are of truesilver and gold, and the pegs are carved of dark walnut.

Powers: x9 PP for Mentalism; +1 /lvl to Bard base spell attack rolls (maximum of 40); Bard spells with duration of concentration last 1 rnd/lvl; Bard spell ranges increased x10.

See ICE's LOME I 64.

Truwind

This is a recent acquisition of Dulo, a pirate lieutenant and wanted murderer. The tan shell trumpet was previously owned by a merchant captain of Gondor, and was originally constructed by a sea-spirit cult. Its interior is bright pink, but its call is low and mournful.

Powers: summons a favorable wind for 5 hours when blown; can only be used once per full moon.

See ICE's Pirates of Pelagir 6.

Weeping Flute

The flute was constructed by Khîm, the young Petty-dwarf given to visions who, in one awful and glorious tumult, heard a fragment of the divine music, the Ainulindalê. Truths were revealed to him, but even in his calmness and serenity he always longed to hear the music again and thus played the flute to attempt to recapture its strains for a moment. He never succeeded, and his gentle wisdom was finally felled by Androg's arrow. His father and brother then named the flute.

Powers: captivates kelvar as a 5th level Charm spell.

See ICE's LOME III 70.

Whispering Crier

Pamelion's horn is dyed deep purple and embossed with silver bands depicting stylized running deer.

Powers: capable of sending clear sounds up to distance equal to user's level; should user so designate, the horn will — with concentration — only send sounds to particular recipients or places.

See ICE's LOME II 36.

Wooing Lute

Although Amroth was a brilliant engineer and scholar, he also had a passionate emotional character, reflected in his music and his love for the Elf-maiden Nimrodel. This slim instrument of golden mallorn wood and dark blue lapis inlay was his accompaniment on his midnight serenades to her.

Powers: provides +25 bonus for all seduction attempts accompanied by song.

4.7 RINGS

Rings have always been a popular form of wealth and adornment, but the materials and magic applied to their creation in Middle-earth give them a status of their own. Compact and difficult to lose, rings are the ideal form for storing power to be used in the hostile wilderness and the chaotic field of battle. Culturally, rings are often given as symbolic gifts from lords to their vassals to show their generosity, and among friends to show love. Nobles often put their seals on signet rings and use them as a mark of authority to impress wax seals and the like. Although the tradition of wedding bands does not exist in Endor, the exchange of rings is common among lovers. To be able to give rings implies not only a certain degree of wealth and status, but also an admirable generosity of spirit. Gift rings are common among many races and classes, though only the great lords and ladies possess the power to have enchanted rings fashioned to suit their whims. Most rings are simple trinkets, but some are items of power. With the making of the Rings of Power, the vogue for rings grew even stronger, as did the symbolic equation of rings with wealth and power.

4.71 RINGS OF POWER

The fashioning of the Rings of Power was begun soon after the arrival of Annatar (S. "the Gift-lord," Sauron), though the first rings were but trinkets to the Elven Smiths in comparison with the true artifacts which were to follow. Even the rings which became known as the Seven and the Nine were amazing creations in their adaptability and mutable powers, though of course the Dwarven Kings did not react to the seduction of the Rings the way Sauron had planned. Only Mortal men fell completely under his spell. All of the Rings of Power save the One Ring had a single gem, and not one was repeated; all were beautiful in their simple yet elegant design; all were imbued with a power which could only come from the combined skill of a Noldo Lord of consummate skill and the knowledge of one of the Ainur. Keep in mind that the Seven and the Nine — like the Three — were made with good intentions. It was only after Sauron recovered them and was able to corrupt their purpose (having taken part in their forging and so possessing power over them) that they became evil in nature. Of the twenty Rings of power, only the Three Elven rings, forged by Celebrimbor, are untouched by Sauron's Hand. Even so, because they were made partly with knowledge learned from the Lord of Gifts, their fate was tied with the One. Although they granted great power, their purpose was more lofty and noble: to aid in learning, healing, and understanding, not only for the wearer but those around him. As such they served their wearers well during the Third Age, when the Free Peoples struggled to unite against the Dark Lord.

The One Ring

Crafted by the Dark Lord, Sauron, in S.A. 1600 in the forge of the Sammath Naur within the volcanic cone of Orodruin, the Ruling Ring is greatest of all the twenty Rings of Power, doubtless the most potent artifact extant in Middle-earth. In form, it appears as a beautiful, unadorned band of pure gold, never suffering any signs of wear. When heated in fire (e.g., an ordinary fireplace), a fine, minute inscription becomes visible running along both the interior and exterior of the band. Engraved in Tengwar characters, using the archaic Black Speech, the legend reads:

\[
\text{Ash nazg durbatuluk, ash nazg gimbatul,} \\
\text{ash nazg thrakatuluk agh burzum-ishi krimpatul.}
\]

Which translated, means:

One Ring to rule them all. One Ring to find them, One Ring to bring them all and in the darkness bind them.

— LotRi, p.81.
In creating the One Ring, Sauron transferred into the object a major portion of his own evil Maia essence, so that the Ring acquired sentient will of its own. Sauron's existence is inextricably linked to the Ring's survival. Parted from it, he is still immensely powerful; rejoined, nothing in Middle-earth in the Third Age could hope to resist him. When the Ring perished, Sauron was forever crippled, an impotent, bodiless wraith. The Dark Lord never believed that anyone would deliberately seek to destroy the Ring, but realizing the peril of inadvertent injury, he so safeguarded it that nothing could harm it in the least, save only the fire of Orodruin wherein it was forged.

After the first downfall of Sauron, Isildur possessed the One Ring for nearly two years, but he rarely wore it and certainly did not test its powers. Isildur did take the One Ring to the crucible of the Master Smith and alone in the workship read the words upon it when it did not melt. After Isildur's discovery of the Ring's nature, the Master Smith received only a sealed scroll regarding the it — he may have suspected that something was amiss, though, because later he was forced to break his crucible and throw it out: the tainted tool ruined everything it subsequently made. It is perhaps more merciful that Isildur died, betrayed by the Ring, rather than living to endure what would surely have befell him eventually had he lived. The Ring would have tempted him to use it, and, in the end, he would have been overcome by its evil seduction. As it was, the golden band slipped off his finger at the Battle of Gladden Fields and was lost.

The Ring was recovered by Déagol, a Stoor Hobbit who was murdered by Gollum in T.A. 2463. Gollum retained the Ring in the Misty Mountains until T.A. 2941, when he lost it and Bilbo Baggins found it. Bilbo passed it on to Frodo in 3001, and Frodo the Ring-bearer carried it into Mordor and destroyed it in T.A. 3019 in Orodruin despite all the forces that were arrayed against him.

An utterly evil and treacherous device, the Ring has a mission: to return to the hand of its creator, from which it was cut by Isildur. Thus, it plays upon whatever weaknesses its possessor may have, encouraging him to use its powers more frequently, so as to have more opportunities to wear down the possessor's will and ultimately capture his mind. When major servants of Sauron such as the Nazgûl are at hand, the Ring will seek to persuade the keeper to wear it for "safety," or even force itself to be worn outright, thereby revealing its presence. Such a possession attack is difficult to resist at best, and the Ring becomes even stronger the closer it moves to Sauron. (Treat possession attacks as Essence spells of variable level, 10th-50th depending on circumstances.) A Ringbearer invariably feels compelled to guard the artifact from supposedly envious eyes, and becomes intensely suspicious of others' motives where the Ring is concerned. Giving the Ring away is nearly impossible, and no Ringbearer could ever simply discard it. Nonetheless, the Ring may "discard" itself, if dissatisfied with the potential of its bearer. As it can adjust its size to fit comfortably on any bearer's finger, it can also expand if desired and drop off the finger of any wearer it deems unworthy, to await a more suitable finder. The Ring has its own will and pseudo-intellect, since Sauron invested so much of his own spiritual essence into it during its creation. Like him, it is bent unchangeably on evil, megalomaniac pursuits, and an insatiable lust for power. Its will is uncontrollable unless the wearer has trained with the Ring for a period equal to 600 days minus the wearer's level and overcome the Ring's inherent 60th level resistance. Without this training, the work of the Ring will be random or entirely self-directed. Only Sauron, its maker, has absolute control. In time, anyone else will succumb to their own least noble inner feelings and whims. All told, the Ring is far from truly desirable, though its allure of unlimited power has corrupted many. The wise will shun it, for its power exacts a terrible and irreversible toll.

Powers: as any artifact, the One Ring's primary gifts are determined by the nature and strength of the wielder; its normal practice is to enhance to the extreme the capacities of its current user; in this fashion, it would have made Samwise the greatest of all gardeners, Boromir an irresistible leader of men, and so on; as is often true of artifacts, however, the Ring confers numerous other benefits upon its possessor, not all of which will be immediately apparent, and it also inflicts a gradual and terrible curse; the Ring is most renowned for its major powers of command and control, the full limits of which remain unexplored; the One Ring also allows the bearer to exercise the following lesser powers when it is worn:

- Invisibility, which is not broken even in combat, because the Ring draws the wielder deeply into the wraith world; this makes him invisible to all earthly eyes, but brilliantly visible to those at home in the wraith world, such as the Nazgûl; the wearer naturally also gains the ability to see those things which are invisible.

- Sense enhancement; hearing and smell become extremely acute, and sight extends into the invisible realm (e.g. one can see the true forms of Nazgûl), but vision of objects in the material world is blurred; the wearer can see powerful magical and spiritual forces from a far distance.

- Greatly lessens the effects of aging, increasing a person's life almost indefinitely; however, the wearer is also gradually transformed into a creature of darkness (e.g., Gollum), and finally will become a wraith, straddling the line between life and unlife; this power takes effect by mere possession of the Ring, whether or not it is worn; the rapidity of the transformation process is variable, depending on the owner's frequency of use of the item, his own character and innate magical resistance; this power, however, is also linked to the curse, for depending on frequency of use and innate magical resistance, the possessor will eventually fade into a creature under the Dark Lord's control; complete fading may be postponed for centuries.

- Permits the wielder to control or resist any item made with the Ring's help, such as the traps of Barad-dur.

- The Ring may not be destroyed in any fashion except by the fires in which it was forged, those of the volcano Mount Doom; if the One Ring is destroyed, all the other Rings become powerless, and Sauron and his Nazgûl become forever impotent wraiths.

He may have suspected that something was amiss, though, because fire of Orodruin wherein it was forged. To destroy the Ring, but realizing the peril of inadvertent injury, he so safeguarded it that nothing could harm it in the least, save only the fire of Orodruin wherein it was forged.
In addition, the following powers are available for one who has mastered the One Ring. These powers can only be invoked to full effect by an already strong will trained to exercise authority over others.

- Serves as a x18 power point multiplier for all realms and professions.
- May control all the wearers of the Great Rings of Power, such as the Nazgûl, (with the exception of the wearers of the three Elven Rings used by the Elf-Lords), regardless of range or other circumstances; the Ring may either enslave the wearers or reveal and twist everything that is done with the powers of the other Rings.
- May cast spells at three times normal range, or at any target which the wearer can see, even with the aid of a device (like the Palantiri).
- May exert awesome powers of command and control, especially over evil creatures who instinctively fear the Ring; evil creatures invariably display immense fear of the Ring, even without knowing what it is; Frodo gained control over this faculty just before the moment he lost his own will and Gollum caused the Ring's destruction.

The Three Elven Rings

There is more lore extant on these three potent relics than on any of the other Rings of Power, excepting the One Ring. They were the only Rings unsullied by Sauron's influence, and thus they were more freely used against him. The Eldar who wielded the Elven Rings were known as the Keepers of the Three Rings. At the end of the Third Age the Last Riding of the Keepers resulted in the loss of the Rings, for they were taken over the Sea. The Three are more closely examined below.

Narya (S. "-Red", the Ring of Fire, Narya the Great, Red Ring of Fire)

Of all the twenty Rings of power, only the Three Elven Rings, forged by Celebrimbor alone, are untouched by the evil hand of the Dark Lord. The most active of the Three is Narya, the Red Ring. As with all true artifacts, Narya's powers is a function of its wielder, and certainly it could not have a more worthy bearer than Gandalf. The Istari received it from Cirdan the Elven Shipwright upon his arrival in Middle-earth around T.A. 1050. Cirdan had kept it in the Grey Havens until the Second Age until the Wizard's appearance. The powers Gandalf commanded from the Fire Ring in his travels are difficult to ascribe to specific spells or even lists, but in general Narya — like the other two Elven Rings — aids in learning, healing and understanding, not only for the wearer but those around him.

Narya was called the Red Ring in part because it was made of gold set with a ruby. It was first given to Gil-galad, who passed it on to Cirdan, and was in turn given to Gandalf. Gandalf in particular, though not an Elf, was well able to use Narya because he was of the Istari, wielders of the Secret Fire, the ultimate Flame of Light.

Powers: Narya seems not to have the same power as the other two, but this may be due simply to the fact that Gandalf is ever in motion, and the Red Ring is never tied to a specific place (after leaving Cirdan in the Grey Havens — which was considered a place of sanctuary). Either the powers of the Ring are capable of altering to the needs of the wielder, or perhaps Narya is not even designed to perform the same functions as Nenya and Vilya, for it is clear that each ring had powers differing from — yet complimentary to — the others. Narya is also (of course) the Ring of Fire, and as such its association with fires and flame cannot be denied. The fire of Narya is the Secret Fire, the Flame of Anor, by which all the Istari swore allegiance. It is the fire of Men's hearts, the flame of passion, which Narya kindles most. Narya's powers could not be better suited to Gandalf's purpose, which is to inspire and rally the Free People against the Dark Lord of Mordor. The Red Ring's actual power over fire is a secondary ability. Other lesser powers include:

- Continuous RM Hiding Unpresence and Nondetect and Mind Mastery Inner Wall or MERP Nature's Guises Blank Thoughts, Illusions Unseen, and Spell Ways Cancel Essence.
- Doubles RR level of wearer when resisting the Dark Lord's detection powers.
- Continuous RM Elemental Shields Fire Armor or MERP Physical Enhancement Resist Heat.
- Continuous RM/MERP protections Prayer (RR and maneuver bonus): +30, extending to all friends within a 30' radius.
- Free use of RM Lore to 50th lvl or MERP Essence's Ways to 10th lvl.
- Free use of RM/MERP Fire Law to 50th/10th lvl.
- +30 to Constitution Bonus, wearer Regenerates 3 hits/rnd, and wearer cannot be stunned.
- +30 to wearer's DB.
- Should Sauron have recovered the One, Narya and all things touched by it would have been revealed — and thus vulnerable to the Dark Lord's undoing; with the destruction of the One Ring, all of the other Rings lost their powers, having been unavoidably linked to it.

Nenya (Q. "Water", White Ring of Water, Ring of Adamant)

Like the other Three Elven Rings, Nenya was forged by Celebrimbor alone, and so is unmarked and uncorrupted by Darkness. Nenya, the Ring of Adamant, of mithril set with a clear gem like diamond, was given by Celebrimbor to Galadriel and kept by her through the end of the Third Age. It was also called the Ring of Water. In appearance, Nenya was an elegant, delicate band of mithril holding clear, multifaceted gem of adamant, a crystalline material of great beauty and harder than diamond.

Powers: Like all true artifacts, Nenya's power is a function of its wielder. The Elven Rings were made to aid their wearer in learning, healing and understanding, not only for him or her but those around the bearer. They had the power to hold off the Shadow, and in fact keep at bay the decays of Time itself. Each ring was the center of an Elven haven where the passage of days was not felt, and Time flowed in strange ways. This was especially true in Lórien, where Galadriel held sway. Nenya's other powers include the following:

- Continuous RM Hiding Unpresence and Nondetect and RM Mind Mastery Inner Wall or MERP Nature's Guises Blank Thoughts, Illusions Unseen, and Spell Ways Cancel Essence; these spells can also be enacted with a radius to shield an entire area.
- Doubles RR level of wearer when resisting the Dark Lord's detection powers;
- Continuous Aura of RM Mind Mastery Misfeel and Mind Erosion Confusion or MERP Nature's Guises Blank Thoughts and any of the spells on the Illusions list; this power is most effective when the ring has been in one place for an extended period of time, and the wielder is associated with that place; radius is a function of the wearer's level and intrinsic power; in Nenya's case, Galadriel was able to bring all of central Lórien within the protective borders.
- Continuous RM/MERP Protections Prayer (RR and maneuver bonus): +30 to all friends within a 30' radius.
- +33 to Constitution Bonus and Defensive Bonus.
- Allows wearer to freely employ all RM Brilliance, Gas Manipulation, and Liquid Manipulation spells or MERP Sound/Light Ways, Water Law, Wind Law, and Nature's Lore to 60th level or MERP Sound/Light Ways, Water Law, Wind Law, and Nature's Lore to 10th level; ranges variable but usually 10-100x normal range listed; for example, Elrond could control the Bruinen and was able to influence the weather in the entire valley at need.
- User Regenerates 3 hits/rnd upon himself or anyone he touches.
- Wearer cannot be stunned.
- Acts as a x9 PP Enhancer (any profession).

Vilya (Q. "Air" or "Sky", the Elven Ring of Air, the Ring of Sapphire)

Vilya was also known as the Ring of Air. Despite Rivendell's location in a narrow valley with a concealed entry, it is amazing that the place remained hidden for so long. Sauron's servants were scouring the countryside and yet seemed unable to penetrate the veil about Imladris. Indeed, Rivendell and Lórien held a special, elusive status in Sauron's mind. Of Lórien, Sauron was aware, surely (and no doubt suspected who was at the heart of that realm), but without the One Ring he was unable to penetrate it's misty veils and see Galadriel. He must have perceived the enchanted nature of the Golden Wood and the Hidden Vale, and perhaps even suspected that an Elven Ring was at work in each. Yet the Three and their wielders — while the One was lost — were so powerful that the Dark Lord was unable to act upon his suspicions.

Powers: Perhaps more than the other two rings, Vilya is an item of healing and strengthening. Nenya shielded a land of complete repose — almost retreat; Narya kindled hearts to action. It was in Rivendell where Vilya abode that decisions were made and courses of action determined. Thus it was considered the mightiest of the Three Elven Rings. Vilya's other powers include the following:

- Continuous RM Hiding Unpresence and Nondetect spells and Mind Mastery Inner Wall or MERP Nature's Guises Blank Thoughts, Illusions Unseen, and Spell Ways Cancel Essence; these spells can also be enacted with a radius to shield an entire area.
- Doubles Resistance level of wearer when resisting the Dark Lord's detection powers.
- User may employ a continuous RM/MERP Protections Prayer spell (RR and maneuver bonus) adding +30 to all friends within 30' or in sight.
- +33 to Constitution Bonus and to Defensive Bonus.
- Allows wearer free use of RM Gas Manipulation, Solid Manipulation, and Liquid Manipulation to 60th level or MERP Sound/Light Ways, Water Law, Wind Law, and Nature's Lore to 10th level; ranges variable but usually 10-100x normal range listed; for example, Elrond could control the Bruinen and was able to influence the weather in the entire valley at need.
- All healing done by wearer has one third normal recovery time, and recovery is always complete (with a few exceptions).
- Wearer (or whomever the wearer touches) regenerates at the rate of 10 hits/rnd.
- Wearer cannot be stunned.
- Vilya acts as a x9 PP Enhancer (any profession).

The Nine Rings for Mortal Men

The Nine Rings were Sauron's gifts to the greatest of Mannish Kings in hopes of their corruption, and his ploy was successful. The Nazgûl first showed themselves in their new immortal form about S.A. 2250 — though they had been granted great power and were undying, they were also invisible and totally dependant on the One Ring. After the end of the Second Age, the Nazgûl no longer bore the Rings of Power that seduced them into the Dark Lord's service. Instead, Sauron retained them until the recovery of the Ruling Ring.
These rings are each made of enchanted and virtually weightless gold ithilhaur and are inscribed in Quenya using the Tengwar. A unique jewel adorns each one, and each shines with its own particular aura, but all of the Rings are invisible to anyone except another Ring-wearer or the Lord of the Rings himself. Originally forged with good intent, they became corrupted by Sauron and hence inextricably tied to the One Ring. The Nine Rings of Men were destroyed when the Ruling Ring perished, though the greatest of the Nine (worn by the Witch-king and thus lying on the Pelennor Fields at his death) may have survived in a powerless form.

Powers: Although each ring possessed some unique powers, all nine demonstrated those listed below:

- Free use of any one spell list (to 50th level) which is known (to any level) by the wearer at the time the Ring is initially worn.
- Continuous use of RM Hiding Unpresence and Nondetect and Spirit Mastery Spirit Mastery or MERP Nature’s Guises Blank Thoughts and Illusions Unseen and all spells from the MERP Spirit Mastery list.
- If the wearer is "stunned and unable to parry," treat wearer as merely "stunned".
- x9 PP enhancer (any realm of power).
- +15 to wearer’s DB, RR, directed spell OB, and Constitution bonus.
- Wearer’s form is immortal, though his flesh is consumed and he is transformed into an Undead under the domination of Sauron.
- So long as Sauron holds his Ring, the Nazgûl’s form remains immortal; only with the destruction of the Rings or the gift of the Ring to another wearer will the Ringwraith lose this magical benefit.

The Witch-king’s ring, like each of the Nine rings, possessed some unique powers. Since the Morgul-lord was the greatest of the Ringwraiths, his ring conferred more extraordinary abilities. These additional powers are listed below:

- Adds thirty levels to the Chief of Nazgûl’s resistance roll versus any kind of spell; this is a reflection of the Sauronic power that forged the ring.
- Wearer cannot be harmed by most normal and magical weapons; any such weapons that come in contact with his flesh (or the remnants thereof) will automatically shatter; magic weapons may do some damage, but will shatter unless they are quite extraordinary.

The Seven Dwarven Rings

Sauron was furious when he first put on the Ruling Ring and discovered that he was unable to control Durin III, the Dwarf-king who still wore one of the Seven given to him by the Elf-lord Celebrimbor. Durin III, like all Naugrim, was difficult to comprehend and did not submit to domination. Some legends say that he was somehow affected by his Ring of Power when he rejected Celebrimbor’s pleas for aid for the defense of Eregion and, later, refuge within the West Gate for the Noldo’s beleaguered people. Unreal fears of having to divide the wealth of Khazad-dum may have surfaced, with or without Sauron’s prodding.

Dwarven tales, however, hold that the Dwarf-king acted out of concern for his own people, knowing that the defense of Eregion was fruitless and that the Dwarven city was too gravely endangered to risk opening the gates. A chaotic migration of fleeing Elves might have brought doom. In any case, Durin III withheld aid when it was sorely needed, and the Elves never forgave him or his kindred. From that day forth, the many of the Elven peoples sustained an enduring hate for Durin’s Folk, and the Ring might bear much of the blame for this. (Only the Elves of Lórien, Galadriel’s followers, maintained friendship with the Dwarves.) The others now called Khazad-dum “Moria, the Black Chasm.”

The greatest of the Dwarven Rings was thereafter long kept hidden, but other Dwarves believed that Sauron had discovered its location and persecuted the Kings of Durin’s Folk for that reason. (Sauron recovered it from Thrain in Dol Guldur in T.A. 2845.) Although the end of the War Between the Elves and Sauron concluded an era of turmoil, the Dwarves counted the remainder of the Second Age as “Accursed Years.” Sauron retired to Mordor and slowly nursed his wounds. Quiet ruled, but the Dark Lord’s malice still lurked.

Despite his repose, the Evil One touched the Dwarves soon after his retreat from Eriador. Direct force had failed, so he decided to apply other means of control. Agents bearing the remaining six of the Seven Rings of Power approached Durin’s fellow Dwarf-kings. Sauron hoped that the Rings would enable him to sway the Dwarves, but the Dwarven Lords, like Durin III, did not submit to the Abhorred One’s will. Once again, the Khazûd foiled the Black Servant’s plans. So did all Dwarves earn the undying hatred of the Lord of the Rings. Sauron fumed and cursed all Dwarvenkind, resolving that a special fate would befall the Naugrim. At the same time, he attempted to recover the Rings.

Sauron’s curse proved slow, insidious, and effective. Dwarven resolve prevented Sauron from taming the Seven Tribes, but the Rings of Power still inflamed the worst desires of the Dwarf-kings. Over time, their fascination with crafts and precious things became an unquenchable obsession that grew into a greed for gold, silver, and jewels. Items of wealth and power became the focus of Dwarven life, and those that denied the Naugrim such riches became their enemies. Some Kindreds delved deeper into the earth, while others abandoned their homes in search of grander treasure. Increasingly, the Dwarves warred with their neighbors and feuded among themselves. During these times, the Dwarf-lords held the Rings until death, wanting them above all things, for without them all seemed pale and valueless.

The Dwarves remained preoccupied throughout the remaining Accursed Years and, in this, Sauron’s purpose was served. While the Elves and Men struggled against Sauron’s Darkness, Dwarven armies marched into remote lands in quest of new hoards. The events of the world passed them by. Númenor colonized and conquered vast lands in Middle-earth, only to fall prey to the Dark One’s machinations. The High Men’s continent perished, betrayed by pride and swallowed by Eru’s Great Sea. Yet her Faithful sons survived and built the Kingdoms of Arnor and Gondor in Middle-earth. In turn, they allied with the Elves and crushed the Lord of the Rings, thus ending the Second Age. Great numbers of Free Peoples lost their homes and lives, but through it all the proud, fierce Dwarves accumulated wealth and remained secluded in shielded halls.
With the dawn of the Third Age, Endor was again at peace. Unfortunately, however, Dwarven fortunes reversed, and a wave of calamities struck the rich Naugrim. Wild beasts, particularly Dragons, stirred and raided many of the Dwarf-hoards. Greed led to further kin-strife, and the Tribes turned against one another frequently. One by one, the Dwarves of the Seven Houses were robbed and battered until they took leave of their refuges and began wandering. Even the Rings of Power came to misfortune for, by the middle of the Third Age, many were lost. Dragon-flame consumed some; others simply disappeared, presumably retaken by Sauron.

Powers: As with any artifact, the full extent of the powers bestowed by the Dwarven Rings are determined by the nature and strength of their bearers. A predisposition towards the discovery, appropriation, and admiring preservation of treasures and artifacts was demonstrated by all of the bearers, but these qualities, while innate in most Dwarves, were exacerbated far beyond their normal character in the Kings who wore each of the Seven. Each ring possessed some unique powers, but all shared those listed below.

- if wearer is "stunned and unable to parry," treat wearer as merely "stunned."
- x7 PP multiplier (any profession).
- +77 DB, RR, and maneuver bonus.
- Continuous RM/MERP Protections Prayer 70'R affecting all allies within the radius of the spell or within sight of the wearer.
- Continuous RM Mind Mastery Unpresence and Hiding Nondetect or MERP Nature's Guises Blank Thoughts and Illusions Unseen.
- All lodes of precious metal ores and all volcanic pipes of minerals and gemstones within 7777' of wearer can be detected by him and analyzed at will.
- Wearer may use at will RM Detecting Ways and Delving Ways to 50th level or MERP Detection Mastery and Essence’s ways to 10th level.
- Wearer may use at will RM/MERP Lore and Item Lore to 50th/10th level.
- Wearer may cast spells from all six RM Alchemist base lists to his own level using his own PPs.
- Wearer and all within 7 miles of him are inspired with extreme loyalty to members of their own race; a Dwarf will support another Dwarf, even in an unjust cause, against an Elf, Man, etc.
- Wearer subject to increasing wanderlust over time for as long as he owns his ring; each year, he must make a RR vs. a Channeling spell that starts at 5th level and increases by 1 level each year; if he fails the RR by 50 or more, he will uproot the people under his sovereignty in a search for grander and more commodious living quarters with access to richer veins of ores and minerals.
- Wearer subject to increasing desire to create and possess artifacts; he will create at least one Item of Power every seven years and will become more and more possessive of these treasures over time.

4.72 Lesser Rings

The Rings of Power, the twenty forged by Celebimbor and Annatar, are not the only rings bestowing awesome capabilities upon their wearers. Although not so prominent in the accounts of scholars and the ballads of minstrels, many so-called "lesser rings" played less dramatic, but equally important parts, in the lives of Endor's peoples. Whether artifacts of unimaginable might or trinkets providing convenience and comfort, these lesser rings add color and flair to the tapestry of Arda's unfolding history.

Annatar's Ring

Ostentatious despite its plain working, this ring places a huge diamond in a large band of twisted mithril. It is made for a finger fully an inch and a half in diameter.

Powers: +30 DB; Changing; continuous RM Mystical Change Misfeet (Power, Calling, "alignment").

See ICE's Lorien 20.

Beast Ring

Made of wood and bone held together by cunning slots and carving (and a little glue), this ring resembles nothing so much as a jumbled circle of fur, bone, and tiny skulls.

Powers: allows wearer to speak with animals.

See ICE's Angmar 12.

Blue Ring

A simple band of strange blue alloy, it is invisible when worn, like the rings of the Nazgûl. It may well have been an early experiment in making the Nine Rings. It fell into the hands of the Undead Petty-dwarven Lord Miffli of Cameth Brin, who used it to extend his life in Arda. Thus it is sometimes referred to as Miffli's Ring. Though the Petty-Dwarf gained immortality, it was at a price. One by one his kinsfolk died around him in the halls they had excavated, which they called Armoq-al-Wanu.

Tales and legends suggest different origins for Miffli's ring: one recounts his heroic efforts at a forge long forgotten by the Khazad, another tells of his challenge to the Dragon Angurth, and yet a third suggests that Sauron may have hidden beneath Cameth Brin during the centuries after the War of Wrath which ended the Elder Days. Whatever the truth, Miffli's Ring preserved the Petty-dwarf through the ages and gave him the power to command the undead spirits of his former companions, renamed the Ta-Fa-Lish by the Dunlendings.

Powers: x6 PP spell multiplier; allows +40 RM Mind Domination Spirit Mastery attacks (range 200) or the casting of +40 MERP Spirit Mastery spells; imbues wearer with immortality by preserving body in semi-decayed state and allowing wearer's spirit to remain in Wraith form.

See ICE's Hillmen 30; LOME III 71.

Bone Ring

Before Aragorn was given the Star of Elendil, he wore a simple bone ring as a charm.

Powers: x4 PP (Channeling) enhancer.

See ICE's Rangers of the North 31,35; LOME II 19.
Carlhach (S. "Leaping Red Flame")

This item is actually a set of rings: five fire opals, each embedded in a gold ring, each ring made for a different finger of a hand. The rings are all connected by a network of tiny gold chains and are designed to be worn as a set on the left hand. If the rings are separated or the chains broken, the Carlhach’s magic is destroyed. Their value is approximately 30,000 gp.

Powers:
- cast a RM/MERP Fire Law Firebolt 300', 3x damage, 3x/day and a RM Fire Law Triad of Flame 1x/day (three MERP Fire Law Fire Bolts thrown simultaneously); wearer of the ring-set is immune to all magical fires and suffers only 1/3 damage and criticals divisible by 3 of natural flame.

See ICE’s Lorien 50.

Celeborn’s Ring

Made of gold and set with an emerald, this is a simple item intended more for adornment and utility use than for flashy displays of magic.

Powers: +30 to DB.

See ICE’s Lorien 28; LOME I 60.

Curufin’s Ring

This lesser Elven ring is a practice piece: it was given to Curufin as a gift and is an earlier and slightly weaker ring than Celebrimbor’s Ring of Wind.

Powers: +33 DB; RM Invisible Ways/MERP Illusions Invisibility 1x/rd; +33 levels to RR’s vs all realms of power; x9 PP enhancer.

See ICE’s LOME I 63.

Denethor’s Ring

The ring of the Stewards of Gondor is a mithril band with a white gem. There were once thin runes scratched inside the band, but they have been worn away. The ring was heavily tarnished when Denethor burned himself while holding the païantîr.

Powers: x5 Channeling/Mentalism PP multiplier; can be used by any profession employing Mentalism-related spells.

See ICE’s LOME II 24.

Dior’s Ring

A superb fusion of emerald adamant and gold laen, this beautiful item was created at the same time as Dior’s Daggers and Shield and is magically linked to them.

Powers: x8 PP any realm; point of return for Dior’s Daggers; gives control of Dior’s Shield; stores 3 spells/day simultaneously (of any level).

See ICE’s LOME I 64.

Elendil’s Ring

Elendil, the noblest of the Dúnedain to survive the Fall, founded the kingdom of Arnor and led the Last Alliance with Gil-galad. Like all his other items, this ring became an heirloom of both Arnor and the United Kingdoms. It is a heavy piece intended as a thumb ring, carved of gold and used as a signet ring by the monarch.

Powers: +30 to DB.

See ICE’s LOME II 27.

Elenya (”Ring of Stars”)

A lesser Elven Ring of Power made by Finculin with aid from Annatar and Celebrimbor, it is a pale shadow in might compared to the Three, but is still an item of considerable power. The Ring of Stars is fashioned of mithril and set with an amethyst.

Powers: +30 to wearer’s DB; x3 and +3 PP enhancer (any profession); will cast RM Invisible Ways/MERP Illusions Invisibility upon the wearer as often as every round (the wearer is free to cast other spells if he wishes); ring can be invisible and undetectable to all but other Ringwearers if desired; wearer, if mortal, ages at about a tenth the normal rate — but he loses one permanent Constitution point per ten years, however, and will not die. Instead, when his Con reaches 0 he becomes a Wraith; wearer, if a RM Mentalism-related spell user, has knowledge of all Seer Base lists to 30th level, which he may cast (if he has the PPs) as if he were 50th level or he has knowledge, if a MERP Essence spell user, of all Mage base lists to 10th level, which he may cast (if he has the PPs) as if he were 10th level; if this ring is worn during the Second Age, the wearer is in great danger of being tracked down and slain by servants of the Dark Lord; the ring is not evil, but it is tied to the One by nature, and so is very dangerous; once put on, the wearer must make a RR vs. a 10th level RM Mentalism/MERP Essence attack to take it off; every time it is worn (or every day it is worn) after that the attack level rises by 1.

See ICE’s Lorien 39.

Fëatur’s Ring

Made by Aule, this ring is invisible while worn. The ring is forged of mithril set with amethyst. It was given to Fëatur to help him undo the evil he had done, and which his twin sister continued to wreak upon the world.

Powers: protects wearer’s mind; allows him to manipulate the Enchanted Ardan Cards.

See ICE’s LOME I 72; Court of Ardor 30.

Four Dark Steps

This magic ring serves Morchaint, a thoroughly tainted criminal, just as it served her many forebears. It is generally passed on by being pried or cut from its previous owner’s fingers. The ring itself is of cold (unforged) iron, pitted with rust and set with nine dark brownish-purple garnets clustered around a lighter red ruby. Four tiny silver spikes (suitable for poison) project from the ruby’s setting.

Powers: RM/MERP Light Law Shade 4x/day and Dark 10' 3x/day; RM Invisible Ways/MERP Illusions Unseen 2x/day; and RM/MERP Nature’s Guises Silent Moves 1x/day.

See ICE’s Minas Tirith 145.
Gift of Estē
A ring of mithril and multi-colored laen jewels which belongs to Ingwë, the High King of the Eldar and most favored of the Elves. As befits Ingwë’s special status, the Gift of Estē is an unusually potent item reflecting the might of its Vala making.

Powers: instant RM Life Mastery/MERP Direct Channeling Lifekeeping and return to Aman at the feet of Varda on any fatal injury.

See ICE’s LOME I 82.

Gimilkhór
A gold ring set with a single huge sapphire, this item was named by its maker. Spidery Tengwar runes spell out the ring’s name on the inside of the band.

Powers: +10 bonus when using or resisting spells of ice or cold (including those from wands, etc.); +2 Essence spell adder device.

See ICE’s Dagorlad 34.

Ice-ring
Made from the bone of an Ice-drake, this ring was a token of Ucin the Half-dwarf’s victory over the Cold-drake Lamthanc (Q. “Forked-tongue”). It is carved in the form of a drake biting its own tail.

Powers: +5 Channeling spell adder.

See ICE’s LOME III 75.

Klaen’s Ring
Made for the member of the Guild of Elements that it is named for, this ring is of iron wrought in the form of an eagle, its wings forming the bulk of the band.

Powers: casts RM Speed Haste X or MERP Living Change Haste III 1x/day; also x5 Bardic PP enhancer; allows access to Closed Mentalist lists by Bards.

See ICE’s LOME I 83.

Knight-Captain’s Ring
Originally the ring of the Lord-captain of the Fleet and the Lord of Lebinnin, upon the death of his father it passed to Castamir the Usurper, who eventually wore it as his signet as King of Gondor. Upon his death, it was passed on to his son Castaher during the siege in Pelargir and then across the waves to Umbar, where it is said to remain. It is a band of platinum set with a flat plate of lapis lazuli carved into a compass rose.

Powers: +3 spell adder.

See ICE’s Havens of Gondor 6, 8, 10; Sea-lords of Gondor 10, 60; LOME II 22.

Lorglîn ("Gold-gleam")
A lesser Elven ring made by Celebrimbor before the great Rings were made with Annatar’s "help", it is gold with a yellow topaz.

Powers: +30 to wearer’s DB; Regenerates injuries at the rate of 3 hits/rnd; x6 Mentalism PP enhancer; RM Invisible Ways/MERP Illusions Invisibility 6x/day.

See ICE’s Rivendell 13.

Nazgauga (B.S. "Ring of the Eye")
A gold mithril band, this ancient ring is shaped like an Orc-skull, with ruby eyes and diamond tusks. Storlaga the Orc-demon wore it on the little finger of his left hand. It is a lesser Ring of Power, but its fate after Storlaga fled Angband (due to Morgoth’s ire at the loss of a Silmaril) is unknown.

Powers: x6 PP multiplier; allows wearer to watch anywhere in his domain except where forbidden specifically by Morgoth, thus enabling the wearer to keep an iron grip on his underlings; likewise, the ring has something of its own will and intelligence, driving its wearer further along Morgoth’s path; the ring unnaturally prolongs life, eventually transforming the wearer into a Wraith; allows the wearer to cast evil spells at 1/6th the normal PP cost and it may store up to six spells of up to 13th level; highly intelligent, the ring enables the wielder to cast spells from the RM/MERP Fire Law and Wind Law lists up to his own level.

See ICE’s LOME III 96.

Paurnen (S. "Water Fist")
A ring of blue laen unadorned except for a delicate inscription on the inside which reads, in Sindarin: "The wrath of water". The ring belonged to the mysterious Seer Huinen, who held back the Shadow in Southern Mirkwood for a time.

Powers: fires RM/MERP Water Law Waterbolts, 100’ range, as often as 3x/day; allows the wearer to walk on water and mists as if on dry land; ring can create a mist about the wearer, adding +30 to his DB.

See ICE’s LOME I 81.
Pearl Ring

The ring of Telkurhâd, a traitorous half-blood Dûnadan from Umbar, is a carved bit of bright pink shell with a setting of gold for the three large pearls it displays. Two of the pearls are white and one is black.

Powers: casts RM/MERP Calm Spirits Hold Kind 1x/day at 12th level.

See ICE's Minas Tirith 139.

Randae's Ring

An Elven ring of significant power, designed of mithril with an amethyst setting, this is possibly one of the early rings made by Celebrimbor in Hollin. It found its way to the Far Northeast on the shores of the Bay of Illuin and there served Randae Linvairë in his quest to free his kingdom from the yoke of the Urdar.

Powers: allows wearer to resist the Presence of Great Demons — even a Valaraudo; provides protection vs. all spells as if the wearer were 30 levels higher than actual.

See ICE's LOME II 38.

Ring of the Alchemist

A carved red laen ring set with a deep red ruby, this is the toy of Tarminion Spá, Master Alchemist of the City of Dol Amroth.

Powers: x2 PP; permanent/RM Detecting Ways/MERP Essence's Ways Detect Essence spell.

See ICE's Havens of Gondor 54.

Ring of Angrenost

Worn by Saruman the White in his later, fallen form and as Sharkey, this iron ring is inlaid with gold and silver in twisting knot patterns. Although made in the Istari's decline, it still shows the extent of the power a Maia could wield if he were willing to tie himself to the physical world.

Powers: +5 Alchemist's spell adder; enables wearer to produce results from Base Alchemist spells in 10% of the normally required time; objects produced with aid of the Ring have an inherent +10 bonus.

See ICE's LOME I 47.

Ring of Arvarien

This is part of the treasure of Imrazór, the insane King of Mirëdor. Imrazór hid it and all his other great treasures in a Maze below the Watch at Unulló to deny his heirs the wealth he had accumulated and that he had been bequeathed. Childless, he committed suicide. The ring is made of ivory and is set with a golden flower of a thousand tiny leaves.

Powers: +20 to outdoor skills; permits wearer to cast a +30 RM/MERP Light Law Lightning Bolt 3x/day; casts either a Lofty Bridge Fly 300' or a Wind Law Death Cloud 10 R (one spell total per day).

See ICE's Shadow in the South 62.

Ring of Axardil

The greatest family heirloom of the noble Dûnadan House of Axardil, the Ring of Axardil is a mithril band set with a single deep blue sapphire. An inscription in Quenya on the inside of the band reads: "Man's true glory lies not in power over the world material but in the mastery of one's own deepest thought, for to him who rules his own mind naught else shall be denied." The ring and its case were lost in the taking of the Tower of Cirith Ungol in T.A. 2000 when the aged Veantur was slain. With the Ring comes a velvet-lined silvercase.

Powers: x3 Bardic power point multiplier; adds +20 to all Bardic attacks; constantly generates a circle of protection around its wearer, -10 to all elemental attacks, +10 to all RRs vs spells; wearer can cast RM/MERP Lore Study 3x/day and RM Mind's Door/MERP Lofty Bridge Long Door 1x/day at no power point cost; the ring will store up to 3 Essence spells, as high as 10th level each; the rightful owner of the ring can at any time will that the ring return to its case, thus enabling it to be retrieved if captured or stolen — if the case has been retained.

See ICE's Shelob 29.

Ring of Barahir

Given Aragorn as his birthright by Elrond, this ring is fashioned like two serpents with emerald eyes, one devouring and one supporting a crown of golden flowers, the badge of Finarfin and his house. The Ring of Barahir has a long and tortured history. It is an ancient Elven ring, made by the Noldor in Valinor long ago. Felagund gave it to Barahir during the Dagor Bragollach as a pledge and oath of honor to him and his kin to aid them in time of need, for Barahir had saved him from certain death in the battle. When Barahir was slain in Dorthonion, his ring-hand was cut off to provide proof of his death, but Barahir's son Beren recovered both hand and ring. He bore the ring aloft as a sign of his noble lineage when he met Thingol and declared his love for Lúthien. Later, at Nargothrond, Finrod Felagund needed no ring to recall the deeds of the kin of Bëor and of Barahir, and he fulfilled his pledge, though few of his people stood by him. As a result, King Finrod died with ten loyal Elves in the dungeons of Minas Tirith, slain by Werewolves, though Beren and the Ring escaped.

Thereafter the ring was passed on through Dior and Elwing and came to the hands of the Faithful in Númenor in the Second Age. In the Third Age, it was one of the heirlooms of the North- kingdom, perhaps brought there by Elendil and his followers. When Arthadan fell, the last king Arvedui gave it to the chief of the Lossoth before departing for his watery death. It was eventually ransomed from the chief and kept at Rivendell by Elrond, who gave it to Aragorn when he felt the time was right.

Powers: 70th level Ring of Dragon-warding; if held before a Dragon, those Drakes who fail an RR return home for an indefinite period (e.g. 1-100 months or years), fearing the place where the ring is so used; x6 PP enhancer (non-cumulative).

Read LotRI 399-400, 401, 421; Sil 183, 198, 202, 204. See ICE's Rangers of the North 35; LOME II 19.

Ring of Blood Mastery

A gold ring set with a deep red garnet, this item found its way to a locked chest in a pirate's fortress in the usual way — it was torn off the finger of a hapless sea captain. Although it is the possession of the drunken lieutenant Ingar, he most certainly does not know what the ring is; he just thinks that it looks valuable and plans to sell it some day, or trade it to another captain for some item he wants more.

Powers: allows up to 10 power points of RM/MERP Blood Ways to be thrown per day: for example, one 9th level spell and one 1st, or two 3rds and a 4th, etc.

See ICE's Pirates of Pelagir 23.
Ring of Bolts
An onyx ring wielded by the evil enchantress Ethudil, this appears to be nothing more than a nicely carved ring of stone.

Powers: doubles range of all Bolt spells; adds +20 to their OB. See ICE’s Minas Tirith 146.

Ring of Cleaving
Kept in a silver ring case in the basements of the city of Minas Daldor, this is a cursed item. It is made of faintly etched gold and inlaid with steel.

Powers: when one puts it on, the ring shrinks instantly, cutting off the wearer's ring finger and giving the victim a dose of Asp venom (1v15 attack; RR failure = permanent loss of the use of the adjoining arm). See ICE’s Sea Lords of Gondor 35.

Ring of Doom
A terrifying device owned by Malbeth, the Dúnedan Lord Seer, this ring is a band of clear laen set with chips of obsidian.

Powers: allows wearer to throw up to 15 PP of Magician/Mage fire spells per day. See ICE’s Ereh & the Paths of the Dead 29.

Ring of the Herbalist
Yellow sapphire set in gold, Camring’s ring was given to him when he (reluctantly) joined the Court of Ardor.

Powers: x5 PP enhancer; allows wearer to administrate any herb without the usual preparation; also serves as a locater, allowing other Ardan Court members to Teleport to Camring in an emergency. See ICE’s LOME II 59; Court of Ardor 20.

Ring of Impersonation
A silver signet ring with a design of two faces fused together and staring in opposite directions, this ring belongs to Marahil, a banneret of the Ost-in-Edhil. A powerful talisman made in the later days of the settlement, its maker suspected that there was a hand of Evil at work among the Jewelsmiths and sought to protect all good things from that hand.

Powers: allows wearer to impersonate 1 person for 8 hrs/day; must study person for 1 minute; -50 to detect impersonation. See ICE’s Havens of Gondor 53.

Ring of Iron Magic
Fashioned of black steel, the Mouth of Sauron’s ring resembles nothing quite so much as a twisted, broken serpent with two heads. Even this guess, however, may be incorrect, for the ring is heavily scarred and battered.

Powers: x6 PP multiplier for Mages/Sorcerers; can store as many of six spells (each up to 30th level) at a given time. See ICE’s LOME II 34; Teeth of Mordor 29.

Ring of the Meldain
The ring is a gold band without adornment, but it alters its appearance through illusion to aid in its task. Thus it may appear as a shining new wedding band, an ostentatious gem-encrusted monster, or a simple signet ring. It belongs to Marahil, a banneret at the Court of Dol Amroth.

Powers: allows wearer to impersonate 1 person for 8 hrs/day; must study person for 1 minute; -50 to detect impersonation. See ICE’s LOME II 74.

Ring of Flame
In the Greater Vault of the Princes of Morthond, a small 3”x4”x3” ebony box sits on a black marble stand. The box is lined with blue velvet and contains this ring — gold with red rubies and orange padmarashah.

Powers: allows the wearer to throw up to 15 PP of Magician/Mage fire spells per day. See ICE’s Ereh & the Paths of the Dead 29.

Ring of the Meldain
This ring is a worn silver band without adornment, but it alters its appearance through illusion to aid in its task. Thus it may appear as a shining new wedding band, an ostentatious gem-encrusted monster, or a simple signet ring. It belongs to Marahil, a banneret at the Court of Dol Amroth.

Powers: allows wearer to impersonate 1 person for 8 hrs/day; must study person for 1 minute; -50 to detect impersonation. See ICE’s Havens of Gondor 53.

Ring of Iron Magic
Fashioned of black steel, the Mouth of Sauron’s ring resembles nothing quite so much as a twisted, broken serpent with two heads. Even this guess, however, may be incorrect, for the ring is heavily scarred and battered.

Powers: x6 PP multiplier for Mages/Sorcerers; can store as many of six spells (each up to 30th level) at a given time. See ICE’s LOME II 34; Teeth of Mordor 29.

Ring of Merging

This ring of mithril, held by the late work of Orner the Smith, one of the Elven Jewel-smiths who was influenced by Sauron when he posed as Annatar.

Powers: allows wearer to RM Movement Merge True or MERP Nature's Movement Merging Organic 3x/day.

See ICE's LOME I 88.

Ring of Mind Mastery

This part of the last treasure of mad King Imrazôr, this gold and jade ring is large and chunky. It was bequeathed to the suicidal King by his mother.

Powers: concentration spells cost only 25% normal activity; wearer can concentrate on 2 spells simultaneously; +25 to RRs v. mental attacks.

See ICE's Shadow in the South 62.

Ring of Night-stars

The favorite bauble of the retired privateer Shakhôr, this black agate ring is flecked with bits of ithilnaur that only shine under the light of the moon and stars.

Powers: +4 spell adder that adds +20 to Star-gazing maneuvers and, on clear, starry nights, wearer can see as if it were daylight.

See ICE's Sea Lords of Gondor 61.

Ring of Renewal

This ring of copper and green lacquer and enamel belongs to Faleriod, Councillor of the Haven of Edhellen.

Powers: +3 PP; doubles rate of healing of wearer.

See ICE's Havens of Gondor 54.

Ring of Shape-changing

This ring belongs to Korekalwen, a Silvan Bard in the employ of the Witch-king. Korekalwen uses it to pose as Wilda the Shieldmaid, a Northman woman. It is an unadorned platinum band.

Powers: wearer can change shape (within 10% of size); +10 DB.

See ICE's Hillmen 32.

Ring of Stargazing

Fashioned of grey silver with a single white stone, this is the ring of Krûsnak, the Black Númenórean astrologer who serves Sauron alongside the Mouth.

Powers: x6 PP multiplier for Astrologers; can store as many as five spells up to 30th level.

See ICE's Teeth of Mordor 29.

Ring of Stones

Kept in a small beech box in the Vault of the Seers, the gold Ring of Stones is set with a large black opal.

Powers: provides RM Physical Enhancement Darkvision or MERP Physical Enhancement Night Vision for 20 minutes 1 x/ day (enabling the wearer to see as if it were daylight), as long as the wearer is traveling "within stone" (e.g., in a cavern or stone building); permits wearer (3x/day; 3 rds/use) to touch a stone and see as if viewing from a point exactly on the other side (regardless of the stone's size).

See ICE's Haunted Ruins of the Dunlendings 13.

Ring of Summoning

This fine ring belongs to Naug the Dwarven Lord, made from mithril and inlaid with red ivory.

Powers: +3 Channeling spell adder; can summon one 21st level Dwarfaran "Hero" each day; this enchanted illusionary warrior will fight alongside the ringbearer for 2-20 rounds, ignoring stunning or bleeding wounds.

See ICE's LOME III 56.

Ring of Vairë

Presently lying invisible and abandoned at Barad Perras, a tower in the northern Ephel Dúath, this ring once belonged to an ancient Dúnedan nobleman who became obsessed with death. His tower is now inhabited by Orcs, but he still haunts the room where the ring lies. The Ring of Vairë is of gold with lapis lazuli inlaid flush with the surface.

Powers: casts RM//MERP Protections Prayer 4x/day.

See ICE's Gates of Mordor 20.

Ring of Warding

The Ring of Warding, a chunky, silver signet ring carved with an intertwined quill, scoll and lamp, belongs to Verylen, Master of the Sages' Fellowship.

Powers: +25 DB; +25 RRs; confers an added 50 PP for the casting of all RM Detection and Dispelling Ways or MERP Essence's Ways and Spell Ways spells (to 10th level).

See ICE's Minas Tirith 100.

Ring of Wind

Celebrimbor's lesser Elven Ring was a practice piece the Smith created before forging the Elven Rings. It is of mithril with a clear gem.

Powers: +33 to DB; RM Invisible Ways/MERP Illusions Invisibility 1x/round; +33 to RRs against all realms of Power; acts as a x9 PP enhancer (both may be used); will RM Rapid Ways/MERP Living Change Haste the wearer at will.

See ICE's LOME I 61; Lornien 22.

Ring of Winds (Amondil's Ring)

This ring of glass and chrome belongs to Amondil, a Squire of Dol Amroth. It is hollow and filled with mercury, quicksilver which constantly shifts its shape within the ring.

Powers: x2 PP; casts any spell from RM//MERP Nature's Lore to 10th level.

See ICE's Havens of Gondor 53.

Ring of Winds (King's Ring)

Commissioned for the use of Hyarmendacil I, King of Gondor T.A. 1015-1141 and High-Captain of the Royal Fleet, this ring is a rare example of worked platinum. The band itself is fairly wide and is carved in a weblike lattice. It is set with a sprinkling of diamonds. The ring was passed on through the generations to Hyarmendacil II, King from 1540-1621, and then to the Kings after him.

Powers: enables wearer to control wind direction and increase or decrease wind velocity by 10 mph within a range of 700 feet.

See ICE's Sea Lords of Gondor 60.
Ring of the Yem-Rukha
Presently hidden in a small box under a stack of mink skins in the Moonstone Fortress of the Laughing Reaver and his crew, this is a band of gold encrusted with tiny pearls. The Yem-Rukhim are said (by the Haraddrim) to be a race of undersea humanoids. Gedron, better known as the Laughing Reaver and the ring's present owner, suspects it is magical, but does not know what the ring does.

Powers: allows the wearer to operate underwater as if it were his or her natural environment: breathing, seeing, and moving appropriately; usable but once per full moon and allows said actions for 12 hours, during which time the wearer can breathe, see, and move only with difficulty out of water.

See ICE's Pirates of Pelagir 25.

River Ring
At first glance a fairly unimpressive gold ring (worth 5 gp), this find can be discovered to sport a magic star sapphire if closely examined. The stone may be reset and still retain its properties.

Powers: x5 PP Essence multiplier that allows wearer to cast any spell of 1-5 Ms off the RM/ MERP Water Law list 1x/day.

See ICE's Sea Lords of Gondor 39.

Saruman's Ring
Forged by Saruman using skills learned from Elven Ring-lore, the ring is made of mithril with a single clear stone set in it. The stone sparkles with many colors.

Powers: able to store ten spells a day; doubles the damage delivered by any of Saruman's fire attacks; makes him virtually immune to fire and cold; it possesses other, more subtle powers of illusion and misdetection (allowing the wearer a RR to detect illusions, and +20 RR versus detection spells); +20 DB.

See ICE's Isengard 27; Lords of Middle-earth 1 47.

Silent Ring
This gold ring is inlaid with shimmering iridescent bits of beetle chitin to form a shining scarab beetle rolling along a black globe.

Powers: x4 PP; allows the wearer to move continuously without leaving footprints or making sounds.

See ICE’s Rivendell 14.

Smith’s Ring
Eöl’s ring is as grim and gloomy as its owner: it is carved of poor quality grey jade in an hourglass signet seal.

Powers: x10 PP enhancer for Essence; constant RM Elemental Shields True Armor (lv1 50) or MERP Protections Resist Elements; skin is AT No/4; DB +44; wearer may work in heat, cold, or electric forges without bodily protection.

See ICE's LOME I 70.

Stypic Ring
This ring of gold set with flakes of garnet, carnelian, and bloodstone is the pride of Thalion Aranrod, the Lieutenant at Imdorad.

Powers: stops up to 3 pts of bleeding from a single wound 5x/day.

See ICE’s Mouths of the Entwash 8.

Sulrosendil (S. "Friend of Sea and Foam")
Aldarion's ring eventually became a hereditary possession of the Kings of Númenor. Note that the item originally belonged Elros. This is a sister-ring to that worn by Cirdan of Lindon.

Powers: permits the wearer to independently control the "wind in the sails" up to 1 mph/lvl for up to 1 ship/lvl; all ships must be in sight.

See ICE's LOME II 15.

Sulrostur (S. "Master of Wind and Foam")
A mithril ring with a large star sapphire, Cirdan's ring is the mate to Aldarion's and has the same effects.

Powers: may independently control the "wind in the sails" of up to 1 mph/lvl for up to 1 ship/lvl; ships must be visibly seen.

See ICE’s LOME I 62.

Three Tongued Ring
Made of burnished bronze, this ring is one long miniature scroll engraved with alphabetical runes.

Powers: translates Breffren and Drúedain into Dunael.

See ICE’s Dunland 63.

Tree Ring
This ring of treeform belongs to Taurclax of the Court of Ardor. It is made of fire-hardened oak.

Powers: allows wearer to become a large tree instantly, and live off the soil for an indefinite period; wearer remains fully aware of events around him as if he still possessed his human senses.

See ICE's LOME I 89.

Wôlor Priest Ring
Although it is not one of the Nine, this ring was worn by Dwār the Nazgûl and was known to the Lorremasters of the West. Made of gold-inlaid steel, it was inset with petrified wood.

Powers: x4 Essence/ Mentalism PP multiplier; glows with a blue-green aura whenever it is consciously pointed toward running surface water (within 1000').

See ICE’s Teeth of Mordor 28.

Wormtongue's Ring
A simple band of gold, this ring was a gift and token of vassaldom from Saruman to Gríma.

Powers: x3 PP multiplier for Bards.

See ICE’s Riders of Rohan 7,38,61; LOME II 30.
4.8 TOOLS AND TRAPPINGS

Just as enchanted armor protects its wearer more completely and magical weapons damage their wielder’s foe more severely, ordinary tools also perform their functions with greater efficacy when spells do the job. Whether a mortar and pestle that imparts curative powers to herbs ground against its porcelain surfaces or an architect’s drafting board that aids the designer with engineering problems, any piece of equipment can be crafted to focus magic on the task at hand.

Alfric’s Picks

These lockpicks are not magical but are the best ever crafted by Alfric, a smith of Mirkwood. They are very strong yet still somewhat flexible.

Powers: twice as hard as a to break as a normal set (50% chance to hold strong whenever a normal pick would break) and through their good design they add +20 to any picking attempt in which they are used.

See ICE’s Brigands of Mirkwood 25.

Angamaitë’s Lockpicks and Trap Disarming Kit

These many little tools all fit in a rod which looks like a scroll-holder. They belong to the great-grandson of Castamir the Usurper, and consequently have a discreet design.

Powers: +20 to all lock picking and trap disarming maneuvers.

Read LotR III 407; Sil 457. See ICE’s Sea-lords of Gondor 10; LOME II 18.

Axe of Craft

This ordinary tool is more useful than its somewhat worn, even dulled, appearance might suggest. It is always on the belt of Amarthion, Master Shipwright of Dol Amroth.

Powers: +20 hand axe; +30 to woodworking; casts any spell from RM/MERP Water Law list to 10th level 3x/day.

See ICE’s Havens of Gondor 53.

Bridal Ware

These six copper plates and six silver mugs were long ago captured from the wedding party of Sil Anatham and have been used gleefully by a group of Trolls ever since. They are a bit battered from the experience. The plates are worth 15 gp each, the mugs 25 gp.

Powers: enhance the flavor of any food eaten off them.

See ICE’s Trolls of the Misty Mountains 11.

Caldron of Craft

Belonging to the wealthy widow Fanariel of Dol Amroth, this large iron caldron is rather messy: rust from the quantities of hot water and dye salts it has contained and murky stains of the colors themselves make it a rather unattractive piece.

Powers: cloth dyed within will be of excellent quality.

See ICE’s Havens of Gondor 53.

Compas True

This large nautical compass is kept mounted on the personal ship of Amarthion, Master Shipwright of Dol Amroth. It is made of checkered teak and oak tiles with brass fittings.

Powers: x2 PP; +25 to navigation.

See ICE’s Havens of Gondor 53.

Crucibles of Changes

Curufin’s set of alchemical tools includes alembics, beakers, crucibles, tongs, forge, bellows, and the like, all of superior construction and pleasing design.

Powers: +50 to forging and alchemical spells.

See ICE’s LOME I 63.

Crystal Table

This clear, glassy drawing table was a diversion for Amroth, the ruler of the Kingdom of Lórien until the Balrog’s appearance in T.A. 1981. It can easily be lit from below to show details of floorplans or illustrations.

Powers: +50 bonus when drawing or designing.

See ICE’s LOME I 53.

Deck of Tricks

The elaborately marked deck belongs to Nimrilien, a bandit leader near Dol Amroth. The trickster must be familiar with it before use, or it will have no effect.

Powers: +25 to trickery bonus 3x/day.

See ICE’s Havens of Gondor 54.

Eöl’s Smithy

This complete smithy and its tools are all made of galvorn, laen, mithril, eog, or tipped with adamant, as befits the greatest and most skilled of all the Sindarin smiths.

Powers: +50 to all smithing or crafting maneuvers.

See ICE’s LOME I 70.

Forked Pen

A long and unusual shimmering green goosequill, the pen is the property of Dagobert, the Chamberlain of Dol Calantir.

Powers: allows +15 forgery.

See ICE’s Lost Realms of Cardolan 62.

Googol Trinkets

These ordinary baubles were made to help pacify unruly children. They are worth two coppers each.

Powers: occasionally pacify children (temporary).

See ICE’s Trolls of the Misty Mountains 11.

Gorgon Weave

This specially woven fabric is very tough and waterproof. A tailor would pay handsomely for it, because of the superior garments he could fashion from the cloth. The material is heavily patterned, almost textured, in knots of green, black, and tan.

Powers: six square yards of it will increase the DB of the wearer if made into a garment which provides majority coverage (such as robes or a cloak).

See ICE’s Trolls of the Misty Mountains 11.
Master Lockpick Kit

An extensive collection of well-made tools, with special pieces for exotic locks, the kit belongs to Uldros, the Thieves' Guildmaster in the Town of Linhir.

Powers: +30 to open locks.

See ICE's Havens of Gondor 54.

Mortar & Pestle of Skill

Made of thick white ceramic, this sturdy equipment belongs to Tamionion Spa, Master Alchemist of Dol Amroth.

Powers: casts any spell from RM/MERP Plant Mastery to 6th level 3x/day.

See ICE's Havens of Gondor 54.

Naugrim Rope

Fine, high quality twine in 100’ lengths and embedded with enchantments, the rope is kept in the treasuries of Angmar. It is said to have been made by the Dwarves of Erebor, but they do not acknowledge it as theirs, perhaps because it is not metal or stonework. The rope was probably taken by the Witch-king as spoils of war from some trader’s caravan.

Powers: RM/MERP Earth Law Enchanted Rope 3x/day; the user can cause the rope to move up to its length in any direction and tie itself in knots; it cannot attack or tie up living beings, however.

See ICE's Angmar 20.

Peerless Satchel

A bag of sophisticated surgical tools to aid Yavëkamba, the lay healer at the Court of Ardor. The tools are of steel, flint, and ebony. The kit includes vials, lancets, needles, thread, and a variety of simple anaesthetics.

Powers: halves recovery time and guarantees complete recovery (in the hands of a skilled Lay Healer).

See ICE's LOME 1 91.

Pilot's Friend

Currently in a locker in the sunroom of the abandoned Manor Ranoran near Dol Amroth, this set of pilot’s instruments is beautifully crafted of steel and brass. They would be worth as much as 50 gold pieces to any merchant-captain who could afford them.

Powers: give the user a magical bonus of +40 for navigation at sea.

See ICE's Assassins of Dol Amroth 20.

Petty-dwarven Hands

Hidden inside a hollow steel ingot at Cameth Brin lies a clear laen (volcanic glass) case which contains these exquisite magic forging tools. They are primarily meant for crafting weapons and armor, but there are some smaller implements useful for gold and silver work.

Powers: +25 to all alchemy spell rolls; with these the user can, once a year, reforge any one item in any fire: the result is an increased bonus of +10 to the item.

See ICE's Hillmen of the Trollshaws 30.

Scale of Assaying

Made of pewter and brass with iron-encased lead weights, the Scale of Assaying belongs to Arcambion, Coinmaster of the Town of Linhir.

Powers: subjects items placed in it to the appropriate RM/MERP Item Lore spell to 5th level 3x/day.

See ICE's Havens of Gondor 54.

Silver Table

Finrod's drawing table is a beautiful slanted surface of silver laen with niches and wells for the tools that go with it.

Powers: +50 math and architecture maneuvers.

See ICE's LOME 1 75.

Skeleton Key

The property of Dagobert, the Chamberlain of Dol Calantir, this is only one of many keys he wears on his key ring. It is of iron, with silver chasing.

Powers: will open any non-magic lock 1x/day.

See ICE's Lost Realms of Cardolan 62.

Spider Rope

A slender, one hundred foot long rope which was braided around a thread of mithril, this coil weighs a fifth of the equivalent normal rope.

Powers: can support 1000 lbs.

See ICE's Trolls of the Misty Mountains 11.

True-silver Trowel

This intelligent mithril trowel actually teaches and instructs the user in the ways of earth and stone. It is the tool of Amroth, the great seaman and architect.

Powers: permits wielder to use the RM/MERP Earth Law list to 20th/10th level.

See ICE's LOME 1 53.
5.0 CREATORS

Treasures and magic do not exist in a vacuum — they are the creations of tool-using creatures. What different cultures choose to make, how they choose to make it, what materials are available, and the religious or traditional symbols or patterns used can all affect the type and number of goods produced by individuals of a given race. These factors are all discussed below in varying levels of detail for the Ainur, the Free Peoples, the Great Enemies, and the Servants of Evil.

5.1 ERU AND THE AINUR

The first and greatest act of creation was that of Eru, who created the Ainur using the substance of his spirit, the Flame Imperishable, and revealed to them a portion of his thought so that they might better understand his creation. He also revealed to them the Great Music, the Ainulindalë, and he called upon them to sing. At first they could not sing as one, but as the countless ages passed, the music became refined and the voices joined in glorious harmony. This was the Great Music that gave birth to Eä. Each Vala had his own part in this Song, each his own purposeful melody, and together the Valar forged Menel (the Heavens) and Arda (the Earth). At the heart of this wondrous marvel called Existence was the Flame Imperishable, that which gave life.

Eru's act of the creation of the world was only one of many. His creation of Men, apart from the Valar at the first rising of the Sun, was another shaping that changed everything that had gone before. Although this making seemed weak, Eru's gift of Death created a mystery that shrouded the most fundamental aspect of the nature of Men: their eternal destiny. The ultimate fate of a Man's spirit was unknown, even to the Valar (save Námo). Men did not, at the end of their brief life spans, come to dwell in the Undying Lands of Aman. Instead, their souls passed beyond Arda, finding eternity cradled in the welcoming arms of the One. The Secondborn resided with and in Eru, rather than walking in the lesser glory of the Valar. Such is the great Gift of Death, Eru's bequest to His Younger Children.

Since each of the Ainur understood only a portion of Eru's plan, each had certain aspects which he or she sought to promote. Within their realms, the Ainur are more powerful than even the most gifted of the Children of Eru. As creations of Eru, the Ainur are beings of pure spirit, and they constitute the Greater and Lesser spirits in Eä. Since they sang the song of creation that brought forth the world according to the Eru's vision, they are, in a sense, responsible for the world and all things in it. Their creation of the world has tied them to it, and thus they do not work in pure spirit but both in spirit and matter, halfway between the works of the One and his children.

The Maiar are the lesser of the spirits of the Ainur in Eä. Though their powers are less than those of the Valar, they are nevertheless immense, and the form their actions and creations take are strictly dictated by their attitudes and intent. The faithful Maiar are dealt with here, as are the special messengers called the Istari. The Fallen Maiar are dealt with in Section 5.41.

5.11 THE VALAR

The Valar are the mightiest of the Ainur in Eä, and their works affect the world and its inhabitants. Their power in Endor waned over time however: after the First Age, with the struggle against Morgoth complete, the Valar reflected upon their guardianship and looked forward to the Second Age. Seeing the Doom of the Noldor fulfilled and the threat of Morgoth eliminated, the Valar decided to create a new order in the World. They drew bounds across the Sundering Sea, and placed a ban against mortals coming to Aman's shores. Swearing never again to intervene directly in the affairs of Endor, the Valar proclaimed Middle-earth as the land of Eru's Children and ever after they only worked through their servants, the Maiar.

Nevertheless, the achievements of the Valar in carrying out the design of Eru in the First Age alone are colossal. Chief among them in fashioning things is the Smith Aule: he forged the incomparable adornment, weapons, and trapping required by his fellow Ainur. The greatest works of his forges include the Two Lamps, Illuin and Ormal, which illuminated the World in the early Elder Days. Aule made the peaks to hold the lamps, and the Lamps held the enchanted aura that Varda devised. Following their destruction, the Valar again called on Aule to fashion vessels for the Great Light, so he produced the vessels that would hold the last flower of Telperion and the last fruit of Laurelin, becoming the Sun and the Moon. His crowning achievement, however, was the race of Dwarves. Although burdened by his conscience, Aule secretly molded the Seven Fathers of the Dwarves beneath the mountains of Middle-earth, hoping that they might instill special life into Arda. This conception was his own and was against Eru's thought, but it was not the work of malice and did not lead to his downfall. Confronted by his Lord, Aule submitted and almost destroyed his seven offspring, but Eru permitted them to sleep until an appointed time for their birth (after the awakening of Elves and Men). The One pardoned the Lord of the Earth, who remained loyal to the Balance of Things. The transgression that led to the creation of the Dwarven race was in keeping with Aule's character. Like Morgoth, the Smith enjoyed making physical objects and longed to create life. His greatest joy was in the fruition of his heartfelt labor. Unlike the Black Enemy, though, Aule's works embodied love and their intended purpose was to augment creation — not to replace or be apart from it.

Varda's works were also many and great, for she created the stars, kindled the Two Lamps, illuminated the Two Trees, blessed the Silmarils, and filled the vessels which became the Sun and the Moon. Obviously, few if any of the creations of the Valar made their way into the hands of beings of Endor. One exception to this was the granting of gifts to Ingwë, greatest of the Elves. Even though he received the Gifts of Manwë, Varda, Yavanna, Námo, Estë, and Tulkas, these were only seen in Endor when Ingwë first led the Eldar to Aman and thereafter when he commanded the army of the Vanyar, who along with the Valar themselves, drove Morgoth out.

Again using Ingwë as an example, many spirits' gifts and creations are not physical but mental or spiritual, such as the Gift of Nienna, which permitted Ingwë to touch the minds of other Elves to cure them of mind-affecting spells, diseases, or simply great sorrow. Gifts of this nature are perhaps less tangible, but certainly appreciated by those fortunate enough to receive them. Indeed, among some Mannish races where the true nature of the Valar has been confused, they are seen as gifts from the gods.
5.12 THE MAIAR

At the beginning of the Second Age, after the Black Enemy was cast into the Void and the Valar subsequently withdrew from the affairs of Aman, it fell to the Maiar to act as stewards. Though not as powerful as the Greater Ainur, their power was still considerable and their deeds tended to influence the world profoundly. Even as their greater brethren, however, they preferred to act indirectly.

In return for the Edain’s loyalty to the Elves and the cause of Freedom, the Lords of Aman called upon the Maiar Ossë to raise a great island continent which would serve as the new home of High Men. Ossë cleared the waters of the central Belegaer and summoned the land from beneath the surface, thus creating Númenor, the single greatest act of creation ever fulfilled by one of the Maiar. Sadly, with Ar-Pharazôn’s defiance of the Ban of the Valar, came the Change of the World, and Númenor was swept beneath the waves, ending Ossë’s creation a mere thirty-three centuries after its birth. With the end of the Second Age, the Maiar became further removed from the affairs of the world, for Middle-earth was forever sundered from the Undying Lands as Arda was reformed. From this time onward, Aman could only be reached by traveling the elusive Straight Way across the Bent Sea. The reasons for Maia self-restraint in their acts of gifting and creation were well-founded. When Eru gave the Valar guardianship over Arda, the Maiar assumed the role of executing his vision. It was their job to implement the details of the scheme for the World, assisting the Valar in the process of creation. This mandate defined the Maiar’s presence in Eä.

Creations outside this scheme, however, were not contemplated or condoned. Thus, Maiar who sought to make things on their own required more effort and, in a sense, were forced to put more energy into their labors. In each creative act, a part of their spirit was imparted to their legacy.

Maiar restraint was also exemplified in their selective use of power. Those who adhered to Eru’s vision deployed their magic selectively, in accordance with the Balance of Things. They abided by the scheme born out of the song of the Ainur. Their role defined, these Maiar executed their goals carefully, always knowing that their great strength harbored the potential for vast abuse. Even a well-meaning enchantment could produce unanticipated and adverse effects.

Nowhere was the Balance as precarious as it was in Endor. Thus, when the Maiar did extend help to the Elves and others, the items they gave were simply loans for a specific purpose, or, more frequently, their aid was advice and enlightenment. In this manner the Elves learned much of smithwork, for example, and the Maiar sometimes labored for a time at Elven forges. More often, however, they worked for themselves or for the Valar. Salmar, for instance, created many enchanted musical instruments, the greatest of which were the Ulumúri, the Horns of Ulmo. Those fortunate enough to hear them never forgot the sound. Of course, there were exceptions. Melian fell in love with Thingol and married him, and thus she gave to the realm of Doriath the protection of her Girdle of enchantments to hide her people from the dangers all around them. More often, however, the gifts of the Maiar were less than this. Melian, for example, also taught Nightingales to sing. Eonwë gave his skill as a general to the combined armies of Men, Elves and Maiar at the attack on Morgoth’s citadel of Thangorodrim. Furthermore, some Maiar were limited by their very nature. For example, the elemental Maiar who incarnated fire, water, earth, light, and air often could only create within the limits of their sphere. Arien, the Fire Spirit, became the guide for Anar, the Sun, when the Two Trees were destroyed.

With the Change of the World, the Maiar, became further removed from life in Endor. Travel between Middle-earth and Aman all but halted, except for those Elves who longed for the Light of the lands undying. Nevertheless, the Valar and their Maiar servants remained protectors of the Balance of Things. With the rise of Sauron in the Third Age, Darkness once again threatened to enslave all of Middle-earth. But the Maiar could no longer justify direct interference against a single fallen Maiar, and so withdrew further from the affairs of Endor.

5.13 THE ISTARI

Since the Istari are Maiar tied to the physical world of Middle-earth, their preferences and means are similar to those of their brethren, but are constrained by their physical forms: they fit the indirect means that Manwë chose to combat the threat posed by the Evil One in the Third Age. The gifts of the Maiar in the Third Age were correspondingly quite subtle and indirect. Selecting trusted Maiar from the Order of the Wise — the Istari — the Vala King hoped to send emissaries to Endor who might unite the Free Peoples and spur them to overthrow the Lord of the Rings. Thus, five Maiar set out to combat the greatest of their brethren, the fallen Sauron. Disguised as old men, these Wizards entered Middle-earth around T.A. 1000.

Ever aware of the dangers of intervening in the affairs of Eru’s Children, the Valar were reluctant to send the Maiar into Middle-earth. Such missions were rare. They justified the embassy of the Istari in the Third Age on the grounds that their enemy, Sauron, was also a Maiar. As always, the Lords of Valinor ascribed to the rule that power should be used only to combat like power. The nature of the Istari’s work was such that changing the physical world around them would do little to advance their mission, and thus they were instructed to use wisdom and magic to create change and protect the West, rather than forging weapons or building fortresses.

Gandalf maintained his commitment to the unwritten law governing a Maia’s use of power in Endor. His displays of magical strength were tempered with restraint and never involved any enchantments beyond those minimally appropriate for the given situation. The other Wizards, particularly Saruman and Alatar, proved less reluctant to exercise their skills overtly. Despite the fact that Maiar, like all beings, could succumb to the frailties of the flesh, Gandalf the Grey remained purposeful even as the other Istari fell away and became tied to Endor in their adopted bodies. He helped to insure the Balance of Things was maintained without intervening beyond the point of employing his power only to combat an equal or greater threat. The Grey Istari fought Sauron and his minions, and sacrificed his body in the struggle against the Balrog of Moria, one of the fallen Maia Fire-spirits. In the end, the One Ring was destroyed and the Dark Lord’s spirit, unable to resume form, passed from Arda. Thus, Gandalf achieved the goal set out for him. though his role was always one of counsellor and wizard rather than warrior or smith.

With Saruman’s death and Gandalf’s departure at the end of the Third Age, three Wizards remained in Middle-earth. Like the Maiar Nature-spirits that inhabited the land, and like the Maia demons locked deep beneath the soil, these Maiar stayed away from their home in Aman. As the years passed, they they became more tied to their form and gradually changed, remaining Maia in spirit but losing much of the strength of their origin. Their fate explains much about the Maiar’s desire to remain apart from Eru’s Mortal Children. As they ceased to work with magic and enchantment and began to affect the physical world, they were locked into it and in time could no longer escape it.
5.2 THE FREE PEOPLES

Beyond the initial creation of Arda, Eru and the Ainur forged in the media of the Flame Imperishable, the souls and spirits of Arda’s inhabitants, more often than they manipulated the physical materials of the world. Yet, the beings they created — the Elves, Dwarves, Men, Ents, and Hobbits — worked with metals, wood, stone, and cloth out of necessity and inclination of ability. As craftsmen, smiths, and artists, the Free Peoples created implements to improve their surroundings and secure their safety. Each race developed its own unique focus derived from the differing needs and preferences displayed by its members. The following sections detail the materials, methods, and types of items characteristic of each.

5.21 DWARVES

Dwarves are sober, quiet, possessive, suspicious, pugnacious, introspective, and greedy. This character has led them to seclude themselves in strongholds centered around rich veins of iron and precious metals. There they mine and create works of superb craftsmanship, which they guard with a wariness that approaches paranoia. Like their Maker, Dwarves are fabulous smiths and unsurpassed workers of stone. Dwarven items are often stunningly beautiful, but practicality underlies all their artifice. This attitude also affects their views on magic: Dwarves know of spells and enchantments, but scoff at the ways of Elves or other conjurers, beautiful, but practicality underlies all their artifice. This attitude and this symbolism is not placed in any work of architecture or any use of the number seven thus holds a deeper meaning for them, that breathe with life. Their build enables them to work long hours at a hot forge, withstanding tremendous hardships and punishment.

Because of their myriad enemies and constant exposure to the elements. Dwarves weave heavy cloths and tailor thick clothing; likewise, they make use of stout metal armor. When traveling. Dwarves wear hooded cloaks, often with scarves or masks, thereby creating confusion among other races. Even on the road, however, each House has a subtly unique look. Their colorful garb varies considerably from tribe to tribe, and even the hoods they make are carefully tinted to indicate an individual’s origin and allegiance. These hoods are made by female Dwarves in each House and are given as gifts to young Dwarves when they reach adulthood. Fewer than one in three Dwarf-men marry, for the Naugrim mate for life and will not join with one they do not desire above all others. Like most rare jewels, female Dwarves are coveted and obsessively protected in ways unlike those of other races. Fortunately, the Naugrim are enamored of crafts. Many never crave to love another, so they need no marital union. This introspective fascination with the arts and creation encourages stability in a race that would otherwise be easily torn by envy and uramge.

The Naugrim inscribe their works using the Angerthas Moria, an unsystematic variant of the angular runic script Cirth. The runes used are of several types: protective or enchanted magical runes, maker’s marks which vary between workers and workshops, and names for axes and other weapons. Because runes persevere and are by nature public, the Dwarves adopt written influences much more frequently than spoken alterations. Khazul changes little with time, being a sacred, spoken language of lore and not a cradle-speech. Thus the smith-marks of centuries ago are still perfectly legible to their descendants.

No House of the Khazâd stands above that of Durin’s Folk. They are the oldest and noblest lineage, for they trace their line back to the first of the Seven Fathers. Their ancient spirit, coupled with the Kindred’s role in history, makes Durin’s House the most experienced tribe, the first among jealous equals. Durin’s Folk employs a distinctive colored hood, in lieu of a cowled cloak. Most lack adornment; rather, they rely on bright, solid hues to embellish otherwise graceless lines. Flaps or a mask are often sewn into the hood, so that the face can be covered or protected. (Dwarf-women make widespread use of these coverings.) Durin’s Dwarves wear their hoods over traditional Dwarven garb: a leather jerkin or wool tunic, a wool or linen shirt, tight-fitting trousers, and one piece shoes or inner-boots. For active use or travel in the world, the Naugrim cut and sew heavy leather boots and a cloak or shawl which they fasten with a decorated brooch. Given their fondness for crafts, all of their clothing is well made and generously accented with refined borders and crenelated trimwork. Dwarf-lords wear even finer garments, and often add gold or silver tassels to the peaks of their hoods.

Durin’s Line is also famous for vibrant music. While all Dwarves love a tune and relate their secret stories only through lyrical abandon, Durin’s Folk embrace their songs with unusual fervor. This emphasis comes from long exposure to the Elves, particularly the Sindar of Beleriand, the Noldor of Eregion, and the varied inhabitants of Lori-en. Rarely do Durin’s Folk work or march without spilling a yarn set to tune. Since the words are often in Westron or an Elvish tongue, their music frequently carries a cadence that is peculiar to others, but the message is almost always Dwarvish. Given their love of music, it is scarcely surprising that the Naugrim of the First House are also makers of fine musical instruments. They favor flutes and horns, for their short fingers do not adapt well to stringed contrivances. Drums and other percussion pieces provide some variety, but the Khazâd are not concerned with such diversity. Instead, they rejoice in variations of simple, economical tones, for they voices or crystal notes wafting from heart of a noble musical device.
Just as they are quick to take to song, Durin's Folk are always active in other ways. When they are not crafting objects, they play with them. It is this passion that gave birth to the awesome reaches of Moria, the same impatience that makes the Naugrim wander when they have no more halls to hew. They delight in contests of skill, riddling, and making, especially with their rivals, the Elves. With the aid of the Valar, the Elven society of the Undying Lands (Aman) created the greatest works ever achieved by the Children of Eru. Within Middle-earth, however, only the Dwarves can claim supremacy as pure builders. Dwarven construction, particularly underground, is unrivalled in its strength and scale; and of all the legacies of the Naugrim, none surpass Moria. The Dwarven fascination for inanimate things born of craft-work permeates every level of their thought and their society. Ever active, they are always laboring, either improving or repairing an old work, or building something new. Their unique devotion to toil traditionally channels most of their physical and mental energies into material tasks, thus creating the Dwarves' utter preoccupation with technology.

THE SMITHS

Dwarf culture embraces its engineers, masons, smiths, scientists, workers, and warriors with a vigor found nowhere else. It is hardly surprising, then, that the Naugrim are the most technologically advanced race in Middle-earth. Dwarf-smiths are the most prominent Dwarven craftsmen, for the products of their labor are circulated throughout Middle-earth. Dwarven tools, armor, and weaponry command high value and are prized by artisans, warriors, and noblemen alike. Implements produced in Moria bring the highest prices, for the Dwarf-smiths of Khazad-dum are considered the best of their race. The legacy of those descended from the Line of Nogrod, combined with long years of cultural exchange with the Noldor Elves of Eregion, provide the smiths of Moria with a wealth of experience and knowledge concerning both metallurgy and magic. Continuously secure dwellings add an important atmosphere of stability and continuity, since the Naugrim require protected confines for their painstaking yield.

Among the Dwarves, time and temperament are critical ingredients, as important as ore and fire. Oddly enough, Dwarves refrain from the production of certain alloys made with gold. The reason the Dwarves don't use this noble metal more extensively in alloy is that they value it so much as coinage. It isn't that they are incapable of making the stronger, gold-based metals the Elves use; they are simply unwilling. With this exception, Dwarven craftwork is always logical, practical, and extremely well-made.

MACHINES

Elaborate and extensive Smith-halls churn out tools and parts required for the production of clever machines. With a host of high-quality steels and specialty metals, and a fondness for mechanical things, Dwarven engineers assemble phenomenal devices which lessen toil and accomplish feats undreamed of elsewhere. Simple machines like pulleys, levers, counterbalances, coiled tension-springs, wheeled carts, sledges, gears, and screws are commonplace. Combinations of these mechanisms, often very complex and sophisticated engines, are deployed where required. Most are located in the Mines, Smithies, and Lords-halls, or in areas critical to military defense.

WORKS OF POWER

Even without the wealth of mechanical marvels, Dwarf-holds are graced with a legion of enchanted or magical works, things of Power. The Naugrim produce few pure Mages, but many are endowed with a command of spells and incantations. Masters of Alchemy or the Power of manipulating inanimate things, these Dwarves are often engineers or smiths who are capable of crafting prized objects with peculiar or mystical properties. Such items perform miraculous chores or have exalted qualities. They are therefore revered, and their makers are accorded high status in Dwarven craft-oriented society. Some of the most prevalent or preeminent works follow.

Light-stones are magical, transparent jewels which have an enchanted inner "fire." This "burning glow" lies in the core of the gem and is colored by the hue of its receptacle. By choosing the proper light-stone combinations and arranging them carefully, the Dwarves can achieve virtually any color effect desired. In addition, larger jewels generally give off stronger light and can offset or dominate smaller ones. The life of a light-stone is keyed to the skills and power of its maker. Some Craft-lords are able to enchant gems that glow for decades, even lifetimes, but most dim and gradually expire after a few years.

A smaller collection of magic rocks is affixed in select sites throughout most Dwarf-holds, particularly at special entryways or stairways, or within restricted tunnels. Called "Watchers-in-stone" (or simply "Watchers"), these are beautifully carved statues with inlaid glassine eyes. Each is an individualized creation based on a terrible or hideous beast drawn from history or lore. As such, they possess a startling, and often frightening, countenance, yet they remain pieces of exquisite artistry, legacies of deft and gentle Dwarf-chisels. Most Watchers are sculpted of alabaster, marble, porphyry, or onyx, but a few are cut from heavier stone, such as granite or basalt. Sometimes their size or shape determines the medium used by the stone-carver, since they vary between a handful of pounds and a number of tons and may involve very delicate protrusions. Generally, all are of a uniform material: only their eyes are the exception. Laen, or smooth, polished gems, compose the eye inlays. Of course, it is the eyes that perceive things, and those set in the Watchers have exactly that purpose. Wherever they sit, they heed all who cross their gaze. Some have eyes that glow brightly to warn Moria’s garrison or blind transgressors; others gather air and emit sounds like deep horns or wicked flute-calls; still others move to bar passage or ward away the unwary. Even the movable Watchers, however, are limited to a precise function. They are not truly animate stone like the Pukelmen of the Woses.

Rune-keys are almost always metal slabs made of mithril alloys or fine steel. Key-makers usually design them as flat-faced finger rings or plates fitted with knobs or handles, but a few resemble branding irons. Magic symbols — spell-laden runes from the Angerthas Moria — grace the face of the Rune-key, as a bas relief or sculpted brand. The symbol is a reverse version of its counterpart, which is a carving in some wall or Dwarf-gate. When the Rune relief or brand fits snugly into the carved cut, it unmakes or unravels the magical lock that holds the Dwarf-gate against intrusion.

ARMOR

The Naugrim’s fondness for physical things is deeper than a simple predisposition for machines and enchanted objects. Dwarves like activity, which is root of their commitment to toil, and of all their pastimes, fighting is one of their favorites. While a Dwarf often prepares himself rigorously mentally and physically for combat, the smiths labor to assure he is well-equipped. In this they excel, for the Dwarven armories are usually superbly stocked, and trade in the tools of war adds considerable wealth to the coffers of the Dwarf-kings. More importantly, the smiths produce high-grade steel and mithril alloy armaments which are fitted to the warrior’s size and needs.

Dwarven smiths make three principal forms of armor. Mail, scale, and lamellar varieties predominate in Moria. Each of these types is used to make loose corselets, hauberks, fitted shirts, and leggings. What a warrior chooses or receives is often a matter of preference; however his accouterment depends on his status and responsibility. This is particularly true when availability becomes a function of commercial need, a common occurrence in Moria. The Dwarven propensity for extensive battle-dress translates into a love for full helms and strong greaves. They hardly have a choice; in light of their love for close combat, these trappings are an absolute necessity. Nearly every warrior makes or buys a true helm, and most use some form of greaves.

The unbroken armor and protection that obscures the individual Dwarf presents a problem for the fiercely independent and prideful Naugrim. In order to identify themselves, they must rely on meaningful decor, particularly on the prominent surfaces of their shields, greaves, and helms. In response to this need, Dwarves make frequent use of brightly-colored leather dyes and crest plumes and adorn their greave-plates with engravings. The Khazâd also make sculpted helmets shaped like the heads of cruel and fantastic beasts. With coiled horns and exaggerated features, these helms present a disturbing, almost frightening presence. In fact, a host of helmeted Dwarves can be a terrifying sight, as their armor is both elaborate and weighty.

To supplement their armor, Dwarves frequently make and carry shields. A few involve square, rectangular, septangular, oval, or kite shapes, but the vast majority are round. Whatever their shape, they are sturdy and comparatively large. Moria’s shields perform well in the hands of an Elf or Man because they are two and a half to three feet in diameter. A four to five foot Dwarf bears one like a mobile wall. As a means of providing beauty and reinforcement, metal plates or designs are placed on the shield face. Weird animal depictions and runic friezes are Dwarven favorites, again to help identify the bearer. Regardless of the pattern, though, the work surrounds or intersects a traditional metal shield boss, which juts from the center and covers a hole for the principal handle. The circular boss is sometimes sculpted into an animate form, but most are simply spikes or enruned domes, and are a standard feature of Dwarven shieldwork.

Due to their fine armor and overall lack of subtlety, Dwarves utilize “belligerent” rather than defensive weaponry. In a melee, Naugrim rely on heavy coverings and shields to deflect strikes or allay the impact of blows. Their assortment of heavy crossbows and shafted weapons — axes, mattocks, hammers, and maces — emphasizes their aggressive battle philosophy. Many of these arms are two-handers which betray the Dwarven boldness and suggest the dual-purpose and the mining origins of their war-tools. Despite their pugnacity, the Naugrim prefer to show their goods to the world on more civil terms. Dwarven envoys from Moria travel to the courts of Fornost in Arthedain and Minas Anor in Gondor, and couriers frequently pass between the East-gate and Lórien, while emissaries to the other Dwarf-halls assert the needs of the First House. Most of their diplomacy revolves around trade, for Dwarves sign no treaties and war only on behalf of their tribe or their race. With their hunger for still-greater wealth and their many unique resources, however, the Khazâd enjoy healthy exchange. They are hard bargainers who revel in any debate that involves money or precious goods, and their steady flow of craft-work requires strong markets.

5.22 ELVES

The craft-skill and mechanical design of the Elves reached its highest point in the Noldor of Eregion under the care of Celebrimbor. Although the Elves of the Undying Lands (with the aid of the Valar) achieved perhaps the greatest feats, and the Dwarves are the most industrious engineers, it is the Gwaith-i-Mirdain who excelled in wedding beauty to function. They created items magical and mechanical of unequalled subtlety and precision. And, with the help of Annatar, they rose to the pinnacle of accomplishment only to fall into utter ruin.

Examining their achievements and practices gives a clear impression of the ideals Elven craftsmen of all kinds strive for, be they woodworkers, weavers, or artists. To compare the Elven Smiths of Eregion to the Dwarves of Moria is an analysis filled with contrasts and unlikely similarities. It is clear, though, that each group learned a great deal from the other, and the quality of both crafts was enhanced.
THE SMITHS

The Gwaith-i-Mírdain was both a school and a guild. More, it was a brotherhood of Immortals uniquely devoted to their craft. A passion to create burns hot in every heart, and they were united by this common goal. Through this community of competition and cooperation, the Brotherhood of the Jewelsmiths becomes itself a single forged entity.

One major advantage the Elves have over any other Smiths in Middle-earth is their ability to concentrate on a single task for seemingly endless periods. They do not need sleep, and hunger can be staved off for days if necessary. While many of the facets of Smithing (forging, smelting, etc.) require unpleasant environments, the Elves take steps for their own comfort. To complement their natural resistance to extremes of temperature, the Mírdain have installed ventilation systems, and enchantments that maintain a livable — if not ideal — climate in even the hottest smelter-chambers. Several days of virtually unbroken toil which maintain a livable — if not ideal — climate in even the hottest smelter-chambers. Several days of virtually unbroken toil are invariably interspersed with periods of leisure; though the Noldor are capable of feats of unparalleled strength and endurance, they also have a seemingly infinite tolerance for inactivity.

TOOLS AND TECHNIQUES

The equipment used by the Smiths of Eregion is in general more elegant and fragile-seeming than that used by other races. This is perhaps best explained in an excerpt from Celebrimbor’s notebook, taken from one of his first meetings with the Chief Smith of Khazad-dum:

"21 lavas, 750

"I find that I like this Órin, although he is grudging to admit that our ways of doing things might be better than Naugrim ways, he is quick to understand concepts and I think he will come around after he sees a few examples of our abilities. Would that he could have seen my smithy in Nargothond! I have yet to perceive the signs of vice or foul intent that Celeborn warned me all Dwarves are dominated by. I fear that he speaks rashly, wronged long ago by an unrelated tribe. These Naugrim (once one overcomes their appearance and abuse of Sindarin!) are not unlike the Noldor in some ways.

"I gave Órin a tour of the foundations of the City and Smith-hall, and while he was spare with compliments I could see that he was indeed impressed with our architectural skill. Ulgod he was especially astounded by: our liquid stone which can be poured into the wood molds, and after hardening a few days is stronger than any natural rock. The Smith was derisive of my set of hammers and tongs, saying ‘surely these are too delicate for any real metalwork!’ He found the filigreed handles and other decorations foolish and impractical (‘impractical’ seems to be one of his favorite words). Unable to convince him with words — and, alas, having no complete forge here — I lent him one of my hammers, bidding him to do his worst. He made me promise not to be angry when he returned with it bent or broken. Unworried, I gave him my word.

"40 lavas, 750

"Órin has returned from his halls, his face inscrutable. Only after considerable prodding did he produce my hammer. I scratched it. He reported somberly, indicating a tiny — almost invisible — mark along the face. ‘And how did you manage even that?’ I asked. I struck the point of one of my hardest chisels with all my might. He grunted. I dulled by chisel.

"No more needed be said. I had made my point."

This is not to indicate that Dwarven tools are in any way inferior to Noldorin. Celebrimbor undoubtedly lent Órin one of his most indestructible hammers, his pride being more fragile and valuable than any of his tools. Elven tools tend to have more decoration, devote more to comfort and aesthetics. Although sacrificing nothing of their usefulness or strength, they might appear “impractical”.

SMELTING

In general, Elves employ enchantments more than any of their compatriots when smithing. They disdain coal or wood fires as ineffective and dirty. Magma fires have their advantages, but are inconvenient, massive and difficult to control. Therefore the Noldor depend — with few exceptions — heavily on natural gas fires, and enchanted heat. For the former, the Eldar smiths utilize both natural vents located nearby and ducts of gas gathered from other locations. It burns hot and cleanly, and can be controlled with relative ease, fulfilling all requirements. It is somewhat dangerous, of course, and volumes are not unlimited. The latter, the enchanted fires, are used frequently on the largest and smallest jobs: the Smelters and High Forges.

In the Smelter Hall, a Master Smith supervises the loading of ore into one of the several lean crucibles. Each is of the clear, ultrahard volcanic glass, the outside bottom third covered with an enchanted metal. Once loaded the Master touches the metal, speaks the proper Words, and activates the spell. Immediately the metal begins to heat to the commanded temperature. The laen (which only grows harder with increased heat) uniformly distributes the heat, and the ore is soon liquid and ready to be separated as desired. Laen is perfect for use as receptacles not only because of its heat resistance, but the transparent nature allows easy observation of the contents. The crucibles, hung from great hooks, are moved about on ceiling tracks via chains and pulleys. The slag is separated from the pure metal, which is poured into ingots or sheets for later use.

JEWEL-SMITHING

Another art the Elves have perfected is the making of jewels. The Dwarves also know that extreme heat and pressure over time create natural gemstones from less noble elements, but the Elves know how to duplicate this process and accelerate it with the aid of powerful Essence. This is the art and science of the High Jewelsmiths. Other methods were also mastered: the pouring of liquids which later harden, the crystallization of chemical mixtures, and other enchanted means. In addition, Elven smiths are expert in the Coldforging of laen, that is, its softening and forming. Although the Silmaril could never be made again, the enchanted presses of Mírdaithrond have produced a number of beautiful gems. Of course, the Elves are also adept at working glass, crystal, and ordinary metals such as iron, steel, and so forth.

METAL-SMITHING

Although the Noldor have little use for gold for wealth’s sake, they value it as a beautiful metal, and are able to make from it some very strong alloys unknown to Durin’s folk. The metalmiths use molds as well as hammer and tongs, and they produce some marvelously beautiful items from common materials: iron candleholders that could grace the tables of Mannish nobles, tin rings for the delight of children, and copper banding for barrels that is both secure and decorative enough to captivate the eye. Elvish crystal work is prized by Mannish settlements, and the Naugrim snatch up all they can for their decorative lamps.
5.23 ENTS

Founded in a reclusive nature that dwelt apart from the bustle of Mannish concerns and the passions of Elvish pursuits, the Ents' preoccupation was ever with the olvar. The creation of weapons, the building of magnificent cities, and a greed for beauty and knowledge are not among their preoccupations. Rather the tending of primeval forests, the nurture of individual trees, the reverent observation of the seasons, and the protection of plantlife from depredation by Orcs or Dwarves occupy their creative abilities. Nurseries for young saplings, sanctuaries for rare species, decomposition mounds for the fallen, and healing draughts for blighted trees are among Entish works.

Implements and shelter made and used by an Ent in his daily life tend to be simple, in harmony with the natural world. A double row of trees surrounding a basin on the forest floor where water bubbles to the surface; a niche in a cliff planted with vines, sheltered by heather, and splashed by a waterfall; a cave where a stream echoes musically, the banks cushioned by moss, its vaulting roof breached by well-placed crevices to admit air and sunlight; such are the structures of the Onodrim. Too rustic to be recognized by the casual observer as the work of sentience, their undeniable beauty and comfort pierce even the oblivion of the ignorant.

The Ents possess few tools, because their hands are sufficiently strong to complete most tasks alone. Nor do they create and use weapons — the rage of the Onodrim combined with the root-like powers of their appendages is justly feared by any who have experienced it. Swords and maces wielded from behind shields could not be more lethal, indeed, could never have achieved the wrecking of Isengard. A few possessions, primarily for the storage of food, cordials, and potions, are necessary. Bowls carved of walnut or granite, urns, jars, and corks shaped of maple or marble, and casks of applewood or quartz, comprise the majority of an Ent's treasure hoard.

The contents of these containers is of more interest. Salves and teas brewed of bark, fruits, nuts, and herbs for the nourishment and healing of both Ents and trees brim within the vessels. Called Ent Draughts, some of these concoctions effectively feed or cure members of other races as well, but the results of a specific draught is often unknown. Few individuals have had occasion to subsist on Entish fare.

5.24 HOBBITS

"They do not and did not understand or like machines more complicated than a forge-bellows, a water-mill, or a handloom, though they were skillful with tools."

-LotR1, p.20.

Histories entirely overlook the smallish folk until the records of the Third Age: there are no great Hobbitish tales of the Elder Days. No artifacts of renown have been crafted by their clever hands. Nevertheless, their goods are durable, dependable, and well suited to their tasks. This is all the conservative Halflings require of their possessions: the forging of great and potent treasures they leave to the Elves and Dwarves. This innate modesty is reflected in their choice of materials — Hobbits prefer to use cloth, wood and leather in their goods rather than metal or stone, though they will make metal implements on occasion to serve as tableware, farm equipment, and workshop gadgets.

Despite their dislike of the showy or complex, Hobbits, especially Harfoots and Stoors, excel in the crafts common among rural peoples. Their skillful slender fingers produce high quality products in wood and leather: barrels, shoes, spindles, toys, garments, plows, wheelbarrows, and many more items of necessity and comfort. Their designs are pragmatic and light and benefit from centuries of undistracted experience. Harfoots frequently specialize in making archery equipment. Stoors produce remarkable fishing lines, poles and nets, lures and small, light boats. The Fallohides excel in the Elvish skills, such as language and song, more than in common handicrafts, such as weaving or woodworking, but their work is still more lovingly made than that of many Mannish workers.

Should a rare Hobbitish craftsman apprentice in a more urban area, he can produce exceptional ivory and metal work of decorative, practical, or even military nature. Occasionally Hobbitish craftsmen are employed to do filigree and other engraving on items of great value, such as weaponry, armor, and jewelry for noble families. Such workmanship frequently commands prices up to ten times normal (although it is often not the Hobbits who primarily benefit from the increase).

For all their stoutness (eating is something all Hobbits excel at), Hobbits are remarkably dextrous in body and hand. They are quick, subtle, and agile. This makes them excellent sneaks, fine archers (although their bows by necessity are quite small), and admirable craftsmen. Hobbitish hands sport surprisingly long, slender and nimble fingers, which are gifted in performing almost any non-magical or non-technical craft. Thus their homey art, decor, implements, toys, gardens, clothing, and adornments are usually of very fine quality. The greatest power of the Hobbits is their changeless, childlike innocence and simplicity. Seldom duplicitous or mean, Hobbits usually aspire only to relax, eat, smoke pipeweed, and produce lovely, homey little communities.

Since Hobbits are uninterested in sophisticated knowledge or power and happily ignorant of most evil or cunning, their knowledge of enchantments, politics, mechanisms, and others such subject is scanty indeed. They have perfected the simple arts needed to enjoy life, but they have no interest in anything more adventurous. In size, of course, Hobbits give way to all other speaking races and can challenge only the smallest Goblins or Orcs face-to-face. Since Hobbits can almost never adequately confront other peoples in melee, they have done very little in the area of shield or armor work, or with weapons that depend on mass for effectiveness. Short swords, daggers, slings and short bows are by far the most common Hobbitish implements made for war, forged in tiny smithies with simple forges, anvils, and bellsows often worked by mule-power (to avoid discomfort on the part of the smith's apprentices!). However, many rural and farming Hobbits are fond of axes in combat. The only shield or armor they make or use must be light or fine enough to not interfere much with Hobbit agility, which is their only advantage. Occasionally a very large and aggressive Hobbit will wield a broad sword, javelin, club or handaxe with two hands (since for him it is like any other races' two-handed weapons), but these are generally of Mannish make, since few Hobbit smiths would devote the time to making such oversized and (in peaceful times) useless items. The smithies among the Hobbits turn out far more plowshares, penknives, and horseshoes than swords or axes.
5.25 MEN

In form and face. Men lack the great beauty of the Eldar and enjoy nothing of the glory of the Calaquendi. Compared to the great magics, cultures, skills, and refinements of the Elves and Dwarves, the works of Men seem pitiful and primitive, temporary solutions to problems that outlive the fleeting generations of the Secondborn. Indeed, Dwarves and Elves take a sometimes disdainful attitude to the patchwork and ramshackle aspects of Mannish towns and goods. Yet Men are driven by their brief lives to strive for greatness with an urgency and strength of will that the Firstborn cannot understand.

Death is Eru's blessing, for it leaves Men unshackled by fate and destiny — as are the Elves, who often suffer from the burden of a preordained doom, such as the Doom of the Noldor. The Firstborn, while immortal of body, weary in spirit over the course of ages, but the spirits of the Secondborn bum with a passion for life and a need to savor each precious moment. No undying Elf can understand the desperate but energetic nature of mortal Men.

The restless energy of Men is directed for both good and ill through the ages, but in every case Men tackle tasks with a sense of urgency that often brings success in the least likely of circumstances. Their materials and methods are largely taken from the ancient Eldar and the naturally adept Dwarves — Men use stone or metal, wood or brick as the occasion demands and resources allows. Aesthetics matter less to them, and most Men lack the love of making for its own sake that Dwarves are born with. This makes many Mannish goods seem shoddy, but the pinnacle of Mannish craftsmanship combines the best of Elvish beauty with Dwarven functionality.

One of the highest points of civilized building and forging was in the time of Númenor, when the valor and faithfulness of the Edain to the Elves was rewarded with the rich bounty and flourishing culture of that island. In addition to the fair land itself, the Dúnedain were taught many of the arts of the Eldar, including smithwork and shipbuilding that has rarely been rivaled among Men since. The greatest Dúnedan achievement in the arts of magic may have been the use of the Palantir, but they though they belonged to Elendil and his heirs, they were creations of the Noldor and not of the Númenóreans. The Men of ancient Númenor disliked the use of sorcery and made few great enchanted works; instead, they loved things carved of wood, for daily use or for the beauty of carving, and they perfected this skill among themselves, though few examples of their work survived the Downfall. Of course, they were skilled with stone and metal as well, but their skill as shipbuilders was never surpassed.

In general, Men of all ages and places seem to place a greater value on symbols than other races, though Elves are also fond of them. Well-known emblems of the various kingdoms and peoples include the many-pointed silver star of the Dúnedain of the North, the White Tree of Gondor surrounded by Seven Stars, the white horse on the green field of Rohan, the white field of the stewards of Gondor, Isildur's rising moon and Anarion's setting sun. These serve both decoratively and functionally, since they are most common on shields, banners, and badges used to identify the wearer. In this sense they reflect the Mannish passion for social distinctions and classes.

5.3 THE GREAT ENEMIES

Morgoth

Morgoth's passions were many and mighty, and they conjured all that would be Evil. The fallen Vala Melkor was the soul of Darkness, and his unending and insatiable want was never stayed while he remained in Arda. With each triumph, each acquisition, he strived for more. Eventually, however, he became tied to the World, weakening with each creation as he labored over the course of time. His Iron Crown embodied much of this might — and it would have enabled him to stay in Eä on despite the destruction of his body — but after his rebellion, Morgoth never gained any inherent power.

The Black Enemy's most fundamental desire, of course, was to create life. Yet, he never could, for the Imperishable Flame burns only within Eru, and life abides only with the leave of the One. Even the birth of Aule's Dwarves can be traced to Eru's forgiving thought. Morgoth was always frustrated in his endeavor to find and wield the fire that kindles the spirit and sparks life. The Vala settled instead for perverting that which was, and his breeding pits produced the races of Orcs, Trolls, Wargs, and Dragons, as well as a host of foul denizens which still haunt the depths of the Earth. He seduced the Fire Spirits and twisted their souls, yielding the awful Demons of Might — the Balrogs.

On a still grander scale, he implanted the seeds of pride and despair in the Free Peoples and with these vanities changed the very outlook of life. Morgoth was a master of many aspects of Eä, but above all he enjoyed a command of crafts and material things. He was, after all, closest in mind and character to Aule. Like the Lord of the Earth, he understood and manipulated Arda's substances. He erected the Iron Mountains to guard his Kingdom, and he raised the Misty Mountains in hope of stopping Orome's attempt to rescue the Elves of Cuivienen. Morgoth delved the endless Halls of Utumno and Angband and carved the hideous citadel of Thangorodrim. And, just as Aule molded the surface of Arda according to Eru's vision, Morgoth remade it to suit his own desires.

These works, twisted though they were, were at least creations of a sort, the making of something new. However, Morgoth's greatest skill lay in destruction. Morgoth's transgressions are too many to list them all, but a few deserve special mention. His wars cost countless lives and incalculable damage and twice ended in utter cataclysm. He hated Light and thus brought down Illuïn and Ormal, the Two Lamps that lit the World in the early First Age. Toppling the peaks that supported them, he felled the greatest mountains ever to grace Endor. Later, he smote the Two Trees and contrived, along with Ungoliant, the draining of the Wells of Varda. He even assailed the Moon, failing only because his strength betrayed him as he rose into the Heavens. His most heinous crime, however, was the legacy of Evil.

Morgoth's incarnation left a bequest that included a legion of wars, numerous twisted races, and a host of monsters. All the ills borne by such figures as the Balrog of Moria and Sauron of Mordor can be traced to his ire. Worst of all, though, he left the World with the painful sin of Evil and the love of Darkness among Men and Orcs (and, less often, other races) that shall vex Eä until the end of the Count of Time.
In many ways, Sauron simply followed in the footsteps of his former master, Morgoth. Since Sauron was not a Vala as Morgoth was, but a Maia, his power was less. Yet, the Valar withdrew from the World after the overthrow of Morgoth, and thus Maiar like Sauron, who sought to craft powerful things of their own vision, instilled much of their inherent essence and strength into their creations. The making of the One Ring in the fires of Orodruin, for example, embodied a tremendous part of the Dark Lord's soul. While it preserved and accentuated the Evil One's strength, he was crippled without it; and the further the Ring and its master were apart, the weaker the Lord of Mordor became.

Sauron's focus remained primarily on the creation of nations and races who worshipped him and served Darkness. The artifacts he forged, such as the Ruling Ring, were made for their utility in this greater cause rather than for their own sake. The lure of beauty and knowledge never swayed the Dark Lord, and all his actions were bent toward the acquisition of power and the acknowledgement by all of his sovereignty over the world. Strategies of war, political intrigue, and schemes to overturn kingdoms: these were Sauron's greatest works, forged in the crucible of Elvish, Dwarvish, and Mannish passions.

The Abhorrent One remained a servant of the Darkness that is the gift of his master Morgoth. Although he worshipped himself. Sauron was the embodiment of the Black Enemy's legacy. Morgoth was always the Dark Lord's mentor and master, for Morgoth was Evil incarnate. Even imprisoned in the Void outside Eä, the Black Enemy survived in the Evil he invented. Sauron and his followers, and those they dominated, worshipped this Evil in myriad ways. Fear of the power of Darkness, of course, stood as the ultimate incentive, spawning a reverence of Evil and its incarnations. Sauron promulgated overwhelming terror, and his thralls saw no other choice.

Sheer strength and cunning deception enabled the Lord of the Rings to prey on the souls of Free Peoples and remold whole societies. In building his kingdom of awful ire, Sauron carefully selected capable instruments of terror. His armies included countless Men, Orcs, and Trolls. However, just as Morgoth once molded peoples into mockeries of Eru's children, Sauron sought to develop new warrior stock. Like his master the Black Enemy, he could not create life; but through breeding, the manipulation of minds and souls, and selective spawning the Dark Lord forged three new subject races: the Uruk-hai (B.S. "Orc-people"), the Olog-hai (B.S. "Troll-people"), and the Furolog-hai (B.S. "Half-Troll people"). These creatures could reason and operate in daylight, overcoming the principal flaws of their precursors. In addition, though Sauron’s plot to rule the Rings of Power through the use of the One may have failed in the case of the Dwarven Rings, the human rulers who fell prey to this ruse became able leaders of Sauron’s horrible new warriors. The prideful kings were transformed into the immortal Nazgûl, the greatest of the servants of Sauron.

The Evil One fed on misery and the unbridled anticipations of pain and suffering which gripped his countless victims. His agents used sheer force and silvery ploys to achieve Sauron’s goals in many ways; although the ends are one and the same, the overseer was rarely revealed. Through his minions, he strangled nations and crippled cultures all over Middle-earth: in the East and South his whip was greatest, but the Dark Lord plagued the West as well. There, the legacy of his most-hated foes remained intact, and there he planned his final, climactic gesture.

In purely physical, inanimate terms, aside from the Rings of Power, the only other great creation Sauron brought about was the construction of the terrible fortress of Barad-dûr. Its making was intimately connected with the Ring, for its foundations were laid with the Ring’s help between S.A. 1000-1600. Although it was razed at the end of the Second Age, its foundations could not be destroyed while the Ring still existed. The tower was built at the southern end of a spur of the Ered Líthui, the Ashen Mountains on the northern border of Mordor.

In addition to his creation of the Orcs, the Nazgûl, the One Ring, and Barad-Dûr, Sauron constructed schemes to bring about the downfall of nations that opposed him and to justify his claim to the title of King of Men. He was largely successful in the East, where he ruled large domains by terror and force. In the West, Sauron focused his ire upon Armor, the legacy of Númenor, the Dark Lord’s chief rival in the Second Age. His influence sundered the Dúnedan North Kingdom into three successor states (Arthedain, Cardolan, and Rhudaur) in T.A. 861, making it vulnerable when the Witch-king established Angmar in T.A. 1300. The Lord of the Nazgûl overran Rhudaur and Cardolan by 1409, reducing both states and isolating the Dûnedain of Arthedain. Then, after nearly six hundred more years of fighting, the Witch-king achieved his goal. His host of Angmarim swept across Arthedain in 1974-75. Although the Gondorians joined with the remnants of the Arthadan army and decimated the Angmarim at the Battle of Fornost, both Angmar and Arthedain passed into history as lost kingdoms.

Sauron success in his quest to destroy the North Kingdom enabled him to turn all his attentions on the South Kingdom of Gondor. The Witch-king returned to Mordor and, after twenty years of preparation, gathered the other Ringwraiths for an attack on Gondor’s easternmost city, Minas Ithil. Two years later (T.A. 2002), the besieging army forced their way into the city. It fell together with its Seeing-stone (Palantír) and was renamed Minas Morgul. Sauron still directed his forces in secret from his lair in Dol Guldur. Searching for the lost One Ring, he preferred not to reveal himself until his power was unmatchable. The Dark Lord kept the guise of the Necromancer until Gandalf threatened to uncover his ruse in T.A. 2063. Slyly, the Dark Lord fled to the East. Quiet settled in the West as the Watchful Peace began.

During this era, the Ringwraiths remained in silent repose at Minas Morgul while their master marshalled his strength among the Easterlings. With the return of the strengthened Sauron to Dol Guldur in T.A. 2460, the Watchful Peace ended. Orcs multiplied and wars followed, all fostered by the Evil One. The ensuing years saw Sauron’s power grow. By the time Gandalf confirmed his identity as the Necromancer (2850), he was nearly ready to unleash his final onslaught. Confident of his might, despite the absence of his Ruling Ring. Sauron returned to Mordor in T.A. 2941. Ten years later he revealed his presence and declared himself the Lord of Middle-earth. The Dark Lord rebuilt Barad-dûr upon its immutable foundations in T.A. 2951 and renewed his search for the One Ring upon returning to the Black Land, but he hastened the course of armament. Knowing of its recovery by some member of the Free Peoples, he sought time.
Although he sent out his greatest servants — the Ringwraiths — in search of his prize, he was unsure of its fate. The Dark Lord realized that as long as the One Ring existed and was not employed by another, he was unassailable; but, in the hands of a foe, the Ruling Ring endangered his dominion. Still, few had the strength to control the incredible power embodied in the Ring. After all, part of Sauron himself coursed through the One. It was utterly Evil and unsuited to the nature of many of his foes. The greatest threat was the fallen White Wizard Saruman, who was then lord of Isengard. Like Sauron, he knew of the Ring’s reappearance. Saruman’s servants scoured the land far and wide for its location, but to no avail. Frustrated, the White Wizard turned to Isengard’s Seeing-stone in T.A. 3000 in hopes that he could wrest precious knowledge from the Dark Lord. Sauron proved too great a match for Saruman, however, and ensnared the Wizard’s probing mind. Thus, the Evil One’s principal rival fell under the spell of Darkness.

The War of the Ring was not decided on the field of battle. The victory over Darkness at Pelennor Fields bought time, but it did not end the danger. Only the destruction of the One Ring could stay Sauron’s triumph. This was an act the Dark Lord never contemplated. Despite all his power, and his talents as a master of minds and a manipulator of emotion, the Dark Lord did not understand the nature of innocent and unwavering good. He directed his attentions outward, never looking in his own Black Land for the Hobbit that bore his doom. When Frodo and Gollum returned the One Ring to the fires of the Crack of Doom — where the Ring was made and could be unmade — Sauron’s empire collapsed. Having tied himself to Eä with his many acts of warped creation through the use of the Ring, all that Sauron built with the One was destroyed. The other Rings of Power lost all strength, leaving the Ringwraiths lifeless; and fear and dread settled in the hearts of the Evil One’s minions. Leaderless and broken, the armies of Darkness fled or were quickly vanquished. Barad-dur perished, for its seemingly indestructible foundation had been enchanted by the Ring. Sauron, of course, passed from Arda as the time of his body’s death, was too weak to reassume form. Saruman, like Sauron, passed from Arda as the price for imposing his lesser creations on Eru’s vision of the world.

5.4 SERVANTS OF DARKNESS

Many under the yoke of Darkness have been so stripped of virtue — intelligence, organization, and patience — that their creative abilities demonstrate a stunting equal to the brutality and power-lust shown by their character. Yet, under the Dark Lord’s lash, the tools of war needed by his army are forged. Mighty rams like Grond, the fell artifact that broke the gates of Minas Tirith, awesome blades wielded by his captains, and dread items of power brandished by his High Priests along with the scimitars and short bows carried by his footsoldiers pour from the forges of the Dark Lord’s servants.

5.41 DEMONS

Demons — Fallen Maiar such as the Balrogs — are by their very nature creators, though of a twisted and evil sort. They act independently of Eru’s scheme and the Valar’s guidance and thus gradually diminish in spirit. Just as they slowly become tied to their adopted form, their creative acts sap their inner strength. This process is accelerated in areas outside Aman, where no Light of the Valar lends power to all around them. In every physical act of creation outside the scheme conceived by Eru, a part of the creator is tied to the physical world; this rule holds true for Eru’s Children and the Ainur alike.

All the Fallen Ainur gradually became tied to their bodies. As they sought to manipulate the World that they were entrusted with guarding and cultivating, they became a part of that world and suffered its weaknesses. Nowhere was the danger greater than in Endor. With the fall of Morgoth, the diminution of the corrupt Maiar was further hastened, since they could no longer draw on the awesome spirit of the Black Enemy.

Unlike the faithful, of course, the Fallen Maiar did not care to restrain their obviously superior talents. The Fallen sought to dominate lesser beings and create their own visions. The misled or confused — such as the wayward Wizards — endeavored to achieve their own goals, often believing they were right. In either case, grim results followed, and the Balance of Things was upset. Saruman’s tale, as one of the Fallen, although not numbered among the Demons, illustrates the decline suffered by those who sought to impose their own inappropriate will upon Eru’s scheme for the way of things. As Saruman deviated from his given mission, he enjoyed less help from above and he became tied to his body, a form which declined as his essence was debased. When he utterly abandoned the quest and decided to create his own host of Orcish warriors, his might dwindled to little more than that possessed by ordinary mortals. The more effort he expended, the weaker his spirit became. With the diminishing of his power, his body aged rapidly until it became enfeebled. When he was murdered by Gríma Wormtongue, his form was a pale shadow of its earlier incarnation. This decline mirrored the weakening of his spirit, which, but the time of his body’s death, was too weak to reassume form. Saruman, like Sauron, passed from Arda as the price for imposing his lesser creations on Eru’s vision of the world.

Other fallen Maiar were even less subtle in their rebellion against the Order of Things. The Balrogs drew first on the power of the Vala Melkor and later Sauron to turn regions they dominated into the fiery hells they enjoyed. Thus Moria became a sterile home of foul gasses and flaming, sulphurous pits. In this sense, Demons resembled the Maia Tom Bombadil, who also grew very closely enmeshed with the land he inhabited. Unfortunately, the Fire Spirits’ visions and works were less benign. Less is known of the other Maiar who followed Melkor into Darkness, but those few who did so must inevitably have become tied to their fiefdoms over time. Volcanoes in Mordor and elsewhere may have served as homes to others among the Fire Spirits, sargasso seas and ship-wrecking reefs harboring monstrosities of the deep were the creations of fallen Water Spirits, and dark forests such as that around Dol Guldur may have been cultivated by Nature Spirits who served Sauron.
5.42 NAZGÛL

The Nazgûl are among the most powerful servants of Darkness, and their own wealth and power as kings and chieftains brought them many powerful magical items even before their seduction by the Rings. As potent as these items were, it was the nature of the Ringwraiths to want more power, and this urge moved each to create further powerful and evil tools to further the ambitions of their dark lord. The nine Nazgûl acted as extensions of Sauron’s vile will; they served as his “hands.” The Nine did the Dark Lord’s bidding, fearing only him, for it was Sauron who enslaved them with the Nine Rings of Power, and it was he who gave them “life” immortal. Without Sauron, the Ringwraiths had no focus, and without the power born by the Nine Rings Sauron held, they could not live. Thus, their creations were merely sub-creations for their master, and their schemes followed his will and pattern, since their spirit and free will were given to the Evil One.

The Nazgûls power, even before their corruption, was considerable. With their enslavement it grew. Their roots reached back to the Second Age, when they reigned as mighty Kings of Men, enabling them to draw on experience beyond the reach of other Men. With their submission to the Dark Lord, they became immortal, acquiring their skills over centuries. Yet, like Sauron, they existed in both this world and the realm of the shadows, but wholly in neither. Thus, their creations were partly of matter and partly of spirit.

Chief among their deeds was the creation of terror among both their minions and enemies. As the hands of Sauron, the Nazgûl aided him in all his campaigns as his generals and leaders. They turned their own kingdoms into part of Sauron’s far-flung hegemony, and then pursued the subjugation of other lands. The Witch-king, notably, founded and ruled the kingdom of Angmar, but all of the Nine labored at recreating the Kingdom of Darkness which had fallen at the end of the Second Age. To this end, three of the Nine flew to the north and reopened the hold of Dol Guldur and prepared armies to crush the Elves of Lorien and Mirkwood. Of course, the Nazgûl’s ties to the One Ring provided their greatest vulnerability. All the Rings of Power lost strength when the One was destroyed at the end of the Third Age, making the Nine Rings of Men mere jewels. This change removed the enchantment that gave continuing life to the Ringwraiths; and so, as the One had made them, with Sauron’s fall, the remaining eight were unmade and passed into oblivion.

5.43 ORCS

Orcs are the living breathing examples of cruelty, brutality, pitilessness, indulgence, ambition, and evil. There are basically three principles of advice for Orcish behavior within Orcish society, given here in order: 1) if it is bigger and smarter than you, do as it says; 2) do whatever feels good; 3) if you can hurt something while you pleasure yourself, so much the better. Among themselves, from infancy through adulthood, Orcs are cannibalistic, greedy, grasping, and brutal. None of this gives the Orcs the right to time or inclination to produce artisans of any sort, and those that do arise are invariably bullied by those they work for. This reduces the quality of work produced. The only exception lies in the making of war goods, because the one thing Orcs admire is power.

Generally, Orcs hate the masters whom they follow and fear. "Might makes right" is the purest and most devotedly followed of all Orcish axioms. There are no other laws. The only kind of acknowledged inheritance is that of an item, such as a tribal totem weapon, coming down to the next succeeding biggest Orc. Having no sense of beauty, Orcs are equally miserable wherever they live, whether in caves, pits, catacombs, ruins, lairs of monsters or unhaunted marshes. They sometimes dwell in the vacated residences of other beings whom they have driven out. They do not understand architecture in terms of aesthetics but only in terms of cold military necessity.

As stated by the Quendi, distilling and distorting the tortured Orc-race from the Elves may have been Melkor’s most abominable act. The supreme Orcish craft is pain, but they are excellent smiths for war as well. Whether it be weapons or implements of torture. Orcs develop items with great utility, if no beauty. Their swords and maces are said to rival those of the Elves and Dwarves in function. Only the differences in racial proportions cause Orcish tools to be of little use to other races. Without long, apish arms, Orcish weaponry feels clumsy and ineffective (-5 to -25). But those same items, crafted often of steel, can be wielded viciously by Melkor’s children. Orcs care little about the style of their axes or spears. Being born and raised in violence, most can wield any weapon that falls into their hands equally well, with the exception of bows, which are used more proficiently by some tribes than by others.

Orcs produce more curved blades, similar to scimitars, than any other weapon. The larger curved swords resemble falchions. Nearly as frequently can be found the familiar Orcish short-bow and black feathered short arrows. Heavy Orc infantry often use hand-axes and spears which sport barbs or rakish edges. Rarely, great Orcs may wield war-hammers or a deadly device very similar to a morning-star and chain. The Uruk-hai take for their own use the finest weaponry the Orcs make or plunder. Their swords are straight and resemble Mannish short swords or broadswords. Frequently, fine Uruk blades are hammered hot and run through a living prisoner for the correct temper (+5 to +15). Uruk weaponry can often be used by other races without penalty. The Uruks also are capable of making and using great yew longbows. Some tribes have their own traditional weaponry, such as the clawed club or mace of the peculiar Scara-hai and the or-bukar which can be used as a weapon or acrobatic tool for vaulting and swinging.

Defensively, most Orcs are stuck with poor leather armor, because most are low in status and cannot badger the smiths into giving them anything better. Chain-mail is well understood by Orcish smiths, however, and leaders and many legions of regular Orcish soldiery can coerce smiths into spending a great deal of time equipping them well, while others suffer from a lack of any armor, and sometimes even decent weapons. The smiths do produce superior work, given time: standard command level armor, and that among elites and guards, is a chain-mail shirt with plate greaves for both the arms and legs (AT Ch/14). Shields are easier to make and thus more common, but they are only carried by Orcs who can be bothered with them — many Orcs think of them as slightly effete. Rather than being solid, the shields are generally rather poor affairs, made of toughened hides stretched over wooden frames, after the manner of primitive humans. Naturally, Orcs are delighted to use the weaponry of fallen opponents. Such items are usually better made and serve well as a trophy. Armor stolen from dead Dwarvish victims is considered a real prize and features greater defensive value (AT Ch/15 to AT PI/20) than anything made by the Orcs themselves.
Enchanted items of Orcish manufacture are very rare, perhaps because the term "Orcish Magic" is nearly a contradiction in terms. Since Magic requires some true intellect it is practiced with exceptional rarity among Orcs. Their spell-casters serve the priesthood of the Dark Lord, first Melkor, then Sauron, both of whom the Orcs worshipped as gods for their ability to inspire utter terror. Therefore, priesthood over Orcs is not as it is in most other races, an intercessory office administered on behalf of the supplicants. Rather, priesthood is the visible arm of theocratic tyranny. Priests focus Orcish attention and fear on their sovereign through demonstrations designed to inculcate unquestioning obedience. Therefore, priests may come from many professions and spell-casting realms (most often Clerics, Sorcerers, Magicians, Mentalists, etc), although Channeling remains most predominant. Spells of fire, pain, cursing, submission, demonic invocation, and genetic alteration are most prominent, and the rare wand or staff found in Orcish hands is almost invariably from one of these disciplines, sometimes as a reward for faithful service but more often wrested from another, weaker priest. Because of the Orcs' natural racial limitations, priesthood is generally exercised by evil humans: Variags, Dunlendings, Easterlings, and Black Númenóreans. The majority of enchanted and otherwise superior items relating to the priesthood may be assumed to be the work of one of these races. However, both Melkor and Sauron had Orcs among their high priests at different times. Infrequently an Orc or Half-orc may succeed in becoming a spell-caster capable of causing some fear. Generally, characters such as these are Uruk-hai, or Half-orcs (either from Saruman's breeding or racial mixture), since common Orcs are ineffective mentally.

Orcish medicines cause as much pain as the cuts they seal, and produce more obvious and grievous scars than would the wound if left untreated. In keeping with Orcish pragmatism, their healing methods bring the victim back to readiness quickly. Orcs are much more proficient with poisons (especially Ashgurash: 3rd lvl nerve poison causing pain and upper body paralysis) than medicines.

5.44 TROLLS

If there is any race with less skill at creating well-crafted items than the Orcs, it is Trolls. Their concerns are strictly with weapons of war, since their thick hides are usually strong enough to deflect the blows of most weaponry.

There are two exceptions to this general rule: Olog-hai and Half-trolls. The Olog-hai or Black Trolls are intelligent enough to realize the value complex and well-designed tools as well as that of wealth and treasures. They both loot and make simple trade goods such as cloth and foodstuffs, and they accord their smiths a good deal of status. As a result, the smiths work hard enough to allow most Olog-hai, under the Dark Lord's orders or not, to always wear armor and use weapons.

Half-trolls wear garments and armor like Men and are considerably shorter so they often appear less frightening than the larger Olog-hai. Their clothing is often fairly simple, made in rough field conditions from looted (but very fine) material. Since, aside from comprising Mordor's elite shock troops, the Half-trolls also serve as lieutenants for Sauron's Nazgûl and lead groups of Orc armies, their possessions reflect their status. They forge or plunder the best of weaponry as appropriate for their superior standing. These arms are generally at least as good as those of Mannish manufacture and sometimes approach Dwarven work. Weapons they make themselves can generally be told apart from the spoils of war by the fact that their own work tends toward a heavy preponderance of red, white, and black — few Half-trolls would make a green or yellow weapon, though they might pick one up if it were sufficiently powerful.

6.0 MATERIALS

The materials available to craftsmen determine the kinds and types of items they can create. Stone is fine for building, but less ideal for weaponry. Metals have different uses: iron and mithril give good sharp edges, but are not as easy to work into tiny chains or baubles. Gold can be beaten into almost infinitely thin sheets for use as leaf on roofs, boxes, or just about anything else. Likewise, stones can be decorative or functional, easily carved or able to withstand siege engines. Materials can be adapted to different uses, but most often the nature of the substance itself dictates what sort of items can be produced from it.

Enchanted items present an entirely new range of problems and solutions. The powers they provide are often invaluable, but the materials needed to make them are often very difficult to obtain.

6.1 GEMS

Although Men and Dwarves appreciate the beauty flashing in the facets of rubies, diamonds, and emeralds, they use gemstones more frequently as adornment for an item of power, rather than as the sole focus of the Essence. Only the Jewel-smiths of the Eldar forged with crystalline materials regularly. A few of their favored gemstones are detailed below.

Adamant

Made only among the High Jewel Smiths and only by the skill of Celebrimbor, adamant is harder than diamond or laen, yet can be colored in the making like the latter and faceted like the former. Adamant resembles diamond, being clear and brilliant, but is even brighter than that stone. It is no wonder that Celebrimbor chose this most pure and beautiful of stones as the set for Nenya, the Elven Ring given to Galadriel.

Diamond

Although this gem is most prized by many clouturs, many of the Mírdain find the pure white stones “dull”. Dwarves and Men would not agree. Elves do, however, covet the very scarce colored varieties, especially blues and pale violets.

Emerald

Called "Elfstones" by many mortals, they are indeed favored by the Firstborn. Their bright green color is often found in jewelry.

Laen ("Long Thread")

The name refers to the incredibly long crystal lattice structure, allowing for the strength of the material. Of course, this does not explain the bizarre property of laen; it gains strength and rigidity with heat. Only by chilling to temperatures beyond cold can it be softened, and then it is sculpted and molded to the desired form. Natural laen is black or smoky, but it can be cleared with treatments and tinted any number of transparent colors.

Opal

The cloudy, rainbow-hued opal has found favor with many Elves, often used in rings or weapon pommels. The rarer red-blue-violet Fire Opal is also highly prized. Still less common is the brilliant Black Opal — few have the color play of their brethren, but those that do display a unique dark beauty.

Ruby

Another favorite stone (used in Narya), the Noldorin smiths prefer the richest dark reds. Men generally prefer the brighter shades, though servants of Morgoth and Sauron have a bent for the dark blood reds or even slightly cloudy varieties.
Sapphire

The pure blue form is the most prized by the Elves (one being used in the Vilya of the Three), though the yellow variety is also appreciated. Some smiths also like the very rare Black Sapphire, blue-black and ominous in hue.

Violet Garnet

The only garnet which the Noldor take seriously, it is a clear pale violet in hue, very delicate and beautiful in appearance. Again, the Noldor are fussier than most jewelers — Dwarves enjoy the common dark red varieties, and Men will employ most any variety Noldor are fussier than most jewelers — Dwarves enjoy the common dark red varieties, and Men will employ most any variety in some setting, though they also prefer the violet shades. The brown-green varieties are favored in the south. Garnets are often found in large clumps of interlocking crystals.

6.2 HERBS, PLANTS, PANACEAS, AND POISONS

Medicine owes a great debt to the plants and other substances that provide it with drugs and treatments. Many of the effects of herbs have long been known, and plants have been used for not only healing purposes but also as poisons, aphrodisiacs, spices, foodstuffs, and intoxicants. The wilds of Middle-earth contain many treasures of their own, growing things that Men and others apply to these ends or to magical ones. All of the many peoples of Endor have some knowledge of which plants serve what purpose, but this knowledge is often specific to a given region or climate.

An example of herbalism at its finest exists in the herblore of the Dúnedain. The Númenóreans were some of the finest healers and physicians in all of the world. Their mariners brought healing plants from many lands. And the lore of the Teleri, brought by the Eldar when they marched to the Great Battle, was carefully studied and cultivated. The men of Númenor did not have to look far to find the cure for many injuries and illnesses — only to their gardens. When Elendil filled his ships with the treasures of Númenor, he did not neglect these marvelous healing plants.

The gardens of Arthedain and other modern nations cannot equal those of Númenor, but the Dúnedain of the North are skilled with plants and herbs. Most everyone has some knowledge of the healing plants that are used for the scrapes and mishaps that occur daily. Arthadan healers, clerics and animists combine herbs into wonderfully healing salves, unguents, lotions or other admixtures.

The text does not include all of the herbs and drugs of Middle-earth, but it is a useful selection. Specific cures for diseases and poisons are left off of the list since it would be impossible to detail all that exist. The people of Endor can deal efficiently with most cases of disease and poison, often including the Great Plague.

Drugs and herbs are available in a variety of forms. The Gamemaster should note the form taken by the herbs and drugs that adventurers use. Carrying batches of dried leaves and roots in a backpack is a difficult enterprise, since they tend to crumble. Doses also take up room, and herbs that have been preserved are only half as effective as fresh varieties. In addition, avid do-it-yourselfers, even clerics, healers and animists will find that the proper preparation of herbs other than those fresh is not only time-consuming, but requires the proper facilities. The codes accompanying the herb and drug descriptions will give an idea as to the price, availability and ease of preparation of the herbs and drugs. There are good herbalists and healers in Arthedain who will help adventurers in choosing herbs by showing them what is available and how a given remedy works. Those visiting a healer, cleric, animist or herbalist might be shown these descriptions. The Gamemaster is, of course, free to add any herbs or drugs to the list as he or she feels appropriate.

HERB AND POISON CODES

There are several codes at the end of each listing to summarize information about each herb. The following information lists the meaning of these codes.

Climate codes:
- arid=a: semi-arid=d: hot and humid=h: mild temperate=m: cool temperate=t: cold=c: severe cold (frigid)=f: everlasting cold=e.

Locale codes:

Difficulty of finding:
- Routine (+30)=1: Easy (+20)=2; Light (+10)=3; Medium (0)=4; Hard (-10)=5:
- Very Hard (-20)=6; Extremely Hard (-30)=7; Sheer Folly (-50)=8: Absurd (-70)=9.

Compass code (which shows the general area of Middle-earth where an herb is indigenous, or most common):
- U=universal: NW=north-western Endor: SW=south-western Endor: NE=north-eastern Endor: SE=southeastern Endor:
- N=northern Endor: M=central Endor: S=southern Endor:
- W=western-most Endor: E=eastern-most Endor.

Effects are based on a dose weighing 1/2 ounce. For poisons, the effect is normally the same regardless of the potency level of the dose, although the attack level will affect the victim’s ability to resist. See MERP ST-5, p. 84-85 for more definitions and details.

Akbutege

Akbutege is a hardy shrub that grows in the Eldornan Wetlands of the Western Dominions in the distant south. A member of the laurel family, it averages four feet in height and is known for its twisting, gnarled, black trunk. During winter, its dark green leaves are bright pink on their undersides. This hue is a signal to herbalists of the region, who then gather the leaves for use in healing. When eaten, a "ripe" Akbutege leaf heals 1-10 concussion hits. (hS6S-leaflet-25gp)

Alambas

Alambas grows on the Talath Mallen in Mirëdor. Actually a succulent, it is a small, bright green grass found in very sunny spots. Healers crush the grass in order to extracts its thick juices, which they use to treat burns. A single 3' long stalk produces enough lotion to heal four square feet of even third degree burns. (mS3W-grass/crush-10gp)

Aloe

This spiky green plant does not grow wild in Angmar or in Arthedain, but is cultivated in both lands in sheltered gardens, carefully tended by the Dúnadan healers. Aloe grows wild in southern lands. It is applied through the juice of its broken or crushed leaves, and each use heals 1 - 4 hits, 5 hits/dose that are the result of burns. It is only 20% as effective on major injuries. It doubles the rate of healing on minor cuts and burns. It is also a mild anaesthetic. It can be used fresh from the succulent leaves or in a salve, though the salve is difficult to prepare. (tH5U-leafsalve-5bp)
Arfandas

A common wild and garden flower with pale yellow blossoms. It grows along shady stream banks. Its stems are set in a poultice or cast with other plants such as comfrey in the case of a fracture. Arfandas encourages the proper healing of bone, doubling the rate of healing for fractures. Used fresh, since it is commonly available, its juice cannot be preserved. (cF6N. NW-stem/appfy-2sp)

Arkasu

This drug is a favorite of travellers. It is a salve prepared from three or four different herbs, imported from the distant east. It is not only antiseptic, but also heals 2-12 hits and heals large open wounds at 1.5x speed. It is also a surface anaesthetic and an analgesic. (mT20M-mix/salve-12gp)

Arlan

A small, commonly cultivated plant with blue flowers that grows in rich, shady soil. Its leaves are applied in a poultice for bruise and concussion relief. Wild cures 1-6 hits, domestic 4-9 hits. Its root (25 cp) is a decongestant which adds +20 to RRs vs. colds and speeds respiratory recovery fivefold. (tT2W-leaf/applv-9sp)

Arlian's Slipper

Also called Arlan's Slipper, this is a white wildflower that grows in woodlands and on mountain slopes. The dried roots are boiled and the vapor is inhaled as a decongestant. It aids resistance to the common cold (+20 RR) and speeds recovery from respiratory illness fivefold. (cM70U-root/boil, inhale-lbp)

Arnuminas

Tall, with long leaves, a common garden plant, but somewhat rarer in the wild, where it grows in warm, sunny glades. Leaves are crushed or applied in a poultice; it can also be dried or made into a salve that is less effective (01-25). It is good for bruises, sprains, and pulled tendons and ligaments, and doubles the normal rate of healing for these types of injuries. The herb reduces swelling. (mS2NW-leaf/apply-6bp)

Arunya

A fiery red flower, cultivated for beauty as well as its healing properties. Arunya grows wild on warm hills. The juice from the roots, when drunk, causes deep sleep or unconsciousness, and one hour's sleep under the influence of the herb equals four normal hours of rest. The juice is used in surgery and administered by the drop. It is difficult to extract and obtain and cannot be homemade since it is an arduous, tricky process. It is also addictive if used more than two consecutive days. (mS45U-root/boil, drink-2bp)

Asp Glands

Taken in very small quantities, dried asp poison glands are valued as an aphrodisiac by many tribes south of Far Harad and by some Easterlings: ingested in large doses (2-3 glands), this substance can be a powerful organ restorer. One side effect of taking such a large doses, however, recurs as a fit of peculiar, ungodverable madness: it should be guarded against by restraining the treated individual with ropes or straps. The first fit passes quickly, generally within an hour, but the madness can reoccur unexpectedly, with diminished intensity, at least once during the next two or three days. The dried glands, which resemble yellow peas, will bring 50 gold pieces each. Green asp skins are valued as a proof that the dried glands are genuine. (mDT2M-gland/eat-100gp)

Athelas

Also known as “Kingsfoil,” this plant grows only where the Dúnedain live. It is treasured and commonly cultivated. These small flowers make fine gifts for those who are ill. Their pleasant scent and peculiar healing qualities contribute to the flower's association with good luck. Its leaves are crushed and placed in boiling water, the wound is bathed and the vapor inhaled. Athelas eases pain and mental suffering. It cures many diseases, neutralizes minor poisons, defeats the black breath, slows major poisons, and triples the healing rate on any wound. Athelas was planted here and there along the Great West Road, but its valuable healing and restoring properties were gradually ignored after the Plague. It is more common in Calenardhon (Rohan) and the other regions of northern Gondor, but it can be found in Lebennin's highlands, particularly in the upper valleys of the White Mountains. It also nestles in dry and fertile regions of the eastern Anduin vales, marking spots where long ago Númenórean travellers camped for a season. In the hands of a skilled and rightful King, its power is seemingly unbounded. In the hands of Aragorn, it brought the Hobbit Meriadoc back from death. (tC5W-leaf/to 300gp)

Attanar

A moss that grows on the shady banks of streams, it is applied in a poultice to reduce fever. (tF10U-moss/poultice-8gp)

Avhail

A hardy bush found commonly in Saralainn and rarely in the rest of Cardolan. The sweet yellow fruits, which resemble a small cherry, are nutritious and tasty. This fruit is the primary ingredient of the popular and potent brandy called biotaille. (mS2M-fruit/eat-3 bp)
Balaak

Found in the tidal marshes along the Elornan shore of the Western Dominions in the Far South, Balaak is a reed bearing a brilliant blue, spearpoint-shaped crown. Locals harvest and brew the stalk, making a medicinal herbal tea that works wonders on broken bones. A four ounce dose of Balaak will heal the most badly shattered bone. (hO5S-stalk/brew-2bp)

Barani

This is a tiny, wild ground plant that is very common and generally found in shady spots. A tea of its leaves reduces nausea and vomiting. (tHC1N-leaves/drink tea-2bp)

Black Clover

A rare and potentially deadly variety of clover found only in the higher valleys of Lebennin. Black Clover is best avoided. If inhaled, the pollen of the black variety causes a severe burning sensation in the lungs, followed by acute coughing, sneezing and vomiting. This condition lasts as long as the victim remains among or downwind from the plants, and often continues for an hour or so afterward. Continual exposure to the source may even bring death. It is said that the ancient Drugs of the mountains used the pollen of the Black Clover to produce a deadly poison for their darts, and this legend is likely true in light of the fact that the Drúedain still refine a thick clover paste which is used on hunts. (mT7M-pollen/paste-25gp)

Black Vines

Black Vines are useless and dangerous weeds. Found deep within the Yfelwyd, its rarity is its only virtue. The Black Vine has a very thin stem and only a few tiny black leaves, and grows among the exposed roots of the great trees. Prolonged contact with the leaves, such as sitting or sleeping on them, causes a brief euphoria so intense that it borders on the visionary. While the victim dreams and sighs, the Black Vine grows with amazing speed around him and puts down roots, intending to smother its delirious victim. A victim is very much aware of this process but lacks the will to do anything about it. Unless aided, the poor sot will expire shortly thereafter (2-20 rounds). (eC9NW-seed/ingest-lcp)

Blue Pine

The Blue Pine is the most common of the evergreen trees of the Rhudaur and, aside from its needles' bluish hue, is notable for its large cones, which carry especially large seeds. These are called pine nuts and comprise an important supplement to the diet of the Hillmen. Pine nuts are acidic in taste, although this is much abated by careful roasting; few besides Hillmen would eat them raw. They do provide protein and vitamins, however, and 5 seeds make up one meal. Pine nuts keep very well (due to their acid content), and may be stored dry for years. (cC2NW-seed/ingest-lcp)

Bog-land Grass

One pernicious weed has recently begun to invade the Plains of Wilderland. It originates in the swamp-like bowls set between the ridges of the Wold and Brown lands, along Anduin within the area of the Undeeps. Since T.A. 1000, these marshy plants have migrated eastward, bringing with them miring bogs and their accompanying ills; thus, the label "Bog-land Grass." This species seems to need less standing water than other marshy Undeep plants, so already it has overtaken the Anduin Valley pools in and around the Brown-lands and threatens to blot out all diversity remaining in the Plains as well. It grows thick and matted, creating a groundcover easy to walk and sleep on, but useless for food or sustenance. Even the wispy leaves of Touch-grass or Bright Blue Eyes can be chewed on for a thirst-quenching nibble, but the Bog-land Grass grows dry and hollow. Its only value has been discovered by the Northmen of the Plains, who have passed on this knowledge to other neighboring tribes and races. After a considerable struggle necessary to pull the bog-land up by its roots, the tough fibers can be woven together to make waterproof ropes and baskets. (mSIW-fibers, weave-1bp)
Boneset

Found only in the Fief of Morthond, this is a low-growing, bushy plant of the mountains, usually found among rocky scree. If the root, either fresh or dried, is eaten, the rate of healing of fractures increases threefold. (The broken bones must be in the proper position, of course.) Multiple doses do not increase the rate of healing. (sM4W-root/eat-14gp)

Boskone

Boskone is a tiny blue orchid that grows among the leaves of the tallest trees of the Old Forest and Eryn Vorn of Cardolan. These flowers can be dried and ground to make a blue powder which, when inhaled, so stimulates the user’s senses that he functions as though using RM Presence Awareness or MERP Nature’s Ways Nature’s Awareness and Essence Perceptions. Boskone is highly addictive and has particularly unpleasant withdrawal symptoms. It gives the user Awareness for 1-20 rounds, then a severe headache (-30) for 1-8 hours. (tH8-Powder/inhale-78gp-AF18)

Bright Blue Eyes

Early springtime is a beautiful season in the plains of Talath Harroch, thanks to the little wildflower called Bright Blue Eyes. The tiny plant sprouts and blooms ahead of the grasses, sometimes making its way up out of the last of the snow. It transforms the steppes into a sea of blue under the first full moon of Gwaeron. For those who have the patience, great good can come of a bouquet of the flower of Bright Blue Eyes. Gather twenty-five of these flowers under the full moon and brew a cup of tea with them. They will ensure enhanced vision, as sharp as that of the most observant Hobbit or far-sighted Elf, for a period of three hours once in a given day. Unfortunately, like the Lichen Gloriosa, the tea cannot be stored without losing its potency. (mS8W—flower/boil, drink-)

Caj

Caj is one of the toughest of the shrubs found in the dry wood of the Gaj in the distant south. It grows low to the ground, with clumps of tiny red leaves adorning it year round. Its branches are spiny and stiff, but wrapped within them can be found a reward for those diligent enough to pierce their hedge. Around the short trunk of the bush grow small nodules of brown resin said to brew into the best tea known to man. Beyond its excellent taste, though, the drink made from this resin has a beneficial effect on spell casters of the Essence, allowing them to recoup their normal Power Points in half their usual recovery period. This is achieved through a temporary (two day) elevation of the drinker’s attunement to the forces of nature. Of course, this is not an undertaking that is without risk. Each time the tea is swallowed within the course of a month, there is a 5% chance (cumulative) of embarking on what the Southrons call “The Long Path.” In such cases, the user reaches a state of perfect community with the Essence; as the enlightened soul perceives that all is one, the urge to live is lost and replaced by a desire to return to the earth. The death by starvation that invariably follows is perfectly pleasant to the victim, so there is an additional market for the tea among those who wish to die, but fear death. (sH5S-nodules/brew-10gp)

Carefree Mustard

Since the fields of Gladden, Thorlórien, and the Undeeps were once cultivated, many plants still thriving there are offshoots from vegetable crops gone by. Perhaps most prominent is Carefree Mustard. Its blue-green leaves branch from a stalk standing two feet tall, and they have a sweet taste like broccoli until they flower in late summer. In autumn, they produce purple seeds the size of pinheads, small and difficult to collect, but valuable as a mustard plaster. Place a cup full of Carefree Mustard seeds in a mortar, pound with a pestle, adding a few drops of water, and you have created a plaster that will heal superficial wounds within an hour’s time and soothe, if not heal, more serious pains. The seeds can be harvested and stored for later use, but the plaster must be used immediately upon preparation. (mC8W-seed/poultice-10gp)

Cicino

This low leafy plant is used by the Ents to cure blights and is found exclusively in Fangorn Forest. It increases the natural resistance of Ents, Huorns, and Trees to all the diseases they are subject to (resistance rolls +75). In humans the same effect is present, but to a lesser degree (+40). To use the herb’s benefit it must be soaked in mineral spring water for a period of 10 days before it is ready to use. The Ents drink this substance when they need it and pour it around the base of trees and Huorns that need treatment. <mD3M-herb/soak-7gp)

Coraco

One of many useful herbs in the Forest of Tears is found in the waxy, brown berries of the Coraco. Tall stalks of tiny berries sprout from clumps of thick leaves that make up these small bushes. The berries are harvested by those who come gathering in the forest and made into a juice which will heal any common wound (2-20 hits of damage, given an eight ounce dose). The bushes are relatively easy to find and not too uncommon, but the quantity of berries required to produce one dose of the cordial fills two good-sized buckets. The time required for picking, carrying, and processing so many of the tiny fruits keeps the price of such potions relatively high. For purposes of using the herb in the field, as it is found, one must either have the stomach to eat two gallons of sweet berries or take the time, about an hour, to squeeze them into some sort of container. Anyone who has ever tried the former method will attest that the latter is by far preferable; the berries would be sure to spoil one’s dinner for many nights to come. (sD2S-berries/juice-85gp)

Craig-cerflun

Craig-cerflun is a laurel-like bush that grows in nooks and cracks on the steep rocky inclines scattered across the upper Morthond valley and the White Mountains. Its silvery bark and blue-green leaves shine year-round, while in spring and fall it bears beautiful golden flowers. The plant’s comely appearances conceal evil ways. Its poisonous juices can be extracted by boiling the roots or leaves, although the flowers spray the juice as a (5’R) mist whenever squeezed. Craig-cerflun poison has accounted for many a climbing accident, since the plant peeks from cliffs all over the region. Naturally, this makes finding... and gathering it somewhat difficult. The effects vary: a resistant victim (RR failure of 01-25) falls into an unwaking sleep briefly (1-10 minutes). Those unfortunate enough to be resistant but badly exposed (RR failure of 51-100) lose legs and arms (1-4) as they turn to a bluish stone (1-10 rds after exposure). Weak and badly exposed victims (RR failure of 100+) turn entirely to stone, although most such statuary is shattered after a long fall. (tM8W-roots/leaves, extract-600gp)

Culan

This imported drug comes in two forms: both a powder and in a measured form mixed with water. It is a foul tasting brew that is an effective antispasmodic, and it reduces the effect of certain poisons. (sA7S-powder/tincture, swallow-50gp)

Curfalaka

A relatively rare fruit-bearing bush, Curfalaka grows in the swampier parts of the highland jungles and in the woods along the Pel coast. When ingested, its soft, round, purplish fruit heals muscle injuries. (hDJ6S-fruit/eat-5gp)

Darsurion

A common wild and garden bush, the silver leaves of which are rubbed in the skin for concussion relief (of 1-6 hits). It can be found on rocky slopes in Angmar and Arthedain. (cM5U-leaf/rub-35bp)

Deadly Milk-White Trumpet

No plant thrives more perniciously in southern Mirkwood than the milk-white trumpet, or "Datura." A shrub that reaches up to twelve feet tall, its every growing part exudes a sickening odor when bruised. Huge, pale trumpet flowers, some a foot in length, bloom in late summer. The traveller visiting during pollination season risks being overwhelmed by this odor, multiplied many times over, for the flowers eject their silky white pollen forcefully. Contact with milk-white trumpet pollen has been known to produce blindness and nausea lasting a week and, in extreme cases, madness. Cruel Northman assassins have employed a paste derivative as a means of securing information, since the delirium acts to release one's innermost thoughts.

The flowers aren't the worst of the milk-white trumpet. By mid-autumn, it produces a prickly seed pod quite as big as a Hobbit hand. Inside grow black and bitter seeds the size of a raisin. One seed, when dried over three days and pulverized, gives a sense of euphoria and false firmness (-25) in battle. More than one seed will kill a man or Hobbit swiftly; three seeds will kill a Dwarf. It takes ten seeds to kill an Orc. Only Elves are immune to the deadly Datura poison.

No one knows how the Milk-white trumpet made its way into Mirkwood, but it is a botanical late-comer. Some surmise that the seeds came in Mirkwood via the exodus from the South during the Plague. While the Datura plant grows to only ten inches tall on the banks of the river, in the shadows of Dol Guldur it finds its element, growing to its full twelve-foot height. (mD3W-seed powder, eat-1sp)

Delrean

The leaves of this tree are rubbed on the skin in the summer to make an insect repellent. Attacking insects are strongly deterred (must make RR vs. 7th lvl shroud, 10' rad). The delrian tree is common throughout the North. The leaves can be made into lotion. The bark makes a pleasant tasting drink. (tC4NW-bark/apply-9sp)

Din Fuinen

Many rocks and forest slopes of Mirkwood seem carpeted by a thick and temptingy restful moss called Din Fuinen (S. "Night's Silences"). Any passerby would gladly take a moment's rest on such a cool and comfortable bed. But beware: when this moss is at its ripest, the pressure of a human body causes it to exude a volatile oil known to cause amnesia that lasts anywhere from overnight to a week, depending on a victim's intellectual strength. This amnesia lasts for 1-100 days and is rarely permanent. (md6W-moss oil. inhale-2gp)

Dragul

One of the most commonly sought herbs of distant southern Suza Sumar, the Forest of Tears, is the root of the Dragul. The name translates as "gem" and refers to the brightness of the leafy shrub's blooms. But the value of the plant is beneath the soil. When brewed into tea, the root induces a state of heightened awareness (+10 to all maneuvers that require observation, i.e., combat, tumbling, perception, but usually not such things as fletching, dance, or hiding). The effect will last about one hour after drinking a cupful, but quaffing more before the first dose has faded will only bring on a headache that overpowers any other effects. This drug is not without danger. It is addictive if it is used more than rarely (more than three times in a two week period, or ten times in a year), and withdrawal pangs are quite severe, usually leaving the victim impaired in all of the activities it once enhanced, (-11 to 20 points for seven to twelve months). Regular use will also force the addict to require more and more of the brew to stave off withdrawal symptoms. Such a condition will eventually call for such quantities of the tea as to reduce all but the wealthiest to poverty within a year. (hD4S-root/brew-25gp)

Dwarves' Eyebright

Growing in mountain meadows in Morthond, both above and below the treeline, this small plant with its white-and-violet, trumpet-shaped flowers is valued by all the Free Peoples. When brewed into tea, it produces infravision for Men). It will not help in total darkness, but miners and others who work in dim light find any improvement invaluable. Habitual users develop a distinct violet cast to the white of their eyes. (tA6W-flower, brew-3gp)

Elbin's Basket

Also spelled as Elben's Basket, this is a common meadow flower with a pink, basket-shaped blossom. An extract from the roots yields a heart stimulant. The substance is difficult to extract. It doubles the speed of the drinker's actions for 10 seconds (1 rnd). (tS8NW-root/boil, drink-10gp)

Elenlil's Basket

A very rare, tall, red spikey flower that grows on the tundra of the North in the summer thaws. The root can be ground, or boiled in small pieces, the resulting liquid will slow poison tenfold when it is drunk and will also purify foul water. Its effects last for twelve hours after use. Sometimes called Elenlil's Spear. (fH7N-Root/ brew-8gp)
Eredena

This small bush-like tree forms the hedges that border the meeting places of the Ents, such as the dingles. These evergreen trees branch out almost immediately after they root, giving them an almost spherical structure with many branches rather than the conical shape typical of most evergreens. Their largish leaves shine dark green and polished. Their fruits rise as buds from the trees' lower limbs on tall spikes that flower, in late winter or early spring, into a large white blossom. Buds from this tree are the active ingredient of many Ent Draughts. If chewed or swallowed by a normal human, the bud will cause a sudden increase in heart rate, respiration, muscle strength, quickness and speed of thought. In this undiluted form, the effect is so great that a RR must be made versus a twentieth level poison to determine its effects. If the resistance roll is made then the person taking the herb will be dizzy for 5 minutes after which time he will be able to perform amazing feats of coordination, strength and deduction for 5 minutes after which time he must sleep for 48 hours. If the person fails, however, by less than 20, he will faint and remain unconscious for 72 hours. If the fails by 20-40, then he will suffer a mild heart attack which will require a 6 month recovery period. If he fails by greater than 40, then he will die immediately of a massive cerebral hemorrhage. The Ents do not use the plant in this form and do not know its effect on humans although they have seen an occasional animal eat one and not fare well. (mD5M-bud/chew-1sp)

Faghiu

The Faghiu is a tiny blue-white flower of surpassing beauty found only on the highest granite hills of eastern Rhudaur. It is said that the juice of the full-blooming petals makes a very effective love potion. These tales are true: those smitten will not harm the one that give them the gift of the drink for a season (1-100 days). Instead, victims tend to faithfully serve their beloved in any way short of endangering their own lives. Those enamored of one of the opposite sex may go so far as to lust after their new love. (jM9NW-flower/brew-330gp)

Feduila

Feduais is an intoxicant found in the area of the Dunlanders and is sometimes abused, though less so than other herbs. The flower is known for its relaxant effects, which allow the user to resist versus Mentalism and Essence attacks at +20 for 1-5 hours. However, agility and quickness are reduced by 10 each during this time. (mD5NW-flower, dry/smoke-11sp)

Fleabane

This tall, hairy plant with arrowhead-shaped leaves is found in the mountains near Morthond at relatively modest elevations, never above the treeline. When crushed, it has a pungent but not altogether unpleasant scent. It may be used in two ways: either by squeezing and applying the juice, or by drying and powdering the plant and applying the powder. In either case, it repels any bloodsucking insects and related pests, including fleas, lice and ticks. The fresh juice is somewhat more effective (95% vs. 80% for the powdered form). (tM4W-juice/powder, apply-3bp)

Frostheal

Also called by the ancient name Jojojopo, for the far-away, semi-mythical tribe of the same name, this herb thrives in the White Mountains at higher elevations than any other plant. Its grey leaves can be found at the base of glaciers in the high peaks region. Travellers climbing into the mountains (especially during the winter months) should try to purchase some of this herb because it cures frostbite. The Calenardhrons place a high value on it. Legends speak of Frostheal as an ancient gift from a travelling tribal king who was once stranded in the high snows of the Ered Nimrais before being saved by one of the Daen Coentis, although such tales are commonly scoffed at by educated folk. (jG6W-leaves, poultice-27gp)

Golden Cress

This fernlike stream-or riverside dweller turns a bright reddish gold when it dries; hence the name. It is found almost exclusively in the Vale of Erech and the Fief of Morthond. When made into an ointment by heating the fresh or dried herb in purified tallow for an hour, it closes and heals bleeding flesh wounds (from 1-5 hits in 1 to 5 rounds). The wound, once closed, will not reopen. (mF4W-herb, dry/oointment-4gp)

Gorfang (pi. "Gyrfaing"; Kh. "Adisakheg")

"Dread-beard" is a red or purple moss which nests in dimly lit crannies throughout Moria. Usually it is found in high byplaces, out of reach, although it emits a reddish mist which often betrays its niche. This telltale spray also causes sleep, so one must take care when approaching the moss. Even if the adventurer evades the mist's effects, however, a more losomde fate may seize him, for the Dread-beard's juices can be fatal. (mU5W-juice, inhale-ISOgp)

Gumumiti (P. "Teak")

A tall, tropical hardwood, the Gumumiti is known for its resinous, yellow-brown wood. Gumumitivi grow to heights of 120 and are common throughout Tathom, Taur Galen, and in the rainforest called Thunderwood. Shorter trees of the same species grow in the Yellow Mountains, as well as Valagalen. The Gumumiti's small, dark green leaves are ingested as an herb. Called Witav, they relieve or reduce the effect of being stunned by twenty seconds (2 rnds). (hD13S-leaf/eat-1gp)

Haruella

Haruella is a concoction of the Eriadorans of Pinnath Ceren. The formula is a deep secret, but is thought to include the lichens and aphids from certain tree roots. The Shamans of the ancient Eriadorans used Haruella in their infrequent dealings with the Undead. Haruella is highly prized at present in Cardolan as a resource against the invasion of the Barrow-downs by wights. (mD7NW-potion, drink-250gp)

Harwite

This medicinal agent is found in a moss that forms the ground cover throughout the central parts of Fangorn Forest, but fades in frequency toward the eaves. It is used by the Ents in making their draughts and also as a bandage because it is plentiful and holds together well. Moreover, the Ents do not make cloth bandages. It has healing properties in and of itself that will heal 10-50 concussion hits when chewed. It has a sour but pleasant taste, disproving the theory that all medicine must taste bad to work. Harwite also will enhance the healing abilities of the paste that the Ents make. In the processing of Ent Draughts, Harwite is used as a filter and an ingredient. The steaming mixture is poured through several layers of the moss purifying and adding some of the plants' healing properties to the mixture. (md2m-moss/chew or bandage).

Healer's Chamomile

This meadow plant has lacy leaves and clusters of small, daisy-like flowers, each with a large center and very few, small petals. It is found in the Morthond region. When brewed in hot water and swallowed, it causes a deep sleep for 2 to 12 hours. During this sleep, all healing is tripled in rate. The patient awakens ravenously hungry and often very irritable. More than two doses of the tea will result in blurred vision, trembling, and violent mood changes, a condition which will last for 1 to 4 days (resulting in -50 to all actions). This impaired status runs a chance (01-25) of incurring a deadly poison, which will take effect in 3 days will result in blurred vision, trembling, and violent mood changes, a condition which will last for 1 to 4 days (resulting in -50 to all actions). This impaired status runs a chance (01-25) of becoming permanent each time another dose is ingested during the same three day period. (m5w-flowers, brew-7gp)

Hiam Moss

This is a fungus that afflicts the many beech trees of Rhudaur. When prepared by knowledgeable herbalists, it acts as a mood elevator and can sustain one individual an entire day without other nourishment. The Ful Hiams, or Hillmen Berserkers, regularly use the moss to keep themselves alert and vigorous. Those that rely upon it, however, cannot use it for more than four consecutive days, and then they must rest (-75) for a period equal to twice the time they were sustained. Many folk are allergic to Hiam Moss, and there is a chance (01-05) that the first-time user will suffer convulsions and death when ingesting this magical herb. Few Hillmen are allergic; those that were have been weeded out. (c6nw-fungus/brew-9gp)

Hopper Mushrooms

Hopper mushrooms are a relatively rare, benign fungus that attacks Lainimit trees. Sometimes called Tarns and confused with True Tarns for that reason, it forms small, grey nodules on exposed areas of the Lainimit tree trunks. These nodules produce a strong tea, a dose of which will repair any organ damage. When imbibed, the tea also produces 1-10 hours of nausea (leaving the imbiber at -50). (h6m-nodule/brew-220gp)

Hrast

Of the three types of trees found in the Gaj (Har. "The Grove") of Far Harad, the Hrast is the most useful. The Greddon and the Tordi that it is found among have no special features besides their strong, sinuous wood. They shade the earth with dry leaves and act as home to the local bird population. But the Hrast is praised throughout the region for the quality of its fruit. About the size of a clenched fist when ripe, the fruits are sold fresh in the markets of Tresti and the Dar for a high price. Dried, they can be bought as Southern delicacies throughout the Kingdom of Gondor.

In addition to their excellent flavor, the fruits are quite nourishing and are taken by those who are familiar with the ways of the desert on journeys across the wastes. One fruit will sustain a man for nearly a day of travel under a hot sun, if he also has water. The fruits keep quite well; a tough grey skin seals the juices and preserves the meat for up to three weeks after picking. Once the skin is punctured, though, the fruit must be eaten or set out to dry (a three day process); otherwise it will go bad in just a few hours. The Hrast trees are, as luck would have it, the least common of the Gaj varieties; even so, they are found about one in fifty trees. Since the fruit is always in season, each tree is likely to yield 1-6 fruits at any given time. (s65s-fruit/eat-3gp)

Karfar

Healing herbs and drugs are not the only source of profit to be gained by harvesting the Suza Sumar, as the Forest of Tears is known in the distant south. Many visit the southern herbalists to purchase one of the many poisons found in the forest. Most popular and common among these is Karfar. Produced from the leaves of the Juha tree, a great tower of the forest, this pasty poison is quite lethal and relatively easy to use. It can be applied to a weapon or put into food or drink with almost no danger to the user. The Juha trees are not uncommon, but their great height poses a problem for those who seek their leaves. The tree grows for years as a non-poisonous shoot. The first leaves sprout from branches already many feet above the ground. By the time the trunk is sturdy enough to climb, the lowest branches are about one hundred feet above the forest floor. The men who harvest the Huha demand a high price for their efforts. (s7u-leaves/paste-150gp)

Kelventari

This is a rare plant with silver-white flowers. It grows in temperate meadows, though it flowers and bears fruit in a very short period. The juice from the berry heals third degree burns, no matter how severe, and heals lesser burns and heat damage as well (1-10 hits). Its use eliminates scar tissue. (it7u-berry/rub-10gp)

Kirtir

Kirtir is found as the bud of a spiny plant that branches out at the ground and has thick, juicy leaves. It grows in the sandy areas near the Gwathló. When ingested, the buds act as a powerful stimulant. The user's speed is increased considerably, but fine control is lost due to hyperactive shakes (Quickness is +10 for 1 hour, but agility is decreased by 5. Treat stats over 102 as 102 with and additional +1 stat bonus for each point over 102). After the hour is over, the user's constitution bonus will modified by -30 for 1-10 hours and the user will be completely exhausted. This drug can also cause weight loss without the drastic side effects if used in smaller doses and is used by some of the more chubby of the Dunlanders to avoid being ridiculed by their clansmen. This practice has led to harm in some individuals by overdose, which can cause hallucinations, mental disturbances, seizures and death. (c3nw-buds/dry, crush, inhale-5gp)

Kiseoboba

One of the shrubs native to the Brij-Mijesec of Far Harad, the kiseoboba (Har. "Sourberry") is thorny and has no flowers. Throughout the year it bears clusters of bluish berries which have little or no nutritional value and are not medicinal. Still, they are highly prized by men of the desert caravans. When eaten, the berry's sour juice acts upon the saliva glands to regulate their secretions. This action and a slight numbing effect that accompanies it allow a man to avoid the sensation of thirst almost completely. Of course, his body still requires water, but without thirst, the desert traveller is better able to conserve the water he has. The berries also pose a threat to the uninformed. It is easy for one who does understand the effect of the Sourberry to believe that he is no longer in need of water, a dangerous delusion. One who is not familiar with the workings of the berries may avoid being fooled if he is wise. (Use a 5th level RR, modified by Intuition bonuses. The GM may wish to modify further in the case of PCs who are known for gullibility.) The locals harvest the berries for sale at the city market, where they bring one silver piece for a bunch, enough to last a man for one week. (s15s-berries/eat-1sp)
Klytun

One of the most unassuming plants of the Brij of Far Harad is the limp, green Klytun. It grows among the grasses on the leeward side of hills. Each plant appears to be dying, from the pale and washed out color of its leaves. The Klytun is also the only plant of the region, aside from the grass itself, that has no outward defenses. In fact, however, it needs none; it is potently poisonous. Animals pass it by, but men harvest it, for its tuberous roots are sold in the market with other herbs. The paste produced from the roots is a fairly potent poison (5th level) which will induce a catatonic trance lasting from one to ten days. (sh2s-root/paste-27gp)

Lainimit (P. "Mahogany")

Reddish-brown or tan, hard Lainimit lumber is both beautiful and highly useful. The tree also produces medicinal leaves called Welwal. When ingested, they reduce the effects of being stunned and highly useful. The tree also produces medicinal leaves called Welwal. When ingested, they reduce the effects of being stunned (3 rds). Lainimitivi are common and quite tall (up to 90' in height), and serve as a major source of revenue in the Eastern Dominions where they grow. (hDJ2s-leaf/eat-1gp)

Latha

This powder is mixed with water and boiled for use as a mild analgesic. It comes from the crushed stem of reeds that grow by cool lake shores. It is good for headaches, toothaches, and colds (a RR bonus of +10 vs. disease and heal 12 hits). (cF4N-stem/ingest-10sp)

Lawrim

The Lawrim is a lichen often found on exposed pieces of granite, especially in the Etennoors. It is dull orange in color, a rare shade which ought to serve as a warning of its dangerous nature. When in contact with bare skin, Lawrim will within two days cause a very hot and itchy rash that, if left untreated, will rapidly spread and cause numbness (activity -25) in the afflicted area (for 1-5 days if a RR is failed). One cure is to bathe in water in which pine needles have been boiled. Hillmen learned that Lawrim when squeezed and boiled also makes an effective if oily poison (lvl 2). It causes shock when absorbed through the skin, bringing on brief agony (activity -20) and then paralysis (activity -01 to -100) which wears off in a few (1-10) hours. The Hillmen use this as poison for hunting in uttermost need, although they do not consider its use honorable. (fm7nw-lichen/liquid-10gp)

Lemsang (pi "Limseng"; Kh. "Atastor")

Found in dark, shady forests as well as the cool depths of Moria, any moist spot may be home to the elusive "Great-meal" mushroom. The Elves call it "Way-throne," for it grows to heights of two feet and sports a crown one to three feet in diameter. Although most of its surface is hard, its top is covered with a soft purple "fur" which is renowned for its food value: a pound of Lemsang can feed a man for a week. Given its nourishing nature, tales associate it with the enchanted Lembas, or "Way-bread." It is cultivated by the Dwarves of the Blue Mountains. (1usnw-mushroom/ingest-4gp)

Lichens Gloriosa

One of the most unassuming plants of the Brij of Far Harad is the limp, green Klytun. It grows among the grasses on the leeward side of hills. Each plant appears to be dying, from the pale and washed out color of its leaves. The Klytun is also the only plant of the region, aside from the grass itself, that has no outward defenses. In fact, however, it needs none; it is potently poisonous. Animals pass it by, but men harvest it, for its tuberous roots are sold in the market with other herbs. The paste produced from the roots is a fairly potent poison (5th level) which will induce a catatonic trance lasting from one to ten days. (sh2s-root/paste-27gp)

Lothfelag (pi. "Lythfilaig", Kh; "Bulmadubur")

The "Cave-flower" is a small white plant which blooms year round. It can be found wherever there is light in Dwarven delvings, even torch or moonlight, and can live for centuries in dormancy. Whenever there is darkness, its seven 3" long petals curl up to form a false "bud"; the petals' brown undersides, like the stem, are coated with a resin which protects the flower and preserves it indefinitely.

Cave-flowers grow to a height of about seven inches and are found in groups of three or seven. They are exceptionally rare. This is unfortunate, since they have remarkable healing qualities. Once the resin is cleaned off, the flower can be eaten or ingested with startling results, for the precious Lythfilaig preserves living tissue and absolves pain. They can even give back a lost life. Often called "Durin's Tears," the Cave-flowers are exalted by Dwarves and form the heart of many legends. The most notable tale is told in verse:

Fears were not his Bane; he walked defiantly into the Mists.
And brought Light and Life to the Shadows.
Still, there were Times in the Long Years that brought Sorrow,
But even his Tears gave birth to the Land.
For where They fell,
Flowers bloomed and now lay as saving Gifts,
To stir the Spirits of his Folk.

(lo/nw-flower. eat-1000gp)

Lothgalen or Loth Nenond

(pi. "Lythgelin"; Kh. "Barag-bulum")

The "Green-flower" or "Flower of the Water-stone" is ideally suited for the caves of Moria where it is found. Although diminutive and scarce, it is rugged and, because it grows on glowing limestone, is easy to locate. Lythgelin are small grey vines suited for the caves of Moria where it is found. Although their roots are long, thin and twisting, enabling them to sprout from the cracks in a wet limestone ceiling. Remarkably, they secrete a peculiar substance which combines with the rock's minerals to form Nen Calgalen (S. "Green-lamp Water") and give off a faint green aura; in turn, the light periodically brightens, whenever the lime-colored flowers bloom. Vines reside in lots of 1-100, while their flowers grow in groups of three, each with three petals.

The beautiful Nen Calgalen is a thick, pasty and deadly liquid. Once it enters the bloodstream, it spreads a searing fire and disabling torment. The victim glows green and is often unable to move; some simply die, as their minds are torn apart by pain. Because of the hideous nature of its effect, Dwarves usually scorn its use, even in battle.
Although its fluids are baleful, the Lothgalen has less sinister uses. The vines can be pulled down intact and used to form tremendously strong ropes (twice the norm). Their pliable roots can be twisted around one another with ease to produce assuring lines. The roots can also be woven to form links for rope-chains or ladders. (MU3NW-liquid, inject-240gp)

Lus

A low gorse-like shrub found mainly in Saralain. Its mauve flowers appear in the early spring and can be distilled into a potent poison. It acts quickly, and the first symptom is always blindness. In especially weak characters, death may result. (T3-Flower/Paste-2eyes, and by 1-10 is temporarily blinded.) (TAKES EFFECT IN 1-12 ROUNDS. A VICTIM FAILING RR BY 51+ IS KILLED, BY 21-50 IS IN COMA AND IS BLINDED, BY 11-20 IS BLIND IN 1-2 EYES, AND BY 1-10 IS TEMPORARILY BLINDED.) (TI3-Flower/Paste-3gp-M4)

Madarch (pi. "Mederech"; Kh. "Zurumul")

Purple, with white undersides and orange speckling, this gaudy mushroom cannot be mistaken. It grows only deep underground, where the Dwarves often harvest the fungus. It also reaches a considerable size; most mature maderech stand 4-5 feet high and have crowns which are 3-4 feet across. Their hard fibrous trunks are only about a foot in diameter, but they provide tremendous support. Indeed, a stout axeman might have trouble felling one within ten minutes time. The Madarach grows in dark, damp nooks, usually in large clusters (51-100).

Thin, succulent ridges run outward from the trunk, on the underside of the Madarch’s crown. The juice within them is called Pelenaur (S. "Encircling Fire") and serves as a powerful healing agent. Each mushroom yields a pint of juice, which is equal to one precious dose. When mixed with an equal part of water, it forms a purplish potion which warms the body and, within less than two hours, heals all the imbiber’s cuts and damaged blood vessels, restoring normal blood flow. If one drinks undiluted Pelenaur, however, his blood will churn within its channels and swell with frightening fury. Unhealed wounds reopen and cuts widen. In some cases, a victim’s veins simply explode. Greed can breed a rather disagreeable fate. (MU6NW-juice, mix/drink-100gp)

Madwort

An ugly, spiky plant with yellowish flowers. Madwort is found low in the White Mountains, often on broken, stony ground. The juice of its leaves can be boiled down into a sticky, poisonous paste that causes its victims to go mad (for 11-20 rounds): running about aimlessly, babbling, attacking friend and foe alike (at -30), attempting to literally climb the walls, etc. Additional effects are not uncommon. (Should one fail their RR by 26-50, the poison inflicts 1-10 rounds of sensory disturbance, leaving the victim at -50. If the victim proves especially susceptible to the poison (RR failure of 51+), the resulting brain damage will produce much more severe effects (10 to 20 points lost from the victim’s potential Reasoning stat).) (TW6W-leaves, paste-26gp)

Melem Loza

Wrapped about the bases of the low trees of the Gaj in the far south grow many flowering vines. Among these, the most remarkable is the Melem Loza, or “Balm Vine.” With small leaves of dull green and tiny blossoms of orange, it is not particularly different in appearance from other species found here. However, the vine itself is abnormally thick, and within it flows the sap for which the plant is named. Used straight from the vine, this salve will halve the effects of any burn, second degree or less. Furthermore, when used in conjunction with any form of healing magic, the balm displays still greater virtue, doubling the effects of any such spell. The vine is, however, relatively rare and hard to distinguish from other and less useful breeds that grow throughout the Gaj; the salve commands quite a high price. (SH6S-sap/salve-150gp)

Mirenetar’s Crown

Rare, snow-white flowers that bloom only in the spring in cool, high meadows. The blossoms are laid across an open wound to stop bleeding. (TA8U-flower, apply-24gp)

Nelthandon

Any part of this plant, whether boiled first or eaten raw, is a powerful emetic. It grows in rolling hills. (TS4NW-plant, eat-1gp)

Numenelos

A moss that grows on the base of the white tree of Fornost. It has the power of nerve regeneration and repair. (TD9NW-moss, eat-J00gp)

Phacalus

Another plant found in Dunland, Phacalus was originally used by the Breffraen in their ceremonies. This root is found only in the swampy regions on the south banks of the Gwathló. To catalyze the drug’s active elements, the root must be dried in the sun for at least a week and swallowed whole — if not the root has no effect at all. The original use of this herb was to stop bleeding when applied topically to the wound (which it does effectively). Later it was discovered that the root had different effects when eaten. The drug will permanently increase the user’s character and abilities (Presence, Intuition, and Intelligence — Presence, Reasoning, Intuition, Empathy, and Memory in Rolemaster—by 1 point each, not to exceed 102). However, with each dose there is a chance that the user will have one of two negative reactions to the herb. (35% of reaction, with a 50-50 chance of either type occurring).

The first type of negative reaction is the herb’s toxic effect, which is completely independent of how much herb the user ingested. This toxic effect is severe and immediate — the user falls into a coma and awakens much weaker from the ravages of the toxin. (4 days coma, the user will have a Presence, Intuition, and Intelligence — Presence, Reasoning, Intuition, Empathy, and Memory in Rolemaster — 15 points below what they had before the dose. Up to half of these lost points (round up) can be regained through magic and healing but no more than half).

The second type of negative reaction to the drug is an allergic reaction, because the drug is very irritating to the body. Like all allergic reactions, it can come in several forms, from mild to deadly. In all such cases there is no stat increase, RR versus a 17th level poison is required; if the roll is successful then the user receives only a minor rash. If the user fails his roll by 1-24, then multiple blisters form on the elbow, knees and in the groin, which cause the user to be immobilized for at least 10 days. If the user fails by 25-49, he will immediately go into anaphylactic shock and if not treated will die within 30 minutes. If the user survives, he will be debilitated for 2 months. If the user fails by 50 or more, then over the next 1-4 days the user’s skin will completely slough off leaving only the bare muscles and bone. The user dies in terrible pain. The victim’s only hope at this point is a high level Channeling user with Lifekeeping or Lifegiving (the body will start to respond after 15 days of treatment). All the effects of this drug are not known to most users, and it has been responsible for many deaths, not only in Dunland by everywhere it has been exported by unscrupulous merchants. Pipeweed

Originally brought to Endor from Númenor, Pipeweed grew abundantly in Gondor but only with great care in the North — Longbottom and Bree were among the few centers of tobacco production in the region. In Gondor, pipeweed was esteemed for its fragrant flowers, but Hobbits, probably in Bree, were the first to cure and smoke it. Dwarves, Rangers, Gandalf, and other wanderers picked up the habit at the Prancing Pony, and about T.A. 2670 Tobold Homblower grew pipe-weed for the first time in the Shire. Tobold’s involvement was to have beautiful repercussions for smokers throughout the West. Of the Companions of the Ring, Gandalf, Aragorn, Merry, Pippin, and Gimli were avid smokers. Elves in general and Legolas in particular disapproved of the habit, perhaps subconsciously aware of its addictive and destructive qualities.

Tobold Homblower, endearingly known as Old Toby, will always be fondly remembered as the one who gave Hobbits the only recreation they enjoy as much as eating: smoking pipeweed. Tobold cultivated Galenas in his gardens (ca. T.A. 2700), perfecting its flavor and hardihood. This single work has probably earned him more love from the Little People than all the epic labors of the heroes involved in the War of the Ring. For, every day, after each of several meals, Hobbits all over the Shire prop up their hairy feet and have a smoke of “Old Toby,” a strain of extra fine pipeweed named for Mr. Homblower. And they offer up their smoke rings, thankfully, in his honor. The revered Toby actually got his boost in plant work from the Istar Radagast, who is also fond of pipeweed.

The variety known as “Old Toby” is also sometimes referred to as Longbottom Leaf or Southern Star, but these are distinct (though related) varieties. The famous strains of Pipeweed from the South Farthing included Longbottom Leaf, Old Toby, and Southern Star. Bree was known for growing a strain called Southlinc. Pipeweed is called Leaf in the Shire, Galenas or Sweet Galenas in Gondorian Sindarin, and Westmansweed in Westron. The term tobacco is not used. (mS3U-leaves, dry/ferment/smoke -4 sp)

Riverrunner

Riverrunner is an herb that grows in or around marshy areas in the Dunlands. It is found in the form of leaf of a small waterside bush. Also called Gort, it is a euphoric stimulant/hallucinogen which causes an increase in the user’s Presence for 2 hours, after which time he is at -50 for 1-10 hours. To use the drug, the leaves must be crushed and inhaled. This drug also exists in a purified form appearing as a yellowish powder that can be sniffed, much like sniff, and is as easy to carry and conceal. The Breffraen are the originators of the use of this herb. It is used in the ceremonies during which they pick their chieftains. (mS3M-leaf, crush/inhale-12gp)

Rose Trees

Mirkwood is known for two characteristic shrubs, the very beautiful Rose Trees and the insidious Deadly Milk-White Trumpet. The famous Rose Trees of southern Mirkwood grow dense and tall like a hedge of lilacs. They are sometimes called the Mirkwood Rose. Their flowers, burgundy, and pure white blossoms, cluster together over almost every inch of these trees as they bloom. As beautiful as the roses are, blooming from Lothorn to Ivanneth (May to September), the hedges themselves puncture any skin with needle-sharp thorns, making a Rose Tree hedge-row impervious to all intruders except the wild goats, which eat right through them, thorns and all.

Legend has it that an ancient Elf-maiden concocted the nectar of these beautiful trees, and that whosoever succeeds in extracting a vial of their nectar, called ”Mir-mellelen,” has a potion of great value in enchantment (+25 to spells on object so covered). Such tales have merit, for the Rose Trees were planted by Elves long ago in an effort to mark the boundaries of their realms; and even today, the healers of Lórien use the trees’ precious gift to cleanse the body of any foul poison. The highest concentration of Rose Trees still grows in the deeps of Angálaladh, near the Great Elven Circle (Cor Angáladlath), but chance hedges thrive throughout the wood. (mD7W-nectar, drink-50gp)

Sailchas

A small violet orchid that blooms throughout the spring, Sailchas is very, and increasingly, rare and the people of Cardolan believe that its blossoms are a potent harbinger of good luck. This superstition is very ancient and is said to predate the Eriadorans. Its psychological benefits are potent (+10 morale, +10 to RRs, and +5 DB for 3-7 days, until bloom withers). (tS8NW-flower/wear-50gp-AFO)

Sarah-Pokes-Her-Head

A common wildflower found in Mirkwood and elsewhere is the so-called Sarah-Pokes-Her-Head, distantly related to the Jack-in-the-pulpit. Dramatic in its bloom, this foot-tall plant holds a purple-colored sheath around its bright red flower. It can bloom even in the darkest of places; its usefulness as a food occurs only before and after flowering, however. When it blooms, its egg-shaped root would prickle and burn on the tongue. If gathered and carried with one for the cycle of one moon, the root becomes sweet and tender. A single root can sustain three people for one week, as it is both nutritious and concentrated. (mD7NW-root/age, eat-
Sha

The Sha is a water lily found in the bogs of the Ettendales. Sha flowers are quite useful. When dried and powdered, Sha will give the user several (1 -5) rounds of powerful infravision, though at a high cost (1 - 5 days of severe diarrhea will follow within 11 - 20 hours after use). While the user can see in all but utter darkness (up to 300' for 10 - 50 rounds), he pays with an affliction which reduces him to an ineffective state at best until he recovers (-25). (cH7NW-flower/powder-10gp)

Silraen

From a simple weed growing in sunny soils, this plant is made into a powder which is then diluted with water and drunk. This liquid drug is a powerful analgesic; its side effect is drowsiness. (mS4NW-elixir/drink-35sp)

Sindoluin

A small blue flower which grows in fine, sunny soils; through a complicated process, the healers manufacture an anti-coagulant from the flower of this plant, which is imbibed for its effect. (mS6NW-tincture/swallow-45sp)

Slird

A short citrus tree, the Slird produces a bright red fruit that resembles a lemon. Paste derived from the fruit is used by elite Pel in combat, since it is a fast-acting (lvl 2) circulatory poison. It strikes victims in 10 - 20 seconds, paralyzing 1 - 6 extremities (head, genitals, hands, feet) for 1 - 100 days. (sD3S-paste/inject-34gp)

Splayfoot Goodwort

Wild reeds and irises crowd into the marshy Anduin riverbanks, not only at Gladden Fields but also in the rare bogs nestled within the arid Undeeps. If a seeker discovers the abandoned causeways of earlier days, or maneuvers a river boat through the reeds, he may also discover the beneficent marsh plant called Splayfoot Goodwort, one of the only blessings anyone could claim for the development of wetlands where farmlands once held sway.

The Splayfoot Goodwort is a tall, water-dwelling plant. Its slender upright stalks are anchored in the water by roots that emerge as high as one foot above water level. The plant itself can stand five to seven feet tall, branching into delicate stalks with paper-thin, scalloped leaves and dangling, delicate, lavender-colored flowers. When the seed pods ripen in mid-autumn, they take the shape of curved pea pods, like little green crescent moons hanging over the marshes. Each pod carries three or four shiny black seeds. When mashed and mingled into any drink, these seeds instill confidence and singleness of purpose into the hearts of the good and honest. If fed to evil Men or creatures of Darkness, the seeds bring on dizziness and confusion (-50), lasting one to four hours. (mF6W-seeds, dilute/drink-23gp)

Suranie

Taken from a berry that grows in stream beds, these are the equivalent of smelling salts, and relieve fainting (equivalent to 1rd stun relief). (tF3W berry/ingest-2gp)

Sweet Sorrel

An attractive little woodland plant with trefoil leaves and white, bell-like flowers. Sweet Sorrel is a specific cure for all distresses of the lungs, throat, and connective air passages. It is most commonly found in the Fenwood and Bogwood of Morthond and in the forested slopes of the White Mountains. It is used by heating the leaves in boiling water for a few moments and then inhaling the steam. Sweet Sorrel acts as an antidote to most poisonous gases and will relieve lung-spasms brought on by other causes (for example, by the poison Kennesank). (tC5W-leaves, boil/inhale-

Tartec

In the last century, a purified form of Tartella has been made by herbalists that has the same effect in one quarter the normal dose. If the same dose of the purer form of Tartella is taken, a deeper euphoria can be induced. In this altered state, the user will be farther removed from reality (stats will drop by 20 for 2 - 15 hours), and permanent damage to the reasoning centers of the brain can result. Addiction to this drug occurs more rapidly and withdrawal is worse. After using the purer form of the drug, the user's mind will invariably be affected (RM Reason or MERP Intelligence will permanently decrease by 1 point for every dose taken). Of course, the user will not be in a state to consciously realize this. The herb in this distilled form is rarely used by Dunlendings, but it is shipped to the larger cities for illegal sale. (mF3W-leaf/dry, smoke-4sp)

Tartella

This much abused herb grows in the swamps along the Gwathló in great concentrations. It is a powerful euphoric-relaxant drug which will induce euphoria (for 1 - 10 hours). The user of the drug, however, will become resistant to its effect after 2 - 5 doses such a that an ever-increasing dose will be needed to produce the same effect. The drug is also extremely addictive. More than 2 doses in a three day period will precipitate withdrawal symptoms if another dose is not ingested within the next 72 hours. Withdrawal symptoms include severe nausea, headaches, chills and seizures if the addiction is long term. While under the effect of the drug, the user is weakened and out of touch with reality (stats all drop by 10 and most activity requiring concentration (e.g. fighting or casting spells) will be impossible or, at best, clumsy). Dunlendings rarely use this drug, but it is gathered and shipped to the larger cities for illegal sale just as Tartec is. (mF3W-leaf/dry, smoke-4sp)
Teldalion
A poultice of the bark of this uncommon tree reduces inflammation. The tree is only found in deep forests. (mD7NW-bark, apply-5gp)

Touch-grass
Although its numerous growing patterns make it seem to the uninitiated many different plants, one single grass dominates the prairies of southern Rhovanion. It is called "Touch-grass," because a touch from any passing creature makes it change its shape. Curiously enough, this plant has the uncanny ability to distinguish races and breeds, so that the shape it takes can be used by an informed scout to discover what sorts of travelers have come before him. Since the Touch-grass retains its shape for one hour after being touched, it offers quite up-to-date information.

For example, the Touch-grass shrivels to nothing when touched by an Orc. It flattens to the ground when touched by humans. It stands straight as a tree when touched by Dwarves. It tangles into curlicues when touched by a Wizard. Only when touched by Elves does it regain its naturally graceful, simple draping shape. It is inedible. (mT2W-grass, touch-1bp)

True Tarnas
Another commonly sought plant of the Suza Sumar of the Far South is the bulb of the Tarnas flower. When boiled in water, the bulb will produce a drink capable of healing any organ damage. Though the plants of this wood are not afflicted by the seasonal rigors with which the flora of most regions live, many species follow annual cycles. The Tarnas is one such plant, but because each plant attends to its own internal clock, any time of year will reveal specimens in every stage of development. When flowering, the plant is lovely, with a tall green stalk surrounded by fern-like fronds and topped by a single white bloom like a large orchid. Yet only the dormant bulb of the Tarnas is of medicinal value. The difficulty that herbsellers experience in finding the bulbs comes from this fact. Though there are sometimes bulbs to be found near the blooming flowers, this is not always so. Therefore, a day of searching for the herbs is often filled with nothing but frustration, and in a region as hazardous as the Weeping Wood, most folk deem time spent looking for Tarnas to be a poor investment. Sometimes confused with Hopper Mushrooms, which are also called Tarnas (or False Tarnas). (sD7S-bulboil-95gp)

Tulaxar
A healer's herb (found in their gardens of rich, cool soil), its leaves act as a stypic, which stops bleeding by contracting the blood vessels. It stops all bleeding soon (1-10 rds) after ingestion. (cS4N-leaf/brew-75gp)

Tyr-fira
At one time, men of Gondor collected these silvery blossoms at the base of one glacier high in the White Mountains; whether any specimens of this life-giving herb still grow there is purely a matter of conjecture and discovery. It is said to be lifegiving if administered within 56 days of death. (fA9U-leaf/placein mouth-1200gp)

White Lily
White lilies grow well in the cooler climes, abounding by Lebennin's lakes and streams, and are used by the Dunnish people in brewing Meathran, their hearty "national drink." Dunmen also used the flower to create the curious substance known as Cranor, or "tree-gold." See the listing for Cranor in Section 6.3. (tF2NW-flower, brew-2sp)

White Mountain Poppy
Found exclusively in the Ered Nimrais, this hardy mountain plant makes a lovely show in high meadows in the spring. The juice of the unripe seed pods is dried and powdered to make an unusual drug, which when it is burned and the fumes inhaled, causes a light trance. During the trance, the subject is physically disabled but greatly aided in magic (+100 for all actions, but detection spells and information-gathering spells are doubled in range and effectiveness for 5 to 50 rounds. Attempts to cast a second spell while under the influence will be subject to the -100 penalty; i.e., spells should by cast during the 3 to 9 rounds that it takes for the drug to take effect). A doubled dose will cause a deeper trance, like a light sleep, during which the subject is aware of all intrusive events (loud noises, pain, sharp temperature changes, being moved, etc.) but cannot move and cannot be awakened except by prolonged shaking and shouting (1-4 minutes). He is then still groggy (at -50) for 16-35 (15 +1D20) minutes. A triple dose causes a deep sleep for 6-12 hours. The subject cannot be awakened before the drug wears off. Sweet sorrel will break any of these trances or sleeps in 4 to 10 rounds. Unfortunately, this drug is also highly addictive (with each use, one must make a RR versus a 1st lvl attack or become addicted: the RR modified by the Self-discipline stat). An addict is irrationally irritable and has blinding headaches (-60) whenever he does not have the drug at least once a week. (tA7W-powder, burn/inhale-75gp)

White-Berried Yew
The White-Berried Yew is a common shrub in the woods of Rhudaur. When ripe, eating its berries can cause a swift (1-10 rounds) and painless death (lvl 2 poison). In past days it was so used by those dishonored to commit suicide. If not ripe, the ingested berries merely induce vomiting. (cC8NW-berr/ingest-103gp)

Winclamit
The spruce forests on the slopes of the White Mountains support these vines, whose green sloe-like fruit is a powerful healer. It heals even grievous wounds (3-300 hits) when the fruit is boiled and eaten. However, the vines do not thrive where the timber stands have been heavily cut. (cC9N-fruit/boil, eat-100gp)

Wight Orchid
This rare, useful, and yet potentially dangerous herb is found in the high meadows of the White Mountains. The Wight Orchid is an innocent-looking stalk of small white blossoms which is sought after for its weird and mystical properties. It was instrumental in certain Daen Coentis rituals and is rumored to be used by the primitive Drúedain (Woses) of the neighboring regions.

When the Wight Orchid root is eaten, the subject falls into a trance. His mind and soul can then "leave" his body (which appears to be in a coma) and journey where he wills (range 10 miles/lvl). The "spirit" can pass non-magical physical barriers such as walls and doors and has its full range of senses, although it cannot affect or be affected by anything physically (e.g., it could see an feel a fur rug but could not pick it up). While in this form, the spirit is subject to any spells that would detect a presence but not to those that detect invisible things.

As the spirit travels away from the body, it must make a RR (add any intuition bonus) versus a 1st lv1 attack with the passage of each mile. With a RR failure of 01-25, the spirit can go no further. A failure of 26-50 results in the spirit returning immediately to its body, while a failure of 51+ means that the spirit becomes "lost" and possibly dissipated. (A body whose spirit is lost will die in 2 to 12 days). The spirit may be found, contacted and recovered by various Mentalist spells, but restoration can occur only so long as the body still lives. If the body dies while the spirit is still separated, the spirit will pass away. (tA8W-root, eat-300gp)

Wild Persimmons

A tree of note that mingles among groves of the Anduin Valley region running westward from the Mirkwood forest is the Wild Persimmon tree. In Endor, the persimmons grow as large as a tomato. They stay green until the first of the new year, when ripeness comes upon them, and they glow a coral red. Those persimmons that grow at the edge of the riverside have always been counted by the Hobbits of Stoorharbor to be a special feast. The fruits are tasty, but not nutritious: one hundred of them make a meal. The trees bend down to the river, so they must be harvested either by someone good at climbing trees or from a boat on the river. (mF4W-fruit, eat-3sp)

Witan

The bright red leaves of the Witan plant are known to the fighters of the Bozishnarod in the deep south as Drugo-sreca, or "second chance." When swallowed, they relieve the effects of two rounds of stun from a blow or spell. Many fighters in that part of the world carry a wad into battle between cheek and gum, to be swallowed quickly should the need arise. This practice tends to fill one's mouth with a sticky juice, and those who follow it are prone to spitting more often than many would deem polite. Among the flora of the Forest of Tears, the Witan is rather rare, though it coloring stands out. It is difficult to find because it clings low to the ground, beneath the leaves of other growth. (hJ5S-leaves/ingest-15gp)

Wolfstooth

A sinister-looking plant with limp greenish-white blossoms, thorns and large, crinkled tooth-shaped leaves, Wolfstooth is found in deciduous woodlands. The root, when pounded into a pulp, produces a pasty poison. It causes the heart to beat irregularly, incapacitating the victim for 10 to 20 rounds. Even if only moderately affected by the poison (RR failure of 26-50), the heart is damaged (drop of 15-20 points from the (temporary) Constitution). In some cases (RR failure of 51+), death will result from heart failure. (tD5W-root, eat-5gp)

Yellow Hemlock

A graceful pyramidal evergreen, the Yellow Hemlock reaches heights of 75. It produces a yellowish cone, thus its name. Harfy, its seemingly-enchanted resin can be used as a powerful coagulant. It immediately stops bleeding when applied directly to a wound (regardless of how severe). It grows in the Western Dominions on the Metharn and in the region around Far Harad. (sD3S-resin, smear-3sp)

6.3 METALS

Stout steel and ithilnaur are found composing the finest arms born by Men, but the Elves and Dwarves have access to metals with more amazing capabilities. Veins of ore within Endor's mountains yield many of these substances, but some are created only by the combination of minerals under the special conditions made possible by manipulating the Essence.

Adarcer

This is a white alloy, a fusion of ang (iron), glôin ("True-coal"), and durang ("Dark-iron" or titanium). It's extremely strong, but somewhat rigid and difficult to work once forged. It can cleave iron without dulling.

Alcam (S. "Tin")

This soft, silvery metal is normally used to make the alloy evyth, although the Dwarves use it to line water-basins and for much of their decorative filigree. It is clear that there is less alcam in Moria than there is among the Dwarves in the Blue Mountains, but this may be due to the abundance of better metal. Like copper (paer) below, the Elves seem to have more uses for this metal than the Dwarves, employing it as facings and roofs, and combining with paer to make bronze.

Ang (S. "Iron")

Pure ang is silver-white and both malleable and ductile. Even in Moria, though, it is rare. The more common variety is dark grey and stronger. The Dwarven rule of classification is that anything which is virtually pure ang is ang. Common ang is dark grey and hard, yet bendable. Ang is found throughout the mines of the northern Deeps, at every level, and as far as the central Redhom. The Noldor use it principally in the making of borang.

Borang (S. "Steadfast-iron" or "Steel")

This silvery alloy is a favorite of the Naugrim. Fused of ang, morasarn (carbon), and a smattering of one or more odd metals, it is strong and durable. Borang supports more than ang, and is cheaper and more pliable than adarcer. Although the Mírdain consider it unattractive and flawed, they use it extensively.

Celeb (S. "Silver")

Dwarves often hoard their celeb, but there’s enough of it around Moria to allow other uses and even export to the Elves. The Dwarves use it for decorative inlays, chalices, plates, cups, mugs, horns, and virtually anywhere where they could use mal (gold), but are too mean. Still, despite its malleability, celeb is stronger than mal. The Noldor prize it and use it for utensils, cups and plates, and other more "common" purposes.

Celebur ("Burning Silver")

This is a form of weak uranium ore, somewhat like radium in its effects. It is known to the Dwarves who avoid it. It is required for the making of mithrian. It was never forged in any reputable smithy, but was used for a time at Amon Lind.
Cranor ("Tree-gold")

This unique substance is an invention of the ancient Daen folk of the White Mountains. Manufactured from the sap of the Sorglasora ("Gold-pine") and the nectar of the White Lily, Cranor is a golden translucent resin. The substance is nearly as hard as a diamond, and highly resistant to fracturing. Hard slicing blows to the edged surfaces remove chips up to six square inches, but strikes to flat areas do little but dent or incise the surface. An amber material, Cranor also stores static electricity, so energy applied to its surface builds into a stored charge (at 50 volts per strike). This energy accumulates up to a level of 1000 volts, although it is normally released whenever an ungrounded object touches the resin. NOTE: Treat any electrical attack as a Lightning Bolt attack with an OB + # of volts minus 200 (e.g. 250 volts yields a +50 OB). This material was often used to encase and entomb Dunnish Chieftains and their followers.

Eog (Du. "Eel's Iron" or "Ang Eöl")

Eog is undoubtedly among the rarest of metals. It is a fusion of mithril, durang, and some unknown materials, apparently from an Elven recipe handed down from the House of E61. This formula is one the Elves will not trade with the Naugrim, even as the Dwarves will not divulge certain of their own recipes. It requires both hot and cold forging, and so the cooperation of two of the Halls of the Elven Smiths. Both the hottest and coldest of Khazad-dum's forges would be required to produce it. The finished material is awfully hard, tougher than Dwarven adarcer, and even stronger than ithilnaur. It also has a strange appearance. Both white and red varieties commonly exist; neither has any lustre. Eog also has other properties as a damper against certain enchantments, preventing the manipulation of the Essence within a certain radius depending on the nature of the spell caster. The color is the key to this, and it can be made black, white, red, blue, or grey.

Evyth (S. "Bronze")

Evyth is a red-gold or golden metal formed of alcam and paer. Dwarves use it for decoration, or trade it to the Men of Rhovanion who use it extensively as a cheap substitute for ang. The Men of Far Harad use evyth to make scabbards, which they then decorate with hammered patterns. Some Easterlings also use it to cast bells with, from giant temple gongs and prayer bells to tiny tinkling chimes. The Elves also love this alloy, sheathing columns and doors in it, covering roofs and casting sculpture. Of the common metals it is their favorite.

Galnin (S. "Shining-white" or "Aluminium")

There are rarely more than rumors of galnin; it is only infrequently available. Silvery-white, seemingly like alcam or celeb, it is lighter and will neither tarnish nor corrode. The galnin only comes mixed in an ore found high in the southwestern part of the mines of the Seventh Deep of Moria, although there have been reports of traces being found elsewhere, and a huge load of the ore is said to exist in the jungles of the South. Only intense fires can wrest the pure metal from its ore, and this must account for its rarity. Dwarves think it insubstantial and not worth the trouble of smelting. Since it’s not as strong as ang, and Dwarves like stout material, they have few uses for it and what little galnin the Naugrim mine in their halls, they give nearly all to the Noldor. The Elves frequently use it as a building material. It also found application at Amon Lind as an undercoat for the application of mithrarian.

Galvorn ("Shining Black")

This metal is the rarest of all known in Middle-earth. First developed by E61, it is malleable yet resists cuts or punctures: the ultimate armor. When forged with certain elements it is the hardest substance known. It is said that galvorn is made in part from meteoric iron: incredibly dense metal fallen from the sky. The only two Smiths in Eregion who might have rediscovered the skill and/or materials necessary are Celebrimbor and Fendomé, and neither will speak of it.

Ithildin (S. "Moon-star")

Moon-star is a soft, silvery Elven metal invented by Celebrimbor, fused from mithril and other substances. It is used almost exclusively for inlay. Commonly used at the court of Arveleg I at Fornost and in the glorious buildings of Annúminas (now in ruins), it has fallen from common use elsewhere. Rare and strange, ithildin is used for secret inscriptions and other magical purposes. During the day it appears dull and lusterless, and is often invisible against the surrounding metal. Under the moon and stars, however, it regains its silvery brilliance and more: it shimmers with a fine white luminosity. Naturally, the Elves and Dwarves usually employ it outside or beneath windows.

Ithilnaur (S. "Moon-fire")

Ithilnaur is a favorite alloy of the Elves made from mithril and other metals combined at very high heat. Once cooled to a nearly solid state in ingot form, it is hammered into an elongated shape to compress the lattice structure, folded and hammered again. Periodic reworking is done in a small enchanted furnace standing nearby. For weapons of this alloy, the refolding is done literally dozens of times, in essence creating an extremely strong laminate. Edges and additional reinforcements are fused to the rough blade, and the Elves smiths then carefully cool the metal to room temperature before the sharpening and polishing phases.

Ithilinor is surprisingly common in Moria, where it is used for prized coin and grand armaments. Elsewhere it is rarer. Like ithildin, since the alloy contains mithril, it looks like beautifully pure celeb. It is a fabulously strong substance, combining titanium and other metals with the mithril, which is very hard, maintains a superbly keen edge, and yet is somewhat flexible, perfect for weapons and armor.

Kregora

An extremely ductile metal, so malleable as to be useless as a material for weapons, and oxidizing so quickly, forming a dull yellow patina on its surface, as to be equally worthless for jewelry. Kregora's true utility lies in its ability to prevent Mentalism, Channeling, and Essence spells from passing through surfaces lined with wires, threads, or netting forged of the substance.
Mal (S. "Gold")
Moria and other Dwarven holds are often founded on the site of rich veins of mal, which the Dwarves value above all other metals, save mithril. Its golden color seduces the Stunted-folk and often raises their unhealthy passions. It is too soft for heavy tasks, but it has its merits. Mal doesn't tarnish and is recognized by all peoples as valuable. When they aren't hoarding the noble metal, Dwarves use it for coinage and all sorts of ornamental or formal metalwork.

Although the Noldor have little use for gold for wealth's sake, they value it as a beautiful metal, and are able to make from it some very strong alloys unknown to Durin's folk. It is quite possible that the reason the Dwarves don't use gold extensively in alloys is that they value it so much as coinage. It isn't that they are incapable of making the stronger metals the Elves use; they are simply unwilling. Mal is a staple of the Elven Smiths, who know every way of forming and cutting it. Mixed with mithglín it becomes white-gold; other elements strengthen it for use as armor or tools. One of its greatest advantages is its resistance to corrosion, and when skillfully combined with lesser metals, it confers this advantage to them.

Mithglín (S. "Gleaming Grey"; W. "Platinum")
Also rare, it is prized for its shining hue — although it does not compare to mithril. It is difficult to work, requiring high temperatures and hard labor to forge properly, but the resulting jewelry is more durable than work made of mal or celeb. Often it is combined with mal to make it more workable, resulting in white-gold, strong and resistant to corrosion.

Mithin (S. "Pale Grey"; W. "Beryllium")
Used mostly in jewelry, it is a rare, strong, yet light material. Few smiths, even among the Elves, know how to work it. Dwarves enjoy its strength, and delight in creating seemingly fragile baubles from it for their amusement.

Mithrarian ("Abyss of High Silver")
Beyond rare, this alloy is legendary. Annatar introduced the concept to the Gwaith-i-Mírdain, and though it attracted much interest, not even Fincul or Celebrimbor would undertake its making. If the Lord of Gifts himself ever created any in the Elven Halls, it was alone and with no one's aid. Mithrarian is said to be an alloy of mithril, eog, and another metal celebur ("burning silver" or "uranium"). The resulting material, Annatar claimed, defied Arda's pull, so that a boat or other object with even the thinnest layer of mithrian on the lower surfaces would float without weight. What made this more significant than enchantments which do the same thing is that mithrian resists all counter-spells. Celebrimbor found the concept of the stuff somewhat disturbing, and also admitted reluctance to work with celebur, a material the Dwarves knew of but shied away from, saying that it caused sickness and death. The material was indeed found to perform as described, but this achievement was only perfected at Amon Lind in the Misty Mountains.

Mithril (S. "Grey Brilliance" or "True-silver")
Pure mithril is in many ways like normal silver: shining white and very malleable — but it does not tarnish and alloys with other metals to produce unique enchanted metals of incomparable quality. It always appears polished. There are many tales of the mithril from Númenor, but that Isle is no more, and Moria may now be the only source of true-silver. It no doubt contributes to the vast wealth held by Durin's Folk. Wherever one travels to lands where it is known, it is considered the richest of metals. Mithril is loved above all materials by the Dwarves and is also treasured by the Elves, the Dúnedain, and the dark forces of Morgoth. Very little true-silver made its way westward to Nargothrond, and the samples which did were highly prized. Celebrimbor's recommendations that the Noldor journey toward Eregion when he left Beleriand, in hope making contact with the Dwarves of Durin, and gaining access to true-silver, gives some idea of how highly the Eldar regarded the metal. Their eventual alliance brought more mithril into the hands of the Noldor than they imagined could have existed. From this true-silver many wondrous alloys emerged.

The famed mithril lode is but a single vein. Running northward from the Seventh Deep of Moria, it extends well under the mighty Redhom. The Dwarves dug so deeply after mithril that they released the Balrog imprisoned under Barazinbar. After the release of the Balrog, even Orcs refused to mine the Deeps for mithril, and so no more silver-steel came from Moria after T.A. 1980.

Ogamur (S. "From Gamur")
Dwarves use ogamur for items requiring extreme flexibility and elasticity (an unusual quality in a metal). Few fabrics, much less metals, can stretch like this black substance. Its properties make it ideal for springing devices and works designed to absorb impact. It is difficult to make, however, which accounts for its sparing use. It is an enchanted mix, derived from an eastern Dwarf-house in the late Second Age. The Noldor also have many uses for it in their mechanical devices. It is an endless frustration for them that they must purchase it from Durin’s people, who refuse to relinquish the recipe.

Paer (S. "Copper")
This reddish-gold metal is found throughout Eriador, especially in the highlands of Rhudaur, so it is not very valuable, and there is little trade in the commodity. Before the wars with the Witch-king, the Dwarves occasionally sent some to Tharbad for use as coin, but the production in Moria has never been unusually significant. Most of Moria's paer is used for watertroughs and basins, or in the production of the more durable evyth. Men use it for pots and pans, gutters, statues, wires, and roofing. It is too soft and malleable for Dwarven tastes, and Dwarves see little beauty or use in the metal. Unlike the Dwarves, the Noldor regard the metal more highly and like to use it as roofing for certain buildings and for pipes to carry water, as well as to make evyth.

Tasarang (S. "Willow-iron"; W. "Shalk")
At first sight, tasarang looks like white ogamur, but one quickly realizes one’s error when first handling the stuff. Although it bends easily and has tremendous spring, it doesn’t stretch. Tasarang is also extremely light, even lighter than galnin, like wood or pumice. Because its ore is as white as chalk, weighs little, and is found below limestone intrusions, it is called "shalk" in the Common Tongue. The tremendous heat and cold used make the metal change its texture, yet it only enhances the white hue. Actually, more than one metalworker will swear that it glows. The Mírdain have a vast number of applications for it, but the lack of material limits them. It has been used with some success to make powerful bows, but the value of the material makes this impractical in most situations.
6.4 STONES

Endor is a repository for abundant forms of natural wealth, including stones such as limestone, quartz, granite, shales, sandstones, marble, and basalt as well as the minerals described above. Quarried and used for building, statuary, and trinkets, stone is frequently embedded with magic. The Drúadan Pûkel-men, the Dwarven Watchers-in-stone, and the Daen Coentis Holy Tree are but a few examples of Items of Power forged in stone.

Dirielong (S. "Gazing-rock")

Gazing rock is a broad Dwarvish category that refers to softer forms of stone, primarily metamorphic and sedimentary. The Stunted-folk use Gazing-rock for decorative uses, or in places where Fire-rock is unwieldy. They yield ceremonial columns, wall-facing, floor composites, stairs, and a number of elaborate stone chamber furnishings.

Of Gazing-rocks, the Dwarves count on two types above all, and of these, there are hard and soft forms. Those called "Block-stones" include beautiful colored marbles, and the softer "Wet-rocks," or limestone. Many of the compressed marbles throughout Middle-earth were sliced from the walls of Moria. The cool-damp limestones surround many natural cave-chambers, especially near river-beds and lakes. Some may think the marble more spectacular, but the underworld's multitude of limestone "roof-spikes" (stalactites) and "floor-spikes" (stalagmites) retain a unique grace and charm. The Dwarves preserve the better of these formations whenever delving. Many are specially carved, and a substantial lot are given solemn respect. Dwarf-legends dub them "Aule's Tears."

Bonus: This is the normal bonus for melee weapons made of this material.

Value: This is the price of one ounce of the material in standard Eregion gold pieces.

Custom Work

Cost: For items not on a standard price list, custom work is naturally required. To obtain an estimate for the cost of such an item (in addition to the material cost), just determine the amount of material required in ounces and multiply by the factor give in this table. For galvorn and mithrarian, money is not enough — the material may be completely unavailable. Eog and Kregora are also often unavailable.

Time: This figure gives the time required to make the item in hours per ounce. Cost and time are higher for unusual, fancy or ornamental work.
"Slab-stones" make up the rest of the Gazing-rocks. Schist, flint, and slate are the best known and most commonly employed. When cut and polished, they make ideal floor-stones, stairs, and flat table surfaces. But many excellent examples remain in a pristine state. All throughout the inhabited areas beneath the earth, there are waterfalls careening over natural slate staircases, their pristine state. When cut and polished, they make ideal floor-stones, stairs, and alternating layers of multi-hued schist.

Naurond (S. "Fire-rock")

Naurond is a general Dwarvish term used to describe rock of volcanic origin (igneous rock), and nowhere is there more Fire-rock than in Khazad-dum. Naurond is the stone that binds Moria. Behind every facade, beneath every floor, there is Fire-rock of some kind. Coarse granite encases the chambers near the surface, in far eastern, western, northern, or southern reaches. Shimmering grains cover this grey stone, just like the granite that runs all through the Ettenmoors or Rhudaur or on the North Downs of Arthedain.

Further into the mountain home, smooth black, basalt replaces granite as the foundation stone. Here the Dwarves use polished basalt blocks for unfaiced walls and structural columns, and all along the floors. This makes the rooms and halls remarkably solid, for basalt is harder and heavier than granite.

Warriors clean their weapons with ground Fire-rock of a light and delicate variety. A type of pumice, it comes from the famous "Domes" of the Fifth Deep. There, the Stunted-folk cut light Fire-rocks from the sides of gigantic dome-like chambers which are connected by hundreds of small tunnels, gas-passages bored and cooled before the Elder Days. Dwarves quarry these abrasive pumices for use as polishing or gentle grinding materials. It is rarely sold to non-Dwarves.

Mirond (S. "Jewel-rock")

In Cardolan, the gems from the Pinnath Ceren (S. "Red Hills") are considered impressive, but this measure of true wealth is relative. Moria produces countless numbers of an endless assortment of gems and fine glasses, including many rarely seen outside the Dwarf-halls. The Dwarves call them Jewel-rocks and classify them according to a perplexing system based on strength, hardness, and color. Still, all Jewel-rocks fall into one of two principal categories: Fenén (S. "Veils"); Hiden Crystals or what some call Glasses; or Maegeionath (S. "Sharp-stars"); Bold Crystals; or common Gemstones.

Of the glasses, laen is without doubt the most intriguing. It is as hard as a diamond, but smooth and without cleavage-points or flaws. Better yet, it can be molded when cooled beyond cold, for it is enchanted, like mithril. Natural laen is black, like the Tower of Angrenost (Isengard); however, when worked it can be colored or made clear to the eye. It is a popular material among the Elves, who use it for armor, weapons, and decorations. Quartzes and obsidians provide most of Moria's glasses, although there are considerable numbers of topazes and clear-glasses. On the other hand, no one Dwarven gemstone is spoken of as preeminent. Equal numbers of diamonds, emeralds, rubies, amethysts, aquamarines, and the like are used for decoration. Since the Dwarves seem to mine it all in Moria, visitors are often stunned and convinced that Khazad-dum is either the focus of Endor, or blessed by the Valar.

Ulgond

An Elven liquid stone which can be poured into wood molds, and, after hardening for a few days, is harder than any natural rock. It was used extensively by the Smiths of the Gwaith-i-Mírdain.

6.5 Woods

Bows and arrows, polearms, clubs, ships, cabinetry, and residences are but a few of the items crafted from wood. Whether carved or whittled with knife or chisel, hewn by axe, or cut by saw, creations of dirwood, teak, or oak can be imbued with magic as easily as those of steel, granite, or diamond.

Black Cypress

Aside from the Goldwood, the Black Cypress is the largest evergreen in southeastern Endor. It has a black trunk and dark green, overlapping, scale-like leaves. They grow throughout the Western Dominions of the Metharn. Standing up to 200' in height, these huge trees produce some of the finest ship-building lumber in Middle-earth. The wood is hard to work, but anything fashioned from it will be exceptionally strong (e.g., the equivalent of -5 iron).

Blue Pine

The Blue Pine is the most common of evergreen tree of the Rhudaur, and its wood has a bluish-silver hue. Wood from the Blue Pine is valued because its high tannic acid content acts as a natural preservative: structures of Blue Pine boards can last twice as long as those of other woods. It is also notable for its large cones, which carry especially large, edible seeds.

Chap-beech

The Chap-beech, though at first glance beautiful, is considered by many to be a haunted tree. Its bark gleams an unearthly white color, particularly under the phase of the new moon. Its papery leaves grow so close together that the slightest rustle of wind causes a chain reaction of endless hissing, produced by leaf rubbing against leaf. In midsummer, Chap-beechnuts tumble down. Numerous and nutritious, they mature in spiky seed pods, and when touched by bare skin, they produce a stinging venom which can immobilize the victim. "Walls" of these trees guard the path to Dol Guldur.

If one finds a way to remove the stinging husks, a traveller can enjoy the pleasant flavor of Chap-beechnuts. Only the Beijabar (and Radagast) make use of this harvest, sending out their raccoons, creatures whose leathery paws are immune to the Chap-beech venom. The raccoons bring home sacks full of nuts, which the Beijabar roast by the side of their great fires. Fire cracks open the stinging husks, and the toasted kernels inside are easy to pick out without danger. The nuts are small but nutritious: twenty-five nuts make up a meal.

Dirwood

A conifer growing in the extreme northern latitudes of Endor, the tree's wood is darkest black in color and, when cured properly, as hard as the toughest steel, holding an edge as well or better than this metal. A different curing process yeilds a springy material particularly suited to Alchemical use.
Furry Oak

Despite the dampening effect it has on a forest, the Furry Oak is a benign and valuable tree. Related to the White Oak, its round-lobed leaves, deep red throughout the summer, have a quarter-inch of soft fuzz on their undersides. A bed of these leaves is comforting and warm. Furry Oaks grow very large acorns, fat and round and big as plums, thir caps growing fuzz as the leaves do. They ripen in late autumn and often all fall on the very same day. Squirrels and the Woodman-wives scramble to gather the harvest each year. The Elves of Lórien frequently send sorties across the river to gather acorns sweet enough to eat, even raw. Baked into bread or dumplings, they taste even better. If harvested quickly, they can be stored for excellent food value lasting indefinitely. Occasionally hollows and burrows of furry acorns can be found throughout southern Mirkwood, and as long as they stayed dry after burial, they offer sustenance equal to a fresh harvest.

Goldwood

Goldwood trees reach heights of 300' and are up to 60' in girth. Ancient, rare, and exceedingly tough, they are used by the Fuinar of Valagalen as homesites. The Elves carefully carve rooms inside the larger trees without endangering the trunk. They grow in the southwest of Endor, around the Bay of Drel.

Grape-leaf Magnolia

The most abundant of the broad-leaf evergreens growing in Mirkwood is called the Grape-leaf Magnolia. Its bark is soft and pitted, its growing shape slender, but not as tall as the oak and beech. It does not compete with the larger trees, but forms its own pockets in the forest. Its leaves grow dark green and leathery, almost as if a holly leaf had been expanded five times in size. Its flowers open up in summertime with blood-red petals, blooms hanging downwards. At the peak of their blooming — through the month of July — groves of Grape-leaf Magnolia are unapproachable, so swarming are they with the bees raised by the Beijabar. Honey made from Grape-leaf Magnolia nectar is colored dark red. Not only is it sweet and nutritious; it can also have an intoxicating effect if eaten to excess. The Beijabar make Magnolia Mead from this honey and drink it only at the most solemn or most festive of their feasts.

Greeddon

This is one of the three types of trees found in the Gaj (Har. "The Grove") of Far Harad, and serves the Men of the distant south with its soft, sinuous wood.

Gumumiti (P. "Teak")

A tall, tropical hardwood, the Gumumiti is known for its resonous, yellow-brown wood. Gumumitivi grow to heights of 120' and are common throughout Tathorn, Taur Galen, and in the rainforest called Thunderwood. Shorter trees of the same species grow in the Yellowwood Woods, as well as Valagalen. The Gumumiti's small, dark green leaves are ingested as an herb (q.v.), but the wood itself is used for rich inlays and for the manufacture of furniture, saddles, even shields. Gumumiti requires fairly frequent reoiling, however, or it loses its luster and cracks.

Juha

The Juha tree is a great tower of the forests of the south, and its trunk provides the masts of the tallest ships of Umbar and other regions. They are not uncommon, and their great, straight height results from their growth pattern. The tree grows for years as a tiny shoot, and the first leaves sprout from branches already many feet above the ground. By the time the trunk is sturdy enough to climb, the lowest branches are about one hundred feet above the forest floor. Soon after this, the tree can be harvested to make spars, and given a few more years it is suitable for masts. In addition, the pasty poison known as Karfar is produced from its leaves.

Lainimit (P. "Mahogany")

Reddish-brown or tan, hard Lainimit lumber is both beautiful and highly useful. Lainimitivi are common and quite tall (up to 90' in height), and serve as a major source of revenue in the Eastern Dominions where they grow. The tree also produces medicinal leaves called Welwal.

Lebethron

Many consider Lebethron to be Lebinnin's most noble tree. Common in Gondor and growing in the Ered Nimrais, it produces a dark hardwood valued by carpenters, wheelwrights, and particularly shipwrights. Renowned for its beauty and durability, the black wood is used to make the masts of Gondor's finest vessels. (In fact, a Lebethron box houses the Silver Crown of the realm.) High Knights often wield Lebethron lances and Gondorian Rangers use Lebethron staffs. (Faramir gave Sam and Frodo two such staves.)

Mallorn (S. "Gold-tree"; pi. Mellyrn)

The most outstanding — and unique — feature of Lórien is, of course, the mallorn trees. Hardy and strong, able to grow to great heights and with branches seemingly bred to accomodate the platforms and structures of the Silvan Elves, the mellyrn have no equal in beauty in Middle-earth. Their trunks and branches are covered by a smooth silver-white or grey bark. In the summer, the trees grow long leaves, pale green on top and silver underneath. In late autumn, these leaves turn pure gold, and remain on the trees until spring, when pale gold blossoms sprout. Thus, in the spring Lórien is roofed and carpeted with gold. Mellyrn do not die of old age and are immune to all forms of disease and plague which other trees might suffer. They grow quickly in their early life, and their main branches grow perpendicular to the trunk, providing ideal foundations for the flets (or telain), arboreal platforms which are the preferred lodging-place of the Golden Wood's inhabitants (thus their name Galadrim or "Tree-dwellers"). The trunk of the mallorn also divides into a crown near the top, and here the Galadrим build.

The mellyrn are not native to Middle-earth; they originated in the Undying Lands and are probably related to Laurelin, one of the original Two Trees (thus one of the earlier names for the Golden Wood: Laurelindorean or "Land of the Valley of Singing Gold.") Galadriel was given a few mallorn seeds by Gil-galad, who had in turn been given a number as a gift from the Númenórean King Tar-Aldarion. (The mallorn trees prospered in Númenor, carried there by the power of Galadriel they flourished in Lórien—and though not to the height they achieved in Valinor. The second Party Tree in the Shire was a mallorn (the only one in Eriador), and there were mellyrn in Aman.)

Gumumiti (P. "Teak")

A tall, tropical hardwood, the Gumumiti is known for its resonous, yellow-brown wood. Gumumitivi grow to heights of 120' and are common throughout Tathorn, Taur Galen, and in the rainforest called Thunderwood. Shorter trees of the same species grow in the Yellowwood Woods, as well as Valagalen. The Gumumiti's small, dark green leaves are ingested as an herb (q.v.), but the wood itself is used for rich inlays and for the manufacture of furniture, saddles, even shields. Gumumiti requires fairly frequent reoiling, however, or it loses its luster and cracks.
Oiolairé
A glossy, sweet-scented evergreen that once grew around Fornost Erain, this cherished tree was lost forever when the invaders from Angmar put the torch to the lands of Arthedain.

Shadamabo (P. "Rosewood")
Heavy, hard and reddish, Shadamabo is used to produce sturdy furniture and durable spears. The tree itself is a tropical hardwood that reaches up to 100' in height.

Slird
A short citrus tree, the Slird produces a fine orange-yellow wood that always retains a fresh scent. For this reason, it is used in southern Middle-earth for chests and wardrobes to leave clothes smelling pleasant each morning and to discourage moths and other insects. The Slird is also known for the poisonous properties of its bright red fruit (see Section 6.2).

Sorglasora (Du. "Gold-pine"; S. "Carlorthôn")
The tall Sorglasora is considered less valuable than Lebethron, although Dunmen prize it as part of their heritage. A rare, red-leaved conifer, it is now found only in a few isolated mountain valleys in Lebennin, hidden among stands of common pine. Sorglasora is the principal ingredient in the manufacture of Cranorcran but, despite the Dunnish love for the tree, these conifers were once cut and girdled to the point of extinction.

Tordi
The Tordi is common among the Gaj (H. "The Grove") of Far Harad and yields a strong, flexible wood. The tree itself is fairly short (up to 80') with broad, faintly reddish leaves spreading out more horizontally than vertically. Its wood bends easily when steamed and holds its shape well. It is used for ribs in shipbuilding and other purposes where both strength and give are valued.

Usamiti (P. "Ebony")
Hard, dense, and often jet black in color, the Usamiti produces wood which is often as prized as jade or gold. It is tropical and rather rare, even in the Eastern Dominions where it is most commonly found.

Yellow Hemlock
A graceful pyramidal evergreen, the Yellow Hemlock reaches heights of 75'. It produces a yellowish cone, thus its name. Its wood is fairly soft for an evergreen, making it useful for carvings, amulets, grills, necklace beads and other decorative uses. In addition, the wood can be glued together to form layers, and huge statues and totems are carved from these laminates among some southern tribes of Men. Its resin finds uses among healers and herbalists (q.v.). The Yellow Hemlock grows in the Western Dominions on the Metharn and in the region around Far Harad.

6.6 ENCHANTED MATERIALS
Enchanted gemstone such as laen, metals such as eog and kregora, and stone such as Ulgond may be formed in the forges of the mightiest Alchemists, but there exist other sources of magical materials. Some are legend — the horn of a unicorn, the spine of a manticore — and can be found nowhere save between the covers of a book or within the notes of a minstrel’s song. Yet others, although legendary, can be obtained from among Endor’s natural riches. The conifer of the Farthest North, the Dirwood, was described above. Another, the carcasses of Dragons, appears below.

Dragons
Bred by Morgoth to help break the siege of Angband and thus created to excel at destruction both physical and magical. Drakes are not dextrous, patient, or curious enough to invest time in making weapons, goods or other items they have little use for. However, they themselves are highly prized for their skin, horns, and blood in the manufacture of potent items.

Dragons' horns are special tools used for boring and duelling. Their size and rib pattern symbolizes a Drake's power and enotes his stature in the hierarchy of the species. These horns are essentially unbreakable. Prized for their value as musical instruments and bow-making material, they can be ground to produce a host of enchanted potions. In a strange way, they embody the strength and magic of these exceptionally special creatures.

Dragonskin is also highly valued, though it varies in strength, the overlapping plates growing thicker with age. In order to make a suit of armor out of Dragonskin, an adventurer must first cut the scales and the underlying hide from the Drake's body, all the while contending with the beast's toxic blood. This is a considerable feat. Even then, however, sewing and molding a suit of armor made from such an enchanted material will require the work of both an armourer and an alchemist.

The blood of Dragons is both caustic and enchanted, reflecting the awesome magics they wield. This material can be made into powerful potions granting the imbiber the ability to temporarily use various mind-manipulating spells, but it is also caustic and corrosive, making it difficult to store, transport, and utilize. Drakes' enchanted blood grows more powerful but also more dangerously acidic as they age.
7.0 GENERATING TREASURES

Most of the time a Gamemaster will choose a treasure that is appropriate for a particular adventure site. However, it is often useful to be able to quickly generate a random treasure or part of a treasure. This Section provides guidelines and tables which can be used to create and generate treasures for a variety of FRP situations. Section 7.1 describes the basic classifications for treasure. Section 7.2 provides a set of tables for generating random treasures keyed to certain "richness" ratings.

These tables can be used for a variety of other purposes in a FRP game. The Gamemaster can use them to determine what magic items are for sale in a particular shop or town. He can use them to determine the magic items possessed by non-player characters. He can use them to stock a variety of adventure sites ranging from the vaults and treasuries of kingdoms to the contents of buried hoards to the stash in a bandit lair.

7.1 TREASURE CLASSIFICATIONS

The basic types of treasure are described in this section. Gems and Jewelry — Gems and jewelry are forms of wealth that are more portable than most money. They are also more easily identifiable and more difficult to assess.

Money — The Gamemaster should keep in mind that most money in the world at large is in the form of tin pieces (tp) and copper pieces (cp), followed in decreasing frequency by: bronze pieces (bp), silver pieces (sp), gold pieces (gp), and mithril pieces (mp). Often the sheer weight of the money in a treasure will limit the amount which can be carried away.

Normal Equipment — Many treasures will include lots of normal equipment (i.e., weapons, rope, tools, clothing, books, and manuscripts, etc.).

Light Equipment — The weight of equipment (e.g., weapons, armor, shields, food, etc.) is often a big hindrance to an adventurer. A piece of equipment which is lighter than normal can be very valuable.

Bonus Spell Items — There are two types of magic items, called bonus spell items, which enable a character to cast more spells than he would be able to normally: spell adders and spell multipliers. Each bonus spell item is keyed either to RM hybrid spell-user spells or to spells from one of the three RM realms or two MERP realms of power: Essence, Channeling, or RM Mentalism. Such an item can only be used to cast spells which it is keyed to. A few rare items are useable by any profession or realm.

A +1 spell adder allows a character to cast one extra spell between 8 hour periods of rest in addition to those which he can normally cast by using his power points; a +2 spell adder allows 2 additional spells; a +3 spell adder allows 3 additional spells; etc.

A x2 spell multiplier doubles the number of power points available to a character between 8 hour periods of rest; a x3 spell multiplier triples his power points; etc.

Items with Non-magic Bonuses — Superior items (special material or construction) add their bonus to the total skill bonus of any skill that normally utilizes an item of that type (e.g., a +10 mace, a +5 lock pick, a set of +15 chain, etc.). For example, the use of a +10 mace would increase a character's Offensive Bonus by 10, a +5 lock pick would increase his Pick Lock skill bonus by 5, and a set of +15 chain would increase his Defensive Bonus by 15. Their bonuses apply to any appropriate rolls by any character using them.

Items with Magic Bonuses — Items with magic bonuses are treated like items with non-magic bonuses for the purposes outlined above. However, they also have special properties due to their magic nature (e.g., weapons with magic bonuses use the "Magic" columns on the Large and Super-large Critical Strike tables). Certain very powerful creatures can not be harmed at all by non-magic weapons.

Magic Items Containing Spells — Certain magic items contain spells which a character may cast. Such spells do not require power points, and the caster needn't have learned the list which they come from. The various types of spell items include: rune paper, potions, single use items, daily items, wands, rods, staves, and constant items. These are the usual restrictions. Certain extraordinary items may have unique properties. The characteristics of these items are summarized in the Item Characteristics Chart.

Max. Charges: There are two methods for keeping track of the number of spells castable by an item: keep track of the number of "charges", or roll after each use to determine if the item is used up. The first number given is the maximum number of charges that such an item can contain, while the second number is the chance of exhausting the item whenever it is used.
Tomes — These are books which usually contain all or part of a given spell list. Depending upon how a Gamemaster handles learning spells, tomes can be used in two ways. If the Gamemaster requires that texts be used to "learn" spell lists, tomes can fulfill this requirement. In any case, each spell in a tome can be cast once as if it were a rune. Such use of a spell in a tome destroys that spell description and it can not be used again to "learn" the spell or cast it. The pages of tomes are not "reusable" like rune paper. Tomes usually have a special protective cover and weigh between 5 and 50 pounds.

Special Items — These items do not always fall completely into the categories above. To determine the exact nature of a "special" item, the Gamemaster may simply create (make up) any magic item that he wants or he may use one of the treasures described in Section 4.0 or he may use the following charts while varying the guidelines for their use sufficiently to yield an item with unusual properties.

Artifacts — Artifacts are special items that are very powerful and often contain multiple powers and abilities. The One True Ring and the Elven Rings of Power are examples of very powerful artifacts. Usually these items have a history and a cultural or political significance, and should be placed by the Gamemaster in specific locations (i.e., not generated randomly).

7.2 GENERATING RANDOM TREASURES

The charts below are included to help the Gamemaster generate random treasures. The Gamemaster must assign a relative richness (very poor, poor, normal, rich or very rich) to the treasure's wealth (money, gems, and jewelry) and to the treasure's magic item content. The richness of these factors may differ; for example, a treasure might be very rich in terms of wealth, but poor in terms of magic items.

The richnesses for treasures associated with a particular creature may be assigned by the Gamemaster or extrapolated from the information given by the creature's description in Creatures of Middle-earth.

Each chart also has a section for determining the size of the treasure; alternatively the Gamemaster may decide on the size. The size of the treasure is reflected in the number of rolls allowed on the composition section of each chart. These charts are only included to provide aid to the Gamemaster; he should use them as he sees fit.

7.21 MONEY, GEMS, AND JEWELRY

First roll to determine the size of the treasure (the number of rolls allowed), then make a number of rolls to determine the actual composition.

7.22 MAGIC ITEMS

First roll to determine the size of the treasure (the number of rolls allowed), then make the indicated number of rolls to determine the actual composition. If certain results are obtained, further rolls are required to determine what the item is and what special properties and capabilities it has. The Gamemaster may choose the type of item based upon the location of the treasure, or he may roll on the Capabilities Chart. Suggested items include: weapons, armor, helmets, greaves, shields, tools, saddles, cloaks, boots, gloves, glasses, rubber baby buggy bumpers, etc.

RELATIVE RICHNESS

- Normal = A normal non-magic item, roll on column “Type B” of the Capabilities Chart.
- Spell = An item containing a spell, roll on Spell List Chart.
- Tome = A tome, roll on the Spell List Chart.
- Special = A special magic item, see Section 7.1.
- Artifact = An artifact may be present.
- Light = These are items which weigh less than normal. Roll on the Capabilities Chart, column "Type B" for item’s type. Then roll on the 'Light' column of the Capabilities Chart to determine the actual % of normal weight. Finally, roll to see if the item has “additional capabilities”.
- Bonus = These are items which have a “Bonus” for certain activities. Roll on the Capabilities Chart, column "Type B" for item’s type. Then roll on 'Bonus' column of the Capabilities Chart to determine the actual bonus for the item (a bonus followed by (M) is magic). Finally, roll to see if the item has “additional capabilities”.
- Sp.Bonus = These are Bonus Spell items. Roll on the Capabilities Chart, column “Type A” for item’s type. Then roll on the ‘Sp.Bonus’ column of the Capabilities Chart to determine the actual spell bonus for the item (“x #” indicates a spell multiplier, while “+ #” indicates a spell adder). Finally, roll to see if the item has "additional capabilities".

KEY TO THE TREASURE CHARTS

Realm Code: Under the “Sp.Bonus” column, the code following the number indicates what realm(s) of magic the item is keyed to (see Section 7.1): "Ess" = Essence, "Chan" = Channeling, "Ment" = Mentalism, and "Hybrid" = hybrid spell user spells. For a "Hybrid" result, roll again for specific type: Sorcerer(01-40), Astrologer(41- 70), Mystic(71- 00). For MERP treat Mentalism as Essence; treat Sorcerer as Animist or Mage, Astrologer as Mage or Ranger, Mystic as Mage or Bard.

Special: An item which has special properties along the lines of the category rolled. For example, a "special" suit of armor under the Lightweight category might float or have no encumbrance, under the Bonus category it might be +10(M) but +30(M) against Orcs, and under the Sp.Bonus category it might be x3Ess and +1Ess. Special properties might also include "Slaying" weapons, "Holy" weapons, “Throw and Return” weapons, etc.

Type A: Most of these types of items are self-explanatory. The sizes for Wands, Rods, and Staves are given in Section 7.1. Most items must be worn or held to be effective. This column is most often used for "Bonus Spell" items.

Type B: Most of these types of items are self-explanatory. Weapons affect Offensive Bonuses; Armor, Shields, and Helmets affect Defensive Bonuses; the other types are self-explanatory or they have the activity they affect in parentheses. This column is most often used for "Bonus" items and "Light" items.

NOTE: Use this chart as indicated by the Magic Item Treasure Composition Chart. "Nothing" indicates no additional capabilities. If any other result is obtained, roll as indicated on the appropriate column(s) on the Magic Items Capabilities Chart and/or the Spell List Chart.
Weapons, shields, and armor: These items are included as group categories as presented in Arms Law and on the Summary of Historical Weapons and the Summary of Fantasy Weapons from Claw Law. To determine the specific item type the Gamemaster may choose an item which is used by the local inhabitants or he may choose to roll (1-100) and use the result to indicate the specific item type. The following lists give a result number range in parentheses after each weapon, shield, or armor type. The Gamemaster may want to make up his own weapons for his world and add them to these lists.

1-H Slashing Weapons: Bastard Sword (01-05), Broadsword (06-21), Cutlass (22-23), Dagger (24-43), Dirk (44-45), Falchion (46-49), Foil (50), Handaxe (51-57), Long Sword (58-69), Main Gauche (70-73), Rapier (74-77), Sabre (78-79), Scimitar (80-86), Short Sword (87-98), Tomahawk (99-00).

7.23 CHOOSING SPELLS AND SPELL ITEMS

The Magic Item Charts (Section 7.22) may indicate that a spell item is included in a treasure, or a Gamemaster may want to randomly choose a spell which is in an item. The charts in this section provide a mechanism for choosing a spell and a spell item. Using the appropriate Spell List Chart (MERP Rolemaster), roll to determine which type of spell list the spell is from, and then roll to determine the specific spell list. Then the Item and Spell Level Chart can be used to determine the type of item (if the Gamemaster has not already decided), and to determine the level of the spell. If the spell obtained is inappropriate, just repeat the process or part of the process, as necessary.

HL — Higher than normal level spell. The Gamemaster may either choose a spell level himself, or he can roll 1-20 (i.e., 1-100 divided by 5) until he gets a result above the highest normal spell level for that type of item.

NOTE: The Gamemaster can determine the number of charges (if charges are used) left in a wand, a rod, or a staff by using a 1-100 die roll; low rolls indicating few charges and high rolls indicating lots of charges. He may also want to include multiple charges (or doses) on special scrolls and potions. A Daily # item may be used to cast a spell a number (#) of times each day (e.g. a Daily III item could be used 3 times a day), and may take any form that the Gamemaster wishes (e.g. a ring, a weapon, a bracelet, an earring, a rod, etc.).
In a fantasy role playing game, you become a main character in an adventure you create! With Treasures of Middle-earth you can add the weapons, armor, healing herbs, and the awesome Rings of Power from J.R.R. Tolkien's THE HOBBIT and THE LORD OF THE RINGS to your fantasy game. Dare to seek the possessions that have ignited the passions of Men, Elves and Dwarves.

Here are Endor's most potent artifacts, the famous and infamous treasures that have shaped the history of Middle-earth. Scatter these enchanted items amidst the treasure hoards of monsters and the riches of Kings to add challenge and excitement to your campaign. Could you gaze into the depths of a Palantir from Númenor and survive the visions sent to haunt you? Have you ever desired to possess the treasure heaped beneath a Dragon's scaled belly? All these and more await you!

Inside you'll find:
- Treasures — everything from Aragorn's sword and the Palantiri of Númenor to Sauron's One Ring
- Arms
- Armor
- Apparel & Gear
- Jewelry, Gems & Art
- Musical Instruments
- Rings
- Tools & Trappings

Creators — the forgiving techniques favored by each race, including the works of the exalted Ainur as well as those of the lowly Orcs.

Materials — the properties of the gems, stone, wood, and metals used to create enchanted items.

This volume describes the treasures forged by the inhabitants of Tolkien's world. Each item has a short description followed by a complete listing of its magical powers. Game statistics for the MERP™ and Rolemaster™ systems are included. These stats can be easily converted to most major FRP systems.
